Will these city parcels, presumed valuable, suffer the fate of the Nicholls Hospital and site, and instead of fetching prices in the hundreds of thousands go under the hammer for $50,000? If that is what may happen, should the city not keep the property?

Borrowing Abroad

A tremendous amount of money for capital investment has been coming into Canada in the last several years, for new factories, new industrial and mineral developments, for almost everything that Canadians use, exploit or make. Canada is the United States' biggest and safest foreign investment field. As the Toronto Saturday Night points out, this would have a profoundly disturbing effect on the economy of Canada were it not for the fact that it balances the Canadian deficit to the U.S.A. on current accounts. What about the long-term effect of this tremendous American investment? Are we borrowing beyond our means?

Louis Rasminsky, Alternate Chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board, reassured a Toronto audience on this point recently. He pointed out that the last comparable period of Canadian development was in the late 1920's, and in 1930 it took eight per cent. of Canada's national income to pay the interest and dividends to investors outside Canada. This year, although the total interest payments abroad will be larger, they will be only 2½ per cent. of the national income. Further, most of the foreign investment is going into industries and mineral developments, which will produce their own money to pay off the American capital.

Uncommon Degree Of Representation

As the Ontario election approaches, we wonder how many among our readers realize the uncommon degree of representation in the provincial cabinet which is enjoyed by the area in which we live. Consider this:

County of Durham: represented by the Rev. John W. Foote, Minister of Reform Institutions.

County of Northumberland: represented by W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Public Welfare.

County of Peterborough: represented by Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests.

County of Victoria: represented by the Prime Minister and Provincial Treasurer.

Riding of Muskoka-Ontario: represented by George Arthur Welsh, Provincial Secretary and Registrar.

It must surely be uncommon for five counties which adjoin to have Cabinet representation, and it effectively answers any suggestion that this area is neglected.

P.E.I. Not Bursting

The preliminary 1951 Census totals of population for the province of Prince Edward Island show a remarkable fact in this decade of expansion: P.E.I. has grown hardly at all. In 1941 the total was 95,047; this year, a decade later when Canada's population has increased by almost a third, P.E.I.'s population is 97,787—an increase of only 2,740. This nearly static condition of the population is not startling to those who know anything of the Island's vital statistics since Confederation.

P.E.I. had more people in 1881 than it has today. The population then numbered 108,891, which was an increase of 14,870 over the 1871 census, the first taken after Confederation. The increase in the last decade, to this year, is only the third that P.E.I. has had in all the decades since Confederation, not counting the small increase of 187 noted in the census of 1891. From that year until 1931 the population declined each census.

The total population of the Province is slightly greater than that of Halifax, smaller than that of the city of Victoria. Yet this Province of three counties is a separate legislative entity, and has a complete Provincial Government.

P.E.I. is small in area—only 2,184 square miles, the same size as Peterborough and Ontario counties combined. Yet these two counties—including the sparsely-settled northern half of Peterborough County—have a population of 125,000. The reason that P.E.I. has had little increase in population in the last eighty years is that it lacks manufacturing industries and natural resources, other than its beautiful, fertile lands and its teaming coastal waters. If P.E.I. had even the natural advantage of mild winters, it might have acquired a dense population like metropolitan Victoria on Vancouver Island which has now 103,199 people. But P.E.I. has snow in winter—and, all told, 97,787 people. There is no housing shortage in Prince Edward Island.

'Mr. Speaker': The First Commoner

By ERNEST ATKINSON
(U.K. Information Office)

FROM the year 1377 to the present day the roll of Speakers of the House of Commons is unbroken. The latest of them, the Right Honourable William Shepherd Morrison, was elected at the opening of this Parliament. His predecessor, Colonel the Right Honourable Douglas Clifton Brown, is to be the subject of the discussion of the House on Thursday.

ALL the parties will join in according motions of thanks to Colonel Clifton Brown for his services as Speaker since 1943 and in making an address to the King praying him, in the traditional phrase, "to confer some signal mark of his Royal Favour" upon the retiring Speaker and offering the assurance that the House would make good whatever expense His Majesty should think fit to be incurred.

The mark of the Royal Favour that has been conferred in the past has been a pension, lately of £4,000 a year, and retiring Speakers have been offered Viscountcies.

AT both the beginning and the end of his appointment, thus, a Speaker submits himself to the good will of the sovereign who is himself part of the Parliament of the U.K. As happened at the outset of this Parliament with Speaker Morrison, a new Speaker goes immediately after his election with the Commons in procession behind him to the House of Lords there to make known to the Lords Commissioners representing the King that he is "the object of the choice of the Commons" and that he "submits himself with all humility to His Majesty's gracious approval".

ONCE confirmed in office, when the Lord Chancellor announces "that His Majesty most fully approves and confirms him as the Speaker", the Speaker's first act is to lay claim on behalf of the Commons "to all their ancient and undoubted rights and privileges" —and it is in that capacity, as defender of the rights of the Commons, that the Speaker has come most generally to be regarded in modern times.

It was not always so. The five or six hundred years during which the development of the Speakership can be studied have seen considerably changes in the relationship between the Crown, the Speaker and the Commons, with the Speaker more closely bound at one time and another to one or the other of the institutions.

AT first he seems to have been simply a link between the two—the list is usually taken as beginning with Sir Thomas Hungerford, in 1377, but there are earlier records, as, for instance, of Peter de Montfort signing in 1260, in the capacity of Speaker, the record of the refusal of Parliament to suffer the recall of Adomar, the Bishop-elect of Winchester.

◇ ◇ ◇

BY the Tudor period (1485 to 1603), the Speaker had become the Crown's business manager in the Commons. He was very probably the nominee of the King or the Chancellor. And, indeed, he used his influence, by explaining what the Crown wanted to achieve by the Bills laid before Parliament, to get the King's way with Parliament. The show of humility towards the Crown was frequently—by modern standards and possibly even by Tudor standards as well—extravagant.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR even Queen Elizabeth, who was not generally averse from a fulsome compliment, seems to have given sign that she doubted the sincerity of such phrases as those in which Speaker Crooke once addressed her: "All of us, in duty and thankfulness, do throw down ourselves at the feet of Your Majesty. Neither do we present our thanks in words or any outward thing, which can be no sufficient retribution for so great goodness, but, in all duty and thankfulness, prostrate at your feet, we present our most loyal and thankful hearts, even the last drop of blood in our hearts, and the last spirit of breath in our nostrils, to be poured out, to be breathed up for your safety".

SPEAKER FINCH, in this tradition of deference to the Crown, had once explained to the Commons that "I am not less the King's servant for being yours". But times and attitudes changed. Speaker Lenthall was not himself the most admirable of men who have held the office, but during the struggle of the Commons with Charles I, which established that the Speaker's first duty is to the House, he was moved to the phrase which is taken as essential nowadays in any definition of the attributes of his office: "Sire, I have neither eyes to see nor tongue to speak in this place but as the House is pleased to direct me".

IN the 18th Century there was a tendency for Speakers to be clients not of the Crown but of political parties or of the government in power. But it was in the second quarter of that century that Speaker Onslow set a high standard of impartiality, which was imitated a century later, if not in the years between. In the 19th Century the partisanship of Speakers steadily diminished and the convention grew that once he was elected to the Chair a Speaker ceased to belong to any party. Likewise, he must withdraw himself from ordinary social life about the Commons.

The dignity accorded to the Speaker accords with the age of his office. He is "the First Commoner" and has precedence immediately after the Lord President of the Council. He alone of subjects holds levees, which are attended in court dress. Men uncover as he goes by, preceded by the mace, to the House of Commons. He, and it, embody the authority of the Commons House of Parliament.

An Outside View

(Winnipeg Free Press)

In a recent comment on this country the London Times, which is not given to extreme views, remarked: "It would not be excessively daring to speculate whether, in the distant future, Canada may not rival the United States as her still undeveloped resources exceed those of the republic as markedly as her present population falls short."

For the visible future at least this will seem to many Canadians to be a friendly exaggeration. Still, among a people who often are given to underestimating their own achievements, who are too occupied with today's trees to see the forest of tomorrow, the impartial opinion of an outside observer like the Times is welcome and useful.

And without going as far as the great London newspaper one can say with safety that the potentialities of Canada as one of the world's major states of the future have barely been glimpsed by its inhabitants as yet.

Memo To Certain Voyagers

(Written by Charles Bruce of Toronto upon the occasion of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh's Farewell to Canada, and broadcast by the C.B.C. Sunday evening following Her Royal Highness' Speech of Farewell to the Canadian people.)

Rugged and picturesque, the captions said.
And the tourist-folder of land opens.

Arms of the searching sea
Fade backward from the estuaries of the hills.
Pulpwood drifts in the quick shallows of the Matapedia;
Boomed timber on the Miramichi;
And arched on rock, etched on its rim of sky,
A stone town ringing with the name St. Lawrence . . .

Time turns the fold of land
And the land changes.

Woods and hills and the smooth breasts of fields slope inward;
The fields slope south;
Green, bronze, umber and green,
Measured and gardened; fenced;
Greenveined with rivers.
Black chimneys utter smoke, and smoke in folds purrs from the black lips of engines.
And a shout——
Somewhere a fogbound siren shouting E R I E.

Now, the stone land.
Here on this page the swamps and barrens and the inland forests
Dark on Precambrian mounds.
The wings of gulls
Shadow a mountain beach. The word is North.

North . . . but the page is turned.

The page is turned. These are the whispering plains.
Laid flat and high and fertile with the sleep of time,
Ripe with the gold of now on the black depth of time.
Tuned to the wind in wire, tuned to the wind. . .
Purple and black the veil of storm, over paling light at the edge of the plain.
And the wheat leaning, beginning to move with a silent rustling, in the wind before the rain.

The mountains, now.
The young hard brilliant parapets of rock
Whitescarved in the sun . . .
Haunting with height the city and the slope,
Haunting the heart with a towering song unheard,
And at their feet (again) the insistent sea.

Ask us the question, voyagers.

This heaped geography—
This coloured crust of hill, field, city, forest, sea and stone—

What breath informs it?
What long pulse of life
Lives in the veins of it?
What is the blend of fear, strength, song and dream
Slowburning in its heart?

We cannot tell you that.

There is no answer but the wordless answers
That live in flesh, in nerves, heart, blood and bone;
The moving images that crowd our dreams
When the heart goes looking—
When the mind journeys—
When the blood remembers.

Somewhere in time, a horse stamps balled snow from a hoof
In the yard, to the clink of sled-chains . . .
Somewhere a mower chirps, far off, with a sound of crickets.
And a sidehill tilts to the wind,
Smelling of hay and sun . . .

Voices. A woman's voice. Anger and love
On the tongues of time; and the shrill shouts of children
Blown from the schoolhouse woods, where the apples nest
By the grey roots of maples . . .

Streets. And a street. The implacable clock
Blasting the mind from sleep; a floor that shakes
To the massed weight of harnessed wheels turning but going nowhere . . .

Dreams and images that live in flesh, forever moving;
Forever merging with time forever, blending, reminding . . .

Somewhere an axe falls, today, in a woodlot
Over the hill from fenced fields and the red roofs of barns;
The stroke is an echo, echoing up in time . . .

Somewhere in morning dusk a boat grates to a landing;
Slither of fish, and sound of the sea's wash—
And the mind moves, finding familiar sound
In the duck of the channel,
Hearing again the splash,
Seeing again the murk behind Courseulles . . .

A million answers, voyagers; infinite answers.
Sounds, images, unnumbered, multiplied,
Crowding the memory and the memory of memory, and the dream of tomorrow.
Hearsay and hope—
Last night, tomorrow, and the breath of years—
Merged in the breathing now.

And so we say:
Send the heart looking, voyagers.

Send the heart looking.
Let the mind journey and the blood remember.

Canada In The Welfare Age

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

WITH passage of legislation to provide a universal old-age pension to persons 70 years old or more, debate on this issue is finished in the House of Commons, for the time being at least. The debate was remarkable for the fact that the social welfare principle involved in the new pensions law has been almost unanimously accepted, in Parliament as well as among the public as a whole. The government has been so certain of its position that it has started setting up the machinery for paying the pensions before the law authorizing the payments is on the statute books.

Even five years ago, such acceptance of the social welfare principle was by no means so general. Now, the only issues debated were not the principle itself, but whether the legislation went far enough, or whether the most efficient means had been devised for financing it.

This shifting of issues is a measure of the distance Canadians have gone in accepting the welfare state. The principle is no longer in serious dispute, but only the methods for achieving social security. As Arnold Toynbee, the historian, suggests in a recent statement published in the New York Times, this development of the welfare state may be the significant contribution of the 20th century to civilization. Toynbee says:

My own guess is that our age will be remembered chiefly (in the perspective of 300 years) neither for its horrifying crimes nor for its astonishing inventions, but for its having been the first age, since the dawn of civilization some five or six thousand years back, in which people dared to think it practicable to make . . . the idea of welfare for all a pratical objective instead of a mere Utopian dream.

See in that light, the 20th century may not be such a bad one to live in after all.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings . . . O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee shall be ashamed, and they that depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountain of living waters. (Jer. 17: 10, 13.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. (Heb. 4: 14.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God: and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat. For every one that useth milk is unskilful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe. But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil. (Heb. 5: 12-14.)

Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection . . . For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost, and have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come, if they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame . . .

But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak . . . And we desire that every one of you do shew the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end: that ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises. (Heb. 6: 1, 4-6, 9, 11, 12.)

Once A "Gem"

(Calgary Albertan)

There was a time when the little British Columbia town of Golden lived up to its name.

Transcontinental travelers from Eastern Canada, from the United States and from far-off Europe knew of the golden gem of the Rockies long before they left home.

They were not disappointed when they reached it.

Golden, in the heart of some of the most beautiful scenery in the world, was a clean little jewel whose very name conjured up the romance of the high altitudes.

Today, the mountains and the setting have not changed.

The sparkling waters of the Kicking Horse River twist through a townsite which nestles in a setting of indescribable grandeur.

Snow-capped mountains glitter in the sunlight, daisies and buttercups splash patches of white and yellow in lush, green meadows in summer.

But Golden—ugh!

Golden, which today should be a thriving tourist centre in the summer months, is a horrible example of a town that has lost its pride and has forgotten to look after itself.

History Of YMCA Outlined To Rotary Club

An outline of the history, work and aims of the YMCA was presented in a forcible classification address by Charles Forsyth at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

Mr. Forsyth, who is general secretary of the Peterborough Y, opened with a reference to the 100th anniversary that this organization is celebrating in Canada this year and used this as a base for explaining its development since 1851.

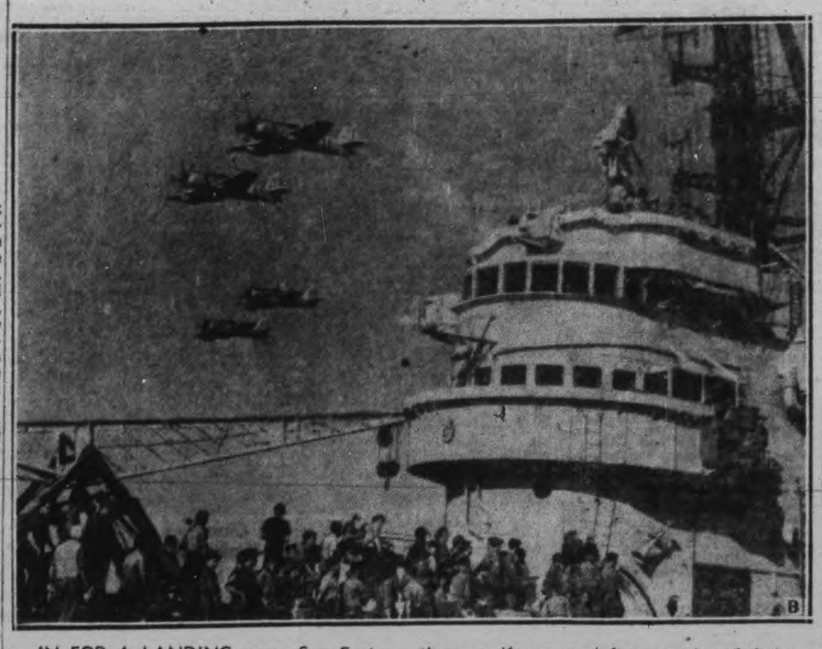
The Y was introduced to Canada in Montreal by a group of businessmen with its primary program outlined to meet the needs of young men.

In the beginning it was a pioneering program and has continued to be one—trying to fulfill the developing and changing needs of the community with special emphasis on youth.

Two Precepts

"Our program is based on two precepts," Mr. Forsyth said: first, that people have interests and people have needs. Our greatest emphasis is placed on family life, health and integrity. Around this our work for young men has developed in policy formation and determination and administration."

Turning from the general picture the speaker gave a brief outline of the YMCA in Peterborough. He stressed the need of community work in the increasing development of the city. This community work is a program of taking Y work out from the main building to groups of boys who might otherwise not be contacted.



"There is a tremendous field for this work in Peterborough," Mr. Forsyth said. Y leaders are working with groups that might well become gangs if there weren't such leaders."

The speaker enumerated some of the additions needed at the Y. These include new gym equipment and a craft room. He also said that there was a need for more forums—"young people today are interested in what's going on."

"But our greatest need today," he concluded, "is the need for the maturity of adulthood and the inspiration of youth to go along together."

Mr. Forsyth was introduced by Mel McCarrell and thanked by Art Cauley.

The following guests were introduced by Bob Allen; Leo MacGillivray, Montreal; Jack Bruyea, Oshawa, and Lloyd Algie, Toronto.

In one day alone Glory's aircraft made 89 missions and probably established a record for a light carrier. The boys from Britain will be replaced by boys from Australia on an Australian flattop.

Royal Couple's Journey Proves Story-Book Visit

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—It was a story-book visit, but it was down-to-earth enough to give the Royal couple a real insight into life and times in Canada.

As they sail the Atlantic today on the way back home, Princess Elizabeth and Phillip have encyclopedic recollections of the swiftly-moving Canadian panorama that passed before them on the 36 days and thousands of miles of their tour.

They saw villages and big cities from coast to coast. They saw Canadian industry and Canadian recreation. They ate almost every typical variety of Canadian food. They fished, enjoyed winter sport as Canadians do. They sampled the whole, long gamut of Canadian weather.

And above all they saw and met the people—and the youngsters particularly—who set up one rolling cheer from the Atlantic to the Pacific such as perhaps wasn't even equalled on the 1939 tour of Elizabeth's parents.

As a reporter who travelled with the Royal couple for about two-thirds of their journey through Canada, it's tough for this writer to try to pick out the high spots of the tour. There was a high spot almost every day.

Biggest Welcome

Montreal will be remembered for the biggest welcome, with Toronto not far behind. But who's going to say which was the warmest?

There are memories of old Quebec and its habitant reception; of free-and-easy Kapuskasing in the Ontario bush, with its mill-hand mayor doing the honors; of Winnipegers cheerfully smashing down police lines; of the little British Columbia town of Chilliwack in the Rockies, with its massed school children. And Rivers, Man., an isolated Prairie settlement where between 50,000 and 70,000 materialized at the airport from the country for hundreds of miles around.

For spectacle, there was the miniature Calgary stampede, in snow-flurried bitter cold. Or Montreal's jam-packed Dominion Square, a fairyland of electric lighting. Or perhaps the natural amphitheatre of Toronto's Riverdale Park, with the Princess and Prince winding their way through some 35,000 youngsters while parents carpeted the valley slopes above.

Tthere was Ottawa losing its capital-city dignity to go overboard for the Royal pair. And the other capital, Washington, turning out in droves for the Royal guests and handing them its unqualified approval.

Children's Party

Perhaps over anything on the whole procession, the visitors and the youngsters got the biggest reciprocal kick out of each other. All along the line, it was a children's party. Not that the oldsters weren't there, but it was the youngsters who really put everything into their welcome.

In this fast-moving indoctrination into Canadian life for the girl who is expected to be Canada's Queen some day, she and her husband got a good look at several facets of basic Canadian industry. They examined a paper-making plant at Kapuskasing, an oil refinery in oil-rich Edmonton, a shipyard building warships and an airplane plant at Montreal, a basic steel mill at Sydney, NS.

All in all, the trip gave Princess Elibzabeth a pretty clear view of Canada and Canadians. It was swift-moving, kaleidoscopic and necessarily on something of a de luxe basis. But the Princess and Prince saw a good cross-section of Canada. Even more important to a few million Canadians, they saw the Duke and Princess.

Sawchuk Keeps Rigid Schedule, Watches Weight

DETROIT, Nov. 13 (AP). — Twenty-two-year-old Terry Sawchuk, Detroit Red Wings' all-star goalie and rookie award winner last season, said today it was one thing to know where his bread is buttered and quite another to eat it.

"I'm down to 198 pounds," he said, "the lightest I've been in three years—and that's no accident. I reported to training camp at 220—ten pounds more than my rookie weight—and I could see that didn't enhance my popularity with the boss, Jack Adams."

It wouldn't. The possibility is strong that Adams would never have traded away Harry Lumley to make room for Sawchuk if Lumley wasn't inclined to put on weight too easily.

"I wasn't going to let that happen to me," said Sawchuk. "So I put on a sweat jacket and laid off the bread and potatoes and I feel fine. Last year I sort of got tired near the end of a game. No more."

For a big man Sawchuk has remarkably quick reflexes. He has a unique low-crouch on screen shots. And he guards his eyesight as zealously as Rogers Hornsby used to when he was the best hitter in baseball.

Avoids Movies

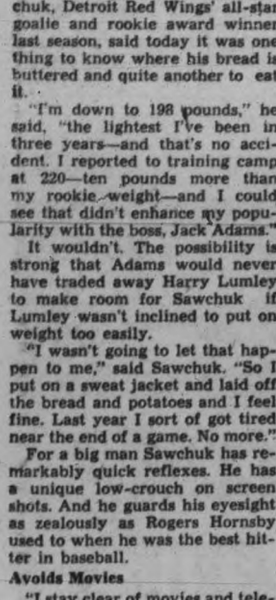
"I stay clear of movies and television screens during the season," he said. "And I don't read any more than I have to. Four years ago, when I was with Omaha in the US League, I nearly lost the sight of my right eye from a high stick. I had three stitches taken in the eyeball. It was bandaged for three weeks. I said to myself then: 'What am I gonna do for a living?' I had no answer. I still wouldn't if I couldn't play hockey."

This young bull moose from Winnipeg hits the sack plenty. He takes a three-hour nap from 4 to 7 the day of a game. And he's back in bed an hour after the game is over.

"I'll play the game over in bed" he said, "but I won't pick up a paper."

The player who worries him most is Maurice Richard of Montreal.

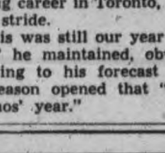
"He has a great shot," he said, "and he shoots every chance he gets. It's a heavy shot, hard to handle. I like my sleep, but sometimes that Richard keeps me up wondering what I did wrong."



Stukus Not Worried About Eskimo Loss

REGINA, Nov. 13 (CP).—Coach Annis Stukus, whose Edmonton Eskimos were eliminated from Grey Cup contention Monday by a spine-tingling 19-18 loss to Saskatchewan Roughriders, summed up the loss this way:

"All we lost was just a ball game."



Having to lose after coming so close to victory was tough. But the 37-year-old placement-kicker de luxe, who will relinquish his coaching job to return to a sports-writing career in Toronto, took it all in stride.

"This was still our year in the west," he maintained, obviously referring to his forecast before the season opened that "this is Eskimos' year."

The main event will feature the sensational Zorra against the masked matman, the Zebra, who tips the scales at 325 pounds. The semi-final match brings together Lou Newman and Myron Cox.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A raft of young guys (puck stars of the future) take to the ice in half a dozen games at Civic Arena this Thursday night. The three schedules in the 12-team PMHA open that night and go each Thursday till out in the spring, counting group playoffs and provincial playdowns. Trojans are entered in all three series, as well as the peewee setup, which goes outdoors later. St. Peter's have two clubs entered. Oddfellows sponsor a juvenile crew, as well as the OHA junior "B" entry from here. So, if you want to see lots of minor hockey all in one evening, drop around to the arena any Thursday eve and see the lads battling it out from six p.m. till midnight.

* * * * * *

The IOOF-ers deserve a lot of credit. They picked themselves up off the floor last summer, after losing $1,300 worth of hockey equipment in that distastrous George St. fire, and are back in the puck business with PMHA and OHA teams. No other local club would sponsor a junior team since the war, so the Triple Links took over and have been doing a dandy job in developing these boys. They now have a hookup with Boston Bruins, and a number of the IOOF graduates are playing senior OHA and pro hockey today. Under Coach Johnny Godfrey and Manager Len Symonds, they'll come up with another good team this semester.

* * * * * *

Sponsored By Pros

Elmer Pearse is puck prexy of the Oddfellows, with Herb Youngs vice-president; Glen Edwards secretary and Bob McCuaig the treasurer. Also a club working executive. Other teams in the group are pro-sponsored, too. Lindsay, Belleville and Kingston, and the schedule opens within two weeks, a quadruple one. Thus, Belleville will show here four times, apart from possible playoffs. Some of the IOOF prospects include: Wasson, Batley, Clapper, Stewart, Armstrong, Wilson, Bigford, Buckton, Robinson, Morrow, Twist, McCracken, Coyle, Floyd, Ferguson and several more. They've been drilling hard for several weeks and should be ready to go anytime now.

* * * * * *

OHA senior "B" hockey resumes here tomorrow night at 8.30 when Kingston SAC (the former Nylons) tangle with the Eagles. It should be a right interesting fixture and one that rates a big crowd. Some of the Kingston squad are: Goalie Don Dougall, Don Murray (formerly of Queen's), Bob Markle of Owen Sound Mercurys, Clint Tinkess from Portsmouth, Stan Stewart of the Scottish League, George MacGregor of Halifax—if his release comes through—Joe Catlin, Ed Birchall, Bud Ohlke, Cliff Aiken and some others. Ned Vitarelli's hustlers are after their second straight win, but may hit stiff opposition this time from the Kingston club.

* * * * * *

Petes Maul Queen's

Looks like Queen's will need a lot of bolstering in this race as they've been decisively trimmed twice in a row now by Eagles and Petes. The Ellis' squad dropped into Kingston last p.m. and flashed a lot of form in mauling the Students 14-2 in a rather rough joust, the Petes not getting a bit the better of it from the referee. Drew a flock of penalties but still waltzed through the opposition in every period. Two goals each tallied by Steele, Wyatt, Garvey, Fryia, Floyd and Dugan, one apiece going to Wade and Earl Leonard. Jake helped on three, Collins and Garvey two each and West one. Not much you can say about a game like that, except that one team was good. Locals' games with Queen's are four-point affairs.

* * * * * *

Football in these parts draws to a finish this weekend. Two sudden-death COSSA finals listed for Morrow Park on Saturday aft. It'll be Notre Dame of Welland vs. St. Peter's in the junior "B" playoff, first time an SPS grid team has reached a COSSA final. That game goes at 12.30, and is followed by the senior "A" final betwixt Stamford and PCVS. The two local schools are working together in staging this playoff twin bill. Albert College of Belleville, which ousted Campbellford, is in senior "B" playoffs now. And Belleville's junior "A" club made the junior "A" wind-up after erasing Oshawa 18-6. First time in six years that PCVS juniors didn't make the grade.

Hither And Yawning

Top mat bout here tonight has Zorra vs. the Zebra, with Newman, Cox, Padousis and Sjoberg also on the card . . . . Class in body-building and weight-lifting is at 7.45 Thursday p.m. in the YMCA . . . Sorry to hear of the sudden death in Ottawa of Art Blade; harness-horse followers will miss the big, genial starter . . . Arnold Olmstead's bantam PMHA-ers in future will be known as the Lions, being sponsored by that club . . . . Johnny Russelle has been chosen manager of the Petes' pucksters this season . . . . Eagles have released Andy Milne to Sudbury but are seeking a replacement; Honey Tompkins hasn't obtained his release yet from the Petes . . . . Eagles expect to ice pretty much the same squad tomorrow as they did in the opener, though several other players are on their list yet . . . . Three NHL-ers, Adam Brown, Jim Conacher and Jim Ross, were born in Scotland . . . . Richard and Lach lead the loop so far in scoring with 15 points each in as many games . . . . Canadiens also lead in penalties . . . . Oshawa Generals must be banking on imports for future puck seasons, since there is no junior "B" team there this winter . . . . Regina Riders won in football out west; three eastern clubs are still in the hunt: Ottawa, Hamilton and Sarnia . . . . End of the line.

Petes Take a Four-Pointer Over Queen's With a 14-2 Puck Victory

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.— Peterborough Petes made the Queen's University Gaels look inept and ridiculous in an OHA Senior B game here last night staged before an attendance of only 160 fans. The visitors, toying with the futile Gaels, made it a 14-2 disaster, and this despite the fact that the Liftlockers served 15 of the sentences inflicted by Referee Bill Holway of Belleville.

It was clearly evident that the Gaels will have to be drastically strengthened if they are to figure in contention for one of the play-off berths. They lacked both defensive strength and attacking power and could not keep pace with the speeding visitors.

Went to Work

The Petes scored the first four goals in shots by Steel, Wyatt, Wade and Garvey before Gerry Wagar, aided by McGaughey, intervened and made it a 4 to 1 affair at the first intermission. In the second session which was productive of nine penalties, for no good reason, the Petes locked up the verdict beyond dispute when Chum Fryia scored twice and Floyd once.

In a wild third session, there were 12 penalties. The onrushing invaders racked up seven counters in succession before Dunn, who took a pass from Sliter, connected for Queen's only 15 seconds before hostilities were concluded. Although the winners served eight of the 12 penalties in that bitterly-waged round, they made life miserable for the Queen's defence and for Goalkeeper McIntyre.

Teams:
Petes—Goal, Harding; defence G. Leonard and E. Leonard, centre, Wade; wings, Steele and Wyatt; alts., Fryia, Collins, Garvey, Floyd, West, Mason, Dugan, Millar and Cooper.
Queen's—Goal, McIntyre; defence, Rudiak and McCormick; centre, Wagar; wings, Brown and McGaughey; alts., Robertson, Murray, Dugan, Dunn, Sliter, Bourgeois, Root and Wilde.
Referee: Bill Holway; linesman, Bill Reardon.

Summary:

First Period
Petes—Steele (Wade) 1:46
Petes—Wyatt (Wade) 2:04
Petes—Wade 7:31
Petes—Garvey (Collins) 13:33
Queen's—Wagar (McGaughey) 15:23
Penalties—McGaughey, Steele.

Second Period
Petes—Fryia 4:41
Petes—Fryia (West) 14:59
Petes—Floyd (Garvey) 19:45
Penalties—Dugan, Fryia 2, McCormick, Wyatt 2, Floyd, McGaughey (minor and misconduct).

Third Period
Petes—E. Leonard 4:02
Petes—Steele 6:18
Petes—Dugan 8:08
Petes—Floyd (Garvey) 10:16
Petes—Garvey (Collins) 12:47
Petes—Dugan 13:35
Petes—Wyatt (Wade) 18:29
Queen's—K. Dunn (Sliter) 19:45
Penalties—Rudiak, McGaughey 2, McCormick, G. Leonard, Dugan, Fryia, Steele, Wade 2, E. Leonard, Cooper.

IN ON FOUR—Freddy Garvey was one of the Petes who fattened batting averages at the expense of Queen's in Kingston last night, the local senior "B" crew winning 14-2. Garvey scored a pair and aided on two more.

Trojan Hockeyists Ready For Action

The Trojan Athletic Club has entered teams in each section of the PMHA this hockey season. Len Maudsley and Jack Burns handle the peewee team, sponsored by UEW. Leo Sullivan is coach and Shorty Barrett manager of the bantam Trojans, not sponsored as yet. Cack Pagett coaches the midgets, aided by Reg Burns and Al Menzies. This team is sponsored by D. A. McGillis and is called the McGillis Eaglets.

The juveniles, known as Ashby's Trojans, have Art Pagett and Jack Byers coaches, with Frank Lundy manager. All teams, except the peewees, have been practising, and they will start play Thursday.

In the past 10 years, the club has handled nearly 200 boys at times in different age groups in sports. This year, nearly 80 will compete. Coaches and managers put in a lot of time and effort helping the boys. A raffle is being run to raise some cash for hockey expenses. A good season is anticipated.

City Carpetball

The schedule for the week of November 19 is: Legion No. 11 vs. Legion No. 8; St. George's No. 12 vs. SOE No. 5; Moose No. 9 vs. LOL No. 14; Red Patch No. 10 vs. Fire Hall 10; 2nd Armour No. 3 vs. Orphans No. 16; Fire Hall No. 13 vs. Legion No. 4; Glens No. 1 vs. Legion No. 6; Legion No. 2 vs. Quakers No. 7.

Results of last week's play: The Orphans' No. 16 at home captured the first game 18-3, but the Moose No. 9 emerged victors in the first game, 11-10. Fire Fighters No. 13, by scoring a 4 in the 12th frame, won the first game from the Red Patch, 10-9. The second game saw team No. 13 just in ahead of the Red Patch in eight of the 12 ends to take the game by a score of 13-4. The Full-O-Pep team playing at the wash-rack lost two close games to St. George's by scores 15-12 and 14-10. At the Citadel, Legion No. 2 only scored in 3 ends in the first games and 4 ends in the second, losing both games to the Sons 16-7 and 14-7. The 2nd Armour team lost both games on their own mats to the LOL by scores of 12-5 and 17-4. The Fire Hall team No. 15 are really hot. They have yet to tie a game, let alone lose one. At the Legion against Legion No. 4, they grabbed two more wins by 12-9 and 12-8 scores.

Orphans No. 16 played Legion No. 2 one of their back games on Saturday, and Legion No. 2 captured both of them. Their card is not on hand, so the scores are not available. Legion No. 6 has not reported for this or last week. Teams must play their games as scheduled. So come on, No. 6, with a little co-operation.

Push the sale of those draw-tickets and turn in completed books and money to A. Pilling.

Still a few teams that have not paid their membership dues.

Roughriders Down Eskimos Head East For Grey Cup

REGINA, Nov. 13. (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders brought the western football championship back to Regina Monday to end a 15-year title drought for this prairire wheat farming centre of 70,000, smallest city in Canada supporting a professional football club.

Triple-threat quarterback Glenn Dobbs led Roughriders to a heart-tugging 19-18 triumph over Annis Stukus' Edmonton Eskimos in the deciding game of their three-game western football final which went right down to the last minute. It capped an uphill fight for the Riders, who dropped the opener 15-11 in Edmonton and won the second game 12-5 here Saturday.

Roughriders now go east to meet Ottawa Roughriders, Hamilton Tiger-Cats, or Sarnia Imperials in the Grey Cup final Nov. 24 at Toronto's Varsity Stadium. They still seek their first Grey Cup.

It was all Dobbs Monday, the six-foot, four-inch American, voted most valuable player to his team in the Western Football Union, won the game on his long passes and booming punts.

Completes 10 Passes

Dobbs completed 10 of 19 passes for 262 yards. Two went for touchdowns by end Jack Nix, former New York Yankee, and fullback Bob Sandberg. Dobbs went over for his team's other major and scored a single on a rouge. Riders' other points came on two converts by big Red Ettinger, from New York Giants, and a rouge off an Ettinger field goal

Eskimos, who did almost nothing until the final quarter when they scored three majors to Saskatchewan's two, came back valiantly within an ace of fulfilling coach Stukus' pre-season prediction of "this is our year."

Edmonton's two brilliant Negro backfielders, little Roland Miles and lanky Jim Chambers, scored a touchdown apiece along with all-star fullback Mike King. Stukus converted all three.

Miles made a one-handed catch in the end zone for his major and Chambers ghosted 70 yards for his on Bob Paffrath's lateral off a kickoff catch.

Turning Point

Two interceptions of Frankie Filchock passes deep in the Eskimo end by veteran halfback Ken Charlton and Sandberg in the fourth quarter, both of which led to Rider touchdowns, were the turning points of the game.

These interceptions, with five fumbles (only one recovered) and lack of a consistent ground attack hurt Edmonton's chances.

But Riders were the best team on the day's play. Whenever Dobbs wasn't in control, which wasn't often, his booming 60 and 70-yard punts drove the Edmontonians back deep into their own end.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 in Taylor Field saw Riders pile up an 8-0 lead in the first three quarters, largely on a 46-yard touchdown pass to Nix.

Just when they appeared hopelessly beaten, Eskimos came alive in fourth quarter which produced 29 points as play went up and down the hard, fast gridiron in spectacular fashion.

OHA SENIOR B

Peterborough Petes 14, Queen's 2.

However, Detroit players managed to push their way higher in the individual scoring list to make things hot for Montreal Canadiens —among the better marksmen so far this season.

Detroit has nine players among the 23 leading point-getters, while Montreal has five, all bunched near the top. The nine other spots are divided among players of the four other NHL clubs.

Having tied all clubs but the Chicago Black Hawks last week, the Red Wings now have 19 points for seven wins, two defeats and five deadlocks. The first Detroit-Chicago encounter since Oct. 18 will be next Thursday in the motor city.

Three points behind the Red Wings are Toronto Maple Leafs with a 6-4-4 tally, while Canadiens hold a toe-hold on third spot with 14 points. The Habs, who played the highest number of games, 15, have a single-point lead over Boston Bruins who played three games less. New York Rangers follow with 10 and Chicago is in the basement with eight points.

Heads Three Departments

Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard continues to lead the way in three departments. He shares the top-scoring spot with teammate Elmer Lach, has the highest number of goals and, a less enviable achievement, is most penalized player.

Richard and Lach have 15 points each. Richard boasts a pace-setting 10 goals and five assists while Lach has two goals and has set up the highest number of plays for 13 assists.

A Bostonian and two Torontonians are deadlocked with 11 points for third place. Adam Brown of Boston was joined in that spot two weeks ago by Toronto's Sid Smith. A newcomer this week is Toronto's Ted Kennedy.

Canadiens are the most penalized club with 174 minutes, while Chicago plays the most gentlemanly hockey with 95 minutes called against them.

Detroit's goalie Terry Sawchuk leads in the shutouts division with three, while Boston's Jim Henry and Toronto's Al Rollins have two each.

Toronto's Al Rollins, last year's winner of the Vezina Trophy for the lowest goals-against average, has had 24 pucks past him in 14 games for a 1.71 average, while Henry and Sawchuk have 1.75 and 1.78 respectively.

Saskatchewan Players Celebrate Win

REGINA, Nov. 13 (CP).—It was a madhouse.

Saskatchewan Roughriders whooped it up in true western style. Some of the injured of previous games were on crutches; others in plaster casts. They jubilantly yelled: "The Grey Cup is next." Some cried with joy.

This was Roughies' dressing room after a spine-tingling 19-18 victory over Edmonton Eskimos Monday in the final game that gave them the western Canada football title and a crack at the Grey Cup.

Roughriders no sooner got off the field when they bundled coach Harry Smith off to the showers, clothes and all.

Smith sputtered:

"You were wonderful, boys. There may have been better football games than that one today, but nobody ever played as hard as you did. I'm proud of you all."

Quarterback Glenn Dobbs was as happy as a kid with a new toy. The all-star import whose kicking had Esks on the run all afternoon, said he never wanted to win a game as much as he wanted to win that one.

People Terrific

"It's the fans. The people up here have been terrific. I played college football and had a turn at the pro game. . . Nobody cared much about the footballers off the field. I came up here and every door was open to me. We had to win. The fans deserved it."

Dobbs looked across at big Toar Springstein, the tackle who has played so long in a Rider uniform.

"What a pair of games that guy played," Dobbs said. "I'm telling you he was killing them out there."

"It was team work all the way. We couldn't have got anywhere without that line and our backs played up to them."

Jack Wedley, formerly of Toronto Argonauts and a great defensive end took it all in stride. Grey Cup games aren't new to him. Before coming to Riders this year he played in five dominion finals for Toronto Argonauts and was on the winning side each time.

Turner Ready For Kid Gavilan

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13 (AP) —Gil Turner feels he has passed all the tests necessary for a fight with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan.

The 21-year-old Philadelphian won his 25th and most convincing triumph of an unbeaten career Monday night when he threw so many punches at Bernie (Big Duke) Docusen, the clever little Filipino decided discretion was the better part of valor and quit in his corner.

Docusen refused to come out for the seventh round. He told ringside physician Dr. W. G. B. Terry he had had enough. And in his Convention Hall dressing room the New Orleans veteran said Turner was just too good for him.

"I had notthing left. Turner is everything they said he was. I wouldn't have believed one man could throw so many punches if I hadn't felt them."

Turner, who weighed 146½ in stopping his 22nd opponent, has done everything asked of him. The powers who run the fight business told the rising young welter he had to beat some good punchers. So Gil stopped Charley Fusari and Ike Williams.

Then they said for him to beat a boxer. Monday night he slaughtered one of the cleverest welterweight boxers in the business, the 24-year-old Docusen who almost won the 147-pound crown from Ray (Sugar) Robinson in the latter's prime.

Thomson Plans To Repeal Charities Act

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP) — A Toronto paper Monday quoted Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, as saying a Liberal Government would repeal a section of the Charitable Gifts Act which affects The Toronto Star.

The paper said Mr. Thomson's statement was made in an interview at his Pickering farm. The Charitable Gifts Act was passed at the 1949 session of the Legislature and provides that charity trusts may not hold after 1946 more than 10 per cent of any business.

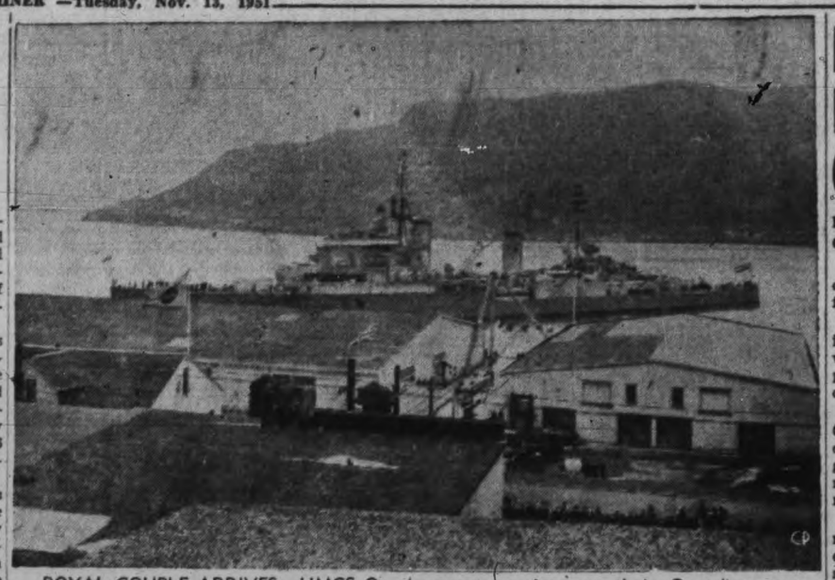
"It is generally known," says the paper, "that repeal of the Charitable Gifts Act, passed by the Frost (Progressive Conservative) government to block evasion of succession duties, has been the main objective of the present executives of the Star ever since the measure was passed in 1949."

During the campaign for the Nov. 22 provincial general election, Attorney-General Porter has suggested there may have been a secret deal between Mr. Thomson and the Star regarding repeal of the act.

The story, by reporter James Y. Nicol, quotes Mr. Thomson as saying in the interview: "There has been no secret deal between the Star and me. No newspaper has attempted to dictate to me."

Will Be Repealed

The paper says Mr. Thomson was asked to say definitely what stand he would take on the act and that he replied:



"Legally the Charitable Gifts Act is wrong and morally it is wrong. It will be repealed. We have always been taught that any will speaks for a man who is dead."

The story said Mr. Thomson argued that no man's will should be affected by legislation passed after his death and that he added:

"If that is permitted, we can jumble up the whole destiny of a nation and destroy the pertinence of wills."

Opponents of the Act have said it was aimed at overthrowing the will of J. E. Atkinson, Toronto publisher, whose will established a charity foundation for the Toronto Daily Star and the Star Weekly. The papers are now being operated by the Atkinson Charitable Foundation.

(Premier Frost said in the legislature it was designed by the treasury department "for the purpose of protecting the public and preventing charitable trusts having control of great wealth which they could use for other than charitable purposes.")

Export Trade Influences Canadian Life

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

When you get your weekly pay cheque, make a bow to Canada's foreign trade.

For, no matter what you do, it is estimated that one-third of what you earn comes from the process of buying and selling with other countries.

Some think that the average Canadian doesn't realize to what degree foreign trade pays for his groceries and luxuries; that even many of those engaged in it do not realizes its importance.

Speakers to the current annual meeting in Toronto of the Canadian Exporters' Association have something to say about these tendencies, and what to do about them.

John E. Marsh, general manager of the CEA told the meeting Monday, in reference to exports:

"It takes only a few short months of neglect to destroy the work of years and the very large expenditure of money.

Should Stress Importance

"While I condemn ourselves (the exporters) for not putting enough emphasis on export, may I also suggest that the government show more imagination in selling to Canadians the importance of export and how dependent we are upon it.

"This association will have to do more—emphasizing that it is a very long, difficult and expensive undertaking to become thoroughly established in world markets."

And Quintin J. Gwyn, the Association's president, said:

"The refrigerator in the home, the vacuum cleaner, the radio and a hundred other items that make the difference between mere subsistence and a decent standard of living, are indirectly the result of Canada's vast stake in international trade."

Speaking to the Association's annual dinner Monday night, Health Minister Martin forecast that Canadian exports this year will approach $4,000,000,000, and imports about $4,250,000,000—both records.

If foreign trade is that good, why is there concern? It is not, except in a minor way, because we are temporarily buying slightly more than we are selling.

Fly In Ointment

Rather, the worry results from the nature of our export trade. For one thing, more than 65 per cent of our sales are to the United States, and Mr. Marsh commented:

"Our dependence on the US market (grateful as we are for it because without it our export figures would be pathetic) is at once our greatest temporary asset and the greatest menace to our future autonomy."

One reason for the high proportion of sales to the United States is that Britain, the rest of the Commonwealth and Empire, and Europe, have not got our kind of money (dollars) with which to buy from us; and we are not buying enough from them to supply them with our kind of money.

Mr. Gwyn urged: "We must strain every effort to ease this problem in our own interest."

Drained Marsh Famous Market Garden

BRADFORD —(CP)— A few years ago, the soil around this village 22 miles north of Toronto was just marshy wasteland along the banks of the Holland River.

Today it's one of the richest market gardens in the country.

But the "black muck" has done more than grow crops worth millions of dollars annually. It's brought the people that live here into one democratic unit, a harmonious community the United Nations might well envy.

For the 1550 citizens who live here include such nationalities as Poles, Slovaks, Japanese, Chinese, Dutch, and Canadians.

Bradford, without co-operation could well be a kind of horizontal Tower of Babel. But the new Canadians immediately set about learning the language of their adopted country and their children have picked it up with incredible facility.

George Cowan, principal of the public school that is so new it hasn't been formally opened, said that many children arrive at the school not knowing one word of English.

10 Nationalities

"We have at least 10 different nationalities in the school but we don't differentiate in any way and we have no difficulties. This makes for a fine spirit in Bradford which typifies our Canadian way of life."

And the rich, black soil is the main reason.

In 1910, visionaries dreamed of the day when the Holland Marsh would be drained and the land reclaimed. The late Prof. W. H. Day of the Ontario Agriculture College went so far as to make experiments but two decades passed before the scheme had sufficient impetus to produce results.

In the early '40s the marsh began to boom.

Canals were dredged for proper irrigation and the early crops began to hit the over-a-million-dollar mark.

George Carson, manager of the Bradford Co-operative Storage, is proud of the growers who work the rich soil.

"The Marsh produced enough vegetables this year to give every family in Canada one bushel of mixed vegetables."

Remarkable Change

This is not bad for an area where once the main crop was marsh hay for use in stuffing mattresses and packing purposes. Originally the hay was cut by scythe, but as demand increased, and hay-fever hadn't come into its own, horses with boards fastened to their hoofs pulled the machines that cut the hay.

But that prosperity was Victorian compared with the present day.

The Bradford Co-Op, with its baths for washing vegetables and its mammoth refrigerator rooms, looks like the last word to ordinary individuals. However, Mr. Carson is always experimenting.

These days he is trying out a new method, involving rapid cooling, for the preservation of celery.

At the Holland River Gardens Co. plant, called "The world's most modernly-equipped vegetable packing plant," the produce is packaged in splintered ice to arrive "garden fresh" at distant markets.

Reeve Frank Allen said: "Last years the population increased by almost 100 and it's bound to continue to grow . . . I wouldn't be surprised to seen some canneries start here soon.

"The Marsh has made Bradford. The town is booming."

$300,000 Defence Jobs Given To Firm

Timber Structures Supplying Lumber For Many Projects

Canadian defence contracts amounting to almost $300,000 have been awarded to the Timber Structures of Canada, Ltd., so far this year, Robert M. Peirson, president and general manager, said today at the Peterborough office.

At the same time Mr. Peirson denied the rumor that the Peterborough factory, which was established in the city on High St. two years ago, would be moved to British Columbia.

Mr. Peirson explained that most of the contracts he has received are for work at RCAF airports and RCN shipyards in Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick.

The timber products, a large part produced by the Peterborough plants, are for aircraft hangers at Winnipeg, North Bay, Trenton, Ottawa Uplands, Montreal and Chatham, NB. The naval products went to shipyards in Kingston and in Lauzon, Quebec.

Work Divided

Mr. Peirson explained that the contracts were divided between the Peterborough factory and the affiliate company in Portland, Oregon. The products, destined for Winnipeg and Northern Ontario, were manufactured in Portland and those for Eastern Canada in Peterborough.

While denying the transfer of the Peterborough factory to British Columbia, Mr. Peirson said that the company "had been thinking of expansion" on the Pacific coast.

"But we can't establish a plant until the business warrants it."

He added that the Peterborough factory was built in Peterborough" to take care of the industrial area between Windsor and the east coast, and its to stay that way."

In Western Canada the company has three sales offices, in Vancouver, Calgary and Winnipeg. Their demands are met by the company's plant in Portland.

Besides the war contracts, the Peterborough factory has an "extensive farm trade". These products are produced from Douglas fir from the Pacific coast, the wood processed and fabricated in Peterborough. The finished product is shipped out to customers as far west as Sault Ste. Marie and as far east as the Atlantic coast.

Voice From Holland

A voice from Holland was heard at the city hall Monday afternoon. It was recorded on a plastic cylinder which was received through the mail by Mr. Wm. J. Bouwer, a business man from the Netherlands who has been in Canada five months, and hopes to become established in Peterborough. Lacking a reproducing machine of his own, Mr. Bouwer applied at the city hall for help. Miss Irma Allen of City Clerk Outram's staff set the cylinder on her special machine, and turned its vocalism over to her visitor. It was just a personal message, including news, from the homeland in Holland, and was so pleasing to Mr. Bouwer that he requested permission to have his wife hear it. So, the plastic medium of communication between Mr. and Mrs. Bouwer and their friends overseas was readily provided, and with warm appreciation from the two auditors.

Dates Mixed Soprano Fails To Arrive

A misunderstanding in dates sent Peterborough music lovers home disappointed Monday night.

Miss Louise Roy, dramatic soprano, from Toronto was scheduled to present a concert in Queen Mary auditorium under the sponsorship of St. Cecilia's convent. But at the opening time of the concert, the guest artist had not arrived.

She was contacted by phone and explained that she understood that the concert was to be Friday and not Monday night.

This morning Miss Roy was again contacted by phone.

"It was a definite misunderstanding in dates," she said. "My accompanist and I had made all arrangements to come to Peterborough on Friday night. I was very upset when I received that call last night asking why I wasn't there."

"But I will definitely be in Peterborough on Friday night to give the concert and I'm very sorry for the inconvenience to everyone."

The announcement that the concert will take place at Queen Mary auditorium Friday night, Nov. 16, was confirmed at St. Cecilia's convent.

Contest Winner

Miss Roy is well known in Peterborough for her successful career in singing. She was a winner of the radio program, Singing Stars of Tomorrow in 1949 and also winner of the Montreal radio program, Future Stars.

She is at present with the CBC opera company and has sung the leading role in Aida, Marriage of Figaro and several other operas. She has also been guest artist with the Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg symphony orchestras.

Born in Winnipeg, Miss Roy has been a student of the senior school at the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, and is studying with Dr. Ernesto Vinci.

Ontario Man Wins Potato Championship

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP)—A. T. Hertwick of Walford Station, Ont., near Sudbury, today was announced winner of the world potato championship at the Royal Winter Fair. He exhibited the Green Mountain variety.

Reserve champion is Francis Pincosy of Salmon Arm, BC, who showed Netted Gems.

This is the last of eight international championships awarded at the fair. The other seven winners were announced Monday.

Newspaper Denies Deal With Thomson

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP)—The Toronto Star in an editorial today describes as "untrue" the charge of a pact between the Star and Liberal leader Walter Thomson to trade the Star's campaign support for the Nov. 22 Ontario election for a promise to repeal the Charitable Gifts Act if elected.

Referring to C. G. MacOdrum, Progressive Conservative candidate in Leeds who made the charge, the Star said: "He (Mr. MacOdrum) knew about Mr. Thomson's flat denial of a deal, yet he used the expression 'brazen admission.'"

Labor Needs Representation In Government Says UAW

Through direct political action, organized lazor in Oshawa has been able to elect pro-labor candidates in all three fields of government. Peterborough union members can do the same, suggested Arthur G. Shultz, director of political action for the UAW (CIO-CCL) in Canada.

Mr. Schultz Monday night addressed the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) at the official opening of the new Peterborough Labor Centre, 408½ George St.

At the same time he called on organized labor here to support William C. Grant, CCF candidate, in the Nov. 22 election.

The CCF party is the political arm of the CCL, he said. It was the only party willing to support the legislative proposals drawn up by the CCL. He urged trade unionists to become interested in political action.

Threat Through Ballot

"Big business is convinced that labor is more of a threat through the ballot than through trade union organization," said Mr. Shultz.

Oshawa workers had to face up to the question of political action in 1937, said Mr. Shultz. At that time Premier Mitch. Hepburn was determined to drive the CIO (then organizing General Motors in Oshawa) out of Ontario.

"After a fight the General Motors workers won," he said. "The CIO grew in Canada by leaps and bounds. But because of that our union adopted a policy of political action."

At the last city elections labor was successful in electing six pro-labor aldermen to the Oshawa city council. The former MP for the riding was Arthur Williams (CCF), and the present MPP is Tommy Thomas (CCF).

Opposes Thomson

"The boys in Oshawa are confident they can retain the seat for Thomas," stated Mr. Shultz. "And I think they will." (He is opposed by the Liberal leader, Walter C. Thomson.)

Political action as an accepted part of Canadian trade union policy is nothing new, Mr. Shultz told his Peterborough audience. In 1873 the Ottawa labor council endorsed a candidate and he was elected to the legislature. The Toronto labor council elected two in 1833; repeated this in 1886; and elected a federal member in 1887.

He quoted the AFL as saying in 1887: "Labor must be represented in politics by members of its own class." And again, in 1894: "The working class should take independent political action."

By 1918 six provinces had independent labor parties. And in 1921 the Canadian Labor Party, forerunner of the CCF, was formed.

In Canada it is no use supporting the independent candidate, said Mr. Shultz, because the independent doesn't get very far either at Ottawa or in the legislature.

"We are tied to party politics here. Decisions are made in party caucus. . .If labor wants its voice heard in Canada it must tie itself to a program."

He said there is a subtle campaign going on in both the United States and Canada to break the trade unionist's loyalty to his union. The campaign is intended to change the economic thinking of the workers.

Business Motto

"What is good for industry is good for the workers," is the motto, said Mr. Shultz. "The CIO estimates that $1,000,000 a day is being spent by big business on propaganda."

The new technique includes pamphlets, radio and newspaper advertising and anti-labor colored cartoons made in Hollywood.

In the present provincial election campaign the CCF and its labor allies are spending "peanuts" compared to the two old-line parties. He said one advertising agency has a contract with

Labor Man To Run For Council

Labor Council To Sponsor Unnamed Candidate

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) are going to sponsor a Labor candiate for alderman at the coming city elections.

This decision was reached Monday night at the November meeting of the council held in the new labor centre. The recommendation came from the municipal committee and then was adopted unanimously by the council as a whole.

The candidate has not yet been decided on. He will be picked by the municipal committee and the executive committee of council. All affiliated local unions will be asked to give both their money and their moral support to help in the campaign.

No Representtative

"Has the possibility of backing a pro-Labor alderman been considered?" asked Donald Rosenburgh, Local 524 (IUE-CIO).

"There's no such thing as a pro-Labor alderman," replied President Alfred Barber.

President Barber was one of two candidates backed by the Labor Council in the 1950 elections. Both were unsuccessful. In a field of 12 candidates Mr. Barber came eighth with 2,174 votes. Orville Martin, Local 599 (IUE-CIO) came fifth with 2,151 votes.

CCF Candidate Promises CheaperHousing

BOWMANVILLE, Nov. 13 — (Staff). — Low cost housing as a major plank in the CCF platform was discussed Saturday night by Spencer W. Cheshire, Durham CCF candidate.

"We have had a rash of cocktail bars, movie palaces, mansions, banks, all in a period of so-called shortage of materials. The CCF is the only party which can give absolute priority to low-cost homes, and as indicated in the published (CCF) platform, it will set up a housing commission to do the building," he said.

"After the Mississaugi fire, when it was estimated that 164 million board feet of the finest lumber could be salvaged, Mr. Scott (Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests) declared at once that it could not be used for homes because that would break the market — the cost of living index stood at 400 in terms of the 1935-1939 figure. That is what they think of low-cost housing."

A CCF plan for low-cost auto insurance would mean $3 or $4 more to buy a licence, but the owner, any driver, any pedestrian, other motorists, would all be covered; there would be no expensive litigation and interminable delays.

Mr. Cheshire declared that at the present rate of depletion of soil, wood and water the province will soon be facing disaster.

Deer, Deer

"A deer, swimming, out on the lake," shouted the cook. Hunters at the Silver Lake lodge scrambled over each other trying to be the first to shoot. They blasted away with everything they had, although the deer was 500 yards away. But no one hit it and it wouldn't have made any difference if they had. A practical joker was behind the swimming deer gag. He had rigged a deer's head on a small plank so that it would float. He tied the end of a fishing line to it and then reeled it in across one corner of the lake. He forgot one thing. The closer the deer head got to him, the nearer the bullets whistled, but he escaped.

Prov. Will Help Those Unable To Work-Frost

Legislation to look after permanently unemployables will be passed at the next session of the Ontario Government, if the Frost administration is returned, the Hon. Harold R. Scott told a Progressive - Conservative rally at Warsaw Monday night.

This legislation, said Mr. Scott, will take care of those people who have suffered crippling accidents, deformities at birth and diseases that have made them unfit to work.

It was a natural follow-up to old age pension legislation, which, said the minister of lands and forests, was first ratified by Ontario after negotiations between federal and provincial governments.

Proud of Acts

There were two pieces of legislation that Mr. Scott was particularly proud of—the Highways Improvement Act of 1946 and the Old Age Pension Act.

Speaking of the Highways Act, he said that Peterborough County had benefited as much or more than any other county in the province; it had received $600,000 under that act. By the Highways Improvement Act, the Government contracted to pay the capital costs of roads which would open up tourist resorts.

"There were plenty of men who had a hundred or so acres, and could get nothing from it by farming. They had lakes on their property, but the townships could not afford to put roads into them so the tourist industry could get underway.

"This act made it possible for a township to build the road, then bill the Government for it. All the township would have to pay would be the maintenance," he said.

Gordon K. Fraser

Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West, attacked the campaigning of Liberal leader Walter Thomson as "the vilest piece of political skulduggery since Mitch Hepburn."

George White, MP for Peterborough East, said that since Mr. Thomson didn't want to build more schools and preferred the little red schoolhouse, "perhaps he'd discard hydro for the old oil lamps, the car for the horse and buggy."

"It is a certainty the Frost Government will be returned," declared J. C. N. Currelly, remarking on the "towering strength the Frost administration has acquired through its deeds."

William Ovens, president of the Peterborough County Progressive Conservative Association touched on the highlights of government achievements in agriculture including the Farm Produce Act.

Chairman for the meeting was C. J. Blakley. Henry Batten sang two songs, Lassie of Mine and The Old Bachelor. Ted and Marion Bradshaw provided some magical entertainment.

Arsenals Get Contracts ForMunitions

Lindsay Arsenal In List of Seven; Retooling To Do

Crown-owned arsenals, including the Canadian Arsenals Ltd. in Lindsay, which have been producing at a snail's pace because of lack of contracts, will shortly boost production to full capacity on orders to provide $51,700,000 worth of ammunition for Canada's forces.

The defence production department announced the contracts today among the total orders amounting to more than $82,000,000 placed with Canadian defence factories in October.

Col. E. M. Shields, manager of the Lindsay company, said that he "had no knowledge" of the contracts.

First Big Step

The $51,700,000 worth of Canadian orders marks the first major step to speed up the arsenals' production for the Canadian forces. The government's arsenals, in Quebec and Lindsay, have been producing mostly for foreign account.

Officials said that after a few months of tooling up, the plants will be ready for big contracts which will require the addition of another 1,000 employees to the 2,500 already employed by the plants.

Besides the Lindsay factory, others included in the contracts were Leaside, Valleyfield, St. Paul L'Ermite, two at Quebec and a seventh plant at Longeuil, Que., which has been turned over to the Sorel Industries Ltd. for the production of 105 MM howitzers.

Details of the type of ammunition to be produced were not disclosed but it appeared likely that ammunition for small arms, including the American Garand rifle, artillery shells and even depth charges will be included.

400 Children Attend Book Week Film

Young Canada's Book Week opening event Monday afternoon was attended by approximately 400 children, Miss Lillian Wesley, boys' and girls' department librarian said today.

The opening event was the film Heidi, shown in the auditorium at the public library.

Miss Wesley said that even a greater crowd of children are expected today to attend the puppet show, Cinderella.

The feature attraction of this week in Peterborough will be a visit by Mrs. Babs Brown, of the CBC Cuckoo Clock House. Mrs. Brown will speak to the parents over CHEX Thursday afternoon and then to the children at the library.

The speedy Centurion, a post-war British development, has proved itself in the Korean battle. It is equipped with a 20-pounder gun as the main firing unit and a Rolls-Royce engine.

The Trouble With Deer Hunters Is . . . .

By JIM ENGLISH

The trouble with deer hunters is they haven't any imagination. They come back from a hunt, and presuming they got their deer, they tell a straightforward story of how the creature was shot.

While this speaks well for their honesty, it doesn't say much for their creative ability. A deer hunt is a pretty down-to-earth affair, it would seem.

They had a bit of trouble this year with the ice, but unless you press them, they won't go into details about it. You get the bare facts. They went out on the runway Saturday morning, heard this deer come along, took three or four shots at it, and the deer dropped.

So you've got venison for the winter. But man does not live by bread alone. There should be more. Perhaps a little elaboration here, a grain of untruth there, and one or two downright lies.

Seldom Ornate

True, you hear of the odd case of something different happening, but it's seldom anything ornate. There was the man this year who shot a doe from a camp chair. It's certainly different, but there's no color to it.

Anglers have the right idea. For freshwater fish that escaped add five pounds if a fairly large variety, 10 to 100 pounds if a tuna or shark or something like that.

Some of the tales that come down from yesteryear about hunters have the proper flavor of untruth about them.

Take the one about the hunter that used rock salt for bullets. His rifle had such a tremendous range that he had to use the salt to preserve the meat until he got to the deer.

One fellow who got a deer this year has the makings of a good yarn, if he does something with it. This nimrod was returning to camp from the well, a bucket of water in one hand, no gun in the other.

When he was about 50 feet from his cabin, he saw a plump doe come hell-bent-for-election out of the thick brush.

He dropped the bucket, ran for the cabin to get his gun, grabbed it and some shells, loaded on the run, and shot the deer before it was out of sight.

Told The Truth

Being unused to such an opportunity, he came home and told the truth about it. He is one of many who have failed to grasp fortune by the forelock and get in a whopper before the season closed.

Here, for the benefit of you honest deer hunters, is one way that story could have been told. And mark you well, the outright lies are not the audience pleasers, though they help. Rather it is the improvisations on the truth that draw sighs of excitement and pleasure in a tale well told.

"I never saw anything like it. (Editor's note—this is the standard opening phrase.)

"It was Saturday morning and we hadn't seen a deer for three days. I was getting sick and tired of sitting around by a runway with that west wind whistling through my clothes. So I gave it up and headed back to the cabin.

"Well, sir, I hadn't been there more than about 20 minutes before I got thirsty. I grabbed up the bucket and headed for the well.

Here It Comes

"I walked over to the well, filled up the bucket and started back when I heard some dogs off somewhere. They were ki-i-ing and boo-hooing fit to bust and there was one with a really clear tongue leading them, I judged by the sound.

"They were our dogs all right, and that was Old Bess leading, so I walked a little faster. Then I heard the bush snapping and popping and the dogs coming nearer.

"Just when I was about 20 feet (Editor's note — you're right, it's shrunk) from the cabin door, I saw this big doe bust right out of the thick bush and head straight for me.

"Well sir, I just threw that bucket up in the air as high as I could and ran for the cabin. I grabbed my gun, loaded it on the run, and got outdoors just as the doe was coming in front of the cabin.

(By here, the hunter should have his audience breathing uneasily, wondering if he will get that deer.)

"I fired, and I thought I'd missed because that doe just kept on running. And she would have kept on going, too, if that bucket hadn't come down just then and nailed her right on the head. It laid her out colder'n a chick-frozen fish.

"I finished her off and we ate deer heart for supper."

You see, it doesn't take too much. With some careful decoration of the facts, a hunter could work up a reputation around town. He just wants to be careful what kind.

Body Of Bachelor Discovered In Home

LINDSAY, Nov. 13—(ENS)—No inquest will be held into the death of Alfred Bowman, 62, bachelor machinist found dead in his home on Albert St. by Lindsay's Police Chief Arthur Webster.

Neighbors had missed Bowman going in and out of his home during the past five days. The body was badly decomposed.

UN Bombings Delay New Red Airfields

TOKYO, Nov. 13 — (AP). — In a deadly game of bombs and shells for some of the highest potential stakes of the Korean War, the Communists are struggling around the clock to try to complete three airfields in North Korea, US Air Force sources report.

If the Reds can complete the fields, north and northwest of Sinanju, they can move some of their growing air power from Manchuria down closer to the ground battlefronts.

To prevent this, radar-guided UN B-29s fly over the three airfields almost every night, scattering 10-pound bombs along the runways. The Communists are forced to fill each bomb crater, and UN Air Force officers believe this constant repair work has prevented much progress toward completing the airfields.

The vital Red fields are at Namsi, Taechon, and Saamcham —all in the northwest corner of Korea above Sinanju. The flak around the fields is so intense and accurate that pilots believe it is radar-controlled and manned by Caucasian volunteers, who are known to have arrived in Korea last summer.

Won't Lay Charges

TORONTO, Nov. 13—(CP)—A lesson in commando tactics Monday night sent Charles Mooney, 19, to hospital with a deep knife wound in the abdomen. Police said Mooney and a companion were demonstrating commando holds to each other in a suburban Weston store. William Cowl, 21, a clerk, held a five-inch knife which Mooney was supposed to remove. In the scuffle the knife was driven into Mooney's stomach. Police said no charges will be laid.

Army Experts Say Russia Can Muster 14,800,000

LONDON, Nov. 13 (Reuters)—Within 60 days of the outbreak of war, Russia could field 14,800,000 well-armed troops.

This estimate of Soviet military power is contained in the latest publication of Brassey's Annual Armed Services Year Book.

An authoritative collection of facts, figures and up-to-date strategic theories, Brassey's is to the armies of the world what Jane's Fighting Ships is to the navies.

For 61 years leading British military brains have been compiling the yearly publication.

This manual says there now are 2,800,000 Russians under arms. It says that at any moment another 12,000,000 or more trained men could be mobilized to the ranks of these regulars. It estimates it would take two months to place them in the fight.

The manual predicts the present cold war will develop into a full-scale fight between east and west and pictures the hostilities as an all-out war of annihilation almost from the start.

War Inevitable

Writing on The Pattern of Future War, Maj.-Gen. John Charles Fuller, top-ranking military expert, answers "yes" to his own question—"will the present psychological war give way to physical war?"

"Russia's psychological attack," he says, "is meeting with so little opposition that to halt it her enemies will resort to physical war. Or should their preparations to wage it become formidable, Russia will resort to a 'preventive' war before they are completed."

Fuller pulls no punches in his description of the next conflict which he expects to open on traditional lines. After that, he thinks, probably propaganda would dement the nations and unleash a war of annihilation.

"Not only is it probable that atomic bombs, radioactive poisoning and bacteriological warfare will be resorted to," he says, "but that guerrilla warfare will be universal.

"Liquidations and counter-liquidations of whole social and political sections will take place."

Painting in the details of Russia's armed might, Lt.-Gen. H. G. Martin writes:

"(Russia's) is an army of iron discipline enjoined by Stalin himself," he says, adding, however, that this very discipline scores the whole machine with its main weakness—the reluctance of Russian officers to accept responsibility.

"This weakness, inherent in the Russian character, is accentuated by party discipline which demands the most meticulous obedience," writes Martin.

Red army commanders, mortally afraid of the consequences of failure, shy from giving initiative to their subordinates. "Thus," says Martin, "their plans are inclined to be rigid."

But on the other hand Martin finds one of the Red army's main strengths is its ability to streamline itself concentrating to a fine degree on getting as many men as possible out of the back areas into the fighting line.

"Whereas in a US rifle company there are 37 men whose primary jobs are cooking, signalling, driving or clerking, in a Soviet rifle company, all but two are there for one purpose only—to shoot the enemy," he says.

Because of this economy Russia can build 300 divisions out of 600,000 men. With the same number the US could form only 100 divisions.

Russia continues to train airborne troops and to build transport aircraft, Martin says. But, he adds, this is probably to provide a means of rapid reinforcement rather than airborne offensives behind the enemy front.

Formidable Subs

Formidable is the word applied to the Russian submarine fleet in Brassey's chapter on navies. Giving the latest figures, the book says the fleet contains 380 subs with a minimum of 120 more under construction.

At present the Soviet Navy is receiving the ruble equivalent of $3,752,000,000 annually for expansion. Six new destroyers should now be in service with more laid down, the book states.

It predicts that in the event of war Russia would first drive straight at Yugoslavia and Greece. Serious onslaughts against Turkey and Scandinavia would be unlikely at the outset. Turkey would be too tough a nut to crack first.

"The Russians will scarcely manage another coup like Hitler's against Norway in 1940," the manual contends. Transport problems would be many.

But against this statement it sets the importance to West German heavy industry of Swedish iron ore and the value of Norwegian ports as submarine bases in Soviet hands.

Williams Raps Government On Health Plan

BANCROFT, Nov. 13—(ENS)—"To be workable a health and hospitalization plan must be established by a co-operative peoples' government," stated Arthur Williams, former CCF federal member for Ontario county, at a party rally in Bancroft on Saturday night. "Eighty-four years of Liberal and Conservative rule in Canada have not yet produced us a national health plan, yet Sweden and Denmark have had successful socialized medical schemes for the past 36 years," he continued.

Using an oratorical style similar to that of Aneurin Bevan, former cabinet minister in the Labor government of Great Britain and former co-worker of the speaker in the Welsh coal mines, Mr. Williams struck at both the provincial and Dominion governments for their failure to provide socialized medicine.

Praising the CCF government of Saskatchewan and the Labor government of Great Britain, he continued, "Carping critics of the jingoistic journals continually try to ridicule these governments because they brought health services within the reach of the masses. The Saskatchewan health plan is the finest in the world, so fine that the present Liberal leader is trying to get it in Ontario."

Walter Thomson, provincial leader of the Liberal party and the man who defeated Mr. Williams in the federal election of 1949, was the subject of many of the speaker's remarks. "In his two years and four months in Ottawa, Mr. Thomson has never mentioned one word about a health plan in the federal House an dhas never publicly asked his party when it would implement its previous health promises of 1948."

To show that funds were available for this project, he quoted continually the surpluses of both the governments of Premier Leslie Frost and the budgets of Hon. Douglas Abbott. Again speaking of Mr. Thomson's statements he said, "Why does Mr. Thomson not mention Abbott's surplus of $500,000,000 in six months when he spends so much time criticizing Frost's surplus of $100,000,000 in three years?"

"Abbott is outfronting Frost in his budgets," was his conclusion.

Ernest Gibbs, CCF candidate for West Hastings, dealt with old age pensions and the difference between the prices paid to the producers and the prices paid by the consumers for a number of everyday necessities, and meat in particular.

"Although the price of hogs paid by the processors has dropped from 40 cents to 29¾ cents during the past five months, there has not been a corresponding reduction to the retail buyers," said Mr. Gibbs. However, he admitted that at one time or another the retail price might have dropped "one cent per pound."

"The CCF party advocated an old age pension of $50 a month, plus a cost of living bonus," said Mr. Gibbs. He told his audience to remember the CCF policy on this subject and they would realize that the present measure was something that had been advocated by the late J. S. Woodsworth over 25 years ago. In speaking of the type of pension that will be introduced for people over 65, in January 1952, both Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Williams quoted a Liberal slogan from the last federal election: "Vote Liberal and abolish the means test."

Arthur Whitehead, CCF candidate for East Hastings, talked about our present labor legislation and the current machinery for settling industrial disputes. He asked the gathering to see that a large number of representatives of the working people were in parliament so that a number of the loopholes in our present labor legislation could be plugged.

The main speaker was introduced by A. Elliott, of Belleville.

Fred Brethour, of Bancroft, was chairman. His brief talk touched on why the CCF was a party of the working people and why it was necessary for the people to support it. After a collection to pay the rent of the Canadian Legion hall for the evening, the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Brigadier Barclay Urges Defence Policy Change

LONDON, Nov. 13 (Reuters)—A new Commonwealth defence policy is suggested by a writer in the 1951 edition of Brassey's annual armed forces yearbook.

The yearbook, published Monday, is an authoritative collection of facts, figures and strategic theories compiled by Britain's top military writers.

It contained an article on Commonwealth defence by Brig. C. N. Barclay which urged:

1. Each Commonwealth country, in addition to providing for its own defence, should have in peacetime regular forces of all services to garrison adjacent undeveloped territories and also a reserve for use within a certain area in an emergency. Canada would defend the Arctice and provide a strategic reserve to help in Europe if war comes.

2. The commitments of the British army, navy and air force should be confined mainly to the defence of Europe, the partial defence of the Middle East, and the provision of a Commonwealth strategic reserve normally located in the United Kingdom.

3. Colonial forces on the lines of the old Indian army should be formed, mainly from African volunteers, with the primary object of garrisoning the Middle East.

4. Each Commonwealth country should maintain part-time forces for home defence and as a framework for expansion in a major war, on the lines of the territorial (reserve) army and similiar forces already existing in the older dominions.

Barclay said the views are his own and have no official backing.

At Ottawa there was no comment.

Premier Frost Heckled In Speech At Hamilton

By The Canadian Press

Premier Frost was heckled Monday night for the first time in his Nov. 22 Ontario general election campaign but he countered swiftly with a brief review of his labor policy. The incident occurred while he was speaking to a gathering in the industrial city of Hamilton.

"I can truthfully say that we have a greater degree of industrial peace in the province than ever before," he said in a speech at the three-quarter mark of his 45-speech campaign.

"If you say you're telling the truth, you're lying," shouted a heckler from the back of the hall.

Mr. Frost said labor had shown confidence in him by inviting him to arbitrate last summer's strike by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) at the Hollinger Gold Mine in Timmins. The Progressive Conservatives had adopted collective bargaining as basic policy upon coming to power in 1943 and since had passed laws to provide basic standards applicable to both organized and unorganized labor.

Aid University Students

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF Leader, in a speech in Galt pledged his party to establishing a fund to send to university 3,000 young men and women now kept away from higher education by financial circumstances. Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal Leader, spent Monday in his home riding of Ontario in the Oshawa district and made no major speech.

Mr. Frost, before he was heckled, said his government provided municipalities with $100,000,000 in assistance this year, compared with 1943 government aid of $18,000,000. In addition, the government was constantly looking for better ways to relieve municipal tax burdens.

"At no time in the history of our province has anything been done to relieve our municipalities which even remotely approaches the accomplishments of the last half-dozen years. And this assistance is constantly growing."

Mr. Jolliffe criticized both government policy towards universities and Mr. Thomson's suggestion of a temporary halt in school construction. He said the government has filled the Board of Governors of the University of Toronto with "financial tycoons and friends of Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor." Mr. Thomson, in saying the province should "go back to the little red schoolhouse," revealed himself as "an old-fashioned politician, with no understanding of the modern world, who wants to turn back the clock."

C. Gordon MacOdrum, Progressive Conservative candidate for Leeds, told a campaign meeting in Brockville that there is a tie-up between the Toronto Star and Mr. Thomson. He said also that Mr. Thomson has promised to repeal the Charitable Gifts Act if elected.

State Control Danger Grows

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP) — J. Gerald Godsoe, president of Toronto Board of Trade, said Monday night that the growth of state control under free-enterprise governments is the most dangerous development in the western world.

"We seem, at least in some measure, to be aware of the evils of Communism and the fallacies of socialism," said Mr. Godsoe in a speech to the board. "But I do not believe we have yet awakened to a realization of the constant and continuous growth of our democratic governments."

"If we are to preserve our freedom, we must alert ourselves to the dangers that can come from within our own country."

Mr. Godsoe denounced those organizations which urge governments—dominion, provincial and municipal—to undertake new projects for the spending of public funds.

He said the all-powerful state is the easiest to create and, once created, the hardest to destroy.

Wild Storm Doesn't Bother Royal Couple

By JACK BRAYLEY

PORTUGAL COVE, Nfld., Nov. 13—(CP)—Far out on the Atlantic today Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were taking it easy aboard their homeward-bound luxury liner after a North American tour that ended dramatically in a sudden wild storm that matched the wild grandeur of the embarkation setting.

Reporters who made the rough trip with the Princess were so busy holding their seats and their will-power that it wasn't until they got back to colleagues ashore they heard what a really bumpy passage it had been.

The shore-bound crew watched the little tender Maneco, taking the Royal party to the Empress of Scotland, pitch out of sight at some times and bury herself with giant combers at others. On several occasions she plunged into deep troughs and only the Royal standard could be seen waving about the heavy seas.

But neither the Princess nor Capt. Martin Saunders was disturbed. The captain, who won Royal acclaim for the smooth way he handled his ship, said it was often rougher. And the Princess made some reporters turn green when she asked Capt. E. C. Duggan if she could have lunch as soon as she stepped onto his big Canadian Pacific liner.

Got More Attention

What gave reporters ashore most concern was the action of the coaster Kipawo, tied to the weather side of the departure pier. It was providing a sort of floating grandstand for a group of school children it had brought over from Bell Island for the occasion. It crashed and banged against the pier, tearing away a bollard, cutting a CBC broadcast line in the middle of a description of the departure. It also shipped big seas which washed down its deck and wetted the chilren.

The end of the Royal tour started auspiciously with a triumphal farewell at nearby St. John's under sunny skies and in unseasonably mild weather. But when the Royal party arrived at this little fishing village the storm was at its fury. A nor'wester whipped stinging cold rain down the bald gray slopes of Gray Man's Beard, the big mountain to which most of the little fishing cottages cling precariously.

Lively Tunes

And in all the tempest, a hardy band played lively tunes and choir sang "The Squid Jigging Ground." An informal honor guard of fishermen fired off their rifles to make the whole show a typical Newfoundland send-off. Then they presented the Princess with a bunch of yellow roses and a box of codfish.

She and the Duke stood in the rain and waved appreciatively as the Maneco edged into the narrow channel between the pier and a ledge of rock boiling with white angry water.

The rain-soaked crowd of fishermen and choristers sang "Auld Lang Syne" as the vessel started to make way. The Princess sought some protection under the apron of the wheelhouse but the Duke stayed in the open, hatless, returning the farewell and smiling.

Reporters watched what effects the rough passage had on the Princess. But she came to the upper boat deck with sprightly ease, her cheeks rosy and smiling. She said goodbye to individuals who had been with the tour for some time and then boarded the big liner whose lofty decks were lined with passengers getting a glimpse of the Royal pair and snapping pictures.

The Princess watched with obvious care from the exposed position of the flying bridge as her 200 pieces of baggage—including her presents were taken through a big hatchway. Then she waved at the noisy chorus from the draggers, trawlers and schooners until she was out of sight.

3,000 Japanese Students Heckle Emperor On Campus

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 13—(AP)—Three thousand leftist Japanese students heckled Emperor Hirohito and sang the Communist anthem to him Monday in a disorderly demonstration that was unprecedented in Japan's modern history.

Officials and members of the older generation generally were shocked at the disrespect shown the ruler who still is considered divine by many of his subjects.

The incident occurred in this ancient seat of Japanese culture and government, while Hirohito was on a state tour.

The Emperor was being greeted by the Kyoto University president, Shunjiro Hattori, when the students surrounded the imperial limousine.

Two hundred police shoved the milling students back, and the Emperor retired into a campus building, where he stayed more than an hour.

There were no injuries reported and no threats were made against Hirohito directly by the college boys.

Critics Acclaim National Ballet Debut

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP) — Critics and a near-capacity audience acclaimed the debut Monday night of the Canadian National Ballet company. The company produced the world stage premiere of "Salome," choreographed by Celia Franca, artistic director and founder of the group which features dancers from a number of provinces across the country.

Herbert Whittaker, critic for The Globe and Mail said the company showed particularly "the quality of theatre," the former Sadler's Wells ballerina has "managed to instill in the young dancers from Winnipeg, Edmonton, Montreal, Halifax, Toronto and points east and west."

The company, he said, "was a national ballet Monday night and behaved like one."

A noted English ballet authority and critic, Kay Ambrose of London said she was here to cover the opening for English periodicals.

"There is great interest in England," she said, "in the Canadian company."

She said the company shows "those qualities which can't be faught, love of dancing and attack.

Great Possibilities

"With training and tuition under Miss Franca—one of the leading figures of the English stage, they could be one of the best companies in the world and I have seen them all."

"Etude," choreographed by Vancouver's Kay Armstrong, was danced by Earl Kraul of London, Ont. and Natalia Butko, Maria Dynowska and Katherine Stewart, all of Toronto.

Supporting Miss Franca in "Salome"—originally performed on BBC television, December, 1950—were Jury Gottshalks of Halifax as Herod; Miss Butko as Herodias; Grant Strate, Edmonton as Jokanaan, the prophet; David Adams, ballet master from Winnipeg as the captain of the guard and Coleen Kenney of St. Thomas, as a slave girl.

The company, formed last February, has been together for rehearsals only since last September. Later in the season it will play in several Ontario and Quebec cities. Next season, Miss Franca said, she hopes to tour Western Canada.

Mounties Guarding Princess Sail With Her To Britain

OTTAWA, Nov. 13—(CP)—Five Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen who have guarded the Royal couple throughout their Canadian tour are going to Britain with them at the request of Princess Elizabeth.

Deputy Commissioner C. K. Gray said Monday the Princess had asked that the five Mounties who formed the personal bodyguard for herself and Prince Philip, be allowed to make the trip to England with them. Permission was granted, and the Mounties sailed with the couple from Newfoundland Monday.

The Mountie contingent is headed by Assistant Commissioner M. F. E. Anthony of Ottawa, who has been in general charge of security on the trip. With him are Sgt. I. C. Shank, stationed at Melville, Sask.; Cpl. J. T. T. Oiumet, Montreal; Constable E. S. Hunt, St. John's, Nfld., and Constable T. A. Mathews, Revelstoke, B.C.

They accompanied the couple everywhere, travelling on the Royal train, on their plane during airlifts and on Canadian warships.

While RCMP headquarters did not disclose the terms of the Princess' request that the Mounties go overseas, it was regarded as a Royal gesture of reward for the services of the Mountie group. There will be few bodyguard duties for them on the transatlantic trip by liner.

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

Graduation exercises were held for the graduates of Grade 8 of St. Anne's School by the Parent Teachers' Association on Monday evening, in the auditorium of the school. The Rev. G. T. Weir opened with prayer.

Honorary president Mr. E. Boland introduced the graduates, who are: Ruth Allen, Anore Braidne, Paul Board, June Dolan, Harry Gravelle, Terry Hoey, Phyllis Hynes, Ken Laton, Maureen O'Rourke, Ray Russelle, Terry Shaughnessy, Marie Turcotte.

The valedictory speech was given by Paul Board.

Father Weir spoke to the students, saying whilst St. Anne's has been a home, as it were, the knowledge gained thereof will stand them well in higher education. He congratulated the students on their achievements.

Each graduate was presented with a souvenir gift. Prizes of $5 each were given to the highest-standing boy and girl in the grade. These were won by June Dolan and Paul Board. A special gift was presented to June Dolan for best attendance.

President Mr. A. Devlin introduced Mr. J. Lynch, who spoke of the team work taught on the field of sport as being necessary in all walks of life. He then presented the cup to R. Russelle, captain of the softball team winning the senior championship in the Separate School League.

200 Women Gather For Conservative WA Meeting

More than 200 women were gathered in the Progressive Conservative committee rooms Monday afternoon for the monthly meeting of the Women's Association at which the president for Canada Miss M. Sybil Bennett KC was expected to speak. However, Miss Bennett had anticipated an evening meeting and was not present. Arrangements have since been made for her to speak at the final campaign meeting November 20th, in the evening.

Candidate for election the Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP Minister of Lands and Forests, extended his address in absence of the speaker.

Mr. Scott spoke first of the project under his department of government. He urged the women to "prod your husbands" to do something to develop Cedar Lake park on which the Dept. of Highways has now spent $10,000 to put a road into, at his insistence. Use of the outdoor space and bathing beaches there will make for healthier citizens he pointed out.

Following an old farmer's policy of "putting back into the land what is taken out", Mr. Scott said his Department plans to use money from sale of fishing and hunting licenses to restock the streams and forests. Twenty million trees have been put out for reforestration the past year and fish hatcheries are being repaired.

The Frost government, he said, has a plan to increase accommodation for mentl patients. Hospital grants are given on the basis of so much per day per bed, now received by St. Joseph's and Civic Hospitals, and this he considers the only fair way. This government has implemented pensions for those over 70 without "means tests", extended the earning allowance of people 65 to 70, and is bringing in legislation to cover those incapacitated of 18 to 65 years. During the last three years the mother's allowance has been extended to allow children doing well at school to continue until they are 18. Grant to the Children's Aid Society equal to 25% of contributions received has been awarded he said.

Money is now being set aside for a Cancer Clinic where the very latest treatment will be available. Pre-natal clinics have costs the government slightly over a million dollars said Mr. Scott.

Mr. Gordon K. Fraser MP pointed to the record of Mr. Scott who has gotten more aid for this riding than all but one other in the province. He then pointed to the record of Liberal leader Thomson in the Federal Government: "present for 42 and absent for 59 votes; voted against removal of "means test" for pensioners and against price controls; voted for increased excise tax on electrical appliances and automobiles."

Education facilities, so that all citizens of the province may be well-educated in the future, have been set up by the Frost government was the point emphasized by Mrs. Alene Holt. Establishment of a rest home for members of Red Patch Club (veterans of World War I), on application of Mr. Scott, was praised by Mrs. Albert Mason, president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion.

Importance of getting out to vote was reiterated by Mr. Wm. G. Ovens, president of the local PC's. He announced a baby-sitting service which will be given November 22nd by the Young PC's to anyone giving their name and address to headquarters. Plenty of cars are available for transportation of voters, he said.

Tribute was paid Mrs. John Cridland, president of the Women's Association, and chairman of the meeting, in closing remarks by Mrs. H. R. Scott.

Tea and refreshments were provided and served by executive members of the Association.

LIEUT. DOUGLAS W. BEAN, RCOC, and his bride, the former Mary Cummings, who were married at the Sacred Heart Church. They will live in London, Ontario.—(Roy Studio Photo)

Mary Cummings R.N. Weds

At the Sacred Heart Church on Saturday morning, Mary Cummings, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. Charles L. Cummings, became the bride of Lieut. Douglas W. Bean, RCOC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bean of Toronto. The ceremony and the nuptial mass were by the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant.

Bronze and yellow 'mums were decorations on the altar table. Wedding music was played by Mr. Heribert Michel, organist, and during the signing of the register, Miss Helen Cummings, sister of the bride, sang "Panis Angelicus."

The bridal gown was fashioned on princess lines of velva-ray over slipper satin with lace inset on collar and sleeves ending in points over the hands. The gathered skirt extended into a train. A matching Juliet cap held her fingertip veil of silk tulle and she carried a prayerbook topped with gardenias and baby 'mums. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Josephine Duggan as bridesmaid was wearing a strapless gown of moss green net over taffeta and Miss Audry Doherty as maid of honor a similar gown in copper tan shade, both with matching shoulder caps and braided halos of net and taffeta. They carried nosegays of matching color 'mums.

Groomsman was Lieut. James Gaffney, RCOC, and the ring bearer was small Leonard Hynes. Ushers were Isaac Hill and Charles Cummings, brother of the bride.

Receptions were held afterward at the Empress Hotel and the bride's home. Guests were received by Mrs. Michael Cummings, sister-in-law of the bride, dressed in royal blue taffeta with hat of white feathers and wearing a corsage of Talisman roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore Gainsborough blue taffeta and a matching hat and her corsage was of red roses.

Lieut. and Mrs. Bean left from Malton airport on the flight to New York city and will spend their honeymoon there. The bride travelled in a wine velvet dress and matching hat with winter white coat and black accessories and she was wearing a corsage of Talisman roses.

They will live at 111 Duchess Ave., London, Ontario.

Stunning Evening Gowns Create Dream Princess

By KAY REX

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Evening gowns turned the heir presumptive to the British throne into a fairy princess during the month-long tour which ended this week.

Magical creations, were the wand, which for thousands, sped Princess Elizabeth into the never-never-land of kings and queens and palaces.

Canadians—the lucky ones who curtseyed, the masses who only glimpsed a smile from a passing car—wanted it that way. They were like the small boy in Quebec who saw a pretty brown-haired girl, then asked when the Princess would be coming. Their imagination demanded an ethereal creature, all sparkle, not quite real.

Princess Elizabeth did credit to the role given her. By day, she was a smartly tailored young Englishwoman, evenings she became the princess of a thousand dreams.

Lovely Picture

When the tour began Oct. 9, she greeted Quebec officialdom in a gossamer gown of grey silver lace and tulle at a state dinner. An ermine cape about her shoulders, diamond tiara sparkling beneath the street-lights, she fed the fancy of the crowds who saw her enter.

The cape was frequently noticed during the trip, together with full-length coat of wild mink. Both were made in this country. The latter was one of Canada's wedding gifts to the Princess. The former also was a wedding present, given by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Norman Hartnell, the British designer famed for his embroidered ball gowns, is believed to have created most of the Princess' formal attire.

A favorite dress was the turquoise and cream brocade she wore in Washington Nov. 1 and for the state dinner Oct. 13 in Toronto. The dress had a wide, soft-flowing skirt and a large bow on the left side. Both collar and bow were trimmed with turquoise velvet.

While the Royal wardrobe was said to contain 18 complete outfits, the Princess wore most of them twice and several more frequently.

Red Dress Popular

A favorite was a dress of "robin red" crepe with full flaring skirt in which she appeared at Ottawa's civic luncheon Oct. 11. A matching tailored wool coat with black velvet insets on the sleeve and collar and close-fitting hat, completed the ensemble. Winnipeg, Vancouver and Halifax residents saw her in the same dress.

An outfit described at different times as olive green, moss green, forest green—or just plain light green — caught the attention of Victoria women during the visit there Oct. 22. It included a velvet coat with shaped skirt and crepe tucked dress, the same worn in Montreal a week later.

Brown was another shade which met with royal favor. For the trip from Ottawa to Toronto, the Princess wore a full-skirted velvet coat in chocolate brown with matching head - hugging feather hat and shoes.

Dream Appeal

But while other outfits in slate blue and mustard yellow caught speculative glances of feminine admirers, the evening-gowns still held the dream appeal.

There was a pale yellow picture dress with diamantes chosen for the state buffet dinner at Winnipeg Oct. 16, and the gown of gold and white lace at Ottawa.

Sometimes her royal highness appeared on formal occasions with a diamond necklace, diamond drop ear-rings or bracelets. Always she had on the blue ribbon of the 600-year-old Order of the Garter. And—just like a real Princess—she always wore a diamond tiara.

More Than 80 Prizes Given At IODE Cooking School

First presentation, on Monday night, of the two-night cooking school sponsored by the Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, was splendidly successful. More than 600 women attended with interest, taking down new recipes and making note of a variety of cooking hints passed on by the instructor Miss Elaine Collett.

Miss Collett deftly and quickly put together the ingredients of a chocolate cake, a pecan pie, pumpkin pudding, spaghetti and meat balls, and several fancy dishes, describing demonstrating and warning against poor practices as she did so. Then she prepared a money-saving, oven-baked meal, complete even to dessert.

A twin-oven electric range with timer greatly facilitated her work. And though she was not at all the "anxious" cook, peering often into the oven—a habit she discourages—every dish came out looking like a magazine picture, perfectly browned and perfectly shaped. (The taste can be told today by a few families in town for all of the cooked articles were given away as draw prizes.)

There are other very happy housewives in the city who carried home prizes of red brand beef, drawn for after a demonstration by Mr. Ted Pottinger of Toronto of how steaks and roasts are "trimmed" for sale in a Dominion-wide chain store. He had figures to prove the resultant economy and the amount was surprising.

About 75 other prizes were drawn for during the evening these the gifts of Peterborough merchants. The donations were made to the IODE Chapter to enable they to carry out the school as a money-making project. Proceeds will go toward the bursaries for higher education given to local pupils, aid to rural schools and to needy children of the city, and for food parcels sent overseas each month.

Regent Mrs. Harold Baker gave an outline of the Chapter's work after welcoming the ladies. She later drew for the prizes and winners were:

Mrs. I. H. Keefer, pale blue nylon slip; Miss Eva Brown, silex self-timing electric plate; Mrs. C. Miller, framed floral picture; Mrs. J. R. The program at tonight's cooking school, in the Collegiate auditorium will be entirely different.

University Women's Group Gives Part of Play By Fry

The University Women's Club has this year inaugurated a group system and the first program under this system was presented at the meeting Monday night, in the YWCA, by Miss Fern Rahmel's group.

Since drama is a hobby of Miss Rahmel's, the subject chosen was "Modern Poetic Drama." She prepared a talk on the most successful of the modern poetic dramatists, Christopher Fry, and then the group presented a slice from one of his most popular plays, "The Lady's not for Burning."

Fry has had a meteoric rise to fame and popularity in the last four years, she pointed out. He was born in Bristol in 1907, and brought up a Quaker. When he began to write he assumed his mother's name, that of the great chocolate family. He was interested in plays from the time he took part in a civic pageant at six, and wrote his first play when he was 11 and his first verse play at 14. He taught school for awhile but then joined a repertory company, finally becoming director at a theatre which after several years went bankrupt.

A small legacy enabled Fry to start work on his first important play "The Poy with the Cart" related Miss Rahmel. It was produced in 1939 to celebrate the 500th anniversary of a village church. He served in the Pioneer Corps during the war, his religious convictions preventing him from carrying arms, and afterward he wrote a long, one-act play called "A Phoenix Too Frequent" which was extremely successful. About a year later he got the idea for "The Lady" and when he finally had the story, worked quickly and got it produced at the Arts Theatre in London, a privately-owned theatre with about 20,000 members.

Thus in one year this writer had three plays on the London stage, she pointed out. Though an astounding success he continues to live in the small cottage he lived in during poverty stricken days but his new prosperity has enabled him to install electricity and a bathroom. He writes, when he can think of a plot, from ten at night to dawn, stimulated, he says, by cups of cocoa

Miss Rahmel classified Fry's work under "religious and secular," rather than tragic and comic. A delightful sense of whimsey is evident in all his work, she says, because he likes to laugh. His characters are said to be "not copies of people, but metaphors on man. They talk their heads off in cartwheeling language, but they are real none the less, and reveal in almost every line something of that perpetually mystifying thing, human nature."

Performers of "The Lady" who read their parts, with the exception of Miss Neil Schnell as Skipps, were Tyson, Mrs. Chas. Ray; Jeanette, Mrs. D. F. Rankine; Thomas, Mrs. Ward Smith; Nicholas, Miss Nora Park; Humphrey, Mrs. A. Purdon; Chaplain, Miss Smedmor; Richard, Miss Aileen Morgan; Alezon, Mrs. P. D. Scollard; Margaret, Mrs. R. Ryan; Tappercoon, Mrs. Howard Shields.

Costumes were loaned by the Little Theatre.

A short business meeting was conducted by president Mrs. C. G. Boyd during which Dr. Agnes K. Moffatt was nominated to be the club's committee representative on penal reform. Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Miner were appointed representatives to the Film Board.

Nursing Profession More Interesting By Developments

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP). — Health Minister Martin said today many new developments make the profession of nursing more interesting and more challenging than ever before.

Speaking at the opening of the Nurses' Educational Building at Toronto Western Hospital, the Federal Minister said there are more opportunities today for service in public health.

In rural health units and in urban and provincial health departments, nurses were needed to staff essential services. In industry, there had been a wide expansion of nursing programs. In the Federal Health Department, nurses were needed for health services in northern outposts.

Mr. Martin said "the accelerated nurse-training program now being carried out in this hospital is one of the most significant developments in the field of nursing education during recent years."

He said the new building in Toronto will make possible the training of considerably more nurses under ideal teaching conditions. The Federal Government had granted $30,000 to the project. The Atkinson Charitable Foundation had donated $100,000— its largest single bequest to date.

Mr. Martin said that during the last 3½ years, 1,311 nurses have received training with Federal assistance amounting to more than $1,000,000. He said Federal grants totalling $100,000 to the demonstration school at Windsor Metropolitan Hospital and the accelerated course at Toronto Western demonstrate the feasibility of a "streamlined curriculum" for training hospitals.

Navy Girls Take Winter Course

MONCTON, NB, (CP). — "Bell-bottom skirts" come back to Moncton about the middle of November with the advance guard of more than 150 Canadian Navy women recruits, to be stationed at the Coverdale Communications Base for a six-month technical course.

The sailor girls, including the Wrens who manned the first naval installations in this area during the Second World War, had preliminary training at HMCS Cornwallis at Deep Brook, NS, the Navy's big entry training base.

They come here as trained communications workers.

"It's not like the Navy I knew in the war," said Wren Petty Officer Vivian Wright of Victoria, who spent 21 months in the Naval Division in the last war. "It's all a little confusing, but it will straighten out shortly."

"We are part of the Navy now, but not under special regulations like we were during the war. There is quite a difference."

Only one thing has bothered the girls so far—they never get enough letters, one of the best morale boosters in any service. Once friends and relatives settle down to that there won't be a more contented group of girls anywhere.

DOROTHY DIX

Complains Devoted Mate Not Demonstrative Enough

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Thirteen years ago, at the age of 16, I married to get away from intolerable conditions at home caused by my stepfather. Now I have a nice home, four lovely children and a husband who is a good provider and a wonderful father. There is just one thing lacking — I've never had the love, affection and romance that goes with marriage (before and after). I try to drown this sorrow in taking more interest in the children, getting out with people and going places, but my heart loses out. My husband never tells me the little things a woman longs to hear nor ever shows me affection; he just takes me for granted. I go out of my way to do nice, special things for him hoping for a word of appreciation, but it's no use. I don't want to give up what I have but it's hard to realize that life is passing on and I'm still young. I'm fond of my husband but I can't consider this love.

CAMILLE D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What is your husband's side of the story, Camille? When you wanted escape from intolerable home conditions, as you call them, he was ready to marry you. He has given you thirteen years of devotion and fidelity, providing a good home, being a good father. In return he has never had your love. Don't you think he has cause for complaint? You want from him what you have never been willing to give. Is that fair?

Don't Blame Him

I should say you have got far more from your marriage than you have put into it. You can't blame your husband because you missed the romance which rightly belonged to your teen-age years. That is one of the penalties being married at 16 entails—and one of the reasons I discourage such marriages.

You have the most precious gifts a woman can get from wedlock. The protection and security of a good husband and home far outweighs the advantages of demonstrative affection. With four youngsters in the house you certainly do not want for love, and I'm sure your husband loves you dearly, even though he makes no outward show of his feelings.

Learn to accept your blessings and be truly thnkful for them; yours are many! Perhaps a glance at the other side of life may convince you. Why not try a little welfare work among neglected children in your town? A glimpse into the lives of women much less fortunate than you will send you scurrying back to your own pleasant home, secure in the knowledge that your life has been cast in sunny places.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 years old and go with a boy 22. He is very nice but he always wants to tell me what to do and I don't like it. He wants to marry me when I am 17. Should I agree?

S. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you and your friend have difficulty getting along now, imagine what marriage will do to the situation. Of course you're too young to be going steady at all, and in view of your boy friend's odd disposition you shouldn't be going steady with him. Why not scout around and find some more congenial boys who won't be so bossy? The orders you get now, remember, are just a drop in the bucket compared to what you'll have to take after the wedding.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm a widow in the late sixties and have a son 35. He is a fine boy. We lived in a cottage for fifteen years. It was sold, so we were obliged to move to an apartment with three other families. Two of them keep us awake nights, sometimes as late as three in the morning. My son says if I complain they will only be worse. I don't mind noise if they would only stop at twelve.

MRS. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most people are really basically kind, and I'm sure if you tell these folks how much they distrub your rest they will exercise more consideration. If not, complain to your landlord. Many localities have ordinances against excess noise at night; perhaps you live in one of them.

Barrymore Clan Adds To Ranks

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Barrymore Clan is adding another member to its acting dynasty — beautiful, brunette Dolores, who is willing to work her way up from the ranks.

If you're interested in family trees, you should know that Dolores is the daughter of Dolores Costello and John Barrymore, the niece of Ethel and Lionel, the sister of John, Jr., and the half-sister of Diana.

Until recently, her sole occupation was being a housewife and mother at her modest Hollywood apartment. But then the Barrymore blood began to prevail.

"I had never thought about being an actress," said Dolores, who is 21. "I have never acted in my life, although I have taken drama in school. But my brother John has been after me for two years to give it a try, and I decided it might be worth the chance.

Comes Naturally

"Even though I have never acted, I think it comes naturally to me because I have always liked to pretend. And I have always enjoyed keeping busy with a variety of interests. Now that the baby is a year old and I have learned to do housework — I literally couldn't boil an egg when I was married—I find I have too much time on my hands. I thought of doing model work, but I think acting will be more stimulating.

"I'm willing to take any role to keep busy. Naturally I wouldn't be sorry if stardom would come. But my acting would never be more important than my home life."

Dolores said her family was delighted with her decision, especially her mother, "who always wanted me to be an actress." She also received the approval of her aunt Ethel, who acts as coach and guide to younger members of the family.

The budding actress has hired herself an agent and has had several promising interviews at studios. She wanted to call herself Blythe Barrymore, the first handle coming from the real family name, Blyth. But her agent vetoed that and she'll be known professionally as Dolores Barrymore.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Believe you me, he's doing this on his own!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Meat Stretching Dishes That Are Really Tasty

Later on this week I trust I will have the 1951 Christmas cake recipe ready for you. Some of you may remember that I made fruit cakes as my talent project three years ago. That time we were building the ground floor of our new church. This time, the second talent campaign, all that is raised will go toward reducing the mortgage on the ground floor in preparation to starting the building of the superstructure by the spring of 1954.

So watch for the cake later on this week.

Meanwhile that old problem of the main meat dish is with us as always and I am giving you some of the tastiest meat-stretching dishes I know.

Emem's Chili Con Carne

Two pounds beef, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 medium-sized sliced onions, 2 cups strained stewed or canned tomatoes, 2 cups canned red kidney beans, 4 chopped celery stalks, 1 teaspoon each, salt, red pepper and chili powder. Basil and Bay Leaf are both good additions. Wipe meat with cold, damp cloth. Cut in small cubes. Saute meat and onions in melted butter until nicely browned. Put in kettle. Add beans, tomatoes, celery, salt and pepper. Simmer for 1½ hours. Add chili powder and simmer for 30 more minutes. Serve hot—gives 6 or 8 servings.

Salmon Rarebit

One 1-lb. can salmon, ¼ pound sharp cheese, 1 cup tomato puree, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard. Melt cheese in top of double boiler over boiling water, blend in tomato puree and seasonings gradually. Add eggs to milk and stir slowly into cheese mixture. Add salmon broken into large pieces and heat 5 minutes. Serve on hot toast. Serves 6.

Stuffed Flank Steak

Select a large flank steak.

Make a stuffing as follows: ½ cup chopped celery and leaves, 1 small onion chopped, 4 tablespoons fat, 1½ cups soft bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste. Cook the celery and the onion in two tablespoons of the fat for a few minutes, add the bread crumbs and season with salt and pepper. Spread the stuffing over the steak. Beginning at one side of the steak, roll it up like a jelly roll, and tie securely in several places with clean string.

Brown in 2 tablespoons of fat in a heavy frying pan or a baking pan, on top of the stove. Turn the meat frequently until browned on all sides. Slip a rack under the meat in the pan, cover closely, and cook until tender in a moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr.) about 1½ hours.

Start the carving at the end of the roll and cut across the grain, so that each is a round slice with the stuffing in the centre.

Pre-Game Meal Athletes' Choice

MONTREAL —(CP)—What an athlete thinks he likes to eat is more important than what the coach thinks he should eat before a big game. It's all psychological anyway—at least that's what the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association journal says.

An article written by an English correspondent for the journal says the pre-game meal should respect the likes and dislikes of the athlete.

In sport, if an athlete thinks his favorite food makes him play better—providing his diet is adequate to start with—then he will play better.

The article says the performance of an athlete might well suffer if he is denied his favorite food because he expects it to.

"If a champion runner has a preference for, say jam, and despises treacle, most of his athletic fans would prefer to believe him than the arm-chair scientist whose athletic performance is probably limited to running around the bench," the article continues.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Luther Observe 50th Anniversary

Residents of Peterborough for years, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Luther are celebrating Thursday in Woodstock the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

It is almost 35 years since Mr. Luther enlisted in the 93rd Battalion of Peterborough in the first Great War. Some of the veterans of the old unit will remember the baskets of doughnuts which Mrs. Luther used to bake for their parties. That commissary aid was typical of the community spirit of the men of the Battalion, and their families, during their period of recruiting and training here. And, as it happened Mrs. Luther became fully recognized for the excellence of her cooking and for her practical interest in the 93rd.

Mr. Luther was born in Shrewsbury, England, 82 years ago of English and Welsh parentage, and his wife, 70, who was Jennie Messham before her marriage, was of Scottish and Irish parents in Manchester. The family came to Peterborough from Montreal with the De Laval Company about 40 years ago. They were married in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Montreal, Nov. 15, 1901, by Canon Renaud.

Returning from overseas service during the First Great War, Mr. Luther was appointed caretaker of the customs house here, and remained in that position until his retirement in 1940.

Moved To Woodstock

Mr. and Mrs. Luther are at present living at 836 Water St. in Woodstock, but they are expecting to move soon to Chatham. Mrs. Luther has not fully recovered from the effects of a fall she suffered several years ago. She has not been in good health since then.

The members of their family are: Percy Luther, contractor of this city; Irwin Luther, organist of Christ Church in Chatham; and two stepsons, J. M. Luther of Montreal and Sidney Luther of Peterborough. Their family also extends to twelve grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The daily Examiner keeps Mr. and Mrs. Luther informed of the affairs of their old home town of Peterborough. Mr. Luther is still able to read the paper without benefit of glasses.

Mother Of Three Prepared To Take On 11 Children

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13 (AP). —Mrs. John Babb sees nothing unusual about wanting to adopt 11 youngsters orphaned in a Michigan automobile crash.

The 41-year-old mother of three children said today in a matter-of-fact tone:

"I love children. I'm happiest with lots of them around."

Taking time out from the family ironing in her luxurious red brick home, the dark-haired matron added:

"There are bound to be problems if we win custody. In that case, however, we'll cope with them.

"We want all the children. We want to keep them together in our home."

Wife of a well-to-do insurance broker, Mrs. Babb has done everything but diagram the last inch of breathing space to accommodate her "expected" brood. She confidently said:

"There are four baths, too. And the den over the garage can be turned into additional sleeping quarters."

Many others are anxious to open their hearts and homes to the Moore youngsters of Leonard, Mich., since the tragic accident on Saturday, which also killed four 'teen-agers.

The orphans are being cared for temporarily by their two grandmothers.

The Michigan family will confer Wednesday on the future of the youngsters.

Remembrance Day At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Nov. 13—(ENS) —Remembrance Day was observed in Havelock on Sunday with an impressive ceremony at the cenotaph at the entrance to the town park followed by a service in the town hall.

The parade of veterans and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary formed at the Legion hall and paraded to the cenotaph led by the Havelock Pipe Band.

B. Bell was in charge of the parade and the standard bearers were Ross Hart and George Walker. The ceremony at the cenotaph was conducted by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson. Wreaths were laid by the following: Ontario Government, Mrs. H. Pollock; Havelock and Belmont Legion No. 389, Gardner Gawley; Ladies' Auxiliary, Legion, Mrs. H. Gerow; Village of Havelock, Reeve E. W. Seeney; township of Belmont and Methuen, Mrs. G. Dafoe; Havelock Public School, J. Calnan; Havelock Women's Institute, Mrs. R. Melville; Belmont Women's Institute, Mrs. W. Youmans; United Church Women's Association, Mrs. N. Blakely; Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98, Mrs. J. Green; Lady McGill LOBA No. 471, Mrs. German Ellis; Prosperity Chapter No. 63, Order of Eastern Star, Mrs. Harry Anderson; Royal Lodge, IOOF, R. Sayer.

Prior to the parade, a short dedication service of the colors received by the veterans the previous week was conducted by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson in the Legion Hall.

Lawrence Bigelow, pastor of the Baptist Mission gave the address at the service in the town hall, speaking on the subject "Remember The Great Victor" and basing his remarks on the seventh chapter of Joshua.

Mr. Bigelow contrasted the victory given to the Israelites at Jericho under Joshua, who carried out the Divine plan to take the city, with the victory in Europe calling to mind many cases where God's miraculous presence was evident—at Dunkirk with its fog, the poorly guarded coast of England and instances in World War I of a similar nature when the odds seemed against us.

Do not neglect victory over death, he counselled for material victory—for "what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

The Rev. M. Esler read the Scripture lesson, prayer was offered by the Rev. E. W. Rivers, and the service was conducted by Rev. R. D. Duncanson.

the Conservative party for $319,000.

Roughly, the breakdown is as follows: $85,000 space advertising, $28,000 art work and layout; $80,000 postage; $35,000 billboards $79,000 radio; and $10,000 reserve.

The speaker was introduced by Irwin Yeo, Local 599 (IUE-CIO) and thanks by William Whibbs, also of Local 599.

William C. Grant, CCF candidate in Peterborough county, also spoke briefly.

He said that in the main the CCF had been born in the ranks of the labor movement of Canada during the '30's. It is a sister to other labor parties in other parts of the Commonwealth.

"We have the right to say that we are the labor party of this country," said Mr. Grant. "The CCF has always been pro-labor."

He explained the CCF's position regarding the UE at the CGE plant.

Helped UE

"As far as possible, and without becoming too involved, we helped the UE at Genelco. We were not acting in ignorance because we knew that the UE and its communist leadership in Toronto. But we didn't want to do anything that would injure union organization in Peterborough."

Mr. Grant said the CCF feared the trade union movement might be seriously injured, similar to what it was after the 1914-18 war. But once the UE was established at Genelco the CCF did nothing more to help them.

"I've rued the day many a time that no other CCL union was available at the time," said Mr. Grant. "The UE got here and that's that as far as the CCF is concerned."

Waterloo Coach Fired From Job

WATERLOO, Nov. 13—(CP)— Bob Kinnear, coach of Waterloo Hurricanes of the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A circuit, was fired Monday night by Waterloo Arena Commission.

Norman (Bun) Cook, manager of Waterloo Memorial Arena, who came here from Timmins was named to succeed him.

Decision to oust Kinnear was reached after a joint session of the arena commission and Waterloo city council. Council simultaneously approved a loan of $7,500 to the Arena Commission to help in operations and defray expenses incurred by Hurricanes.

W. H. Timmis, chairman of the Arena Commission, said the change was for the welfare of the community. "He had backed Kinnear "to the hilt" when his contract was up for renewal, but now he was convinced a change was needed.

Herbert Klaehn, commission member, said he canvassed 11 players and all felt Kinnear was a good coach.

Timmis replied: "Harold Cotton, chief scout of Boston Bruins, with whom Hurricanes have a working agreement, told me differently."

Red Cross Sending Christmas Parcels

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP). — Christmas parcels for all Canadian troops in hospitals in Korea and Japan will be flown from Canada by the RCAF late this month, Defence Minister Claxton said today. The parcels will be gifts of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Each parcel will contain a pair of hand-knitted woollen socks, a Christmas card, 12 packages of cigarets, two chocolate bars, candy, deck of cards, cribbage board, steel mirror, writing paper, envelopes and pencil.

The late President's widow authorized the sale.

Deny Censorship Discriminates Against British

TOKYO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's press information officer today said a British correspondent's charge that American censors in Korea discriminate against Commonwealth units was "a distortion of fact."

The accusation was made by Eric Downton, Canadian-born correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph.

Downton, in a story to his newspaper, said "the need for Commonwealth representation on the censors now operating at Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea has become unpleasantly obvious. Correspondents here have lost confidence in the efficiency, consistency and fairness of the all-American censorship."

Need Qualified People

Col. George Patrick Welch, Ridgway's press information officer, said British officers have not been assigned to censorship duty because of a shortage of qualified personnel.

Downton specifically complained that Eighth Army censors held up British reports of last week's action by the King's Own Scottish Borderers for five days, but released immediately news of a United States marine action last Saturday.

Col. Joseph Borchert, chief censor, whose headquarters are in Korea, explained today that there was no comparison in the two cases.

The censorship ban on early identification of UN units was lifted in the case of the marines because they had showered their Communist opponents with pamphlets, "inviting" them to attend the marines' 176th "birthday party."

Remembrance Day Observed At Norwood

NORWOOD, Nov. 13 (ENS) — A capacity crowd attended Remembrance Day service at Norwood Sunday morning. The following were in the pulpit: the Rev. J. Bingham (Baptist), Mr. Peasgood, the Rev. R. K. Wright (United). Mr. Bingham read the Psalm and the scripture lesson was read by Mr. Peasgood. Reveille was played by Melville Hamblin and a two-minutes silence observed.

The Rev. R. K. Wright welcomed all to the service. Mr. Peasgood then gave an address. Following the service the parade went to the cemetery where they decorated servicemen's graves.

Merchants Plan To Fight Closing Bylaw

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP)—A recently-passed city by-law requiring stores to close on four Roman Catholic holy days has shopkeepers in this predominantly Roman Catholic city at sixes and sevens. And that goes for Roman Catholics and Protestants.

Both plan to put the bylaw to a court test and are believed to have picked Dec. 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, as the day. Most stores and shops will remain open that day in defiance of the law.

If charges are laid as a result of this defiance, the store owners plan to pool their resources to fight the case in court.

The bylaw raised strong protests from Protestants, including the Rev. Victor Rose, chairman of the Montreal presbytery of the United Church of Canada and the Rev. J. S. McBride, moderator of the Montreal presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

They charged it was an attempt by one religious group to force their religious observances on the minority.

Form Committee

Following these protests, a group of businessmen, among them prominent Roman Catholics, formed a committee to prepare for a test case. Some of these Catholices were members of the Chambre de Commerce de Montreal, a 3,000-member organization whose monthly bulletin defended passage of the bylaw.

The chambre bulletin said the law "merely enables a great majority of the population that is preponderantly Roman Catholic to practise their religion and discharge their church duties.

"The bylaw does not encroach upon the liberty and freedom of any minority group. It does not oblige them to profess the faith of those who belong to the Roman Catholic faith."

The new law provides that all retail stores must close on Epiphany, Ascension Day, All Saints Day and the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

A similar bill failed to get the required two-thirds majority in the council last year. But earlier this month it passed by a 61-29 vote with the support of Msgr. Paul Emil Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, and Catholic Action groups.

3 Parties Contest Durham

Candidates from all three of Ontario's major parties will be fighting for election in Durham county on November 22. Already well into campaigning, the CCF and Liberal candidates face a hard proposition in a Progressive Conservative candidate who is a cabinet minister. The three men are: John W. Foote, VC, Minister of Reform Institutions, George A. Walton, reeve of Newcastle (Liberal), and Spencer W. Cheshire, of Cavan (CCF).

JOHN W. FOOTE.

John W. Foote, the Minister of Reform Institutions, became something of a legendary figure during the Second World War when he was decorated with the Victoria Cross. He was the only chaplain in the last war to receive the highest award of Britain and the Dominions.

Born in 1904 in Madoc, he received his high school aducation there, going later to the Universities of McGill, Queen's, and Western Ontario, to take the degrees of BA, BD, DD, and LLD.

After graduation he entered the Ministry of the Presbyterian church, going to Port Hope, where he is still a resident.

As Progressive Conservative candidate in the 1948 election, he was elected and served as a deputy commissioner on the LCBO. In this work, he established the first research department in Canada to study alcoholism.

This research program was started at the University of Toronto, Queen's University, a clinic in Toronto, and a hospital in Erindale.

As Minister of Reform Institutions, he established a complete rehabilitation program in an endeavor to train and place the inmates in jobs, and assist them in all phases of rehabilitation.

GEORGE A. WALTON.

George A. Walton, the reeve of Newcastle, is making his first bid for a seat in the provincial legislature. Since he was 31, he has taken an interest in politics; at that age he was elected to Newcastle village council. Three years later he became reeve.

Mr. Walton is a descendant of UE Loyalists, and was born in Newcastle in 1911, where he received his education. For 25 years he was active in sports in the district, playing baseball with Newcastle, Orono, Bowmanville and Port Hope, and hockey with the Bowmanville Jr. OHA team for five years.

In 1934, he married the former Dunreath Dudley, and started fruit farming on a large scale.

For the past six years, Mr. Walton has been reeve of Newcastle, and has served on the United Counties council as chairman of the property committee, a member of the board of management of the Counties Home for the Aged, and this year as warden of the counties.

Mr. Walton believes that only through the shifting of education and road costs from the municipal to the provincial level can the difficulties of municipal administration be solved.

SPENCER W. CHESHIRE.

CCF Candidate in Durham riding is 45-year-old Spencer W. Cheshire, a Cavan township farmer, who was born and educated in Toronto. He has lived in Cavan five-and-a-half years.

In 1933, Mr. Cheshire joined the St. Clair CCF club and served in the executive of it, and other CCF clubs in Toronto. He was one of the organizers of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Youth Movement, and has worked on the provincial exectuive of the CCF first as representative of the CCYM and at present as president of the Durham CCF Association.

Mr. Cheshire's interest in the Cavan area was aroused when he worked on the 1935 election campaign of CCF candidate Ralph Staples, and in 1945 as campaign manager for William C. Grant, then, as now, CCF candidate for Peterborough riding.

At present, he is combining a reforestation project with growing Christmas trees in the northeast corner of the county near Fraserville.

Mrs. Cheshire is also an active CCF-er, having been secretary of Riverdale-Broadview riding in Toronto, and for the past year pro-tem secretary of the Durham riding association.

President Bob Moran of the Big Four Football Union's Toronto Argonauts said Monday playing coach Jack Kerns will be signed as a full time line coach for the next season "if a proper replacement can be found."

By a proper replacement, Moran means an outstanding American middle must be obtained for next year. If Clair comes up with two American tackles, Kerns will devote his job to coaching.

Moran also disclosed that quarterback Nobby Wirkowski and halfback Ulysses Curtis will return.

The Canadian Boxing Federation Monday ordered Roy Wouters of Montreal to defend his Canadian middleweight title against Jimmy Langston of Vancouver in the coast city.

The decision of the CBF, meeting in annual convention at Quebec, followed a dispute between the two boxers after they signed a contract to meet for the 160-pound crown in Vancouver.

Evidence brought before the convention showed Wouters attempted to change the site of the bout to Montreal. The Vancouver promoters and Langston refused the transfer.

At Cincinnati, O., David Cecil, 16, died in hospital Monday of head injuries suffered in a high school football game. Two operations were performed Saturday for removal of a blood clot which apparently formed after he received a blow on the head. The boy lapsed into a coma and never regained consciousness.

Rocky Marciano's knockout of Joe Louis earned the undefeated Brockton, Mass., belter the October award in the Hickok professional athlete of the year poll. The announcement was made in New York.

Marciano barely nosed out Bobby Thomson, whose last-inning homer won the National League pennant for New York Giants. Rocky received 41 first-place votes and a point total of 192 from sports writers on the panel to edge out Thomson by 23 points. Thomson garnered 169 points and 34 first-place votes.

At Philadelphia, Jersey Joe Walcott entered the restaurant-bar business Monday. The heavyweight champion and his manager Felix Bocchicchio, were listed as among incorporators of a new firm. Jersey Joe Walcott, Inc., that bought the liquor licence of Huyler's Restaurant.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Hockey Association added a fourth former Toronto Marlboro player to their roster when Hugh (Scotty) Mair signed a playing certificate during the weekend. The 31-year-old veteran is the last of the Toronto team to be picked up by other teams. Mair also played with Pittsburgh, Washington, and Tulsa professional teams.

Wednesday night will be the highlight of a wek of events to mark the official opening of Pembroke's new $300,000 Memorial Centre. Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League will play an exhibition game with the Pembroke entry in the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League.

Pembroke's own Frank Nighbor, one of the outstanding hockey players in the game's history, will be presented with the hockey hall of fame scroll which he was awarded some time ago.

At New York, Don Newcombe, star righthander of the Brooklyn pitching staff; said Monday night he expects to be accepted for military service. He has just completed thre days of pre-induction tests at Fort Jay, NY, and he said he was given to understand that he had passed the examinations.

A Sioux Princess is rallying Indians in the New York area to the aid of Jim Thorpe, famous Indian now ailing in a Philadelphia hospital.

Princess Juanita Senter said on Monday in New York she had formed a committee of New York Indians and that she donated $100 to a fund to help the one-time all-America football star and Olympic gold medal winner described by his wife as "flat broke."

Thorpe, voted the outstanding all-around athlete in The Associated Press' mid-century poll, underwent an operation last week for skin cancer. He is reported doing well.

Remembrance Dinner Held Monday

MARMORA, Nov. 13 (ENS).—The annual Remembrance Day dinner under auspices of Marmora branch No. 237 Canadian Legion was held in the banquet room of the Royal Hotel on Monday with about 100 members of the Legion and of the Ladies' Auxiliary and guests participating.

Clayton Bedore, president of the branch, was toast master. There was community singing with Canon J. M. Brownlie at the piano.

Major Percy Gray sketched the growth of the ex-servicemen's organization since the Armistice of 1918 particularly dealing with the history and growth of the Canadian Legion.

Past Zone Commander Wilbert Mumby of Trenton who is past president of Marmora branch, introduced the guest speaker, District Commander J. Burnet, Mayor Burnet of Cobourg. The work of the Legion he said was an important subject and one that we don't spend enough time with. Its young members are not taught enough of its early struggles. The legislation for the Legion has been put into effect through the Legion's recommendations.

The Canadian Legion is 26 years old this month. The men of the First World War were sent back to Canada to be assimilated into an economy not ready to receive them and at first the veterans suffered from maladministration and even dishonesty.

The Legion became the voice of the returned men. Pensions were taken out of politics and he hoped they would never return.

The Legion has in its own hands whether or not it would keep the things it has gained. It has the strength, power and influence to demand they shall continue every time the Legion appears in public it is going to be judged by the public. If a branch turns out only 25 per cent for a parade it will be judged accordingly as having a weakened influence. Attendance at church parades was to be greatly encouraged. The speaker then mentioned that there were 2,100 branches of the Legion in Canada and 1,100 Auxiliaries. There were 360 branches and Auxiliaries in the United States acting under the Canadian Legion.

He urged the members present to keep in touch with preparations for the district rally and drum head service next summer and hoped wherever it would be held that the 56 branches of the district would be represented by a total of 2,000 on parade.

In proposing "Fallen Comrades" past president Norman Hipson impressively recited a poem. Pipe Major Harry Anderson of Havelock played "Flowers of the Forest" and "Reveille" with two minutes' silence being observed between.

Zone Commander Percy Gray presented a Past Zone Commander's Badge to Comrade W. Mumby.

Aussies Win By 3 Wickets

BRISBANE, Australia, Nov. 13 (Reuters). — Australia beat the West Indies by three wickets today in the first cricket test match to decide world cricket supremacy.

The result was in doubt until almost the end, but a spirited sixth-wicket stand of 54 by Grame Hole and bowler Ray Lindwall virtually clinched matters for Australia.

West Indies scored 216 and 248, Australia 226 and 236 for seven.

Australia got off to a bad start this morning, losing the wickets of star batsmen Arthur Morris, Keith Miller, and Neil Harvey for only 41 runs before the spin bowling of Alf Valentine and Sonny Ramadhin.

But then Lindwall and Hole pulled the game around. Lindwall scored 29 before being bowled by Ramadhin. Hole and Doug Ring knocked off the 11 runs needed for victory. Hole was undefeated for 45.

Remembrance Day At Marmora

MARMORA, Nov. 13 (ENS) — Saturday was Poppy Day in Marmora and Deloro with 'teen-age girls selling poppies under the auspices of Marmora Branch of the Canadian Legion. The sale netted almost double the amount of last year. Displays in the windows of the stores of Clinton Nickle and Tom Paranuik reminded passersby of the fallen from this district.

Sunday morning members of the Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary paraded to St. Andrew's United Church for the annual Remembrance service. En route the parade halted at the Memorial Hall for the greater part to proceed to the church for the opening of the service there, while a small number remained to deposit wreaths and observe the two minutes' silence. Later they rejoined the parade within the church. The parade was in charge of President Clayton Bedore. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by G. Brooks outside the church. The Rev. G. D. Young, who officiated at the service, spoke on "The Two Minutes' Silence," and emphasized the fact that the sacrifices made in the world wars were but instalments towards the price to be fully paid for peace.

The choir sang Joseph Barnby's "For All the Saints" as the anthem. At the conclusion of the service the parade returned to the Memorial Hall to salute the tablets, and then proceeded to the Legion Hall for dismissal.

Wreaths were deposited at the Memorial Hall by the following: Canadian Legion, Major C. Nickle and R. Provost; Ladies' Auxiliary Canadian Legion, President Mrs. C. Bedore; Province of Ontario, Albert Bartlett, life member of Canadian Legion; Marmora Village, George Osborne for Reeve W. M. Lynch;; Marmora Township Past President W. M. Regan for Reeve Irwin McCoy; Marmora Chapter IODE, President Mrs. W. M. Regan, and Mrs. H. English; Local Branch of IMM's Union, President C. Paranuik.

At Deloro Hall wreaths were placed under the memorial plaques there by R. G. Walsh, general manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited, C. H. Buskard, Reeve of Deloro Village, and Thomas Brawley, manager of the Deloro Trading Company.

RCN Escort Says Farewell To Royal Pair

ABOARD EMPRESS OF SCOTLAND, Nov. 13 (CP) — A 21-gun salute from the cruiser Ontario marked Canada's farewell to her Royal visitors Monday night as Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh relaxed on the first day of their ocean voyage home.

Promptly at sunset, the Ontario and the Canadian destroyer Micmac, which had steamed alongside the luxury liner Empress of Scotland on the first stage of her journey, wheeled about in the stormy Atlantic and headed back to port.

Due to the 37-mile-an-hour wind, the Princess granted a request from the Ontario that the custom of "cheering the ship," with the naval crews lined up along the decks, be abandoned.

The Royal couple watched the Ontario and Micmac take their leave from the wheelhouse on the bridge of the Empress. The Princess, wearing a brightly-colored kerchief, filmed the scene with a movie camera as foam swept over the bows of the two ships, one on either side of the Royal vessel. The Duke snapped still pictures of the ceremony.

Plan Deck Tennis

The couple relaxed on their first evening aboard ship, but plan to play a little deck-tennis today if the storm abates. They will also look at some films of their Canadian visit—two newsreels and a color film.

As the Princess and her husband made their way to their cabin after the departure of their Canadian escort, they visited the ship's cocktail bar. The only customer—a solitary Mountie of the five-man detail accompanying them to London by Royal invitation—sprang to attention.

Philip allowed him back to his drink with the friendly query, "enjoying a quick one?"

The Princess also was quick to set her fellow passengers at ease. As they left the bar without pausing for a drink, a group of passengers in the lounge rose at the Royal approach.

"I think we ought to relax," the Princess said, and the passengers resumed their seats.

Won't Slacken UK Rearmament

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Even if she has to go "barefooted," Britain will not slacken her rearmament pace, a top-ranking British air authority said Monday.

Air Marshall Sir Basil E. Embry, RAF Fighter Command chief, said in an interview that he is convinced that as long as Winston Churchill is Britain's Prime Minister and Minister of Defence, there will be no deterioration in Britain's defeice preparations.

Britain currently is weathering her third post-war financial crisis, but, said Sir Basil, "our financial position will in no way deter us from our determination to strengthen our defences."

"Even if it means that we will have to go barefooted in the streets, we will not be unprepared if war comes again."

The 49-year-old Sir Basil, who chalked up a distinguished air record in the Second World War, is on a three-week tour of Canadian and United States military establishments.

He spent the weekend here, conferring with Canadian air officials and visiting the National Research Council, and today will go to Kingston, to lecture at the Royal Military College.

Sacrifices Made For Freedom Col. Dewart Says

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 13 (ENS). — "If I were asked," said Col. J. A. Dewart of Peterborough, speaking at the Remembernace Day service in Lakefield Memorial Hall on Saturday morning, "why was the sacrifice made by these men and women whose memories we honor today, I would say it was to protect and allow civilization to enjoy man's greatest possession, freedom and liberty.

"The possession of the freedom we know and enjoy has been a continuous struggle from the days when Napoleon fought for world domination; when, at the battle of Trafalgar, Nelson told his men, 'England expects this day that every man will do his duty,' on through history to the present day," continued Col. Dewart.

"We have shown in two wars that we have a great capacity for freedom. Where we fail is in what we do between the wars. Today we are faced with the greatest menace we have ever known. At any time we could be involved in a life and death struggle against Russia and Communism. It is our responsibility to carry on this fight for freedom. We must resolve to do everything we can to support the North Atlantic Pact, and if we are ever asked to take part in a civil defence program or any activity to fight this menance we should be glad to do so," he concluded.

The parade of veterans to the service was headed by the bugle band of the Lakefield and District High School.

Present on the platform were the following: Walter Chappell, president of Branch 77, Canadian Legion; C. D. Hopkins, zone representative; Col. J. A. Dewart; Reeve W. C. Grant; the Rev. W. H. Tonge, who read the scripture lesson; the Rev. W. B. Walker, who gave The Lord's Prayer, and the Rev. L. Delaney, who offered prayers for "Our King and Empire," "Our Dominion" and "The Peace of the World." Mrs. H. T. Hill was pianist.

Following the service in the hall wreaths were placed on the cenotaph by the following: William Morrison, in memory of his son Jack; Mrs. W. James Charlton, in memory of her son Lawrence; Mrs. H. Stuart, in memory of her husband who gave his life in World War 1, and her son who was killed in World War II; the Coughlin family, in memory of James Coughlin; The Province of Ontario, by Mrs. W. J. Morrison; and the Village of Lakefield by Reeve Grant. Boy 15 Head Of Household As 11 Children Orphaned PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP) —Fifteen-year-old Gerard Moore bit his lips and tried his hardest to be a brave man Monday.

An automobile accident had killed his parents, leaving young Gerard, the eldest, the head of a household of 11 orphans.

Offers of aid to the bereaved youngsters were pouring in.

Grandparents and the neighbors stepped in to help. So did persons in far-off cities, some proposing adoption.

And in the midst of this Gerard assumed the duties of the manhood suddenly thurst upon him,

"Mom and Dad," he said, "bought a house so we could all be together.

"This is the first time we've been together in almost a year and now more than ever we don't want to be split up."

The children's parents, Murray J. Moore, 36, and Mary Jean Moore, 33, were killed in a traffic crash early Saturday.

A car filled with beer-drinking teen-agers crashed head-on into the Moores' auto. Four of the five teen-agers were killed.

As police continued an inquiry into the crash, relatives cared for the 11 orphans at the newly purchased nine-room Moore home in nearby Leonard.

The family had moved in only six weeks ago. Prior to that time the Oakland County Juvenile Home had boarded some of the children. They ranged in age from six weeks to Gerard's 15.

The new home, said Gerard, was the "first one that was big enough for all of us."

Gerard said that his dad, a master electrician, used all his savings to make the down payment on the new home.

Harvey Twp. Deer Hunter Killed In Shooting Mishap

Port Hope Target Of Atomic Attack In Army Exercise

OTTAWA, Nov. 14. (CP)—The town of Port Hope will come under simulated atomic attack next Monday in a three-day training exercise for the army's No. 1 radiation detection unit. The training scheme, dubbed "Exercise" Hope," will assume that an atomic bomb, planted in the harbor, has exploded and covered the town with radioactive spray. For purposes of the exercise, Port Hope will be called "Hailhope" and Lake Ontario will be "thehe Atlantic Ocean."

No. 1 Radio Detection Unit of the Royal Canadian Engineers, only one of its kind in the Canadian Army, will move into the town from its Kingston base on the morning of Nov. 19 to practise monitoring and plotting radiation in a built-up area.

During the exercise, the unit will work in co-operation with Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., whose Port Hope uranium plant will provide radio-active materials.

Go Through Motions

The unit will test its radiation detection equipment at the Eldorado plant and study techniques used in handling radio-active materials. In the town itself, the unit will go through the motions of plotting radiation which would result in the event of an atomic attack.

The exercise is the second in a training series for the engineer unit. The first was held in Windsor, Oct. 18, 19 and 20 when the unit worked with Windsor civil defence authorities on a mock "atomic attack."

Will Reserve Judgment In Ayrhart Case

After hearing evidence on a dangerous driving charge against Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford in police court Tuesday, Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment until November 27.

Mayor Ayrhart pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The charge was laid following an accident on July 14 involving Mayor Ayrhart and a truck driven by John M. Meincinger of RR 3 Indian River. Meincinger was fatally injured in the crash which occurred one mile north of Norwood at an intersection of the boundary road between Dummer and Asphodel townships.

One witness, Arthur Andrews, RR 1 Norwood, said he lived about 500 yards west of the scene of the crash. Just prior to the accident, Mr. Andrews testified that a "yellow car" passed a car in which he was riding. Mr. Andrews estimated the speed of the car at between 60 and 65 miles an hour.

He said the vehicle was only out of sight a "matter of a few seconds" before he arrived at the scene of the crash and saw the accused man (Mayor Ayrhart) coming from the car.

Stresses Speed

Ross Legge, RR 1 Norwood who lives near the southwest corner of the four corners where the accident occurred, said he looked out of the south window of his house just before the accident and saw a truck coming north at "an excessive rate of speed." He said he heard a horn blow on the road in front of the house, then heard a thud and together with his wife hurried to the crash.

On completion of the crown's case, defence counsel E. A. Richardson said he had "no evidence to offer" and asked for a "non suit" on the grounds that the crown had not presented sufficient evidence to substantiate the charge.

Magistrate Philp refused Mr. Richardson's request. Then, Mr. Richardson reconsidered and called Mayor Ayrhart to the stand.

Liberals Trail In Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 14 (AP)—Nacionalista candidates headed by the wartime puppet president of the Philippines today held a 2-to-1 lead today over the administration's Liberal party slate for nine senate seats.

But only a trickle of returns had come in from Liberal strongholds. Approximately four-fifths of the vote from Tuesday's bloody election remained to be counted.

Unofficial returns showed the lowest Nacionalista candidate running ahead of the top Liberal in the race for eight senate posts for six-year terms. Philippines senators are elected at large. The eight highest win.

A separate contest was held to name a ninth new senator to fill the last two years of an unexpired term in the 24-man senate.

Complete unofficial returns from Manila and scattered returns from the provinces gave 380,180 votes to Dr. Jose P. Laurel, head of the Nacionalista party and wartime president under the Japanese.

Bottom man on the Nacionalista slate, Jose Locsin, had 200,711 votes to 161,253 for the highest Liberal, Teodoro Evangelista, secretary of education. President Elpidio Quirino's brother, Antonio, was sixth among the Liberals.

Severe Earthquake In California Area

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 14 (AP)—A severe earthquake rocked the Eel River valley 45 miles south of here at 12:40 am (3:40 am EST) today.

It broke a window in the Humboldt Times building here and hurled merchandise from the shelves of stores in Fortuna, six miles south of Eureka.

But at the little Eel River town of Scotia, where the quake centred the telephone operator reported, "I know of no damage."

The tremor threw one of the pens off the seismograph at the University of California's station at nearby Ferndale.

Red Delegates Getting Tough

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP) — Communist negotiators challenged the Allies today to agree to a cease-fire line in Korea now or break off the truce talks.

Brig-Gen. William P. Nuckols, official United Nations spokesman, said the challenge was ignored in a welter of words that marked today's five-hour armistice session.

He said the challenge was made by Chinese Maj.-Gen. Hsieh Fang, member of the Red's two-man sub-committee.

Hsieh's challenge came during a wrangle over whether a military demarcation line and buffer zone shall be established now, as the Reds insist, or whether the question shall be postponed until other armistice questions are settled.

The Allies refuse to agree formally to a line now, because they say that would establish an immediate cease-fire. This, they say, would take military pressure off the Reds and enable them to stall on other armistice terms.

No Christmas Bonus In Rationed Foods

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters).—Britons will have to forego their usual Christmas bonus in rationed foods this year, but will have their normal weekly bacon allotment increased from three ounces to four, Food Minister Gwilym Lloyd George announced today.

Last Christmas the Socialist Food Ministry allowed each person an extra six ounces of candy, 1½ pounds of sugar and four ounces of shortening for the holiday season.

The general food situation does not permit any increases, the Food Minister told the House of Commons. He expected to keep the sugar ration up to the present 10 ounces a week a person.

500,000 Egyptians Join In Silent Demonstration

CAIRO, Nov. 14 (AP) — An estimated 500,000 Egyptians today joined in a "silent" anti-British demonstration, then folded their banners and began to disperse peacefully.

As 100,000 watched, the 400,000 marchers paraded through Cairo to King Farouk's Abdin palace, marking a day of mourning for 20 Egyptians killed during a month of violence over Britain's refusal to quit the Suez canal zone.

As the parade through heavy police lines entered the palace square, the crowd obeyed police instructions and began to drift away in small groups.

The marchers, like the 100,000 who paraded peacefully at Alexandria Tuesday, were under government orders to keep silent.

(Reuters News Agency reported that the British Navy made a lightning waterfront raid on Port Said to round up suspected trouble-makers.

(The navy announced that patrols from the cruiser Gambia have picked up seven men in the last two days, Reuters said.)

In Cairo, police were stationed every six feet along the parade route.

Banks and foreign company offices also were heavily guarded. Outside the city Egyptian army units stood by in case of serious trouble.

The Alexandria demonstrators Tuesday carefully observed "silence" order as they celebrated the 33rd anniversary of Egypt's bid for complete independence from Britain. They carried slogans repeating Egypt's demand that Britain get her troops out of the Suez canal zone and permit the neighboring Sudan to come under King Farouk's exclusive rule.

The crack of shots was heard again in the troubled canal zone as Egyptian terrorists and British troops clashed.

In Ismailia, bandits ambushed a truck carrying copies of the English-language Egyptian Gazette and burned its contents in the street. The truck and its driver were reported missing.

Egyptians pounced on a lone Royal Air Force sergeant in Ismailia, but troops came to his rescue and an Egyptian was shot in the brawl.

Press Search For 36 On US Plane

Flying Boxcar Feared Down In French Mountains

WIESBADEN, Germany, Nov. 14. (AP) — Heavy icing and thick pea-soup clouds today hampered the aerial search for a missing United States Air Force flying boxcar feared down in the mountains of southeast France with 36 American military personnel aboard.

More than 60 planes, including some from US air bases in England, took off at dawn to look for the big twin-engined C-82 transport. It disappeared Tuesday while flying 30 passengers and a crew of six from Frankfurt's Rhine main airport to the big US supply base at Bordeaux.

The plane was last heard from shortly before noon Tuesday over the Moulins area of Central France, 160 miles southwest of Paris. Air force officials feared the big ship might have hit a mountain peak.

Thick fog blanketed mountains in that section Tuesday. Aerial searchers last night could find no trace of the missing transport.

The search was concentrated on a 40-mile wide strip between Dijon and Bordeaux, with some planes scanning the sea off the southwest French coast.

Ground Rescue Crews

Two ground-rescue crews—one from Wiesbaden and the other from Paris—were enroute by car to the southern France region where the plane may have crashed.

At Clermont-Ferrand, near the Mont Dore ski area where residents said they heard what might have been a plane crash Tuesday, French search parties said today they had found no clues during an all-night esarch.

The searchers said snow fell throughout the night and four inches covered the area this morning.

First reports had identified the missing craft as one used to transport military hospital cases, but the air force said later there were no hospital cases aboard.

$500,000 Loot In Bank Theft

MONTREAL, Nov. 14 (CP)—Loot obtained in the robbery of a Banque Provinciale branch in St. Jerome, Que., during the weekend of Nov. 4 may total close to $500,000, it was learned today.

Four RCMP officers are in St. Jerome, some 30 miles north of Montreal on the fringe of the Laurentians, to work on the case.

It was learned that large stocks of cash, hoarded in safety deposit boxes which the robbers smashed open, included thousands of dollars in United States funds. One informant said at least $41,000 in US currency was in the looted vaults.

Sign Aid Agreement

BELGRADE, Nov. 14.—The United States and Yugoslavia today signed an agreement covering terms on which American military aid will be extended to Marshal Tito's Communist regime. It provides for an American advisory mission here to check on the use made of munitions supplied by the US.

Prince Charles Celebrates Third Birthday

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—A sturdy, squarely-built young man who will one day be King of England celebrates his third birthday today.

He is Prince Charles, son of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, next in line for the throne after his mother.

The royal parents were in mid-Atlantic, homeward bound from their Canadian tour. But son Charles will have a birthday hello from them just the same.

His nurse, Helen Lightbody, will switch on a phonograph in the primrose-yellow nursery at Clarence House to bring the toddler happy birthday wishes and a be-a-good-boy reminder which the Princess recorded before she left for Canada.

The day will be a busy one. After breakfast (orange juice, porridge, a boiled egg) at 7.30 a.m. there is a mountain of presents to open.

Given Toys

Princess Elizabeth is giving him three wind-up toys, a tractor, a steam-roller and a bulldozer. Other presents are from members of the royal family, the Queen (whom he calls "Gammy"), Queen Mary ("Gan Gan"), and Princess Margaret ("Margot").

Later in the day a dozen or so children of various royal relatives will turn up for a party.

Charlie wil have a second birthday party on Sunday when his parents arrive home, laden with trunks full of presents for him from cities and organizations all across Canada.

Life for young Charles Philip Arthur George is said to be as much as possible like that of any other son of well-to-do English family. The staff of nurses and footmen who look after him and his younger sister Anne, 15 months, have orders to conceal from him as much as possible the fact that he is "different."

This is aimed at making him self-reliant and overcoming the self-consciousness which might result otherwise.

Normal Routine

A nurse (and a plainclothes detective) takes him for a daily outing in downtown Green Park. But if too big a crowd spots him, he is hustled into a station wagon and taken to some suburban park where he can see other children without being recognized.

The staff must never call him "Prince Charles," just Charles (his mother forbids Charlie).

The nurses are firm. For example, not long ago Charles scattered coal from the fireside box all over the floor. His nurse made him pick it up again.

The system seems to be working because Charles looks as normal as any three-year-old on his public outings.

He waves from the car window, imitating his mother, when the family drives through the London crowds.

He meets visitors at Clarence House with a sober "how do you do," though he usually follows up with a suggestion for a quick game of tag.

Berserk Man Holds Off Police For 3 Hours

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 14 (AP) —A berserk man held his own in a running gun battle with scores of police for 3½ hours Tuesday night before he was subdued by bullets.

An estimated 5,000 persons swarmed around a three-storey apartment house to watch.

When the siege was over police found Dale Emery, 33, lying on a blood-soaked cot, a bullet wound in the chest and buckshot in his back.

Emery's condition was reported as "poor."

His wife, Lillian, 39, told police she had been held captive in the apartment from last Thursday until Monday, when she escaped.

"He had been drinking steadily and was constantly fingering his guns," she said.

Police were called after Emery began shooting and cursing.

Companion Slips, Gun Goes Off

2nd Shooting Fatality In County Since Season Opened

An accidental rifle shot on Tuesday afternoon killed Fleming Russell, 52, RR 3, Bobcaygeon, while he and a companion were out deer hunting in Galway township.

A companion, James T. Hulland, 36, also of RR 3, Bobcaygeon, slipped on some snow as the two men scrambled up an incline. Hulland's sleeve tripped the hammer of the 38-55 deer hunting rifle and Russell received the blast in the back.

It went through him and came out his chest and he is believed to have died almost instantly.

Second Fatality

Russell is the second shooting fatality of the deerhunting season in Peterborough county. William F. English, 47, RR 4, Lindsay, was instantly killed on Nov. 5 when he slipped on some ice, a mile north of Nogie's Creek, and shot himself through the forehead.

Slips On Snow

The accident occurred two miles west of Long lake, some 18 miles northeast of Bobcaygeon. Russell, a farmer, was hunting along with his friend Hulland.

Hulland was a short distance behind Russell and lower down the incline. He stepped on the patch of snow, slipped, and the sleeve of his jacket caught the half-cocked hammer of the rifle causing it to fire.

Unable to hlep Russell, Hulland walked about a mile to Parker's hunting camp. From there he got a car ride to the home of Charles Johnston, Nogie's Creek, and he phoned provincial police.

Carry Out Stretcher

Let by OPP Cpl. Joe Hanson and Constable Amy Gaudry, of Peterborough detachment, a party of a dozen hunters and woodsmen went back to the spot where Russell was lying. They took turns carrying him on a stretcher through two and a half miles of rocky bushland, the footing made treacherous by mud and snow.

The last part of the journey was made by car.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young said today there will be no inquest. Assistant Coroner Dr. B. E. Kelly, Bobcaygeon reported the cause of death was a gunshot wound through the back.

Russell leaves a wife and an adopted daughter, Martha, at his Harvey township home. His brother Clifford farms on the lot beside him.

He was born and educated in Harvey. His parents were the late John Russell and Caroline Bowen.

The funeral will be Friday, 2:30 pm, at the Nisbett funeral home, Bobcaygeon. Burial will be in Verulam cemetery.

Planes Smash Red Railways

US EIGTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP) —Allied planes today swept North Korean skies without challenge and dealt new blows to the crippled Communist rail system.

Far East air forces said B-26 light bombers destroyed eight locomotives in pre-dawn raids. Ten others were reported destoyed in the 24 hours ended at midnight Tuesday.

Allied fighter sweeps through MIG Alley in Northwest Korea before noon Wednesday failed to turn up any Communist jets. It was the fourth straight day the Reds refused to tangle with UN planes.

UN ground forces Wednesday threw back two company-sized Red probing attacks on the western front and scattered a Communist platoon on the eastern front.

An Eighth Army Wednesday evening communique said there was no other significant action along the front.

Eisenhower On Hand

SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Europe, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Gen. Eisenhower will fly to Rotterdam next Wednesday to welcome the Canadian 26th Infantry Brigade, first Canadian troops to be assigned to his Allied Command in Europe.

Iran Asks US Help

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran said today he appealed for "immediate financial aid" from the United States to prevent his country from being paralyzed through lack of funds. "Iran's economic crisis at this moment is so grave," he said, "that no one can be sure of the outcome unless urgent remedies are found."

Thieves Cut Main Wires, 2 Men Arrested

OSHAWA, Nov. 14 (CP)—The main telephone cable between Toronto and Montreal was put out of commission at 3 am today when thieves cut 100 yards of wire from the circuit at Pickering.

Bell Telephone Company men worked eight hours to restore service.

Every repair squad from Toronto to Oshawa was put to work. The circuit was cut near Frenchman's Bay road in Pickering township.

At 3 am the thieves, shielded from the highway by a railway embankment climbed a telephone pole and cut through a wire holding up the three-inch-thick, lead-covered cable.

Five telephone poles fell with the cable. As they cut through the lead, an automatic alarm flashed on in the telephone company's headquarters.

Police were called out. Scarboro police arrested men travelling in a truck. Telephone workers found coiled piles of the cable at the break.

Worth $1,000

Workmen today estimated that cable taken by the thieves was worth more than $1,000 for its lead and the 286 pairs of copper wires coiled inside.

Miles of temporary wiring were used to link the break today.

Two men were arrested. Their names were withheld by police.

Police said they believe their arrests solve three weeks of similar thefts in the Toronto district. The stolen cables presumably were sold as scrap metal.

"Dead" Woman Will Recover

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 — (AP)—Flabbergasted doctors today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago.

Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma Tuesday, talked coherently and recognized her daughter and Dr. J. C. Geiger, city public health director.

"From all medical information now possible, Mrs. Butler will probably fully recover," Geiger said.

Last Thursday a doctor pronounced Mrs. Butler dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch.

Until Tuesday doctors had feared Mrs. Butler's brain would be damaged from being without oxygen while she appeared to be lifeless.

Believe Churchill Visit To Press For Closer Ties

LONDON, Nov. 14—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Canada will entail a general review of Anglo-Canadian relations, an official spokesman said today.

Although no firm agenda has yet been worked out for the premier's January visit to Ottawa, it can be said the Conservative party hopes a new approach will be sought to problems facing the two countries.

During six years of socialism, Conservatives were frequently critical of what they deemed to be a rather laconic Labor government attitude toward Canada.

Among the many topics which will undoubtedly come up is the future structure of the Commonwealth. Ambitious Conservative proposals, outlined more than two years in a Commonwealth charter, include the formation of a sort of Commonwealth supreme court—to supersede the Privy Council and to sit in turn in all Commonwealth capitals.

A permanent Commonwealth secretariat and closer linking of Commonwealth defence were also suggested.

Canada in the past has indicated she is chary of any such specific devices, preferring the great flexibility of the present association.

A spokesman for the prime minister said there are no details on how long Churchill will stay in Ottawa. The informant also said it was too early yet to comment on British press reports that the premier, while in the United States, will spend a few days in Miami, Fla., as a guest of Canadian businessman Col. Frank Clarke.

Clarke, a Toronto-born pulp and paper magnate, is a close friend of Churchill.

5,790 UN POW's Slain By Reds In War Atrocities

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 14. (AP)—The head of the United States Eighth Army's legal section today said Communists have killed at least 5,790 United Nations soldiers-prisoners—about 5,500 of them Americans—and some 250,000 Korean civilians in atrocities since the start of the war. Col. James M. Hanely, chief of the army's judge advocate section, said in a statement that the count of military prisoners slain did not include South Korean troops. He gave no estimate of these, but indicated the number was about twice that of other UN soldiers killed by Red captors.

Civilian men, women and children were slaughtered, Hanley said, without trial or even a formal death sentence.

Hanley accused the Reds of making a sham of the Geneva convention on treatment of prisoners of war. The United Nations, he said, cared for the Reds it captured "in complete accordance with the Geneva agreement."

Treated Differently

"None of the Communist war prisoners have been killed by us," he added.

Hanley broke down the killings attributed to the Chinese since Nov. 1 as follows:

Americans, 2,513; Turks, 40; British, 10; Belgians, 5; other UN troops, 75. There was no specific mention of Canadians.

At Ottawa, an army headquarters spokesman said no communication has been received from Canadian officers in Korea regarding Communist atrocities.

He doubted if any Canadians are involved.

Only two Canadian soldiers are listed as missing from Canada's 25th Brigade in Korea and the spokesman said that does not necessarily mean that they had been taken prisoner.

Use Tear Gas To Halt Woman

MONTREAL, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Police Tuesday night were forced to use tear gas bombs to disarm a woman who brandished a revolver and threatened to shoot when they tried to serve a court warrant.

Police said Mrs. Gertrude Roy, 46, shouted "I'll shoot if you come near me" when they tried to serve her with the warrant on the street in front of her home.

The police returned later with tear gas bombs. Opening the front door, they threw three of them into the premises. The woman staggered out with her eyes streaming, and the revolver still clutched tightly in her right hand. Police overpowered her and placed her under arrest.

She will be arraigned today charged with threatening police with a dangerous weapon.

Plan New Agreement

CANBERRA, Nov. 14 (Reuters) — Immigration Minister Harold Holt will shortly announce a new emigration agreement with Britain, authoritative sources said today. Under the agreement, they added, Britain would continue to subsidize selected immigrants at £25 a head with a yearly limit of £500,000.

Ottawa Leading Tigers 1-0 End Of Quarter

HAMILTON, Nov. 14 (CP)—At the end of the first quarter Ottawa Roughriders were leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats 1-0 in the opening of the home-and-home total-point Big Four football final there today.

A field of mud and a strong cross-wind provided the setting for the game and a patch from five to 10 yards wide of clear green turf ran down the sidelines.

The heavy going should be to the liking of the Cats who showed they were mudders at Toronto's Varsity Stadium last week in the semi-final against Toronto Argonauts.

Riders, who have beaten the Tiger-Cats three or four games in the regular season, were at full strength. They drew a bye into the final after a three-way tie for first place and have been idle 10 days.

A bright sun was shining as the teams took the field wearing sharp aluminum cleats.

The second game will be played at Ottawa Saturday.

Charge Mutiny On British Ship

RICHMOND, Calif., Nov. 14—(AP)—The British freighter Tacoma Star was stranded in San Francisco Bay today after 15 members refused to sail without a shipmate and were accused of mutiny by their skipper.

The ship—out of London— was scheduled to sail at 5.30 p.m. Tuesday for Los Angeles enroute to Liverpool but Ian MacGibbon, 24, of Gainsborough, Lincolnshire hadn't shown up. Capt. Frank Hambidge said he would sail without MacGibbon and 14 men walked off the ship.

Three hours later, just before the ship pulled out, MacGibbon boarded the ship. Mates on the dock yelled at him to get off. He jumped back onto the dock.

Richmond police were called and the men jailed as "en route to immigration officials"—a technical holding charge.

Captain Hambdidge then pulled out and anchored off Treasure Island to await action by British Consular authorities.

A spokesman for the men said they refused to sail because the crew already was shorthanded.

France Will Slash Dollar Imports

PARIS, Nov. 14 (Reuters). — The French government today decided to slash dollar imports by 30 to 40 per cent.

Rene Mayer, Vice-Premier and Finance Minister, persuaded the Cabinet to set the total import figure for the dollar zone at $500,000,000.

Mayer indicated to the Cabinet France was in for serious belt tightening, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said French dollar imports from June, 1950, to June, 1951, were $650,000,000.

Frenchmen will be pinched for coal, gasoline, cotton and newsprint due to the import slash, the Cabinet spokesman indicated.

Lone Gunman Raids Big Gambling Club

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 14 — (AP)—A lone gunman held up a downtown Las Vegas gambling club at the mopping up hour Tuesday, and fled with more than $21,000, police reported.

Officers said the man, masquerading as an electrician, walked into the club about 7.30 am when operations are normally at their lowest ebb and forced a guard at gunpoint to open the cashier's cage.

Stock Racketeering Laws Tightened By Canada And US

OTTAWA, Nov. 14. (CP)—Canada and the United States have moved to crack down on international stock racketeers. Prime Minister St. Laurent disclosed in the Commons Tuesday that the two countries have agreed to add to their list of extraditable offences fraud and use of the mails in fraud committed in connection with transactions in securities. This will give authorities in both countries a new weapon in their long fight against high-pressure stock promoters, centred principally around Toronto, who thrive by defrauding gullible American investors in bogus stock deals.

High-pressure promoters have been a problem not only to governments but to legitimate promoters, brokers and investment dealers engaged in obtaining capital for Canada's expanding natural resources.

The agreement, by way of a suplementary convehtion to the Canada-US Extradition Treaty, was signed here Oct. 26 and becomes effective on ratification by the US Senate, now adjourned to January. Canadian law requires no such approval, but the proposal will be submitted to Parliament for consideration.

The extradition agreement results from drawn-out negotiations between Canada and the US.

Canada Holds Out

The Americans originally sought the right to extradite Canadians who might have broken any of the security laws of any of the 48 States. Canada insisted offences must be those which are recognized in Canadian criminal law as well as American law.

The two countries finally agreed to add these offences to the extradition treaty:

1. Obtaining property, money, or valuable securities by false pretences or by defrauding the public or any person by deceit or falsehood or other fraudulent means would or would not amount to a false pretence.

2. Making use of the mails in connection with schemes devised or intended to deceive or defraud the public or for the purpose of obtaining money under false pretences.

Brigade Moved By Christmas

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP). — Movement of Canada's 27th Brigade to Europe will be completed before Christmas, the last group of the 5,500-man force sailing from Quebec December 13.

The first group of 550 troops of the brigade to form part of Gen. Eisenhower's western defences is already in Europe. Another 1,500-man force, which sailed last Monday, is expected to arrive in Rotterdam November 21.

Subsequent sailings include an 800-man force November 19, a 650-man force November 28, a 1,200-man force December 8, and a 700-man force December 13.

A small work party went to Europe last month to prepare winter quarters in the Hannover area of Germany where the Canadians will be stationed.

Major Catastrophe Averted By Firemen

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 14 (CP)—Firemen crept to within a few feet of a red-hot gasoline storage tank to put out a fire which late Tuesday threatened the west end of the city.

The blaze was at Imperial Oil Company's waterfront depot. It burned for two hours. Thousands of gallons of gasoline and oil threatened to explode.

Police said a "major catastrophe" was barely averted.

Slowed Down

Mayor Ayrhart testified he was travelling about 35 miles an hour when he passed the car Andrews was in. "As I approached the intersection, I slowed down to between 15 and 20 miles an hour," said Mayor Ayrhart. He said he looked both right and left and could see nothing coming between the intersection and a knoll about 120 feet to the south.

When halfway across the intersection, he said his attention was attracted to the right. He said the truck was just breaking over the top of the knoll but "if I had had a jet propelled plane, I couldn't have travelled the rest of that intersection while the truck was going 80 or 90 feet."

"Did you not say that when you saw you couldn't avoid the collision 'you gunned it'?" Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked Mayor Ayrhart under cross examination.

"Not that I recall," he replied. "My first thought was to clear and I did try to accelerate, but I didn't have a chance."

Then, the crown attorney argued, that if Mayor Ayrhart was going 20 miles an hour as he entered the intersection as he claimed, the truck was going 120 miles an hour at the time of the impact. The truck was a 1950 half ton pickup truck.

Continues Questioning

Mr. Bradshaw: "Where were you when you first saw the truck on the knoll?"

Mayor Ayrhart replied he was about 10 feet from the centre of the intersection.

Mr. Bradshaw: "Then the car had travelled some 17 feet (taking the length of the front of the car into consideration) while the truck travelled 135—the distance from the intersection to the knoll, plus half the width of the highway where the impact occurred.

"I wouldn't say that," replied Mayor Ayrhart.

At this point, Magistrate Philp interrupted Mayor Ayrhart and Mr. Richardson cut in sharply with, "your worship shouldn't attempt to misinterpret the evidence."

"Even if the truck were 20 feet north of the knoll, it would have travelled approximately 115 feet while you were going 20 feet. In other words, the truck was going six times as fast as you were, or 120 miles an hour, continued Mr. Bradshaw.

Mayor Ayrhart replied that he would say the truck was going at least four times as fast as he was.

Another Witness

After the noon recess, Mr. Bradshaw introduced another crown witness, and recalled Arthur Andrews. Andrews testified that Mayor Aryhart's evidence that he was only going about 35 miles an hour when he passed the car Andrews was riding in hadn't shaken his estimate that the car was travelling between 60 and 65 mph when it went by.

Mr. Bradshaw asked Magistrate Philp to "refuse to accept the evidence of Mayor Ayrhart. First of all, as to the speed, and secondly, because of his rather silly story that he was travelling some 20 miles an hour on entering the intersection.

"Even when I pointed out to the accused the truck must have been travelling over 100 miles an hour, he didn't see fit to amend his statement or explain the situation."

Request Refused

Magistrate Philp refused Mr. Richardson's request that bail be withdrawn and that Mayor Ayrhart need not appear when judgment is handed down.

Mr. Richardson agreed to let the evidence heard on the dangerous driving charge apply to a second charge of careless driving. Mayor Ayrhart pleaded not guilty to the charge and it was adjourned until November 27 when Magistrate Philp will give his verdict on the dangerous driving charge.

Tornadoes Hit US Midwest, Damage Heavy

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 — (AP) — A series of tornadoes and violent electrical and wind storms struck damaging blows across wide areas of the mid-continent Tuesday.

The twisters killed at least one person and injured seven others. Property damage was expected to run in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The mid - November storms lashed most of the United States midwest. Heavy rain hit many areas. Winds of 100 miles an hour whipped across communities in the path of the tornadoes, which struck in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Kentucky.

Weather forecasters attributed the severe storms to the clash of cold air against the warm southern air which had extended over the midwest the last few days.

Homes Damaged

Scores of homes were damaged. Communications were disrupted, tress uprooted and traffic slowed in many cities and towns.

The Federal Weather Bureau at Chicago said at least two or three tornadoes struck in Illinois.

The large intense storm centred in Northern Wisconsin Tuesday night. It brought showers and thunderstorms from the southern Great Lakes region southward to the middle Mississippi Valley. There was heavy rainfall and snow in the northern Great Lakes region. Up to six inches of wet snow covered Southern Minnesota, making traffic hazardous.

The seven persons injured in tornadoes were in the southeast Missouri-Southern Illinois region. The twister skirted a narrow path through rural areas east of Parma, Mo., injuring one person. It skipped northeast across the Mississippi River and struck the business district of Campbell Hill, Ill., a community of about 800. Six persons were injured, none seriously.

Another twister hit in Central Illinois, in a narrow belt from Mason City, about 30 miles north of Springfield, to Hudson, 12 miles north of Bloomington.

Between 40 and 50 houses were reported damaged in the tornado which Gary, Ind., firemen and police estimated damage at about $100,000.

Two Cars Collide One Slightly Damaged

One car was slightly damaged when two cars collided at Aylmer and Simcoe streets at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

After stopping for the intersection, Joseph Clarke, 378 Mark St., started to make a left hand turn to go north on Aylmer St. At the same time, Russell D. Wood, 636 Cameron St., who had also stopped for the intersection started across the intersection to continue west. The two cars collided in the centre of the intersection.

The front end of Wood's car was damaged in the collision. No damage was reported to Clarke's car.

Constable Jack Wilson investigated.

Smaller Nations Urge Powers End Differences

By STANLEY JOHNSON.

PARIS, Nov. 14 — (AP). — Spokesmen from the smaller countries at the United Nations' General Assembly today urged the great powers to compose their differences and avoid the dread destruction of a third world war.

The most fervent and direct appeal was made by Denmark's Foreign Minister, Ole Bjoern Kraft. He asked leaders of the Soviet Union to grasp "the hand extended by the West."

Speakers from Colombia, Uruguay, and Paraguay pointed out that small countries had to pay the price of world war, although only the big powers had the means to start one.

Kraft told the Assembly: "Perhaps it is of no importance what a small country says and thinks, but the small states more than any other feel the anxiety and disquiet of the present day."

Dares Appeal

Therefore, he said, he "dared to appeal" to the Kremlin to accept the disarmament proposals submitted by the United States, Britain, and France as "an adequate basis for work."

The diplomatic leaders of the Atlantic Pact — State Secretary Dean Acheson of the US, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and the French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—were not present as Kraft spoke.

It was understood that they were in their separate embassies working on Atlantic Pact problems for the North Atlantic treaty conference in Rome next week.

The Russian Foreign Minister, Andrei Vishinsky, also was absent.

Before Kraft made his appeal, Gonzalo Restrepo Jaramillo of Colombia urged UN membership for Italy, Spain, and "all other countries which uphold the principles of the UN Charter."

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, delivered a slashing attack on what he called "the assumed superiority of those who choose to describe themselves as the white races, over those whom they regard as non-white races."

Market Prices Hold Firm On Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Stock Market prices held firm today in early afternoon dealings. Industrials opened slightly higher following Tuesday's moderate decline.

Agricultures, foods and manufacturing companies formed the market's strongest sections. Papers, constructions, refining oils, banks, textiles and miscellaneous industrials held gains and losses in balance but liquors and retail stores weakened. Utilities and steels dipped sharply.

Scattered burst of activity in speculative mining issues relieved otherwise dull trading. Volume for the first three hours was 1,206,000 shares.

Base metals recovered about half their early losses. Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Chromium, International Nickel, Silanco, Steep Rock, Mackeno and United Asbestos showed declines ranging from pennies to about 40 cents.

Western oils traded irregularly. Senior golds were mixed. Dome and Lake Shore added fractions while Kerr Addison, Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves eased. Secondary issues showed little trend.

The Exchange's 1 pm indices showed industrials up .46 at 342.83, golds down .43 at 82.55, base metals down .44 at 193.44, and Western oils up .27 at 125.79.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Nov. 14 (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 4 5/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/16 from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.04 5/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.92, down ¼ from Tuesday.

New Agricultural Board Can't Compel Deliveries

OTTAWA, Nov. 14. (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Tuesday that an Agricultural Products Board planned by the government will not have the power to compel farmers to deliver products to it. He spoke in the Commons while sponsoring a resolution to a bill authorizing establishment of the board.

Mr. Gardiner said that during the war and post-war years three boards were established to handle the sale from government to government of food products. The powers of the boards were allowed to expire last March.

The new board, unlike the wartime boards, would not have power to compel farmers to deliver their produce to it. It will only receive the products when the price offered by it are higher than those in the regular market.

The board would be similar to one now operating under authority of an order-in-council.

There were several reasons for establishing the board, said Mr. Gardiner.

It was necessary to have a board to handle the purchase and sale of commodities under the price support program.

Outside Queries

"We have been approached from time to time by other governments to provide an agency to purchase certain farm products for them in Canada," said Mr. Gardiner. "If it were decided by the government to perform this service it would be necessary to have a legally constituted board."

Spokesman for the opposition groups welcomed the plan to establish a board. Some suggested action to help the Canadian dairy industry.

John Charlton (PC — Brant) said he was glad the board will not have power to compel farmers to deliver their products.

The need for such a board, he said, was emphasized last year when butter importers made a "huge profit" at the expense of the consumer. Some in favor of free enterprise were doing the very thing that would destroy it by taking advantage of shortages to take all they could from consumers.

The dairy industry was in a "deplorable state" and government action was needed to correct the situation.

A. E. Catherwood (PC—Haldimand) said he agreed with those who called for assistance to the dairy industry.

Inspections Lag Behind Houses

A. G. Metheral, head of the city's plumbing inspection department, sometimes wonders whether his tests will ever overtake work in progress.

"I'll be quite happy if we never do," he said this morning, "because plumbing tests are a sign of new building and new investment.

"We haven't been below the 300 mark of outstanding and unfinished jobs at any time during the last five years," Mr. Metheral said.

"Our report at the end of October on this detail of affairs was: 'Fifty-five plumbing jobs were completed during the month; 422 are still unfinished'.

184 Inspections

There was 184 plumbing inspections during October. They were: 83 water tests, 45 smoke tests, 9 layouts and 27 miscellaneous. Although 55 jobs were finished, there were 78 new permits issued, such as: 38 new houses; four old houses doing away with cess pools and one doing away with septic tank. Various other alterations, additions, etc. were on the list.

Said Mr. Metheral: "The lowest number of jobs in progress of work last year was 389."

That is an example of the steady demand on the plumbing inspection department.

Conservation Is Topic At Teachers' Meeting

ROSENEATH, Nov. 14 (ENS)— "Conservation" was the subject chosen by W. Umphrey, principal of Smithfield Public School, as guest speaker at the November meeting of the Alnwick and North Haldimand townships Teachers' Association.

In part, the speaker said: "Conservation is not a new or separate subject to be added to your curriculum. Correlate with agriculture, natural science, social studies and art." He divided his talk into four parts, conservation of soil, forest, water, and wild life. In conclusion, the speaker said: "Canadians of olden days saw no end to the magnificent forests, sang and shouted as they cropped the trees down without a thought of conservation or replacement. As they were cleared, the rainfall lessened, marshes dried up, rivers grew smaller and higher land had not enough moisture. Canada was left poorer in both forest and field."

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. I. Montgomery, teacher at SS No. 22, Haldimand, and thanked by Mr. John D. Loukes, teacher at Alderville School. Following his talk, an interesting discussion was held.

The meeting was held at SS No. 2, Alnwick (Roseneath School), on Monday, with the principal, Mrs. Ira Merriam, as hostess.

The president, Mrs. William Montgomery, presided over the business period. Miss Doris Robins was secretary. L. C. Sutherland, public school inspector, was present, and on invitation spoke briefly.

Following the meeting, the guest speakers and teachers were guests of the Teachers Association at a dinner at Maple Lodge.

Drew Favors Keeping Troops At Home

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP). — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Tuesday that Canada, instead of sending defence forces to Europe at this time, should concentrate on the training at home of fast, hard-hitting, mobile mechanized units.

He told the Commons that Canada and the United States should supply the equipment needed to arm the men available in Europe. Canada should concentrate on the training of units that could be moved quickly to trouble spots.

Mr. Drew spoke before adoption of a resolution establishing a 26-man committee to investigate defence expenditures. The resolution was welcomed by members of all parties.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader and F. D. Shaw (SC-Red Deer), said similar committees had worked effectively during the last war.

Will Get Value

Prime Minister St. Laurent said the committee would not be asked to decide on matters of policy. Its duty would be to see that value is being obtainer for money spent on defence.

Mr. Drew, a veteran of the First World War, said it is obvious that "the ultimate issues as to world peace or world war are going to be decided" in Europe and the Middle East rather than in Korea.

The latest issue of Brassey's Armed Services Year Book disclosed that the Russians have 14,800,000 trained men who could be put into the field within 60 days. The Russian navy had some 380 submarines and another 120 under construction.

The western world was faced with the fact that it must make every man and woman in uniform much more effective than their counterparts in the Russian armed forces.

Could Do Better

The Canadian Brigade in Korea and the brigade going to Europe were well trained, but he did not think they represented the "highest possible hitting power per man."

Mr. Drew added:

"It would seem that economy of effort would suggest that those forces which have the lowest hitting power per man and can be raised near the danger spot, should be raised there whereas the forces which must be moved a long distance should be forces with the highest possible measure of hitting power.

"Every single man that is moved thousands of miles away from Canada involves not only the movement of that man and his equipment, but also a commitment to move food, supplies, ammunition and all the other requirements of the men in the field over thousands of miles; which, in the event of war itself, would be threatened by the most modern aircraft and the most modern submarines.

"A simple rational approach to this problem suggests that here in Canada we should not be training the mass formations with low individual hitting power; we should be training fast hard-hitting armored units, with the highest possible hitting power per man. We should also be concentrating, as we have been told we would concentrate, on the air power which can be moved with the utmost safety to any danger point, or for that matter to any part of the world."

Salvation Army Explained To Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 14 (ENS).—A toast to the charter members of the Campbellford Rotarly Club was proposed by the Rev. John McKibbin at the Monday meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club in the parish hall here.

Mr. McKibbin commended the foresight of those responsible for Rotary in Campbellford, and on behalf of the club members wished them good health and good fortune. Two of the charter members, Dr. H. B. Longmore and H. N. Carr, were at the head table and three other, A. D. Bennett, A. J. Armour and N. A. MacColl, were absent.

Vice-President Frank DeCarrol occupied the chair and introduced Captain Viola Clarke of the local Salvation Army corps. The captain spoke on army work throughout the world. She said that the army was instituted by Catharine and William Booth in 1865 and was for the first 13 years of its existence known as the Christian Mission.

World-Wide

Today, it is a world-wide organization, doing relief work in countries where no evangelistic work is permitted. It is a far cry from the old times when in the land of its inception, Salvationists worked without salary. Today, the army maintains homes for the homeless, be they aged men or women, girls, boys or infants. In the latter cases, the officers take the place of parents in bringing up the boys and girls as useful Christian citizens. There is much done, too, for those who have been imprisoned and the rehabilitation of these unfortunates is dear to the cause of the army.

After the material needs of the unfortunate ones have been tended to, the Salvation Army always attempts to rebuild their spiritual life. In most cases, neglect of the religious has brought unhappiness and misfortune and the re-establishment of the criminal or wayward one both materially and spiritually is the prime aim of those devoted to the cause of the army.

Rotarian Ralph J. Locke thanked the speaker who was accompanied by Lieutenant Chittenden as guests of the Rotary Club.

Hastings Man Fined As Careless Driver

Ernest Jones of Hastings, was convicted on a carleless driving charge in police court Tuesday after pleading not guilty to the offence.

He was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and $6.50 costs or ten days in county jail in default.

The charge was laid against Jones, following an accident on Highway 7 east of the city limits the night of October 14, when the car Jones was driving collided with the rear of a car driven by Joseph Ray of Norwood.

Ray testified he was stopping to pick up two hitchhickers when the accident occurred.

Jones said he had no indication that the car ahead was going to stop and he had just started to speed up to pass the Ray car when suddenly it stopped. He said he applied his brakes but was unable to stop in time.

In urging an acquittal for his client, J. C. N. Currelly said that the combination of Jones accelerating and the Ray car stopping at the same time, made the accident unavoidable.

AS PART OF ITS REHABILITATION activities for Palestine refugees, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency has initiated a program under which small loans are made to individuals, co-operatives or other groups for the development of small industries and enterprises which will bring about the reintegration of the refugees. At the right, a lime kiln built from loans granted under UNRWA has provided work for two refugee families, assisting ten persons who benefit from the business.

Utilities Rejects 60-Cycle Projects

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 14 — (CP) —St. Thomas public utilities commission Tuesday night decided against the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's policy of extending 60-cycle power to new residential areas.

Contractors and electrical dealers here oppose the policy on the grounds of extra expense. They would have to carry in stock both 25-and 60-cycle equipment and supplies until all residential areas changed over.

The Commission was told this may not occur until 1954 or later.

Worton Speaks At Conference

COBOURG, Nov. 14 (ENS). — Seventh regional conference of public health sanitation personnel was held at the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit office here under the chairmanship of R. A. Craig, sanitary inspector of York County Health Unit. The region includes the area from York County to Frontenac County and north to Peterborough County.

Dr. C. W. MacCharles, senior medical officer for the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit, introduced Mayor Jack Burnet, who welcomed the health officials to Cobourg.

Dr. Harold Worton, public health veterinarian of the Peterborough Department of Health, spoke on "Practical Pointers on Meat Inspection," and R. W. Edmonds, of the Ontario Department of Health, discussed "Problems in Cannery Wastes Disposal." After the meeting the group inspected the new Cobourg sewage disposal plant.

The meeting was attended by sanitary inspectors, public health veterinarians, medical officers of health, and members of the staff of the Ontario Department of Health, including Dr. D. S. Tyler, regional consultant sanitary inspector.

Three Elements Needed For Democracy

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 14 — (ENS) — "The greatest service that men can render" was the text of a talk given by Pastor H. S. Staples of the Baptist Church in Campbellford when he spoke at the regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club here on Monday evening.

Mr. Staples is not an ordained minister and he told Kinsmen of his job which was to rehabilitate the Baptist churches which were run down, and to re-establish them on a sound footing.

In his talk, Mr. Staples emphasized three points, morality, education and religion. On the first point, he spoke of the need for men of high principle in the government.

Too often the best men decline to take any active interest in upholding democracy by offering their services in the political field. About 25 per cent of the people were not even interested enough to vote on election day. This creates a dangerous situation jeopardizing our democratic way of life, and opening the door wider for "isms" to gain control.

Little Interest

Secondly, the speaker said too many parents showed only causal interest in educating their children beyond that required by law. Thirdly, parents also failed too often in these times to provide children with proper religious training. "Two-thirds of our people do not attend church regularly enough to be called church-goers", he said. Only about half the children of today have attended Sunday School.

The result was a break-down in the moral fibre which could result in a greater threat to democracy than communism, because democracy was handed down from our forefathers who had regard for the sacred principles on which it was founded—the teaching of the Bible and of the Christian church.

Kinsman Bruce Grills thanked the guest speaker. President Gordon Walroth added his thanks, and also welcomed the club's new pianist, Bruce Barnum, whose services he said were sorely needed at the meetings.

Kinsmen Projects

Forrest R. Dennis was appointed a hockey representative to the local central governing board, and will look after the Kinsmen Club entry in the local boys' town league. Kinsman Bruce Grills reported the Hallowe'en Shell-out was a financial success, and the president said he was quite pleased with this year's venture on behalf of the children of the community and district.

The date for the annual Turkey bingo at Edgewater Park was set for Wednesday, December 12. Bruce Grills, John Hill and Dante Pace were named to a committee to raise funds for the club under a plan instituted by Mr. Grills.

The next meeting will be held at Edgewater Park on Nov. 26 when it will be Prospective members' Night, and a special agenda is being arranged for the evening.

LONDON, Nov. 14 (AP) — The BBC said Tuesday night it plans an international television tie-up with France. But it acknowledged it is slightly worried. "There may be too much French oo-la-la by our standards."

RCAF Court Unable To Act

CALGARY, Nov. 14 — (CP) — An RCAF court martial Tuesday night announced it is "without jurisdiction" in the case of AC1 John Zerk, former Blazac, Alta., farmer charged with desertion. There was no announcement as to whether Zerk was still held in custody.

The court agreed with the plea of E. J. McCormick, counsel for Zerk, that it lacked power to try the case of Zerk, arrested in Los Angeles in July on the desertion charge.

The RCAF produced Zerk in Alberta Supreme Court Nov. 5 on habeas corpus proceedings and he was remanded until Nov. 17.

At the time Mr. Justice W. G. Egbert said that if the RCAF court martial were not held Nov. 13 as planned, he would likely "take a very serious view of the delay."

According to information given in court then, Zerk was arrested in Los Angeles by United States immigration authorities and turned over to Canadian officials on September 19.

Mr. McCormick contended there had been an abnormal length of imprisonment.

Youth Admits Stole Deer Carcass In Bush

Charged with stealing a deer after it had been killed and hung in the woods near Sandy Lake, Donald Hamlin, 17, of Norwood pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday.

Hamblin's father claimed that it was the boy's first hunting trip and he was anxious to get credit for the deer. He said there were no tags on the deer and suggested it may have been shot out of season and left until the season opened, because his son had told him it was frozen hard when he cut it down, the afternoon of November 6.

Magistrate W. R. Philp in placing Hamlin on suspended sentence for one year said his only excuse was that he was "quite young."

The boy was also placed under bond of $250 and ordered to pay $10.50 in court costs.

QPP constable John Cawood who investigated the theft said that the estimated value of the deer was over $25.

Constable Cawood said that in addition to the deer's head which was that of a young buck, and the skin, 44 pounds of meat had been seized at Hamlin's home and taken to a local meat packers for storage.

The owner of the deer, Bruce Curtis of Havelock and another member of his hunting party had identified the deer as the one they left hanging in the bush, Constable Cawood said.

The Candidates

The riding of Peterborough is having as usual a three-cornered fight in the coming Provincial elections. Perhaps 'fight' is too strong a word for the occasion. The campaign so far is something like the weather of these days: mild, damp and dull. The Progressive-Conservatives, the Liberals and the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation are each fielding a candidate, and judging from the election results of 1948 each will draw a substanial vote. In the last election, the Conservatives polled 10,257 votes, the Liberals 7,729 and the C.C.F. 5,927. It was the largest C.C.F. vote ever polled in the riding. This year the voting may be heavier than on June 7th, 1948, for 1,261 more names have been enumerated; in 1948 22,564 people were on the voters' lists.

* * *

This newspaper will not presume to tell its readers how they should vote. We report impartially on the candidates in our news columns, publish accounts of their meetings and statements which have any significance, and carry Canadian Press accounts of the party policies and the sayings and actions of their leaders. We respect our readers' capacities to evaluate the party policies, to assess the qualities of the candidates and to choose the man and party they themselves think will best represent them and this community area.

* * *

The Honourable Harold R. Scott is the Conservative candidate. He is the sitting member and has been Minister of Lands and Forests since November 28th, 1946. He was first elected to the Ontario Legislature at the general elections of 1943, and was re-elected in 1945 and 1948. By occupation he is a lumberman and owned the former Scott Lumber Company. He served in the Great War and is a trustee of the Canadian Legion. He is a past president of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club. He is a Scottish Rite Mason. He is married. His age is 57. He is a Baptist.

* * *

F. Patrick Burke is the Liberal candidate. It is the first time he has contested public office. Mr. Burke is prominent in the Canadian Legion and veterans' welfare work. He is president this year of the Peterborough branch of the Legion, and was president also in 1946 and 1947. He has served on the executive of the Peterborough Boy Scout association, and is chairman of the finance committee of St. Anne's school board. He is a veteran of the Great War, having enlisted in 1915 at the age of sixteen and going overseas in that year. He is an assistant foreman in the Canadian General Electric plant. He is married and has four children living. His home is at the north outskirts of Peterborough. His age is 53. He is a Roman Catholic.

* * *

William C. Grant is the C.C.F. candidate. It is the second time he has contested the Provincial seat in this riding. In the 1945 elections he also stood as C.C.F. candidate, polling 4,225 votes. Mr. Grant is a barrister, practising in Peterborough. He is married, has one son, and lives in Lakefield. He has been a member of the Lakefield village council continuously for the last eight years, and Reeve for the last six. He is a senior member of the Peterborough County Council and for the last two years has been Chairman of its Finance Committee. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto and a member of the United Church. His age is 40.

* * *

The Conservative campaign slogan is: "Vote Scott, a Man of Action, not Words". The Liberal slogan is: "Think and You'll Vote Liberal." The C.C.F. slogan is: "People First With the C.C.F." Must the voters, therefore, reconcile themselves to hearing not a word from Mr. Scott; to a silent Mr. Burke in the guise of Rodin's 'Thinker'; and to Mr. Grant as Delphic oracle of the Voiceless Masses? Perhaps that is why the campaign locally is so quiet. The silence is loud only with three slogans. Oh! for a first-class row, full of sound and fury, even if it signifies nothing. Why, in the Philippines, during the election campaign which ended yesterday, 104 persons were killed. Who will fire the first shot in Peterborough County?

London, Ont., says that it wants Ottawa to understand that it isn't a whistle stop. Ottawa, in its turn, wants Toronto to know that it is more than just a civil servant's rest-room. And Toronto would like Montreal to realize that it is something more than an overgrown village. Montreal merely wishes it were solvent.

Purple Passion In Toronto

A few days ago we wrote about the comparatively quiet tone of political comment in most Canadian papers; that quietude, we said, had come upon them as a result of many newspaper amalgamations, leaving one solvent newspaper in most cities where previously two or three more or less insolvent ones struggled for existence. To be politically quiet does not, however, mean to be utterly quiescent; a good many newspapers which are alone in their field still have and express firm political convictions. In the editorial to which we refer, however, we said that it was unlikely that The Examiner would have much to say in the present Ontario contest: we think that Mr. Frost has, upon the whole, done well and provided good and honest government for the Province; we are by no means persuaded that Mr. Thomson or Mr. Jolliffe could do as well; our hope is that Mr. Frost will return to power with a reduced majority, for we do not think that the large majority which he now possesses makes for a healthy or keen Legislature. These are our political views respecting the present contest in a nutshell. If Mr. Frost is returned, we shall continue to support his government in the main, while nagging it about two things: (1) the tendency of the provincial government to encroach on the powers which rightly belong to the municipalities, and (2) what we believe to be a neglectful attitude toward our slumbrous and old-fashioned Department of Education.

Our own calm attitude toward the election does not, however, debar us from enjoying the lively show which is being put on by the Toronto newspapers. The personality of Mr. Walter Thomson is the many-hued theme of this richly comic entertainment. In the eyes of the Toronto Star, Mr. Thomson is a great-hearted champion of the old, the ailing, the oppressed and ill-used of this world; the Star's editorial style is particularly well-suited to the exposition of the sort of scheme which Mr. Thomson proposes, and is able to impart a kind of yearning beauty to his least impressive utterances. We receive an impression that before writing about Mr. Thomson the Star editors steep themselves thoroughly in Tennyson's Idylls of the King, and Mr. Thomson emerges in their columns bathed in a lambent Arthurian light.

The Globe and Mail does not like Mr. Thomson, and being the most editorially Protean of all Canadian papers it attacks him in several guises. It has its Voice of the Dominion style, rather like the bombards of a splendid cathedral organ; in this style it condemns Mr. Thomson's alleged chicaneries much as Milton might have condemned them, if Milton happened to have lived all his life in Toronto. Then, too, it has its attitude of Splendid Indignation, very handy for calling attention to inconsistencies in Mr. Thomson's reasoning. And it has its Hallowe'en style also, in which it makes references to the size of Mr. Thomson's mouth. The purely Furious style it leaves to the Telegram. The emotional pressure in the Toronto editorial offices must be extreme, and we feel that it cannot be long before front-page editorials—the journalistic equivalent of hysterial screaming—begin to make their appearance.

We approve strongly of all this. The smaller Ontario papers may be grey and dull in their approach to the election—we frankly admit that our own colouring is drab and uninspiring—but the Toronto papers pursue their ends with a Sicilian passion which more than makes up for our shortcomings. The strain on the Toronto journalists must be extreme. We feel for them. But we would not have them relax their efforts by a jot. There is a splendour about their zeal which almost makes the election interesting.

Romans In Iceland?

Professor Fritz Heichelheim of the University of Toronto believes that Iceland was known to the Romans as early as 300 A.D. Coins which have been found there lead him to this conclusion, which is of great importance in archaeology. Just a moment, reader; you think that you are not interested in archaeology, and that Professor Heichelheim's discovery is of no significance to you. You are wrong.

It is of interest to us to know how widely the people of early days fared, and how much they knew of the earth, because we know that during what we call the Middle Ages the earth was very little known, and it was widely believed to be flat. How did such a ridiculous error follow a widespread knowledge of the truth?

It followed because when the Roman Empire broke up, barbarians, who cared nothing for learning, but who cared greatly for what they thought was practical, allowed knowledge of the world to fall into neglect. They forgot everything which was not immediately useful. And in consequence much was forgotten, and had to be re-learned with great pain and effort many hundreds of years later.

There are certain respects in which we are only now drawing near to the knowledge possessed by the civilizations of the Greeks and Romans. We must take care that we do not lose another precious thousand years by allowing any of that knowledge to disappear again.

On Being Out Of Office

By

A FALLEN MINISTER

NO doubt a number of us needed a rest. Kind friends, some of them medical, assure us that we will be all the better for it and "return refreshed." I expect they're right. The long-term compensations are obvious. But that doesn't make the immediate adjustment any less drastic or disconcerting.

Simultaneously one has been relieved of a heavy strain and deprived of a mighty stimulus. People talk of the strain or burden of office. Before I was a Minister I never much believed them. From the purely personal angle it seemed to be a simple case of "you've got the best seats: we want them." But the strain or burden is real enough, and is rightly connected in the public mind with the great responsibilities involved.

* * *

THE work itself is very hard today for a Minister, but probably no harder than that which falls on a senior Civil Servant. The tension, I'm sure, is very much greater for all Ministers except the very slack, the very insensitive, or, contrariwise, the exceptionally wise and mature.

One Minister will trace it primarily to the duty of final decision, another to the obligation of speaking and answering questions in the House, another to that of leadership, among large and maybe scattered staffs, another to the everlasting bargains and compromises without which collective government is impossible.

* * *

MY own view is that the real strain arises not from what Ministers do but from what they feel they ought to be doing. The vigilance of the public operates powerfully on the subconscious. Imagine a devoted general practitioner under constant attack for gross negligence in the local press, and you will get a partial analogy. The occupational disease of the good Minister is the neurosis, not that he is doing wrong but that he is not doing anything like enough.

* * *

A FORMIDABLE sense of insecurity results. Mercifully the Minister is not left to overcome it alone, or with the help of judicious psychiatry. Teetotallers argue that alcohol is a narcotic rather than a stimulus. Office is a supreme example of both.

A tremendous lot is asked of you. You are swept along in a whirl of activity. Your officials, whatever their inner thoughts, show such sublime confidence in you that anything you have to give is drawn on to the uttermost. And other cares are suppressed. Your finances are left over for a more favourable moment. Your philosophical perplexities are allowed to mark time.

Only a grave family anxiety really registers, and, when it does, Heaven help you and your Ministry while it lasts.

* * *

AND when the strain, the stimulus and the narcotic go, what do you miss most? Obviously the financial change varies enormously from acute hardship in some cases to positive gain in others. For those who have no organized work to return to the feeling of having nowhere to go in the morning is pretty smothering. Even when the wolf has not actually approached the door, the self-respect of most of us (in the home and out of it) sags perceptibly when we cease to be effective breadwinners.

* * *

AGAIN one has got to get used to being out of things, to not being run after. For years one has been leaving word with headporters of clubs, head-waiters at restaurants, stewards of golf clubs, that "there may be a call for me from the Ministry." One was never exactly sorry if by some odd chance there was, though naturally one was profuse in apologies to one's friends and modest protestations that, "I'm quite sure it's nothing of the slightest importance."

One's own telephone number was ex-directory of course. Now the whole world can know one's number without availing themselves of the priceless secret, and porters, waiters and stewards have to be very old friends or very new chums to join in the make-believe of an emergency call.

* * *

BUT these are trifles. Surely the grievous loss is the work itself? The chance of public service? Yes, assuredly. But the tasks of Opposition are urgent and honourable—and one is young enough and optimistic enough to look forward to many kinds of public work "outside."

The greatest loss of all, I would say, is the comradeship. That with political colleagues happily continues but the relationship with permanent secretaries, service chiefs, messengers, chauffeurs, and all the countless grades of Government service, is seen to be most precious at the moment it exists no more.

Nothing will persuade a good or even tolerable Minister to be cynical or less than sentimental about his life with his officials.

* * *

THERE is a farcical side of it, of course. The fantastic deference—"Oh, but Minister, you will remember that you feel very strongly . . . ." — when the Minister never had much of a view on it and has long since forgotten what it was. The stickiness in etiquette. The thousand and one ways of rubbing up "the machine" the wrong way. But that is precisely because the machine is not really a machine at all, but a mass of warm human beings, able, immensely hard-working, disinterested beyond the ordinary run of men, masking their myriad complex personalities under an air of staid uniformity for some peculiar reason of their own.

* * *

WHAT the fallen Minister really falls from when he falls from office is a paradisal partnership. Humpty-Dumpty has to pick himself up, remember that he once had a brain that worked without a brief, that he once knew how to write a long letter in his own hand—and try to prove worthy of all those who have helped him during the last few years to do so much more than he ever thought he was capable of doing.

East Windsor Grant

(Windsor Star)

City Council has authorized issuance of debentures to enable an extra grant of $75,000 to the East Windsor Hospital. This follows action of the Federal and Provincial Governments in increasing their grants to help overcome the serious deficit encountered in the building of the new wing.

Now that the Hospital has been extricated from its predicament, it is essential its business operations be conducted on a sound basis. City Council has a stake in seeing to it this is done. The Hospital is serving a fine and essential community purpose; its patients get good care. But all concerned must be alert against any repetition of unbusinesslike administration.

THERE'S BUT ONE CHOICE, WHY THE HESITATION?

"Yes" For Coloured Margarine

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE results of a referendum held recently in eight urban centres in Manitoba are of interest outside that province. For the question which residents in the prairie province were asked is one which many Canadians must often have asked themselves. It was: "Are you in favour of provincial legislation repealing restrictions on the use of colouring in the manufacture of margarine?" The answer given by five out of every six voters in the eight urban centres was "yes". Of 82,049 voters, only 13,980 favoured continuing restrictions on the amount of colouring that may be added to margarine at the time of manufacture.

It is a reasonable assumption that a majority of urban dwellers in Ontario would give an affirmative answer in a similar referendum. Moreover, many rural voters would probably join them in approving the removal of restrictions on the sale of coloured margarine. For these restrictions have served no useful purpose. They have not afforded the dairy industry any advantage in its competition with margarine manufacturers. For many Canadians the price of butter is prohibitively high. However unappealing the appearance of colourless margarine, they must buy the product or do without a savory spread. Fortunately for them, margarine has the same high food value as has butter.

Since butter must also be artificially coloured during part of the year, consumers are bewildered by the official attitude of opposition to coloured margarine. The fact that housewives may colour the margarine themselves compounds their confusion. A referendum surely is not necessary to persuade the provincial government that these absurd restrictions are unpopular.

Letters To The Editor

ANOTHER POINT OF VIEW

Sir: While I admire your "Subscriber's" poetry in tonight's Examiner I can't believe the sentiments expressed will be readily accepted by the working men and women of Peterborough. I hope you may find space for my answer to "Our Albert" in your column.

Yours truly,

J.T.

Your "Subscriber's" poem about Albert,
And cost-cutting and such-like acts,
Resulting in more worker's wages
Is a dream that does not fit the facts.

His idea to have just five workers,
Producing the output of ten,
Is welcomed no doubt by the bosses,
But looked at askance by the men.

Though even the bosses do like it,
The union won't think it so neat,
To double the company's profit
And put five good men on the street.

When they claim unemployment insurance
And start out a new job to seek,
They ponder "our Albert's" suggestion
And find the idea pretty weak.

With the company's coffers so swollen
From upping their prices each day,
Though you glean a small share of the increase,
You can't buy what you need anyway.

With Fooey's new credit regulations,
Putting man after man out of work,
You wonder how even "our Albert"
Could turn out to be such a jerk.

MORAL

Why should you try upping production,
When what you produce isn't sold,
And the net result of your efforts
Is to put more men out in the cold?

THE MARKET

Sir: You asked through your local paper if any one wanted the market carried on, to have our say or—

We always patronized the market, where we got fresh produce of every kind which we considered a very fine thing.

We were shocked to think you councilmen of our city would take that market away from our country friends and force them to go down and stand in a mud hole to sell their produce, with no accommodations of any kind while you fellows fix up the market grounds high and dry for your cars to sit on.

Now I consider those country people deserve just as good as our city people, the councilmen included. You must think a lot of yourselves to do such a thing.

We certainly want a good market, in a suitable place where we can go to do our buying.

This is the most shocking piece of business carried on in our city for a long time, and I'm not the only one who feels as I do and we hope you will give this some consideration, and make amends in the near future.

Yours sincerely,

A.R.

Ed. Note: No one denies that the country people deserve well: the point under discussion is, who should pay for a better market?

INSURANCE FOR HOSPITAL CARE

Sir: Probably half of the people of Ontario now have hospital insurance, acquired largely during the postwar years, while the number of hospital beds has scarcely kept pace with the increase in population. And we seem to be getting along somehow. Many of the other half are unable to secure protection from existing facilities. These are not necessarily the poor risks as ailing people wouldn't be inclined to miss an opportunity. Owing to sharply rising costs, enrolment of new members doesn't seem desirable except under most favourable conditions; one of which is to take in entire groups at one time, all the good as well as the bad risks, which of course is the fair and also the cheapest way to operate, and is the way a state controlled plan would function.

I was surprised the other evening to learn of three disappointed applicants. All were good risks. A woman stated that her church group was closed to new members. A professional man's complaint was that his son, 19 years old now, has been waiting for months although he was previously protected by the family coverage.

I don't like to see anybody deprived of this security measure. Certainly, not the unfortunate. Policies and attitudes which were once valid will not do today. Something must be done—half good is not good enough. Isn't that right?

Yours truly,

J. W. GILBERT.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be. Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter? Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh. (James 3: 10-12.)

* * *

A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh. (Luke 6: 45.)

* * *

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? . . . .

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. (II Cor. 6: 14, 17, 18.)

* * *

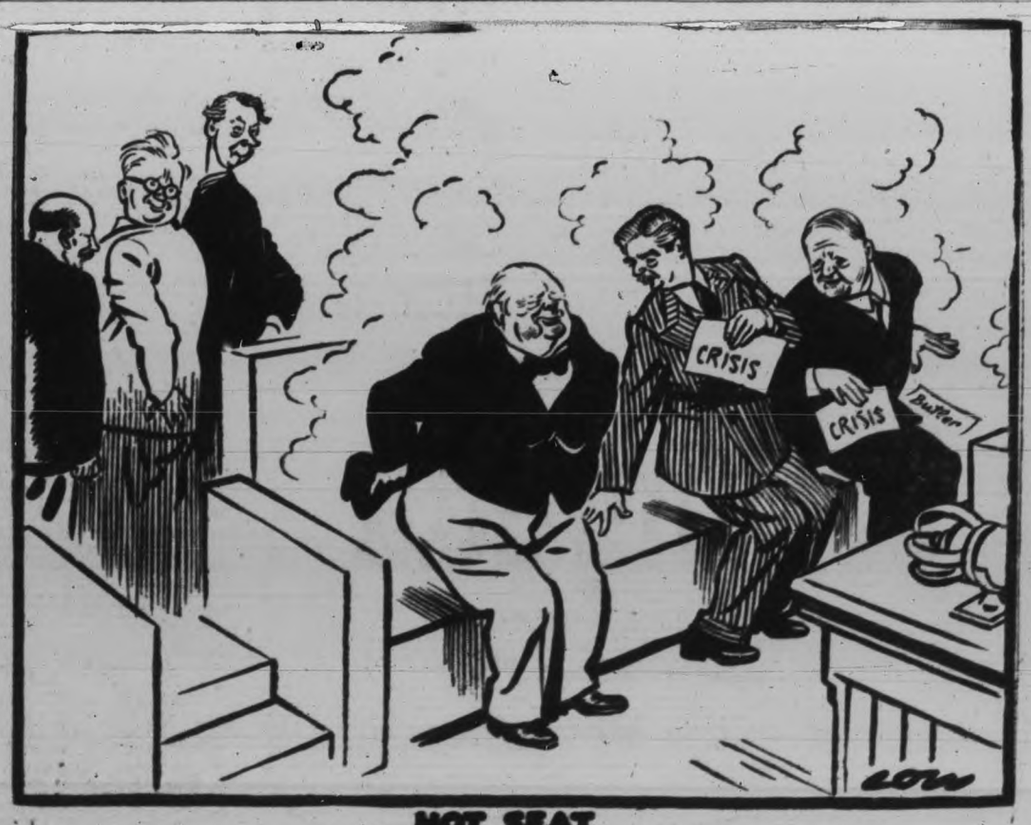
Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God. (II Cor. 7: 1.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A police officer was preparing to fingerprint an offender.

"Wash your hands," he ordered.

"Both of them?"



The police officer hesitated for a moment.

"No," he said grimly. "Just one of them. I want to see how you do it."

A six-year-old was getting ready for his first day of school, and his mother was very sad at the thought of her baby growing up and leaving her every day.

As they drove toward the school, the child turned to his mother consolingly, "Don't take it so hard, Mom. Just as soon as I learn to read the funnies by myself, I'll quit."

RCAF Squadron Begins Coming Home

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (CP). — An RCAF North Star flew out of London Airport Tuesday, carrying back to Canada 22 officers and men of the Red Indian Squadron.

It was the first of four weekly air lifts which will take home Red Indians from the RAF station at Odiham, Hampshire — their training headquarters in the United Kingdom since last January.

Forty of the Odiham-based flyers have volnuteered to stay behind in Britain and take jobs at North Luffenham, Rutland, where Canada's No. 1 fighter wing will be stationed. The North Luffenham station will be formally handed over to the RCAF in a ceremony Thursday.

Men and planes to staff Canada's newest air base arrived on Tuesday when the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent reached Greenock, Scotland, after a trip from Canada which included a stop at Norfolk, Va., to take on board Sabre jet fighters with which No. 410 (Cougar) Squadron will be equipped The Magnificent is to dock at Glasgow.

Tuesday's flight back to Canada was in charge of Sqdn.-Ldr. George Denison of Vancouver, who is taking up new duties in Chatham, NB.

A farewell message to the departing Red Indians was made public today over the signature of Air Marshal Sir Basil Embry, Britain's fighter command chief, who now is in Canada.

Hydro's Financial Outlays Criticized By Thomson

By The Canadian Press

Ontario Hydro's financial outlays are under attack by provincial Liberal leader Walter Thomson. He told Glengarry voters at Alexandria Tuesday night that Hydro "will be a billion dollars in debt before the 60-cycle conversion program and the St. Lawrence power project are completed."

At Niagara Falls Premier Frost, in his third speech of the day in the campaign for the Nov. 22 Ontario election, urged a search of census records to "cut the red tape" involved in older persons gaining proof of age in order to qualify for old-age pensions.

Touring Northern Ontario, CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe told a Sudbury audience that the Ontario Government has pursued a systematic policy of "starving" Northern Ontario municipalities of their fair share of revenues from northern mining enterprises.

Mr. Thomson said Ontario taxpayers should be told the estimated cost of the present cycle change-over scheme. He declared that the hydro-commission's financial statement is usually released in April of the following year, but the 1950 statement has yet to be released.

He claimed that if the total costs of the conversion plan were added to the $600,000,000 for the St. Lawrence power project "the hydro will be in debt by a billion dollars."

Premier Frost's administration in 1948 had claimed the cycle change would cost only $191,000,000.

"They have completed 10 per cent of it now and it has cost them $40,000,000," said Mr. Thomson.

Wants Details

". . . We should know where this money is coming from, where they are borrowing from, at what interest, when they are going to pay it back and where they are going to get more."

Premier Frost, speaking of the new Federal old-age pensions which start on Jan. 1, said: "It is pathetic that old people should be sending their family Bibles to Ottawa and elsewhere when it is all so unnecessary."

The Premier, in another speech at Simcoe, tobacco-belt centre, criticized the federal tax on tobacco. He called it "a first-class example of the power to tax being the power to destroy."

Earlier in a recorded broadcast over Toronto's CFRB and a network of Ontario stations, the Premier reviewed his party's policy on housing and hydro-electric power. He said Ontario was well on the way to attaining its objective of construction of 50,000 houses a year in the province.

Political Uses

Mr. Jolliffe declared that revenues derived from provincial taxation of northern mining enterprises are used for "political manipulation in the north country."

Cabinet ministers travelled to the north during election campaigns with promises of grants for development, but between elections, northern municipalities were told that more was spent on them than was derived from taxation.

He promised that if elected his party would hold a series of provincial-municipal conferences to negotiate "in good faith a fair deal" for Ontario municipalities.

Another CCF speech was made at Port Hope, where Andrew Brewin former president of the Ontario CCF, said that Mr. Thomson's campaign "is the most blatant shameless appeal to the moron vote."

At Windsor Therese Casgrain, Quebec CCF leader, said a vote for either the Liberals or Conservatives would indicate approval of the "terrifying cost of living which faces us today."

Guilty of Assault

Charged with assault occasioning bodily harm, Bruce Spence, 233 Lake St., pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday. Magistrate W. R. Philp ordered Spence to pay a fine of $40 and $5.50 costs or in default, one month in county jail.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Remembrance At Warkworth

WARKWORTH, Nov. 14 (ENS) —The Remembrance Day service was observed in Warkworth Sunday by the Warkworth branch of the Canadian Legion.

The Warkworth Community Band led the parade consisting of Canadian Legion, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts which formed in line at the Legion Hall at 2.30 p.m. and marched through the main business section to the town hall for service at 3 p.m.

The Rev. J. M. Ritchie, MA, the pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who served as a chaplain in the Second World War, was in charge of the service with the other ministers of the village churches assisting. The Rev. H. G. Lester of St. Paul's United Church read the scripture from Hebrews 11: 32-12. The Rev. A. B. Moffatt, pastor of the Free Methodist Church led in prayer and the address was given by the Rev. John McKibbon, rector of St. John's Anglican Church.

At the cenotaph four wreaths were placed: one by the Province of Ontario, by Robt. Edgar, a veteran of the Second World War; one by the Percy township council, by Cecil Grills, a member of the council; one by the Percy branch of the Women's Institute by Mrs. George Arkils; one by the Warkworth branch of the Canadian Legion, by Gerald Greenly.

President of the Canadian Legion, Eldon Ewing, read the names of the fallen heroes in the two world wars.

The Last Post and Reveille was sounded by the buglers, Wm. Beggs and George Potter.

Millbrook Churches Observe November 11

MILLBROOK, Nov. 14 (ENS) —At the Remembrance Day service held Sunday morning at the cenotaph, George Freelove placed the wreath for the Legion. The Province of Ontario wreath was laid by Mrs. James Bingham, and a wreath was also placed by Mrs. Turner of Ida.

Jack Deyell formed up the parade of veterans headed by the Millbrook Cadet Band and turned it over to Major L. J. Stuart for the march to Grace Presbyterian church to attend service. J. H. Raper was in charge of the color party. At the church the veterans were addressed by the Rev. W. H. Heustin.

Services were observed in all three churches of the village. The Rev. A. M. Butter spoke at the morning service at St. Andrew's United Church.

In the evening at St. Thomas Anglican church the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion attended in a body. The scripture lessons were read by Walter Challice, president of the local branch of the Legion and Robert Carr. Mrs. G. A. Spicer took the solo part in the recessional sung by the choir.

The Rev. A. A. Chote, who was a squadron leader in the RCAF in the last war, illustrated his address with accounts of experiences in the Air Force. Mr. Chote felt that the United Nations organization needed prayers to be offered if it were to succeed. He thought one room should be set aside in the United Nations building in which members might pray. If world peace is to be accomplished it can only be done by prayer, he said.

The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by George Smith and Donald Kent at the close of the evening service.

TORONTO, Nov. 14 CP)—Glen Flaten, 22, of Weyburn, Sask., Tuesday won the T. Eaton Company scholarship which will send him to University of Saskatchewan for a four-year course in agriculture with tuition and expenses paid. Glen was chosen from among nine candidates, one from each province except Newfoundland.

Successful Operation

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — George Doucett, Ontario Highways Minister, underwent a successful operation Tuesday to mend a right hip fractured in an automobile collision last Thursday. Dr. J. C. Samis, who performed the operation at the Civic Hospital, reported Mr. Doucett in good shape, but said he probably will be laid up for about another month.

Terms Modified For Extra Power To Harbor Board

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP). — A measure enlarging the powers of the Toronto Harbor Commission was approved Tuesday by the Commons Railway Committee with some modifications following protests from pipeline, oil and gas companies and the two big railways.

The measure, which has received second reading in the Commons, now goes back as amended for third and final reading.

The controversial sections of the Bill would empower the Harbor Commission to levy tolls on oil pipelines running on to property under its jurisdiction, to make up for revenue losses due to decreased tanker operation. The THC also would be authorized to prohibit outright any operations affecting its own revenues.

Two Amendments

The committee amended the Bill in two ways, both with the consent of commission officials:

1. The commission's regulatory powers were made subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Pipelines Act.

2. The railways were completely exempted from the authority of the commission.

Leslie Blackwell, former Ontario Attorney-General, appearing for oil and gas firms, declared the Bill is unconstitutional in some respects. He said the Attorney-General's Department takes this view and has written the Justice Department about it.

Can't Agree On Union Plan

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—(CP)—Most Canadian churchmen agree they should work towards church union in Canada through the Canadian Council of Churches. But that body's annual convention Tuesday showed there is some disagreement about how the job should be done.

One group wanted to hold conventions every two years with frequent regional conferences to promote church union. Another party felt annual conventions provided a better chance for church men to get together for action.

The council adopted by a 26-7 vote the plan for a general meeting every two years with regional conferences after some debate. Then it empowered its president, Dr. William Barclay, of Toronto, to set up a committee to study the possibility of giving the council wider powers.

The council also heard an appeal from Dr. Barclay for help from this country for the world's 77,000,000 homeless people.

He described such help coming from several presbyteries in the United States whose congregations have adopted at least one refugee family and provided home, furniture, food, clothing and work until settlement is complete.

To Be Independent

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Health Minister Martin said Tuesday night that the federal governments' old-age security program is intended to ensure that Canadians, when they grow old, have the "prospect—not of charity—but of independence and a decent livelihood." He made the statement in a speech prepared for delivery over a Trans-Canada network in the CBC series "The Nation's Business."

More Unemployment

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Unemployment in Canada increased by 6,600 in the first two weeks of October. The Labor Department, in its fortnightly review of the employment situation reported Tuesday night that applications at National Employment Service offices at Oct. 18 totalled 141,000, compared with 134,800 at Oct. 4.

DEPARTURE POINT — Portugal Cove, tiny Newfoundland fishing village some 12 miles from St. John's, was the departure point for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh as their Canadian tour ended Monday. This photo, taken from the tender Maneco which carried the Royal couple out to the Empress of Scotland, shows the crowds gathered to bid farewell to the Royal guests.

Churchill Wins Holiday Vote

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (AP). — Britain's Conservative Government mustered a 37-vote majority Tuesday night to fight off a Labor Party protest against Prime Minister Churchill's plan to send Parliament home for a long Christmas holiday.

The vote was 318 to 281, giving the Churchill government its second parliamentary victory in two days. Monday it won a 39-vote margin to beat down a Labor protest against proposed denationalization of the British steel industry.

Churchill has said he will adjourn Parliament for 53 days from December 7 to January 29. He explained this would give his government time for some quiet non-political study of the nation's problems.

But Labor Party leaders objected that Churchill merely wanted to get them out of the way.

"This House represents the nation and it should be consulted," insisted former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Top Matmen Counted Out As Zorra and Zebra Mix It In Middle Of Fans

Zorra and the Zebra were both counted out of the ring at four and a half minutes of the final round last night in the main wrestling bout at the Brock Arena. With blood streaming from his face, the 325-pound masked Zebra, after pounding the 238-pound French Tarzan in a corner, threw him through the ropes. He kept kicking him back as Zorra tried to get in, till the latter reached through and dragged Zebra feet-first out on the floor. The fans scrambled wildly away as the big grapplers slugged each other hard, the Zebra going down under a barrage of blows as Referee Bert Maxwell finished his count of 10 on the pair of them.

A Bad Gash

Zebra got a nasty cut over the eye, requiring stitches, when Zorra won the second fall in nine minutes. They roughed it in furious fashion as the crowd roared at the action, each in turn throwing the other into the ring turnbuckles and each taking a pounding in a ring corner. Once Zorra ducked and the referee got it on the chops to go down in a daze. The flying Frenchman began to use his kicking technique along with elbow smashes, following up by slamming his big rival hard several times and then right out of the ring. The Zebra started back in fighting mad and bleeding, but Zorra beat him by catching him with a flying scissors to jerk him over the hemp and pin him.

The first fall went in 14 minutes to the striped Zebra, looking and snorting not unlike a rushing hippo. He used his lumbering weight and strength, along with illegal tactics, to advantage, despite frequent warnings, and put in a punishing bear-hug with beam-like arms.

But Zorra was faster and the popular blonde was having the better of it until he tied his rival up in the ropes. Twice he dived into the big pantry of the Zebra but the latter slipped the next dive and Zorra went down stunned. Zebra then picked him up and flung him several times into the ring turnbuckles, following with a softening-up process and a 325-pound flying body spread on his prostrate foe for the fall. He was an All-America tackle five years ago with Ohio State.

A Tackle Missed

Lou Newman, 249, the former Masked Marvel, took the semi-final over popular Myron Cox, going 231, in 23 minutes. He used two knee back-breakers for the count after catching Myron with a knee to halt a series of flying tackles. His strength and underhand tricks paid off but Cox drew hands repeatedly for some smart mat work, being a fine exponent of the art of leverage for flying grips. He was sleigh-riding once on a groaning enemey and caught him another time in a corner with an upside-down head scissors. Lou used chokes, rabbit punches and a punishing armlock, besides breaking slow on illegitimate holds when warned by stodgy Bert Maxwell.

Rough Lou Sjoberg and George Scott, the latter only 225 to Lou's 240, went to a prelim draw in 30 minutes. They opened slow and clean, but it speeded up later with Lou starting the rough stuff and Scott ready to retaliate. Sjoberg pulled hair, used fists and knees, and sought protection when necessary in the ropes. Some lively action was shown in spots and some good grips seen. Scott once in an attempt to hurdle Maxwell to get at his tormenter, landed right on Bert's head and downed him to the fans' delight. They were mixing it up fast at the time-limit bell.

Red Sox Intend To Continue Player Deals

BOSTON, Nov. 14 (AP).—Now that the Boston Red Sox have made their first 1952 move—a four-player straight swap with the Chicago White Sox—general manager Joe Cronin and Lou Boudreau, the new pilot, indicate they will do much more player dickering during next month's baseball meetings.

They did not need owner Tom Yawkey's fabulous bankroll, obtaining outfielder-first baseman Don Lenhardt and veteran pitcher Randy Gumpert in exchange for young southpaw Chuck Stobbs and rookie infielder Mel Hoderlein.

But they indicate they have their multi-millionaire boss primed to top all rivals for much needed catching strength and a competent second base replacement for the retired Bobby Doerr.

"There'll be more deals soon if we can strengthen our catching and infield weaknesses without giving up too much," Boudreau said.

"Lenhardt should do us a lot of good" Boudreau continued. "He's a long righthanded hitter and should be able to add 30 points to his .265 average playing 77 games in Fenway Park.

Great Help

"And Gumpert will be a great help in relief. Now we will be able to save Ellis Kinder for the late innings. Frequently Ellis was called on too early in the games last season."

Boudreau figures that Lenhardt will come in handy at first base if big Walt Dropo continues in his 1951 slump. The Red Sox manager has indicated that versatile Billy Goodman may be the answer to his second base problem.

Both Boudreau and Cronin regretted giving up Stobbs, who drew a $35,000 bonus when the Red Sox signed him as a Norfolk, Va. schoolboy sensation in 1947. Last season he had a 10-9 record while being plagued by asthma.

Neither Cronin nor Boudreau would comment about slugger Ted Williams' place in their plans for next season. But both emphasized that Lenhardt, an experienced left fielder, was not obtained as a replacement for their $125,000 star, who is rated expendable but only for two or more vitally needed topflight players.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

By beating Queen's here last week, the Eagles tucked away four points to open their OHA senior "B" schedule, as Queen's games with the local squads count double. But tonight's 8.30 encounter here between Kingston and Eagles is a straight two-point affair, and might be a bitterly contested one. The K's always were tough onions and we imagine their revamped lineup this semester will click well again. It will be the first showing this season of the ex-Nylons from the Limestone City and their display will be followed with keen interest all around the circuit. Ned's pack will have to hustle, no doubt, and the game rates a hefty crowd.

* * * * * *

Queen's are at Belleville this p.m., too, as the long schedule really gets going. Queen's have dropped two so far, the Quinte crew have won their only start, and the Petes have taken a four-pointer o'er the University outfit after dropping a decision in Bella Villa. On Friday, it's Eagles vs. Petes here for a real test for both clubs. Probably the same lineup as in the opener will go for Eagles tonight, provided night work doesn't stop some of the chaps. The men o' McGillis are fairly solid in reserves, several good ones still sitting it out. A few of them may be pressed into action in this tussle.

Not Praying For Snow

Coaches Bev Goulding of the senior "A" PCVS gridders, and Johnny Lynch of St. Peter's junior "B" squad are hoping for a fairly dry gridiron Saturday in Morrow Park. They like fast footing for the COSSA sudden-death finals. Junior joust is at 12.30, while the senior scrap is at 2.30 of the clock. Welland opposes SPS, as Stamford goes against PCVS, and both frays promise to be exciting ones. Student bodies of both schools here, as well as the alumni and football fans in general will be out in force, we expect, to see the two important playoffs which terminate the rugby football season in Peterborough for this year. Games will be played, come hail or high water.

A guy named George Chenier of Toronto bemoans the fact that there aren't more good snooker players in Canada. He is the Canuck champ and has to go to the States or England to find suitable opposition. He points out that the game is highly popular in some countries, Chenier having played before 11,000 persons in one week at a British competition, cheapest seat being one pound. The national indoor sport in England has tournaments, often put on by newspapers, which last as long as three months. As a former side-pocket banker on the blue, we have a soft spot in the heart for snooker and know the game has many addicts in the city and district.

Gory Finish Amid Fans

An ex-footballer from Ohio State, and wearing a striped mask, the Zebra showed on a mat card here last eve. But the best the big tub—bumping the beam at 325 pounds—could get in the main go with Zorra, the flying Frenchman, was a no-decision draw. Both were counted out of the ring, slugging hard. The Zebra, who snorts throughout like a freight on a grade, wound up in hospital getting some hemstitching for a bloody gash over an eye. Ref Bert Maxwell got a clout on the chops, while the Frenchman finished quite fresh. Lou Newman, minus his mask (a barefaced villain now), took the semi-final o'er colorful Myron Cox, whose neat leverage holds hark back to the days of Frank Gotch and Farmer Burns. Scott and Sjoberg drew in the prelim.

BOTWOOD, Nfld. — (CP) — A peculiar fish that was evidently after squid was swept ashore at high tide here and caught by two fishermen. The fish, weighing about 300 pounds somewhat resembled the tarpon, familiar in West Indies waters.

Yank Players Can Afford To Live Well

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (AP). — No wonder you see those Yankee ball players parking their flashy convertibles in front of expensive mid-town restaurants.

They make enough in world series money each year to keep an average guy going. With the Yanks it's habit-forming, this world series business.

In the last 31 years the New York American League club finished out of the first division only once—in 1925. Each of the first four clubs in each league gets a slice of the world series melon.

Red Patterson of the Yanks and his battery of adding machines, whiling away the football season by running up totals on the Yankee dough, came up with a staggering bank balance.

Starting in 1921 when Miller Huggins won the first Yankee pennant, the New York players have been paid a total of $3,315,808.46 from the series pot o' old.

Closest to the Yanks in the 31 year total are St. Louis Cardinals. But they have less than half as much—$1,616,610.50.

Patterson's neat little machine comes up with this bank balance for Yank players since 1921:

18 pennant winners	$3,055,697.74
6 second place clubs	153,709.42
5 third place clubs	94,511.82
1 fourth place club	11,889.48
Total	$3,315,808.46

Do All Right

Obviously no ball player has been around for all the gravy. Frankie Crosetti, now a coach, has been with the Yanks since 1932. He has taken home enough to keep the Crosetti home well supplied with vegetables—about $70,000 in extra money.

Not far back is Bill Dickey, another coach of the present Yanks and one of the all-time great catchers in his day. Joe DiMaggio is close up too, without even considering that $100,000 salary.

Of the oldtimers Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig drew the heavy sugar. And manager Joe McCarthy and coach Art Fletcher. They didn't have to pay the income tax of the later players either.

On the basis of 35 shares (the usual split) the average addition to each Yankee pay cheque during the last 31 years is $3,055.12.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

There's no hope of laying the Canadian Rugby Union's $12,000 tarpaulin on the Varsity Stadium grounds until Friday at the earliest, Stadium officials said on Tuesday at Toronto. They are waiting for the field to dry out after an all-day rain.

If it were put down now, the field would be greasy for the Nov. 24 Grey Cup final, Stadium superintendent Harry Griffiths said.

Griffiths' comments were made after president Myer Insky of the CRU said at Montreal that the tarp may be rolled out any time now.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, western Canada football champions, will leave Regina Sunday and will arrive in Toronto Tuesday morning, giving them four full free days before the Grey Cup final Nov. 24.

The Regina team will stay (at Lakeside Court) in suburban Toronto.

American colleges, alarmed lest football be caught in the swirling sports scandal, are swinging into action to put intercollegiate sport on a sane basis.

Yale Tuesday eliminated spring football practice. Williams, Wesleyan, and Amherst did it last week. More reforms can be expected to follow.

Most significant of all, the American Council of Education has named a committee of 10 college presidents to investigate the intercollegiate sports problem.

The idea is to make football a college campus sport, keep it under strict college control.

At Providence, RI, Robert Crocker, 23, of Braintree, Mass., a jockey's agent, surrendered and pleaded innocent in superior court Tuesday to an indictment charging him with offering money to a jockey to influence the outcome of a horse race. He was the fourth defendant to be arraigned since a grand jury returned 12 indictments, naming six men, after its investigation of alleged attempts to fix races at Rhode Island tracks.

Crocker was released in $2,000 bail.

At Brisbane, Australia defeated the touring West Indies cricket team by three wickets in their first test which ended here Tuesday. The West Indies batsmen ran up scores of 216 and 245 in their two innings, the Australians 226 and 236 for seven wickets.

At Okayama, Japan, the American All Stars were beaten 3-1 yesterday, the first time an American professional baseball team ever lost a game in Japan. The victors were stars picked from eight teams in Japan's Pacific League, the same team that held the visiting Americans to a 2-2, 11-inning tie last week. The Americans have won 12 games, tied one and lost one.

Greenshirts Clip Hawks 5-2 As Tigers Wallop Dutchmen 4-1

By The Canadian Press.

It wasn't hard to pick the stars in the Ontario Hockey Association Tuesday night. There was a three-goal scorer in every game.

Orv Tessier scored three as Kitchener Greenshirt moved back into fourth place in the OHA Junior A race, defeating third-place Galt Black Hawks 5-2 before 2,546 hometown fans.

Shirts now trail Galt by two points.

At Hamilton, veteran Ab Conick fired three for Tigers, all in the last period, as they downed Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 4-1. The win enabled Tigers to increase their Senior A League lead to three points over the idle Stratford Indians.

Last season's Allan Cup champions, Owen Sound Mercurys, went down to a 5-3 defeat at the hands of Brantford Redmen as Don Oberholtzer got three for the winners.

Rough Play

Rough play featured the junior game. Kitchener defenceman Jim Farelli, centre of a player dispute recently between the two teams, drew 24 minutes in penalties with a rugged display against his former mates.

Shirts led all the way. Frank Toyota gave Kitchener a 1-0 lead in the first period and Red Novak made it 2-0 in the middle session before Tessier took over. Winger Pete Conacher potted both Galt goals.

Jim Pernfuss scored with only 25 seconds of the game gone for Kitchener-Waterloo. With goalie Boat Hurley playing steadily, and at times sensationally, the Dutchmen maintained the 1-0 lead until Bud Kemp evened the count early in the final period. Conick then roared through for his three goals and the Hamilton triumph.

It was announced that Alf Childs currently aspiring to a political career, made his last appearance in goal for Hamilton. He will be replaced by Al Bennett, former Stratford junior.

Goalies Star

Both goalies sparkled in the Brantford-Owen Sound game. Keith Woodall, Redmen's netminder, stopped 34 shots, including 16 in a torrid first period. Rival goalie Bob Gillson made 32 saves, 14 coming in the opening frame.

Besides Oberholtzer, Joe Holota and Wally Hnatiuk scored for the winners. Mike Bukacheski, with two, and Buck Forslund were Mercury marksmen.

Taxes Ironed Out Louis Reports

TOKYO, Nov. 14 (AP). — Joe Louis said today his income tax situation is "just about cleaned up."

But he added he has no plans to retire.

The former world heavyweight champion arrived by plane for a series of boxing exhibitions in major Japanese cities. A portion of the gate receipts will go to charity.

The Brown Bomber will meet volunteer opponents in the exhibitions. Four US navy men have been picked.

Several hundred fans greeted the Louis party at Haneda Airport. He towered over the Japanese who pressed eagerly forward.

A reporter asked him if he was going to keep on fighting just to pay off back income taxes.

"Not at all," said Joe.

"It's just about cleaned up."

About his future plans, Louis said: "I'll make up my mind about those things when I get through with these exhibitions here in Japan."

Sullivan Scores 1st Goal As Horrible Hawks Upset Boston Bruins 3-1

By The Canadian Press

It doesn't pay to play the Chicago Black Hawks. Ask Boston Bruins. The horrible Hawks, with their record of five straight National Hockey League losses, went to Beantown Tuesday night and the Bruins not only lost the game 3-1, but didn't make enough money to pay for the hired help around the rink. Only 5,193 fans were on hand, the lowest NHL crowd in Boston in many years. Last week, the Chicago Stadium reached an all-time low in professional hockey attendance, 4,102. And since then the fans have been avoiding the Hawks like the seven-year itch.

Maybe the Bruins' home record this season of three ties and a loss contributed to the small gate. But Lynn Patrick's crew, the surprise of the league with 13 points in as many games this season, had been doing tolerably well at the box office—until the Hawks arrived in town.

The Hawks, who haven't won a game since they defeated the equally-inept New York Rangers 4-2 at Chicago Nov. 1, sewed up the game with a two-goal outburst in the first period while Boston defenceman Murray Henderson was in the penalty box.

Former Bruins Pete Babando and Pete Horeck combined for the first Chicago goal and Bill Mosienko rapped home Roy Conacher's rebound while Bill Ezinicki was sitting out a penalty.

First Sullivan Goal

The Bruins made it 2-1 in the first minute of the final period on rookie George (Red) Sullivan's first NHL goal and Jimmy McFadden gave the Hawks the two points and a fifth-place tie with Rangers with a goal in the sixth minute.

Added misfortune for the Bruins occurred in the second period when Boston winger Pentti Lund, cut accidentally by Clare Martin's stick, was removed to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. The first diagnosis was that Lund's right eyelid had been cut.

The Hawks end their four-game away from home tour at Detroit Thursday night. The Red Wing farmhands took a 6-1 pasting in their only meeting this year and, unless coach Ebbie Goodfellow gets some extra help from Detroit in a hurry his Hawks are in for another lancing from the league leaders.

The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs meet the Rangers at New York tonight to complete the mid-week schedule.

Port Hope Opens Against Cobourg

COBOURG, Nov. 14. — Port Hope's Redmen will open the Lakeshore intermediate hockey league season here on Friday night against the Cobourg newly named Comets. Last year called the Pavs, the locals went through to the league title in the regular schedule but fell before Bowmanville in the playoffs.

This season finds a strange setup in the opener since three of Cobourg's juniors will line up with the Port Hope club on Friday. The trio, Ken Medhurst, Jackie Campbell and Bun Flesch will play with the Ports in hockey and come right back Saturday with Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts football club in the provincial final here.

Despite early season rumors veterans Cliff Maundrell, Bus Cane, Pete Ferguson and "Slip" Rowe will line up with the Cobourg crew. New coach of the local team, Gerry Scott, is nevertheless, counting on youth such as newly moved up juniors, Jon and Doug Fisher, Bob Terwilliger, Clarke Harnden, Japper Wilcox, Ed Caffin, Harry Lawless and Dean West, and will ice a young club against the Ports and their Cobourg imports.

Under the new loop setup the Lakeshore league will consist of Lindsay, Port Hope and Cobourg with Lakefield and Bowmanville playing four point games, starting after Christmas. Belleville may seek admission to the loop.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14 (AP). — Defenceman Pat Egan scored three goals to lead Cincinnati Mohawks to a 5-2 victory over St. Louis Flyers Tuesday night and snap a three-game losing streak.

The victory boosted the Mohawks into a third-place tie with the Flyers in the western division of the American Hockey League, each with 14 points.

Ian Mackintosh scored the other two goals for the Mohawks as 3,143 spectators saw the Flyers' losing skein extended to four straight games.

Sid Finney and George Milligan scored the Flyer goals.

Drew Would Like To Fire Defence Dept Propagandists

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, suggested Tuesday that the federal government "fire every one of those propagandists who have been issuing these glowing stories" from the Defence Department on the state of Canada's preparedness.

He spoke before the Commons adopted a resolution establishing a committee to investigate defence expenditures.

F. D. Shaw (SC—Red Deer) said the committee should make a full investigation of the public relations of the three branches of the armed services.

Mr. Drew said the people of Canada have been told that "we have the best aircraft, the best engines, the best guns and the best bazookas, and so on. . ."

"Most of the things about which we have been given such glowing descriptions are not yet in production in Canada."

Tragic Weakness

After three years of "greatly publicized rearmament," Canada is in a "position of "tragic weakness."

Mr. Drew added:

"A good starting point in meeting this problem, and meeting this problem with full knowledge of the facts, would be to fire every one of those propagandists who have been issuing these glowing stories from the Department of National Defence.

"Remember, we have an effective procedure by which the people of Canada can be told what is being done. When our units have the kind of equipment they should have, when they are doing the kind of training they should be doing under conditions of this kind, when their numbers are adequate for the task with which we are confronted, then let the press of Canada see those units, see their training and see their equipment.

"They will tell the people of Canada the accurate facts, as they have been doing for years when they were given that opportunity.

"All the action and all the work of that group of men who have been employed strictly for propaganda purposes has been to mislead the people of Canada as to what the facts actually are. What we want to know, what the people of Canada want to know, is this: What is the situation in this grave period, the gravest period Canada has known outside of periods of general war.

Nothing Secret

"A good point also would be to make sure that when the units are equipped, when they are put through their training and when they are carrying out their demonstrations, no part of that training and no part of their equipment shall be withheld from normal inspection by members of the press of this country—unless it is something obviously of a very secret nature.

Mr. Shaw said that in his opinion too much money is being spent by the public relations branches of the three armed services.

"There is a great deal of duplication and there is a great deal of material going out to certain newspaper publishers that often is not published because of the fact that it serves no useful purpose in that particular community," said Mr. Shaw.

Increase Rations

MADRID (Reuters)—The olive oil ration in Madrid has been increased by one-third to a total of 1¾ pints per person a month. Good wheat crops this year are also expected to result in an increased bread ration.

Say Lazy Stars Harming Movie Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14 (AP)—Gene Autry today blamed "lazy stars" as part of the reason for a decline in movie business.

"This business was founded on the star system," said the cowpoke. "I think a star should promote himself as much as possible in every available medium. They should tour the country regularly and help build themselves into top attractions. Personalities have always maintained this business, and big names can bring it back to its peak.

"But too many stars are laying down on the job. Not only do they not try to sell themselves in other mediums, they even neglect the movies. A lot of them are content to do two pictures a year for a net of $300,000. They complain the government will take the money if they make any more.

"Sure, the government will take the money. But I say these stars would be better off making four pictures a year at $50,000 apiece. In that way they could bring down the cost of their pictures, so the studios could make more profit. And the stars would get before the public more."

Hard Worker

Gene is perhaps the hardest-working film personality. During this year, he will have filmed six feature pictures and 52 half-hour television shows, made 70 appearances all over the country, performed on a regular air show and made many records. In addition, he produces another TV series and manages his many financial interests.

"I started work early in life, and I like it," he admitted. "Besides, I feel that if you are going to have a successful career in show business, you should do everything you can to keep yourself before the public."

FLAMES AND SMOKE mushroom into the sky as a spectacular fire roared through the Phoenix Refining Company plant at San Antonio. Six tanks containing kerosene, gasoline and fuel oil burned for hours after an atom-like explosion. Four men were injured, one critically. The same refinery was hit by fire about a year ago.

Display Of Arctic Relics Tagged By Enthnologist

VANCOUVER — (CP) — For many years a display of Arctic relics awaited classification in the anthropoligical museum of the University of British Columbia.

The job proved easy for Dr. Diamond Jenness who joined the faculty of the university after retiring from his post as chief of the division of anthropology of the National Museum of Canada at Ottawa.

The noted New Zealand-born enthnologist quickly divided the exhibits into two groups—one representing items used by Eskimos of the Copper-Mine area of the Northwest Territories and another for northern Indians.

One of the few white men to be adopted into an Eskimo family, Dr. Jenness identified each strangely-shaped bone fragment and copper instrument in the display.

Talks Casually

Dr. Jenness talks casually about adventures such as the Canadian Arctic expedition led by the famous explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson in 1913. "Yes, I was on the Stefansson expedition," he said, referring to three years spent in the far north as though it were a weekend jaunt.

In the same manner he talks of his two-year stay on Victoria Island as an adopted member of an Eskimo family, and a year spent with the natives in New Guinea in 1911.

Two other years were spent among northern and southern British Columbia Indian tribes.

Canadian Delegate

In 1929 Dr. Jenness represented Canada at the fourth Pacific Science Congress in Java and four years later was chairman of the anthropological section of the fifth congress held in Vancouver.

During the Second World War he was made chief of the inter-service topography service with the task of providing detailed information on enemy-held areas. Before the attack on Okinawa, Canadian and American experts poured over charts and photographs supplied by Dr. Jenness.

What happened to his adopted Eskimo parents, brother and sister?

"I left Victoria Island in 1916," he says. "In 1924 my 'father' sent me a message to return and hunt with him. 'My 'sister' promised me a new sealskin outfit if I would come back. In the next few months my 'father' failed to return from a hunting trip, and my 'sister' and her child died of tuberculosis."

Dr. Jennes was educated in New Zealand and at Oxford University. Retired now he will lead a seminar on BC Indians until Christmas.

During his travels he spent some time with the Indians of Mexico and also visited Italy.

Some day he may write a book on Italy or Mexico to rival his well-known volume, "The Copper Eskimos," "The Indians of Canada," and "People of the Twilight," still one of the most popular books on Eskimo life.

Senate Approves Whaling Regulation

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP) — The Senate approved in principle Tuesday night legislation to implement the international convention for regulation of whaling which Canada signed in 1946.

Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia), explaining the measure, said it had become necessary since Newfoundland joined Confederation and all her whaling activities came under Canadian jurisdiction.

The convention set up an international whaling commission to regulate whale catches and is supported by some 17 countries.

Toronto's Subway Plans More Lines

By JIM BASTABLE

TORONTO, Ont.—(CP)—Toronto is launched on a subway scheme that, some say, will never end.

Construction of its first underground railway, a 4½ mile, $52,000,000 line up Yonge Street, is right on schedule. Trains will start to run Christmas day, 1953.

And with the project half-finished, city planners are looking ahead. They're not saying anything publicly, but it is known that construction of three more subway lines has at least reached the planning stage. The need is obvious as Toronto pushes out into all direction north of lake Ontario under the press of a growing population, now nearing the 1,000,000 mark.

But that's in the future. How is the Yonge Street line—Canada's first subway—progressing?

"Right on schedule," says the Toronto Transportation Commission, despite occasional shortages of materials, particularly steel.

The line, underground for most of its length and "open cut" where such construction is more economical or feasible, will run from Union Station on Front Street north to Eglinton Avenue, about two miles south of the city's northern limits.

It is designed to handle 40,000 passengers an hour. Trains will operate on a three minute headway.

Started Two Years Ago

Some 650 men started work on it Sept. 8, 1949. The cost at that time was estimated at $29,000,000. Now after two years of work and mounting costs two miles of tunnel are ready for tracks; another mile is almost boxed in with concrete. Most of the remainder has been dug out.

The great pile-drivers, bulldozers and fleets of trucks that once created bedlam in the downtown areas have moved north of College Street where the subway knifes away from Yonge Street to the off-street right-of-way, 100 yards east.

The 12-by-12-inch timbers of British Columbia fir, on which street-cars and other traffic moved while excavating was under way, have been replaced by asphalt paving. That also is temporary—permanent surface will be laid when the street-car tracks are lifted.

North of College Street, about a mile north of Front Street, the last of 432 houses and business establishments are falling under the wrecker's hammer. They had to go to make room for the subway.

Virtually Deserted

About 1½ miles of the tunnel from Front Street, the southern limit of the subway, is virtually deserted now. Only the odd workman picks his way over littered concrete flooring where once gangs of men labored in three eight-hour shifts while street-cars and other traffic rumbled overhead.

There is no noise from the outside. Thousands of tons of sand, 20 feet deep from the top of the tubing to the street surface, muffles street sounds.

The sand covers sewers and water mains and provides an ideal foundation for the new temporary street surface, laid as sections of the tunnel are completed.

In Heart Of City

The Queen-Yonge station, one of 12 on the line, is roughed in. A two-storey-deep cross-roads station is planned for this, the city's main intersection. Queen Street trains—an east-west line is planned after Yonge Street is finished—will pass under the Yonge Street tube. Escalators and stairways will connect with the lower level and the surface.

Engineers have come up with this idea for future underground railways:

A 1½-mile tunnel up University Avenue, three blocks west of and running parallel to Yonge Street, that will swing along Dundas Street into the west end. Length: about six miles.

Another to run about three miles east along Bloor Street to Woodbine Avenue. This tube would be linked up with the projected Queen Street subway, in the east end. Length: about eight miles.

But the TTC says: "let's get Yonge Street finished first."

CANADIAN PORTION

Of the 31,280 square miles of Lake Superior, about 11,200 square miles are north of the International Boundary.

Fog Slows Traffic On Highways

Visibility Zero On Highway Peterborough-Lindsay

Ground level fog and pelting rain late Tuesday afternoon shrouded city streets and snarled traffic on the highways. It was especially bad between five and seven pm.

Provincial police report that top speed limit between Peterborough and Buckhorn was ten miles an hour. But north of Buckhorn the fog became patchy and gradually dispersed.

Robert Hamilton, Reid St., district representative of an oil company, got back into Peterborough about 6.30. "It started to get bad about 4.30 after I left Beaverton But when I hit No. 7 out of Lindsay i' was a shocker. Visibility was down to about zero. I've never seen anything as bad—and I've been in a pea-soup London fog. It was strange to see the heavy fog rising right out of the road and mingling with the wall of rain. I thought at first it was fine blinding snow. I rolled down the window and stuck my hand out to feel if it was snow.

"Cars were piled up all over the highway. Most drivers pulled up on the side of the highway. Didn't dare to go on, not being able to see ten yards ahead. I've been over the Lindsay-Peterborough highway a thousand times so I know every curve. So I kept going. Could do it blindfold. Had to last night. But I nearly came to grief. Some idiot was parked with his lights off—get that, his lights off—right in the middle of the road. I guess he couldn't see where the verges were. I didn't see him until I was within whispering distance. I didn't breathe for five slow minutes after that."

Mr. Hamilton arrived late in the city with a smashed tail light and a dented fender—the result of a slither near Buffalo into a big American car a week ago during the slush and glaze then.

Lindsay Population Stays Below 10,000

LINDSAY, Nov. 14—Population of Lindsay as indicated by preliminary figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is 9,387—an increase of 1,100 in the past 10 years.

This release brought disappointment to those members of the community who thought the population was well over the 10,000 mark.

Omemee increased from 620 to 737 in the last 10 years.

Other towns mentioned in the preliminary release were: Port Perry, 1,666; and Orillia 12,013.

DILEMMA IN A FREEZER LOCKER confronted four butchers today after skinning out a bull elk. How many roasts, chops and briskets, and how much stewing meat and elkburgers would the 600 pounds of meat provide? To start with, Jerry Fitzgerald, Left, started to work on steaks from the 80-pound hip piece. With him are Tony White, Harold Paquette and locker owner Clarence Harloff. Not of their concern is the head and hide. The former will decorate some mantel stone and the hide will become a rug.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Normal Students To Visit Toronto Centres

The Ontario legislative buildings, the museum and other educational buildings are included in the annual educational tour to Toronto this weekend by the Peterborough Normal School students.

L. W. Copp, principal, said today that the annual excursion, conducted by the Peterborough staff, is approved by the Department of Education as an educational tour. It is to demonstrate how a student tour is conducted, besides offering information which can be used by the teachers-to-be when they become regular teachers next year.

Highlight of the morning's activities is expected to be the visit to the parliament buildings. There a former Queen Alexandra school principal, Dr. William J. Dunlop, now minister of education, will speak to the students.

From there the students will visit the Department of Education buildings and the Maple Leaf Gardens.

At Museum

The afternoon will be spent mostly at the museum where the students will have a choice of two of three lectures by the museum specialists. The other afternoon stop will be made at an art exhibit.

The students will have a varied evening program, some attending the Royal Winter Fair, some the concert at Massey Hall and others the theatre, the Royal Alexandra.

Mr. Copp explained that many of the 120 students will stay over for Saturday's Santa Claus parade and the hockey game at the Gardens.

600 People Jam Temple In Crusade For Christ

A heavy downfall of rain Tuesday night did not prevent more than 600 men, women and children from attending the "Crusade for Christ" at the Salvation Army Temple, Simcoe St. The Crusade, now in its second week, is sponsored by the Peterborough Youth for Christ.

Because of the large crowds, the Pentecostal Church, Water St., was unable to accommodate everybody so Tuesday's meeting was in the Salvation Army Temple.

Guest speaker during the two-week evangelical campaign is the Rev. Floyd Ankerberg, Chicago, recently returned from a European tour.

Youth for Christ is non-denominational. Anybody that adheres to its basic tenets of Christian worship is welcome to attend. The present campaign, as its name implies, is aimed at the religious conversion of as many young people as possible.

But among those attending were a large number of elderly men and women and parents—many of them with children in arms.

Spirited Singing

The service was kept moving at a lively pace. Songsheets of old gospel hymns were handed out and the congregation sang with spirited enthusiasm. Singing was led by Mr. Ankerberg or the Rev. Fred Parlee, pastor of the Pentecostal Church, Water St.

The atmosphere was informal with Mr. Ankerberg referring to himself as "Floyd." The congregation was repeatedly asked to repeat a chorus; sometimes one section of the congregation was asked to sing solo. It was a sort of religious singsong with everybody, particularly the children, enjoying themselves.

Mr. Ankerberg gave a brief review of Youth for Christ's ministry in Greece, Portugal and Spain. Greece, he said, was "wide open for an invasion by God." In Portugal services were held in barnyards while peasants looked on. And in Spain, though they were not permitted to advertise, Youth for Christ meetings were packed.

Spiritual Conquest

For the spiritual conquest of Europe, said Mr. Ankerberg, "it will take flaming evangels — young men and women willing to give their lives for Christ."

Mr. Ankerberg, for his chief address, touched on the Biblical incident where Pontius Pilate released Barabas when the Jewish mob preferred the freeing of a criminal to the freeing of Jesus "the just man."

"Let him be crucified," was the mob's verdict on Jesus.

But Barabbas' release raised this question in the individual conscience: "What shall I do with Barabbas."

The freed criminal could not heal the sick, raise the dead or perform any of the miracles of the man (Jesus) condemned to be crucified.

Each life has a Barabbas, said Mr. Ankerberg. It might be the love of pleasure rather than godliness, religion without conviction, immorality, or "anything that keeps you from the Lord."

Solos were sung by Dorothy Kellele, Peterborough, and Dorothy Morris, Oshawa. Evelyn Lawrence and Doreen Clark of Oshawa, sang a duet.

On The Platform

The Rev. Fred Parlee of Pentecostal Church was chairman. Other ministers on the platform were the Rev. Ralph Hobson, Park Street Alliance Church; the Rev. B. G. Evans, Elim Tabernacle; and the Rev. Willard Day, Church-on-the-Rock, Burleigh Falls.

After the service, movies were shown of Youth For Christ Work in Europe. The Crusade ends Sunday in a final gathering at 8.30 p.m. in the Collegiate.

Col. Ogilvie Dies In Victoria

A native of Campbellford, Col. George Hunter Ogilvie, 91, Victoria, BC, one of the few remaining veterans of the Northwest Rebellion, died Tuesday in Victoria.

The Ogilvies, a well-known family at one time in Campbellford, had a long military background. The Campbellford residence was a large stone building on Bridge St., later sold to the town for an armouries, now the Canadian Legion hall.

Col. Ogilvie was one of many Campbellford men who fought in the Northwest Rebellion. One company was recruited from the town by Capt. Richard Bonnycastle, who commanded two other companies along with Col. Ogilvie during the rebellion.

Today one hill in the northwest section of Campbellford is known as Ogilvie hill.

Col. Ogilvie was a member of the second class to be graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston, in 1882. He served as sergeant-at-arms of the Ontario Legislature from 1924 to 1934. He retired in 1938.

Concrete Cap Put On Wharf

A concrete cap is being put on the wharf of the Bensfort bridge, six miles south of Peterborough. The work is being done by the Trent Canal engineering office.

Work will cost about $1,500.

The wharf, 40 feet by 16 feet, is of rocks in a timber crib. Last spring the ice from the Otonabee River tore the plank flooring off the wharf.

Trent Canal officials want to make the wharf permanent so they have excavated some of the rocks and are pouring concrete to take the place of the planking. Jack McWilliams of the Trent Canal staff is in charge of the operation.

Chief Complains Lindsay Streets Too Narrow

LINDSAY, Nov. 14—Chief of Police Arthur Webster submitted several recommendations for improving traffic conditions in Lindsay to the council this week.

The chief's biggest criticism was the narrowness of most of the town streets. To overcome this he recommended there should be no parking on Lindsay St. S. and Russell St. W. or the latter should be made a one-way street; Glenelg and Melbourne Streets, should have parking on only one side.

The bridge on Lindsay St. N. also came under fire and the chief recommended that it be replaced with a wider one.

Poor View

A by-law prohibiting parking within 30 feet of intersections was recommended to counteract poor visibility at corners.

The chief also asked that definite bus stops for the Lindsay bus lines be established. Previously there have been no permanent bus stops.

He suggested that because of the heavy traffic on Kent St., the lanes to the rear of the premises on Kent St. W. be used for deliveries and pick-ups to relieve some of the congestion.

Other recommendations included: installation of traffic lights at the intersections of Lindsay and Kent and Cambridge and Kent Sts.; elimination of U turn at Lindsay St. S. and Kent St. W.; clearer marked intersections at Albert St. S. and Durham St. W.; speed limit signs on streets; increase in strength of police force; establishment of a traffic safety committee.

Mary Elizabeth Moher, 341 Rubidge Street, is the latest, but not the only, woman to be welcomed to the Quarter Century Club of the CGE. Prior to becoming a CGE employee, she worked for the Quaker Oats, then began her continuous service with the CGE on July 19, 1926.

Four Plants Add Two Days To Holidays At End Of Year

At least four Peterborough factories have announced their intention to add Dec. 24 and 31 to the Christmas holiday schedule.

This was announced at the directors' meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. The industries named were: CGE, Canadian Ventilating Shades Co., De Laval and Colonial Weaving.

The chamber decided to go ahead on a survey of all retailers in the city for a set schedule of Christmas store hours.

A committee was formed under Bert Austin to work with member retailers to arrange for holiday downtown lighting and the annual Santa Claus party.

Price Survey

The question of price maintenance which has came to a head in the federal house also came under consideration. An open meeting will be held in December to arrive at the local consensus of opinion in this matter. The decision reached at this meeting will be sent to the national chamber who will in turn forward it on to the federal government.

Chambers throughout the country are participating in this survey to find out what manufacturers and retailers want.

All city manufacturers, retailers and the public are invited to the meeting.

The ever-growing algae problem also was discussed at the meeting. The chamber has assumed responsibility and have made plans to work on the problem with the federal and provincial governments during the winter months.

DELAYED ACTION

Although the incident occurred more than a week ago, 25 car and truck drivers wish to thank a Peterborough trucker, Norman Bell, for going out of his way to help them during the last heavy snowfall. At the steep hill just east of Nestleton, on Highway 7A, the cars and trucks were jammed closely together at the foot, unable to make the greasy grade. Bell's truck was the only one able to climb up the hill. On his own initiative Bell drove to a nearby sand pile and sanded the hill with several loads. Traffic was soon moving again. Drivers who sat there for an hour appreciated his work.

Poppy Day Total Biggest In Three Years

Poppy Day returns in the schools, factories, stores and along the downtown streets this year were largest for the past three years, Albert Mason, chairman of Branch 52's Poppy Day committee, said today.

Not including the receipts from the sale of wreaths, the total receipts for the collections in the schools, factories, stores and on Poppy Day downtown amounted to $2,401.69. There are still some collection boxes to be handed in and the final total will be higher.

Due to Hurrell Dodds, Branch 52's secretary-treasurer, being ill in the hospital, the returns from the sale of wreaths is not complete. But there the sales exceed previous years'.

Over $3,000

Mr. Mason said that between $500 and $600 is expected from the wreath sales, bringing the final Poppy Day total over the $3,000 mark.

Under bright sunny skies, the Poppy Day along the downtown streets met with a heavy response from the public who bought $1,136.78 worth of poppies. This figure is more than $300 higher than last year's receipts from the day's sales.

"The day had much to do with the better results this year," said Mr. Mason, as he recalled 1950's Poppy Day, rain, snow and sleet throughout the day.

The receipts from the schools this year increased "considerably" more than last year. The women of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 52 canvassed the schools on Friday, totalling $322.98.

School Sales

School sales were: Prince of Wales, $50.44; Confederation, $24.50; Central, $19.66; St. Peter's and St. Mary's, $26.35; Grove, $10.13; Immaculate Conception, 5.38; Parkhill, St. Anne's, Queen Elizabeth, $18.23; Queen Mary, $40.60; King Edward, $17.12; Qn. Alexandra, $17.86; Sacred Heart, $6.08; St. John's, $4.83; May's, $6.94; St. Alphonsus, $4.78; King George, $19.64; PCVS, $50.50.

Mr. Mason explained that the higher totals from the schools was probably because the teachers were impressing upon the students what "Poppy Day really means."

With one factory box still to be turned in, the factory returns indicate increases from each plant. The CGE this year increased about $200 on its sales which amounted to $575.13. Other factory totals were: Western Clock, $84.60; Canada Packers, $53.93; Brinton-Peterborough Carpet, $24.69; Outboard Marine, $67.85; Peterborough Lock, $14.73; DeLaval, $81; Dominion Woollens, $40. Total returns were $941.93.

180 Wreaths

This year Branch 52 sold almost 180 wreaths to stores and factories which will return approximately $600 for the welfare fund. At first the Legion ordered 160 wreaths but sold out quickly and 20 more were ordered.

The Vetcraft, hospitalized veterans who make the wreaths, poppies and buttonettes, received $2,000 worth of business from Branch 52 this year. This is an increase of $400 over last year. The manufacture of the poppies provides work for veterans of both wars in veterans' hospitals in Canada.

The receipts from Poppy Day swell Branch 52's welfare fund which gives assistance to widows and orphans of veterans as well as to veterans and their dependents who are financially up against it.

Workmen today started to install the fishing boy fountain in Victoria Park that has been delayed for almost a year.

Court Of Revision To Meet More Than One Night To Give Ratepayers Hearing

Members Of Court Favor Several Sessions To Give Citizens Chance To Appeal Assessments On Property

Extension of the business of the Court of Revision into more than one primary meeting will likely be discussed by its members before this year's assessment appeals are concluded. The members of the court are John A. Harstone, chairman, Fred Finnie and T. C. Ephgrave. Interviewed separately, they are unanimous in the sentiment that appeals should be distributed over several sessions for the convenience of the public. "Calling property owners to a meeting at which they would have to wait several hours before they are heard in their turn is not fair to them."

That expresses the attitude of the three members. The recent meeting did not reach adjournment until around 11 o'clock, and a year ago the first session continued until midnight.

Give Ample Time

"It is the desire of the Court," Chairman Harstone said, "that every ratepayer should have ample time to state his case, and that claims should receive full attention and consideration. I hesitate to say anything about what the court may do until I have consulted the other members, but I feel that we are in agreement on this point of reducing the number of appeals to be heard in one session."

Mr. Ephgrave said there was some mention of this matter by the members a year ago, indicating the concern then of the Court for the accommodation of the public.

Mr. Finnie said that many of the appeals were not important, such as change of tenant and school support, and citizens submitting them might have to wait two hours or more before their appeals were reached.

Sentiment of the court is that its affairs and business have grown with the city to such an extent that cases should be spread through several nights. At present they are all called for the one evening. This year there were 141 appeals. Fifty-two were presented jointly by property owners on Arndon Ave. They were represented by Robert Carley. Decision of the court was deferred, pending receipt of written statements on behalf of the appellants and the city. Only 20 others related to actual assessments.

Function Of Court

The function of the Court of Revision in the municipal establishment is possibly not so widely understood by the public as it should be. It affords a medium of appeal from the assessment values determined by the Assessment Department for the purposes of taxation. Another effect of the court is to focus attention on the continuous work of the Department, and the matter of equitable valuations for tax purposes is an essential concern of the three members.

Literally it affords a review of assessments that may be questioned by property owners, and assures the citizen an authoritative hearing. Wish of the court is that ample time should be taken in the presenting of appeals and in dealing with them, and generally that the service of the Court to the public should be generally recognized as something available to them.

2 Lions Clubs Organized In Keene, Norwood

Two Lions Clubs have been organized recently in Keene and Norwood. Both are under the sponsorship of the Peterborough Lions Club.

The Keene club has a membership of about 30, with Dave McNevin as president. Lloyd Wismer as secretary and Jim McCarthy as treasurer.

Members of the Peterborough club together with special Lions representative L. M. Huggan, attended the organization meeting in Keene on Oct. 20 and explained the aims and purposes of Lionism.

President Jim McCulloch, intermediate past president Bert Sisson, international counsellor Stan Darling and past president Jim Dutton, all of the Peterborough club each spoke briefly and explained the value of a Lions club in the community.

At Norwood on Oct. 26, the same Peterborough group accompanied by special representative Huggan attended an organization meeting at Norwood.

The gathering of about 40 were told that Lions international is the largest, most active service organization in the world, with 9,000 clubs in 33 countries.

Larry Obee was elected president of the newly formed Norwood Lions club. William P. Forshee was elected secretary and Irvin Warner is treasurer.

It is expected that the charters of both these new clubs will be presented early in January.

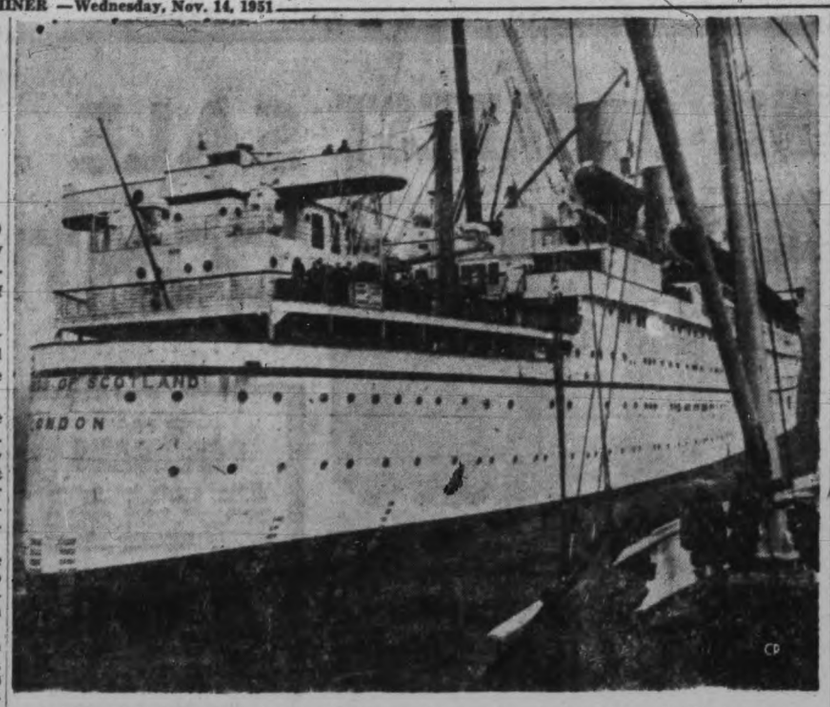
Would Respect Minority Rights In Education

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14—(CP) Canada's young Liberals Tuesday asked that all provinces "recognize minority rights in respect of education."

Delegates to the national convention of the Young Liberal Federation of Canada passed the resolution without debate.



The resolution quoted from the declaration of human rights proclaimed by the general assembly of the United Nations in 1948. It noted that "parents have a prior right to choose the kind of education that shall be given their children."

The resolution, adopted at the closing session Saturday, made no mention of the smouldering separate schools controversy in British Columbia.

The British Columbia Roman Catholic Education Association, claiming to represent 150,000 votes, recently demanded a declaration from political parties on education.

The separate schools question came to the fore in BC last April when Roman Catholic schools in Maillardville were closed and the 500 students sent to public schools.

At that time, the provincial government was asked to increase grants to Roman Catholic schools.

LINER AWAITS—The white-hulled Empress of Scotland, tossing slightly in the heavy seas, presented this view to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh as they came alongside to board the vessel for the trip back to England—their Canadain tour ended.

FARFEWELL WAVE—Princess Elizabeth waves goodbye from the bridge high on the Empress of Scotland as the liner pulls away from Portugal Cove, Nfld., bringing the Canadian tour of the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh to a close Monday afternoon. Standing on the bridge with her is the Duke and one of the ship's officers.

Help For Asia Getting Wide Discussion

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia gives a grim outline of poverty in India and Pakistan in a study of the background of the Colombo Plan.

The plan is one in which other Commonwealth countries agreed to help the peoples of Southern Asia to raise their standards of living, and the review comments:

"The importance of eceonomic and political stability in South and Southeast Asia can hardly be over-emphasized."

It sees some discouragement to the hopes of the plan in the preoccupation with disarmament of assisting and possible-assisting countries, such as the United States, but adds:

"If the United States were to enter the plan on the scale on which Canada has come in, its annual contribution would be of the order of $350,000,000, enough to breathe life into the whole endeavour."

Aid Development

In this connection, an American speaker to the Canadian Exporters' Association in Toronto had something to say Tuesday of the hopes for the so-called "point four" program of the United States, also intended to help under-developed countries.

The speaker, Charles A. Coolidge, deputy director, International Security Affairs, Washington, said:

"Our effort is not to dictate to countries how to organize or run their affairs, nor to industrialize their economies, nor to mechanize their farms, nor to build elaborate hospitals.

"Rather it is to put a steel tip to their wooden plows; to demonstrate what they themselves can do in selective breeding of their cereal crops and cattle; to drill a few inexpensive wells so that lands arid since Biblical times may again bear generous crops; to show how the application of a few principles of hygiene will eradicate debilitating diseases; and to help them set up simple community organizations which are capable of supplying the fundamental community services which we take for granted."

THESE TWO US AIR FORCE PLANES provide a contrast in size as they fly in formation over Kansas in this picture just released. They have one thing in common—their speed. Both the Boeing B-47 Stratojet (foreground) and the North American F-86 Sabrejet fighter are capable of speeds exceeding 600 miles per hour and are listed among the world's fastest planes.

Mexico Takes First Round

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — Mexico took the first round in international jumping competition Tuesday night at the Royal Winter Fair's horse show.

The Mexican team, under Capt. Humberto Mariles, and the United States team, led by Maj. John Russell, tied for first place with clean performances.

In a jump-off to decide the winner, the US team picked up 12 faults while the Mexican jumpers tallied seven faults for the victory.

Third place in the event was won by the Canadian team under team-captain W. R. Ballard. Mr. Ballard and Lt.-Col. Charles Baker got seven faults.

Other results included:

Open performance, jumping—1 Royal Knight, Harry D. Ryan, Uniontown, Pa.; 2 Panama, E. H. Cudney, Winona, Ont.; 3 Even Money, Mrs. C. L. Robins, Welland.

Single trotter, Canadian-owned and bred in Canada—1 Yankee Doodle, W. S. Munro, Embro, Ont.; 2 Patricia Volo, Dr. E. E. Foster and Son, Galt; 3 Sheila Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wright, Listowel, Ont.

$1,500 Burton Canadian-bred, hunter stake—1 Debonair, Merrymount Farm, Thornhill, Ont.; 2 Briar Hill, H. A. Knight, Guelph; 3 Pall Mall, Toll House Stable, Unionville, Ont.

Threaten To Nail Workers To Trees, Work Stops

SINGAPORE, Nov. 14 (Reuters). — Threats from Communist terrorists that strikebreakers would be nailed to trees had between 6,00 and 7,00 Chinese and Indian rubber estate workers idle Tuesday.

British-owned plantations have stopped production because of the intimidation campaign described by authorities as a serious Communist bid to disrupt Malaya's ruber industry.

Security forces have been rushed to the area to prevent the campaign from spreading, and a rigid curfew has been imposed.

A small force of 15 guerrillas, supported by unarmed Communists among the laborers, is reported to be behind the strike, causing a daily loss of 60,000 pounds of rubber.

Laborers on four of the area's 33 estates defied terrorists Tuesday and were given increased protection.

Terrorists, hitherto content with slashing rubber trees, launched the intimidation campaign last month, dragging two tappers from a truck and shooting them dead.

A British worker, Gerald Tilley, 22, was killed in a guerrilla ambush Tuesday.

Mr. John Seale at present is not walking, but when he does, he'll be playing hob with shoes. At that time, his mother will do well to get new-formula 2 IN 1 Shoe Polish. Potato King Surprised Winning Competition

WALFORD STATION, Ont., Nov. 14—(CP)—The world potato king crown Tuesday came to Arthur Thomas Hartwick of this small community near Sudbury "when I wasn't looking."

The Green Mountain potatoes which brought him the title at the Royal Winter Fair were a variety which had been raised by his father. Hartwick said he had been trying since 1937 to win the potato prize.

He grew the potatoes in a 3½ acre plot which he plants every year. One year, a yield of 777.7 bushels an acre won him a prize for having the largest per-acre production.

Seek Missing Patients

WHITBY, Nov. 14 (CP) — Two patients at the Ontario Hospital here were the object of a police search Tuesday night, after being missing since Saturday. Mrs. Grace Wilks, 52, and Gordon Stewart, 27, both of Toronto left the grounds after being visited by friends.

Caused Disturbance

John Oscar Cole, RR 3, Havelock, pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a public disturbance when he appeared in police court Tuesday. He was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and $10.75 in costs or in default 10 days in county jail.

Farm Club Winners Enjoy Gala Week

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP)—One hundred and eighteen young champions—winners in provincial boys' and girls' farm club contests—set out Tuesday on a round of social activities which will be climaxed Friday with a reception by the Governor-General Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander.

Their activities include tours of industrial plants, agricultural products processing plants and visits to main events of the Royal Winter Fair. Judging competitions for the young farmers were completed Tuesday.

Canadian Hailed As Star In Debut At Metropolitan

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. (CP) — Canadian-born George London, who made his debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company in Aida Tuesday night, is hailed today as one of "the greatest singing actors" opera-goers here have ever known. The high praise for the Montreal-born baritone comes from Virgil Thomson, music critic of the New York Herald-Tribune, after the performance opening the Met's 1951 season.

Thomson says of London, who sang the role of Amonasro in the revamped version of Verdi's grandest of grand operas:

"George London is already a great baritone star in the grand manner. Beauty of voice, perfection of musical style and a stage power—both by personal presence and by dramatic skill—of the very first order are his.

Tuesday night he took his place among the greatest singing actors we have any of us known or remembered, and he did it without seeming effort or immodesty, so natural and authoritative were his presence and his art."

The New York Times' critic, Howard Taubman; refers to London only as "a star of the Vienna Opera" and one of two singers making their Met debuts in manager Rudolph Bing's second season.

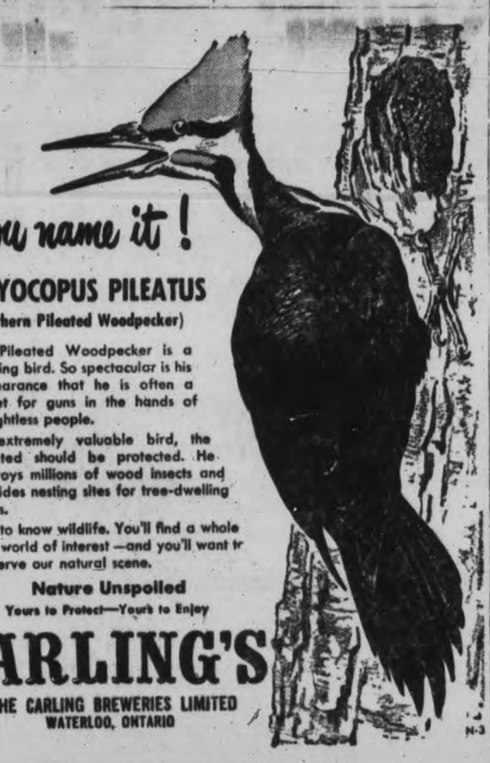
Notes Changes

Taubman devotes most of his review to the change in the traditional Met first-night audience, the ticket-price situation, and the changes made under Bing in staging Aida.

Taubman noted the influx of young faces and new faces in the first-night audience. Missing were many of the old guard who traditionally contributed to the season's start.

Thomson says the newly-decorated and newly-clothed Aida gave the 67th-season opener a "spectacle and a musical performance of unusual distinction."

The debuts of London and Elena Nikolaidi, who sang Amneris, were "handsome."



Among the many dinner parties before the opera was one given by Senator Charles B. Howard, of Sherbrooke, Que.

St. Paul's, Bethany, Marks 75th Anniversary Sunday

BETHANY, Nov. 14—(ENS)—St. Paul's Anglican church observed its 75th anniversary on Sunday, with the resident rector, the Rev. T. S. Gault in charge of the services—Holy Communion at eight o'clock in the morning and the evening service of thanksgiving.

His evening message was based on the text from the Epistle of Paul to the Philliplans "And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more in knowledge and in all judgment." Enlarging on. this theme, Mr. Gault continued:

"At present there is a movement under way in Canada for the union of all church denominations. Our doctrines and faith are one, the only difference being in the matter of ritual. In union there is strength and only by working together in Christian faith, can the Christian churches accomplish the ultimate end of Peace in our time.

"The matter is urgent; only Christianity can stamp out the influences of Communism and evil which surround us." He also paid tribute to the early founders of the church and their faithfulness to duty which had made it possible for the church to advance.

A letter of congratulation on the anniversary was read from the congregation of the United church, who had withdrawn their regular service, and their minister, the Rev. James Hampson, shared in the anniversary by reading the Scripture Lessons. Mrs. Alice McGrath was at the organ and a mixed choir led the service of song. Crimson chrysanthemums decorated the altar and were also placed beneath the honor roll of those who had served and died for their country in two World Wars.

The history of St. Paul's church goes back even further than 75 years. Before the church was built, services were held in the Temperance Hall and Orange Hall, under the direction of the Rev. John Vicars of the early church known as the United Church of England and Ireland. Mr. Vicars lived at the home of Jonathan Bryans, leading the Sunday services and through the week conducted "Penny Reading" where local talent provided the program, the proceeds of which were devoted to the building fund.

First Vestry Meeting

In April of 1873 the first official vestry meeting was held in the Orange Hall and those in attendance were the Rev. John Vicars, Dr. C. H. Brereton, William Graham, A. Morris, S. Vance, Isaac Preston Ahaziah Morris and George Reynolds. At this meeting Isaac Preston was appointed lay delegate to the synod and George Reynolds and Ahaziah Morris as wardens.

Three years later, in 1876, a public meeting was held for the purpose of forming a building committee. Those present were the Rev. H. F. Burgess, William Graham, George Reynolds, Porter Preston, A. Morris Robert Kennedy, Richard Touchburn, Jeffery Graham, Jonathan Bryans, Johnston Morton and George Sisson. The land for the building of the church was donated by William Davis Sr.

Much of the work of building was done free and mention is made of the brick and stone for the new church being drawn by some of the same committee, also John Smith, A. Griffin, John Bigelow, William Ward, J. Murphy, Josiah Wilson, A. Preston, J. Lee, William Lucas, C. Winslow, Robert Boggs, Richard Johnston, H. Lamb and J. Scott. James McCullough was engaged as the mason and Thomas Lee, the carpenter. All of the aforementioned men have long since died, but many of their descendants still live in the community.

On May 24, 1876, an impressive ceremony was held for the laying of the cornerstone of St. Paul's. This act was performed by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, J. K. Kerr of Toronto, assisted by a large number of members of the Masonic Order from Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterborough and Millbrook.

On November 12, 1876, the opening service was conducted by the rector, the Rev. H. F. Burgess. The sermon was given by the Rev. Dean William Allan of Millbrook.

Eye To Beauty

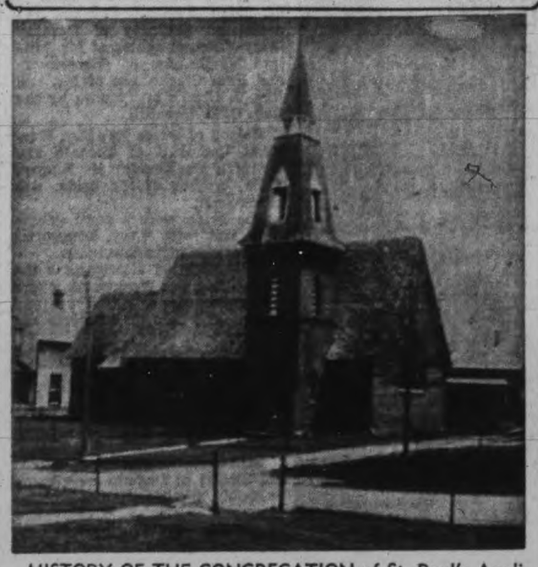
The church was constructed with an eye to beauty in design. It is purely Gothic, with nave and chancel, tower and spire, the latter from the ground to the vane being 75 feet in height. The length of the building including the chancel is about 75 feet and the breadth 38 feet. The style is early English, built of brick and pieced with double lancets on both sides, triplets in the east and west ends, surmounted with circulars in the gables and all of stained glass. The nave and chancel are open roofed, purlines, corbels, rafters and beams exposed and the wood throughout was left in the natural condition and oiled. The seating capacity including the choir is for about 25 persons. The tower of the church was made six bricks thick. In it a large bell was placed in 1903. This bell, of B Flat tone, was shipped from Troy, U.S.A. and bought by the pound.

On April 14, 1879, at the Easter Monday vestry meeting motion was made appointing Charles Reynolds Sr. and William White as the first sidesmen.

Many improvements have been added since those early days. At first the church was lighted by coal oil lamps. In 1922 these were replaced by Coleman lanterns and in 1930 electricity was installed. The first heating equipment was two huge box stoves, one at the front and the other at the back. There were long lines of stove pipes running the length of the building. These were replaced by a furnace in 1925.

To increase the grandeur of the church, the original triplet windows at the west have been replaced by three memorial windows given by the Girls' Guild in 1930, who also donated the carpet and altar hangings. A second memorial window was dedicated in memory of the late J. J. Preston, M.P., and the baptismal font was in memory of the Rev. H. F. Burgess. Three years ago two solid brass collection plates were the gift of Mrs. Clarence Buller of Brantford, dedicated in loving memory of her parents, the late Charles Reynolds and Catharine Johnston.

Parish Ministers



Following the first mentioned, the Rev. John Vicars and the Rev. H. F. Burgess, ministers who have served this parish were the Revs. F. Aylwin, J. A. Poston, H. Caplan, A. T. Weir, George Fierheller, A. R. Holden, J. E. Mason, and the present rector, the Rev. T. S. Gault.

First organist was the late Miss Addie Preston, who was succeeded in turn by Miss Sarah Kennedy, Mrs. Alice McGrath, Mrs. H. H. Ryley, Karl Monk, Miss Alice Ryley and Robert Sisson. For the past several years now, Mrs. McGrath has again taken charge of the organ. The organ has been converted to an electric one in the past year. Mrs. Richard Johnston (the former Sarah Kennedy), Mrs. Alice McGrath, Miss Annie Sisson and Miss Lottie Reynolds, all daughters of the families mentioned as being on the original building committee are so far as is known, the only residents in the village who were present at the opening ceremonies.

It is interesting to note that many of those names mentioned as helping in the building of the church were not all members of the Church of England in Canada —many of them were Presbyterians and Methodists, but all were anxious to help in any project for the good of the village. Perhaps they builded better than they knew, for many have gone from Bethany to take their place in the world.

An anniversary is something more than a group of people celebrating the possession of a church building. It is the sharing of a Christain experience which is close and personal. To measure up to the great inheritance of the past is a challenge to secure the future by ministering to the men and women, boys and girls of this day.

Of Interest to Women

HISTORY OF THE CONGREGATION of St. Paul's Anglican church, Bethany, goes back even further than the 75 years the church itself has been in existence. First meetings were held in the Temperance and Orange Halls. In 1876 the church was erected, and last Sunday, the congregation celebrated the church's 75th anniversary. The Rev. T. S. Gault was assisted in the service by the Rev. James Hampson of Bethany United church.

French Fashion Industry Growing Wobbly

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS, Nov. 14 — (AP) — In spite of crowded salons, and busy workrooms at the half-dozen top Paris fashion houses this season, the French fashion industry is wobbly.

The Dressmakers' Syndicate has asked the government for a substantial subsidy to help cover expenses of putting on season collections.

Fashion circles confirm the industry is having a hard struggle. A few of the bigger houses are getting a lion's share of the business. Few women who go to see a collection actually buy.

The fashion syndicate offers this explanation of what makes the simplest street dress cost at least 80,000 francs (about $225).

Taxes $44; cost of labor $43; social security for labor $18; saleswoman's commission $12. Out of the $108 left must come the cost of material and trimmings and the expenses of the collection before the dresmaker sees a profit.

The syndicate has also asked for reduction of taxes on their sales.

Won't Go Down

But present prices will not go down. The dressmakers claim they will only be spared some of the large losses they regularly suffer on models especially made for collections and never sold. They are made for mannequins whose figures are far from standard.

"The only hope for lower prices," says a Syndicate spokesman, "is that the dressmakers themselves will cut production costs by internal economies and reorganization. The solution is fewer fittings, less detailed work and more efficient planning."

In effect, the "boutique"—or semiready-to-wear— departments which nearly all fashion houses have started are already doing just this. The prices are less than half those of "haute couture" or high fashion models.

EX-SERVICE WOMEN OF PETERBOROUGH BRANCH were pictured at the home of a member where they spent the evening packing Christmas stockings to be forwarded with other parcels to an Orphanage in London, England. The children who receive their gifts, sent each Christmas and Easter, were victims of bombings, etc., during the war and as a result their mental processes are slowed up, but they will improve with care and attention, and they are expected to grow into normal adults. A teacher of handicraft in this home for the younger children is Miss Dorothy Peace, formerly of this city and employee of Western Clock Company until she went overseas during the war to assist with YWCA work for girls away from home. In the recent shipment to Miss Peace the Branch sent two 20-lb. parcels, two 10-lb. parcels and one weighing 15 lbs. They contained food, knitted wear, good used clothing and Christmas gifts. Seen here are: (back row) H. McFarlane, I. Vivash, E. Rule, K. King; (front row) E. Might, B. Waters, B. Merrett, N. Duncan, G. Simpson, I. Allen (president) and H. Campbell, all members of Branch 452, Canadian Legion.

Bewdley Ladies Buying Organ

BEWDLEY, Nov. 14.—A baking sale was held by ladies of St. Ann's WA, Bewdley, in the lobby of a Port Hope theatre. They are raising money to pay for the new organ they have installed in the church.

Last year this small group raised enough money to purchase four stained glass windows for the church. In addition they paid half the cost of a new oil heater for the church.

Over and above all this, they raised enough money to give the rector and wardens a cheque for $100 toward church expenses.

They have completed eight quilts for the WA bale, a baby layette, and several quilts made for sale.

Masons Hold Ladies' Night

WARKWORTH, Nov. 14 (ENS) —The Masons of the Percy Lodge held their annual Ladies' Night on Friday night at the Masonic Temple, when the hall was filled to capacity.

On arrival each lady was presented with a rose corsage.

The Women's Institute catered for the banquet and served a lovely turkey dinner at 7 pm with all the usual trimmings.

Elmer McKee, master of the Lodge, welcomed the ladies and the other visitors.

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow MP proposed the toast to the ladies and Mrs. W. B. Baker made the reply.

Mrs. Gordon McCubbin, president of the Women's Institute, on behalf of the members of the Institute replied to the address of Mr. Douglas Rowe, who expressed on behalf of the Masons their thanks to the Institute for serving such a lovely meal and in such an efficient and dainty manner.

The toastmaster introduced the musical group from Belleville: Miss Ethel Smith Lawrence, the vocalist, Dean Whalen, pianist, Art Duby, vocalist; Chet Tilbrooke with his piano accordion and magician Frank Long.

An orchestra from Campbellford supplied music for dancing.

Have Nylons Can't Sell Them

LONDON (CP). — Although eager women form long queues every time someone whispers "nylons," British manufacturers are worried by £12,000,000 worth they cannot sell.

One of the Labor government's last acts, say manufacturers, was to cut home supplies of the best-quality nylons by one pair in 10. Yet, nylons are piling up by the hundreds in export warehouses, due to overseas sales resistance.

The head of one big firm in the north said: "We have 200,000 pairs of nylons we cannot sell abroad and cannot release for the home market."

Regina Women Aiding Retarded Children

REGINA (CP).—Saskatchewan has several thousand mentally-retarded children, and two Regina women are trying to do something about it.

Mrs. Paul Marchand and Mrs. H. B. DeGroot have drawn up a training program, using the facilities of Mrs. Marchand's Peter Rabbit school.

The school meets for pre-kindergarten children in the mornings only and it is proposed to use the school facilities four afternoons a week for the mentally-retarded group.

Both women are well qualified to teach retarded children. Mrs. Marchand is an experienced pre-kindergarten teacher and has operated her Peter Rabbit nursery school for some time.

Mrs. DeGroot is also a qualified social worker and has had a great deal of experience in her homeland, Holland, with schools of this proposed type.

Both women feel there is an acute need for a school of this kind. Most retarded children in the province receive adequate training in the regular and special school classes provided for them.

But there is a group among them who, because of age, physical or other factors, cannot be admitted to regular school facilities. Consequently these children remain at home, often with no training whatever in specific skills which possibly could be developed.

Native of Yugoslavia, with a classical education, the 45-year-old expert came to Canada through the International Committee for Placement of Intellectual Refuges. She had taught at the University of Ljubljana and is a fellow of the Italian Mineralogical Society and a member of the American Mineralogical Society.

Her specialty is examination of rock samples for "wallrock alteration" or study of changes in rock formations which indicate nearby ore deposits. Her paper at Detroit is entitled "Distinction between different members of the potash-feldspar group, using only a microscope."

That sort of stuff comes easy to Madame Dolar-Mantuani, who spends a fair amount of her time slicing rocks to paper thinness and examining them under a microscope. She admits that being a lady geologist with a classical background is somewhat unusual, but explains there was a strong emphasis on the classics in her education.

This former displaced person mastered five languages, including Latin and Greek, even before starting her university career.

Home and School Association News

MAYS SCHOOL

A meeting of May's Home and School Association was held Monday night with Mrs. A. Downer, president, taking charge. Pianist was Mrs. P. Johnson, and Mrs. R. Williams read a poem, "Growing Up."

Mrs. J. R. Henderson, from the branch library, spoke on "Young Canada Book Week," stressing the importance of good books for children to fit themselves for outside of school as well as in school.

A Scripture reading was by Miss L. Kidd. Mrs. K. Dorrington sang "Why I Love Him," accompanied by Mrs. P. Johnson.

A regular Christmas meeting was planned for December. The program will be put on by the women of the association. Mrs. P. Dyer gave a report on the regional conference. Mrs. L. Aikenhead put on a skit, "Christmas Shopping" and also read a humorous poem. Miss Raper's room won the banner for the month. It was also decided that the banner be left in each room for two months in succession, and then it can go on to the next room that wins it.

Mrs. Q. Dantzer introduced the speaker, Mr. A. Smitheram, a Normal School master. He explained why children should be sent to school: School provides guidance for children, he said. School was responsible for the child's immature mind. It also tried to make him feel he is different from any other child, and that he is a worth-while member of society and the community in which he lives. School teaches him the ability of expression and understanding. School then feels it has accomplished its greatest achievement when it develops and releases what the child has learned.

Parents also help to achieve a child's goal in school when they gave him a feeling of security, the thrill of being wanted, and the feeling that he is necessary in the home.

Mrs. K. Dorrington sang "I Love a Little Cottage."

Mrs. K. Lake thanked the speaker and all who took part in the program.

Receiving at the door were Mrs. W. Watts, Mrs. L. Godfrey and Mrs. S. Craig.

A social half hour was spent, with Mrs. E. Connell and her committee serving refreshments.

Hope Of Winning Prizes Spurs Housewives Interest

Final evening of the cooking school presented Tuesday by the Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, drew an even larger attendance than the first. And though the ladies paid quiet, close attention to instructor Miss Elaine Collett's advice as she prepared and baked nine different dishes, there was a feeling that their keenness was fostered mainly by the hope of winning one of more than 80 prizes drawn for during the evening.

Time and money saving hints for the housewife were coming up all during the food preparation, with which two students of PCVS Home Economics class assisted. Routine work was done behind the scene so that the more difficult procedure could be explained in full to the audience.

Something different was Vinerterta (Icelandic cake) prepared according to the recipe in a booklet given each attendant. This was said to be delicious and the favorite of home economists working in the CNE cooking school. An idea for teen-ager's parties was shown in the Western Canada counterpart of the hamburger, "date bakes", prepared by slicing weiners and spreading with cheese and pickle, then wrapping in bacon strip for baking. Doughnuts were also baked. Another nice recipe for the hostess was called "savory meat tarts", the tart shell being made of bread slices.

The meat trimming system which saves dollars on the budget was demonstrated by Mr. George Buchan, representative of a large grocery chain.

Mrs. C. L. Upper who convened the cooking school is to be congratulated for its success. She received every co-operation from local business men and firms who donated all of the prizes. The chapter will use all proceeds for welfare work in the city and district and on overseas relief as was explained by regent Mrs. Harold Baker when she opened the school each evening.

Mrs. Baker drew for the prizes which were given out with assistance of MC Andy Rutter.

Winners of the major prizes were:

Mrs. A. M. Weir, Norwood, knitting bag; Mrs. G. J. Fallen, two bottles of perfume; Mrs. E. McCabe, beauty kit; Mrs. C. W. Balfour, alarm clock; Miss V. Foote, sponge mop; Miss Pearl Mullen, drum English biscuits; Mrs. Ackford, pair white kid gloves; Mrs. N. E. Varty, electric sandwich grill; Mrs. John Johnston, fancy dish; Mrs. Charles Foster, cup and saucer; Mrs. D. Menzies, purse; Mrs. E. J. Westman, cup and saucer; Mrs. N. H. Hamley, flashlight; Mrs. R. Cooper, six glasses; Mrs. Gerald Junkin, car cushion; Mrs. J. R. Torpey, candy jar; Mrs A. Smith, box groceries; Mrs. F. W. Burnham, broadloom scatter rug; Mrs. John Hedges, basket of fruit; Mrs. S. J. Sparling, box fancy biscuits; Mrs. R. L. Crerar, hassock; Mrs. T. H. Floyd, three pair nylon hose; Mrs. Keith Kidd, kitchen scale; Mrs. H. Baker, large tin Ovaltine; Mrs. Fran Graham, voucher for photograph; Mrs. S. Harrison, theatre passes; Mrs. H. Sisson and Betty Chamberlain, 24-lb. bags flour; Mrs. Armstrong, RR 2, Peterborough, assortment canned goods; Mrs. F. C. Marshall, floor lamp; Mrs. L. McKeever, life preserver.

The meat packages went to: Mrs. T. Ball, Mrs. E. Potter, Mrs. H. T. Cranford, Mrs. Sarah Lynch, Mrs. James Matthews and Mrs. Gordon Cook.

Twelve meat vouchers worth $1 were given and among those claiming them were Mrs. S. Winterbottom, Mrs. A. Ellis, Mrs. Jack Dawson, Mrs. Ernest Cook. There were 13 cartons of groceries given out and some of the winners were Mrs. John Gainer of Bailieboro; Mrs. Fred O'Brien, Mrs. H. J. Tudhope, Mrs. Adam Hawley, Miss M. Hall, Mrs. A. E. Duckworth, Mrs. Barnes. Twenty cartons of beverages and 12 recipe books were also given.

Lucky people who took home food baked during the evening included: Mrs. E. Doleman, salad; Mrs. J. L. Pearse, baked potatoes and sausages; Mrs. B. Wardle, curried chicken and tomatoes; Mrs. P. C. Sanders, savory meat tarts; Mrs. A. M. Lewis, Lakefield, pumpkin pie.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir until dissolved. No cooking. No trouble! (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving, because it gives you four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough medicine for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You will be delighted with its quick effect.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

DOROTHY DIX

Wearies Of Long Courtship Faithless Lover Leaves

DEAR MISS DIX: I am writing you in hope that you can extend a word of encouragement or hope to my friend, Alma, who is involved in one of the most tragic cases I have ever heard. She is 37 years old, a woman of fine character, highly respected by all who knew her. She was going with a man Donald, six years her senior, for quite a while; they postponed their marriage because she had an obligation to a sick father. Donald advanced considerably in his position and got in with a fast crowd. In the meantime, he and Alma had been living together, and she became pregnant. When she told Donald, he was very disinterested, in fact, practically ignored her. The next thing she heard from him, he was engaged to a girl 25 years old and had plans for a big church wedding.

Dorothy Dix

Alma cannot understand him turning against her when he had professed his love so ardently.

PATSY F.

❖ ❖ ❖

ANSWER: Donald's attitude is fairly typical. He wearied of the long courtship to which Alma subjected him, and when he learned of the new responsibility he was acquiring, it was all too easy for him to cast his sweetheart aside.

She's Not Blameless

No matter how much your friend would like words of cheer and comfort, one cannot gainsay the fact that she is certainly not blameless. She embarked on her love affair perfectly well aware of probable consequences which certainly included the possibility of her lover's eventual desertion. Every woman who follows a similar course faces the same eventuality—which in most cases becomes fact. Men have a natural aversion to being made to do things, and when one is placed in a position where he is told he must marry a girl, his every instinct points to a hasty retreat. Promises are cheap, but it s amazing how easily a woman can be duped by them.

Alma has a wonderful friend in you. With the help of such people, she will find the courage to continue her life bravely and live down the mistake she has made. When the first shock wears off, she will realize that marriage with a man of Donald's calibre would have meant nothing but misery. His young wife is not to be envied; she is acquiring a husband of shallow character, conceited and faithless. What sort of a future has she? In the long run, Alma will be better off. She is having her hard time now; the young bride has years of unhappiness before her.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At the age of 20 I find myself very much in love with a boy of 27 whom I have known for two years. On week ends I usually go to a small club which is his favorite rendevous. Late in the evening he joins our table and asks to take me home. I always accept, though my sister disapproves of him taking me home so late. She wonders why he doesn't start the evening with me or come and call for me at home. If I meet him at a dance he always dances with me, and no one lse. Do you thing he cares for me? I am living in high hopes that some day he will.

ANSWER: You sure have picked yourself a queer boy friend. Why he doesn't call for you in proper fashion if he wishes an evening in your company is something I can't fathom. You're not being very discreet in going to this club alone, or even with your sister. Better stay home and wait for the boy to call. That, of course, is the one thing girls hate to do but it's much better than an all-too-evident persual.

He probably does like you a lot or he wouldn't be so anxious to monopolize you at these "casual" meetings. However, if he really cares, he'll come after you and will appreciate you all the more for expecting the extra attention.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Extra Large Cabbage Aids In Special-Purpose Menu

To cabbage fanciers, is a cabbage that measures 18" in diameter anything to put in the records? I measured this cabbage with my own kitchen yardstick. It had been cut in half and one half was given to me in a bushel basket. No wonder I had to look up every known way of preparing cabbage.

Golumbka (or Golubtzi) is still my favorite but if sauerkraut counts, it with spareribs is hard to top.

It has been a record cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and Brussels sprout season—so my cabbage-raising friends tell me, and by the look of the back of their station wagon it's no exaggeration. Here's the cabbage-minded menu:

Golumbka
Casserole of Shredded Beets
Shredded Lettuce and Tomato Salad
Banbury Tarts with Danish Cheese
Coffee

Golumbka (or Golubtzi)

One cabbage, ½ lb. chopped round steak or hamburger, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 minced onion, 2 tablespoons fat, one 10½ oz. can tomato soup, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup sour cream.

After removing outer leaves from cabbage, cook in salt water till leaves are flexible—about 5 minutes. Drain and cool. Slightly brown minced onion in 2 tablespoons fat, add meat, rice and seasoning. Drop a tablespoon of this mixture on to the stem end of the cabbage leaf and roll from the rib end. Tie securely with thread or fasten with toothpick. Place rolls in a baking pan and pour undiluted soup over. Simmer slowly on top of stove until tender or bake for 45 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr., and 5 minutes before serving, add sour cream. This will serve 6.

Casserole of Shredded Beets

Into a casserole, shred seven medium sized peeled beets and add two tablespoons each butter or margarine and boiling water. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake at the same time as you are baking the Golumbka.

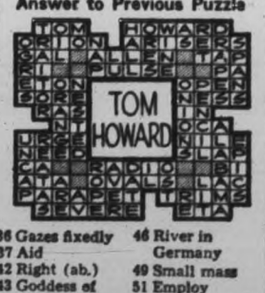
Banbury Tarts with Danish Cheese

One half cup each of broken nuts, raisins, and dates, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup butter, 1 egg and 2 tablespoons lemon juice, pastry. Chop raisins, dates and nuts. Combine with all other ingredients except lemon juice. Line tart or muffin tins with pastry, or cut in 3 inch squares. Fill each shell two-thirds full with this mixture. Cover with pastry and pinch edges together. Bake for about 20 minutes at 400 deg. Fahr. The white of egg may be separated and used for a meringue topping instead of pastry and baked at 325 deg. Fahr. until golden brown.

What's Right?

At a buffet supper you finish the food on your plate and would really like to go back to the table and refill it.

WRONG: Go ahead, even though the hostess hasn't asked you to.



RIGHT: Don't refill your plate unless the hostess asks the guests to do so.

Refuse To Play Under Lights

HAMILTON, Nov. 14 (CP). — Manager Art McCready of the Hamilton Junior Tiger Cats said Tuesday night his team will not play under floodlights in the east-west junior Canadian football final at Edmonton Saturday.

"None of that," he said. "We just got word from a friend in the west today, who told us if they wanted a night game, not to go for it."

Ti-Cats will be seeking their fourth consecutive junior title when they arrive in Edmonton Friday morning for the east-west game.

Coach Fred Veale received word Tuesday that Kent Phillips, chairman for the western interprovincial juniors, had asked a night game.

Jess Fitton, secretary-treasurer for the Hamilton club, said: "It's tough enough making a long trip like that and plunge right into a game, without floodlights making it tougher."

Use Statement As Evidence

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — A statement to police in which Ralph R. Boehner, 23, is alleged to have said he "took a swing" with a knife at his friend, Gerald Guy Ouellette, was admitted as evidence Tuesday at Boehner's trial for murder.

The former merchant seaman is charged with the spring-knife slaying of Ouellette on the night of July 28.

Friends of the accused testified he was "quite drunk" on that day. Witnesses said the slaying followed a quarrel over a baby sitter. John Durant testified he saw the accused bothering 15-year-old Betty Taylor.

Ouellette, Durant said, told the accused to leave her alone. Later, outside, he said he saw Boehner appear to punch Ouellette in the stomach.

Ouellette, Durant testified, shouted that he had been stabbed.

Housebreaking Spree Spoiled For Bandits

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — A housebreaking robbery spree by two armed bandits ended Tuesday night when the stolen automobile they were using crashed.

The pair fled before police arrived, but left some of their loot, taken from houses earlier in the evening, in the damaged car.

The pair entered the homes of Wilfred Martin and Awner Kirshenblatt and took $20 in cash and goods valued at $500. One was armed with a long butcher knife, the other appeared to carry a revolver.

Liberals' Candidate Faces Premier In Victoria Riding

Victoria-Haliburton riding voters will face two choices on election day, November 22—the Premier of Ontario, Leslie M. Frost, and Liberal candidate Edward Harding, a Minden restaurant proprietor.

Premier Frost has been elected to the Victoria seat since 1937, and this year, Mr. Harding makes his first try for a provincial seat.

LESLIE M. FROST

Leslie Miscampbell Frost, Premier of Ontario, was born in Orillia in 1895, a son of a one-time mayor of that town, William S. Frost.

His early education was received in Orillia, where he attended public school and the collegiate institute. From there he went to University of Toronto, concluding his formal education at Osgoode Hall.

Wounded during the First World War while serving with the Simcoe Foresters, Mr. Frost left the army with the rank of major. In 1921, he was admitted to the Ontario bar, and he and his brother set up a law practice in Lindsay.

Mr. Frost was made King's Counsel in 1923, and in 1926 married the former Gertrude Carew of Lindsay. He and his brother, Cecil, carried on their law practice in Lindsay until 1947, when Cecil Frost died.

First elected to the Provincial Legislature in 1937, Mr. Frost has been re-elected to that seat since. After being re-elected in 1943, he was sworn in as provincial treasurer and minister of mines, and re-appointed in the Kennedy cabinet of 1948.

On April 27, 1949, he was chosen head of the Progressive Conservative party in Ontario, and was sworn in as Premier on May 4 of that year. He retains the position of provincial treasurer.

EDWARD HARDING

Edward Harding, Liberal party candidate for Victoria-Haliburton was born in Lisburn, Ireland, in 1905. After being educated in Ireland, his career was varied.

For a year-and-a-half, he served with the Royal Irish Constabulary, and after the First World War was with the Royal Engineers of the Imperial Army. Another four or five years were spent with the Merchant Marine.

In 1929 Mr. Harding came to Canada, "walked the streets for a couple of years," he said, and then joined a Canadian oil company as a service station operator. Until 1942, he ran his service station in Toronto, which at one time was said to be the busiest garage in Canada.

For two years he was a member of Leaside council, during that municipality's formative years and in 1942 went into the hotel business.

Three years ago he went into a restaurant in Minden. He is married to the former Kathryn Eber of Newcastle, and they have two boys, 10 and 5.

Remembrance Service Held At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Nov. 14 (ENS)—"Three things absolutely essential for human well being: home, recognition of God in worship, and recognition of brotherhood of man in Christ, seemed to have been blown to pieces during the two world wars," said the Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of St. James' Anglican Church, in a Remembrance Day service here on Sunday.

Continuing, the speaker said, "Let us pray, labor and resolve to get back again the essential fundamentals that pave the way to peace, contentment and human happiness."

Hymns were sung in keeping with the Remembrance Day service, with Mrs. Frank Brown at the organ.

Winter Fair Stages Colorful Opening

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP). — Termed by Trade Minister Howe "the parliament of Canadian agriculture," the Royal Winter Fair was officially under way today.

Color and ceremony sparkled at the opening Tuesday night of the world's biggest annual indoor fair. Today the program features judging of light horses, sheep and swine.

Mr. Howe, who opened the fair at the first session of the Royal Horse Show, said earlier at the annual banquet that he did not think the new restrictions placed on imports by Britain "will involve any major dislocation of Canadian trade."

Exports to the United Kingdom had already been reduced to essential goods and most Canadian goods now sold there rated high priority, Mr. Howe said.

9,000 Attend

Some 9,000 persons were on hand for the horse show. They saw the Mexican team take the first round in international jumping competition, which continues for the eight-day run of the fair. The United States team placed second and the Canadian third.

A big first was registered for the 23rd annual fair when European entries appeared in prize lists in seed, grain and hay judging. One French farmer won six awards and a Swedish entrant took five prizes in competition with Canadian and US agriculturists.

The famed Cadre Noir—Black Troop—of French cavalry gave its first display of fancy riding. The eight troopers, wearing black and gold uniforms, guided their mounts through intricate formations to music to the delight of the crowd.

On the farming side, the final world championship, in potatoes, was awarded to A. T. Hartwick of Walford Station, near Sudbury, for his entry of Green Mountain spuds. Western farmers cleaned up in the grain and clover classes.

More Children Die Of Mishaps Than Disease—Dr.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 14 (ENS)—Dr. Donald R. Clark, of Peterborough, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Home and School Association, held in the school Monday evening. Dr. Clark took as his subject "Accidents and Accident Patterns." He showed a square of pasteboard in which he had mounted headings from the Peterborough Examiner of accidents in which children had been involved for a period of seven days. These included deaths from fire, drownings, injuries in bicycle accidents, in car accidents, and in those where a gun was the cause.

Most parents, he said, dreaded such diseases as poliomyelitis, whooping cough and scarlet fever, but that acidents remained the number one killer, responsible for more deaths than the communicable diseases combined.

Dr. Clark stated that the two means of combating accidents were protection and education. With a child a year old, protection was necessary, by the time he was two, his education in caring for himself should have been begun. From then on it should be more education, and as time goes on, less protection. It was a mistake to continue the protection period too long; each child in the end through education must learn what is safe for him, and what is not.

Dr. Clark was introduced by Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, and Miss E. Rakes, the new health nurse, moved the vote of thanks.

Mr. Hamilton's room, for the second meeting in a row, won the award for having the most parents present.

Mrs. Henry Grey reported on the speech of Mrs. J. D. Taylor, editor of "Canadian Home and School," given at the regional conference held in Peterborough last month; Mrs. Herbert Patton on the speech of Mrs. M. D. McLellan, provincial president, given at the same conference, and Mrs. Bruce Ingham on the one given by Mrs. G. C. McAuley, a vice-president for Ontario.

Mrs. Ingham expressed the thanks of the association to Alex Gilbert for the great success of the "Family Fun Night" he convened last month and to all others who had helped.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Mrs. Lawrence Winslow sang a duet. At the close of the meeting sandwiches, cookies and tea were served by Miss Kent and her committee.

PERSONAL THANKS—Princess Elizabeth expresses her personal thanks to Capt. Martin Saunders, back to camera, of the tender Maneco for the trip from Portugal Cove to the Empress of Scotland in Conception Bay for the journey back to England. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Alvin Pratt. Mrs. Douglas Langford offered to entertain the association for the December meeting, the members being asked to have their dime card and birthday box money ready also for that meeting. It was decided also to hold a bazaar table as usual and articles for donations for the table will be gladly accepted.

Mrs. Jack Potter was selected as the convener for the program in December. There will also be the usual exchange of Christmas gifts.

Plans were made to accept the offer given by Mrs. Lockhart for the WA to cater at their auction sale on Friday, and a committee was appointed to plan the menu.

Porter; Mrs. Clarence Ferguson played a piano solo entitled "Whispering Hope"; and Mrs. Douglas Langford read the words of the hymn, "O for a closer walk with God." The Rev. H. G. Lester gave a short impromptu address in connection with "Armistice." The meeting was closed with prayer by the pastor, and lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

Ghosts To Play Sarnia Wildcats

COBOURG, Nov. 14.—It's Sarnia Wildcats and Cobourg Galloping Ghosts in Cobourg's Memorial Park for the ORFU Intermediate "B" title Saturday. The final arrangements were completed Tuesday for the game, which is a sudden-death affair.

The Ghosts' clear-cut second-place holders in the Central Ontario group, are favored to take the Sarnia team who were forced to play a sudden death game with Kitchener to get into the Provincial "B" title series. Kitchener entered the game favored to win but Sarnia won decisively, 10-1.

The Gallopers have rounded into form again after a two week layoff which healed most of the injured veterans, hurt in the final week of the schedule.

While the Sarnia club likes dry weather, the Ghosts are hoping for the same things since their air attack has brought them four Canadian titles in six years. Bob Cooper, who nursed an injured ankle most of the last half of the schedule, is running normally again and he has been steadily drilling the ends, Douglas and Black, and running half Karl Lenahan on pass catching in preparation for the Ontario final.

Positions Now Reversed After Change In House

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP)—Looking down from the press gallery on Britain's new House of Commons produces a strange sensation. Everything's changed, and yet everything is the same.

The difference, of course, is real enough. The Conservative victory in last month's general election meant that the two big parties had to change sides in the Commons. The Conservatives jubilantly crossed to the government benches, which Labor filled for the last six years, the displaced Socialists took over the old Tory seats.

In the process, something subtle happened. Something more than a transfer of political power seemed to be involved. The slogans and the sayings of six controversial years changed, too. Now the Conservatives sound like Socialists and the Socialists talk in true story accents.

The transformation is greater than that usually induced by a change in parliamentary status. The Conservatives just picked the wrong time to come back to power. No matter how much Prime Minister Winston Churchill longs to live up to his pre-election promise to "set the people free," he has to maintain a Socialist-seeming apparatus of regimentation to deal with the present financial crisis.

Increases Controls

Last week, the government reductantly had to increase controls and to admit that the time is not yet ripe for restoring the Liverpool Cotton Exchange.

Tory discomfiture was jabbed home by Mrs. Barbara Castle, the left-winger who is a member of ex-minister Aneurin Bevan's group. She referred to the reluctant. Conservative policy-making as the cruellest example of force-feeding since the days of the suffragettes.

This week, the opening of parliamentary conflict on the ownership of the iron and steel industry put the Socialists in a similar upside-down position. Opposing the Conservative plan to "denationalize" the industry, Labor found it convenient to trot out some of the arguments the Conservatives had used in opposing nationalization.

With perfectly straight faces, the Socialists argued that "denationalization" would create uncertainty in the industry—the same point that Churchill had stressed in his long and losing struggle against nationalization.

The effect has been such that a House of Commons corespondent, if he happened to be blindfolded and merely listened to the arguments, might be excused for thinking he was back in one of the earlier post-war parliaments.

Kroft, a past commodore of the club.

The worship service was conducted by the Rev. A. M. Butter, with Frances Dawson at the piano for the hymns. Mrs. Bruce Ingham gave a talk on the life of Dr. Albert Schweitzer. The vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Donald Spicer.

Jean Smith invited the group to her home for the next meeting, to be held November 25.

70 Doukhobors Still In Prison

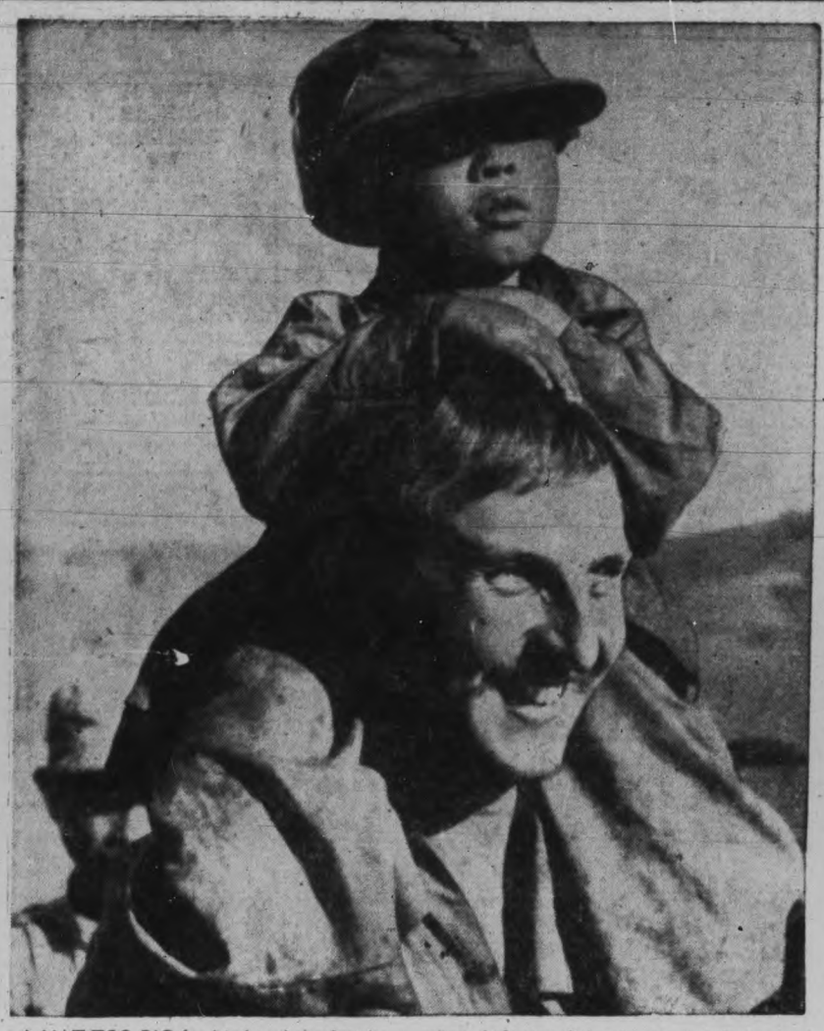
VANCOUVER, Nov. 14—(CP)—All but 70 of 400 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors sentenced to the federal penitentiary in neighboring New Westminster 18 months ago now have been released, it was announced Tuesday night.

Geoffrey Andrew, vice-chairman of the consultative committee on Doukhobors, said the latest group of five left the prison Tuesday.

The Sons of Freedom sect members were sentenced to an average of three years in prison following an outbreak of violence in and near Krestova, in the interior of British Columbia. They were charged with arson and nude parading.

Twenty-one Doukhobor women are still in prison in Kingston. They were sent east because BC has no facilities to handle female prisoners sentenced to terms of more than two years.

Mr. Andrew said decision on whether the other prisoners will be released before completing their sentences depends on their "willingness and attitude to conform to the laws of this country."



He said he was unable to comment on the status of the women held at Kingston.

Food Supply Lowest

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP)—The man delegated by Prime Minister Churchill to get Britain more food said Tuesday night meat supplies are lower now than during the wartime submarine menace. Lord Woolton, who has been given supervision of British food supplies, told the House of Lords: "We are in for a difficult time unless the people can be persuaded to produce more to maintain the means to buy more food abroad."

Police Carry Teacher Out Of Commons

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—Two policemen carried a protesting 51-year-old woman school teacher from the House of Commons Tuesday night after she and some 300 of her colleagues staged an "equal pay for women" demonstration in the lobby.

Miss Sarah Rabson of London said that although she was an arthritic cripple she had been roughly handled by the police.

Miss Rabson and other teachers —most of them women—went to the House to see their parliamentary representatives after holding a protest meeting advocating equal pay for women.

Truck Driver Found Guilty

Manley Neff, RR 1 Indian River, was found guilty of careless driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Tuesday. Neff was ordered to pay a fine of $15 and $14.40 in costs or spend 25 days in county jail.

Evidence on the charge was heard October 24 and Magistrate Philp adjourned the case until October 30 for judgment. The case was then further adjourned until Tuesday.

Neff was originally charged with dangerous driving following an accident on Highway 7 just east of the city limits last May. 9. Neff was backing across the highway when Earl H. Houston, of Otonabee, township, who was driving a motorcycle east on the highway, crashed into the rear of Neff's truck.

Neff pleaded not guilty to the dangerous driving charge on October 24. He was defended by T. J. Carley, KC, and the charge was dismissed. Neff also pleaded not guilty to the careless driving charge in connection with the same accident.

In delivering his verdict, Magistrate Philp said that the accused had observed the oncoming motorcycle three times. The first time, Neff said he saw the motorcycle was prior to backing up. He then backed up the length of the truck and looked again before starting across the highway. Neff testified he looked again while backing up and seeing the motorcycle was "pretty close," stopped.

"While there may have been some negligence on the part of the motorcycle driver," Magistrate Philp said, the essential negligence was on the part of Neff in proceeding to back across the highway in the face of the motorcyclist who, Neff said, was coming "very fast," and having had an opportunity to observe how far the motorcycle had come, continued, because, in Neff's words, "I thought I could make it."

The motorcycle driver, Earl Houston, is also charged with careless driving in connection with the accident. The charge against Houston was adjourned until November 20.

Trapped Hunters Reach Safety

WEBBWOOD, Ont., Nov. 14 (CP)—Nine men, the last of 28 hunters trapped for a week north of Agnew Lake, reached here Tuesday after what they termed "the worst hunting trip in history."

Six of the men plunged through soggy ice about a third of a mile from shore as they crossed the lake, some 30 miles north west of Sudbury, by skidding their boat over the ice. They climbed back into the boat after the ducking then reached shore by chopping a channel with axes and paddles.

After reaching safety, the six returned to get the other three men and part of the group's equipment.

The men are Reg, Ernie and Arthur Pardo, brothers from Blenheim; Charlie Slocombe and Carl Pickering of Blenheim; Denis Ripley and Jack McPhail of Chatham; William Spence, Ridgetown; and James McTavish of Northwood.

They said they had abandoned five deer at a camp 3½ miles up the Spanish River and that other hunters from Sarnia, Bracebridge and Espanola, who preceded them across the dangerous ice during the weekend, left behind $5,000 worth of equipment.

UN Generals Shocked At Atrocities

Figures Released In Surprise Move, Total Staggering

TOKYO, Nov. 15. (AP)—The reported Communist slaughter of some 5,500 American prisoners of war today shocked general headquarters from top to bottom.

Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the war crimes section of the Eighth Army, said he divulged the figures because he thought American soldiers at the front ought to know what they are up against.

In an exclusive interview at Pusan, Korea, Hanley said the story about the "wanton murder" of American prisoners "should have been put out a long time ago."

Apparently no one knew he was going to make the statement—least of all Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who was duck hunting.

General headquarters officers are preparing an announcement for release Friday to clarify "the basis for some of Hanley's figures."

Declines Comment

Even Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, said he had no advance knowledge. He declined comment.

Hanley, chief of the war crimes section of the Eighth Army, released the atrocity total Wednesday at a press conference in Pusan, Korea.

What Hanley did was total all the reports and estimates of Communist atrocities since the beginning of the war.

These figures came from captured Reds, escaped UN prisoners, civilians and allied agents operating behind Communist lines.

In some cases the bodies actually were counted. Many of the massacres had been reported long before.

It was Hanley's total that was staggering.

One high officer greeted the announcement with "hopeful skepticism."

"I am just hoping that our estimates are too high," he said. "I am keeping in mind that the enemy knows how dear to America every captured American soldier is and that every captured American is extremely valuable bargaining material in armistice negotiations."

Farouk Pledges Egypt Will Not Yield

Parliamentary Opening Stripped Of Most Of Usual Pageantry

CAIRO, Nov. 15 (CP).—King Farouk—in a speech from the throne written by the Wafdist government — declared today that Egypt will not yield in the Anglo-Egyptian dispute to any "pressure or coercion."

The speech was read at the opening of parliament by Prime Minister Mustapha El Nahas Pasha as Farouk sat listening. It said the world can see Egypt "is resolved to recover her full rights and redeem her full sovereignty."

The speech was read for the first time in Farouk's name as "the King of Sudan"—a title conferred on him by parliament when it revoked an agreement with Britain for Anglo-Egyptian rule of the rich Sudan.

"We will not yield to any pressure or intimidation" in saving the Nile valley from the "gathering storms," the speech said.

But foreign observers were struck by the absence of specific measures to meet the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

The parliamentary opening, shorn of much of its pageantry, was kept austere by Farouk because the country "is passing through a critical period in its history."

But Farouk drove to the ceremony in a crimson Rolls Royce along a three-mile route lined by armed troops standing shoulder to shoulder. As he arrived, crowds gave him prolonged cheering and shouted "long live the King of Egypt and the Sudan."

It said that Britain — after Egypt's recent abrogation of the 1936 Suez Canal treaty and the 1939 agreement—"chose a course of violence and sheer force" instead of "a way of peace and recognition of reality."

(In London Wednesday informed officials said Britain is expected to announce soon plans for giving self-government to the Sudan before the end of 1952.

(They said the plans will clear the way for the Sudanese people to choose between complete independence, union with Egypt, or some sort of association with Britain.)

Six Injured In Pile-up Near Orillia

Mix-Up In Orders Blamed By Officials For Disastrous Crash

SEVERN BRIDGE, Nov. 15. (CP)—A mix-up in orders was blamed today for the crash of two freight trains in which two men died. A third man is missing. Six others were injured.

The Canadian National Railways trains, one a 25-car freight and the other a locomotive and caboose running as an "extra freight," collided head-on at a speed of 25 to 30 miles an hour. Both locomotives overturned and box-car wreckage piled atop them to a height of nearly 30 feet.

The wreck occurred on a single-track line. Its cause was not known but CNR officials said one train had been ordered into a siding to permit the other to pass. Both had been on sidings a short time earlier as the crack passenger train, the Northland, sped north.

Seven loaded box-cars "leap-frogged" over the wreckage of the locomotives. Wood, steel and freight were strewn for a quarter mile.

The dead: Clarence Hueston, Toronto, conductor, and Royce Reevie, Cedar Brae, fireman.

J. D. Brown, Gravenhurst, brakeman, is missing.

The injured: Conductor J. Fraser, Toronto; brakeman W. Fitzgerald, brakeman D. W. Morreau; fireman V. C. Lambert, Allandale; engineer F. A. Bumstead and engineer K. F. Mann.

Fraser, Fitzgerald and Lambert were released from hospital after treatment for lacerations and bruises. The other three men are in hospital at Orillia, 10 miles south of this Muskoka district community.

Locomotives Overturn

The CNR corrected earlier reports that a freight train and a work train were involved. It said both trains were extra freights. One was bound south, the other north. The locomotive on each overturned.

The momentum of the crash carried some of the freight cars

Po Smashes Dikes, 33 Drown

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 15. (Reuters)—Roaring floodwaters of the River Po, threatening Italy with one of its greatest disasters, today swallowed up 33 men, women and children fleeing in panic from the onrush of water. Smashing through a riverside dike, a torrent of water swept away a truck carrying refugees from the flood-menaced area of Frasinella, south of Venice. Only seven were saved. The other 33, about half of them children, were sucked under and drowned. It was the biggest single tragedy in the series that has already killed about 200 persons in the last month in flood-stricken north and south Italy.

The rain-swollen Po now has flooded more than 125,000 acres along half its 375 miles from Cremona to the Adriatic.

Fresh storms have killed 50 in the last week alone.

Smashes Dikes

Swirling brown waters rolling down the Po late Wednesday night smashed through the dikes north of Ferrera, flooding 100,000 acres within minutes.

Tens of thousands of troops, firemen and volunteers had labored feverishly for days to prevent the disaster, strengthening the dikes with sandbags and stones.

Thousands had been evacuated to safety a few hours before the tragedy struck.

Damage to the rich Po Valley was feared enough to wipe out a large part of the benefit of four years of Marshall Plan aid.

Find US Plane Wreckage On Mountain, No Survivors

CHAMBON-SUR-LAC, France, Nov. 15. (AP) — Rescue crews today found the shattered, snow-crusted wreckage of a missing United States Air Force transport plane 5,000 feet up a mountain slope in Southern France. All 36 aboard were dead. American and French rescuers began bringing down the battered, burned bodies of the 30 passengers and six crew members — all US military personnel — down the side of the mountain where the twin-engined flying boxcar crashed Tuesday.

Rescue teams who fought their way up the snow-and-ice-encrusted slope 250 miles south of Paris said most of the fire-scarred bodies were battered to bits by the crash.

The plane itself appeared to be in one piece, with only small bits of wreckage scattered over aobut 80 square yards. Its two engines had buried themselves into the snow-crusted soil and the fuselage apparently had burst open.

A team of French soldiers first sighted the wreckage just after dawn. They had trecked afoot and on skis all night, through a three-foot snow layer, to reach the crash scene. Later they were joined by 10 US Air Force rescue workers.

Earlier reports that a French plane had first sighted the wreckage and directed rescuers to the scene proved erroneous, although both French and American planes had been combing the area constantly.

The plane disappeared Tuesday on a routine flight from Frankfurt to Bordeaux with 29 airmen, a US soldier and the crew of six aboard. It crashed into a peak in the Mont Dore group some some 20 miles south of Clermont Ferrand.

Loans For Iran To Be Kept Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Officials here think it unlikely that the United States will grant any large-scale financial help to Iran as long as the Iranian-British oil dispute remains unsettled.

Some driblets of American dollar aid probably will go forward, however, to keep hard-pressed Iran from bankruptcy and chaos.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh said Wednesday that he has appealed to President Truman for "immediate financial aid" to tide over his government during its quarrel with Britain. Aides said he wants a total of $120,000,000 during the next 12 months.

But responsible American officials said it is extremely unlikely Iran will get anything approaching this amount while the flow of Iranian oil is blocked to the West.

About $24,000,000 can be given under the Mutual Security Program. This sum already has been earmarked for Iran.

Second Loan

In addition, Iran may be able to get a $25,000,000 loan from the government's export-import bank. This was offered more than a year ago.

To draw on this credit, however, Premier Mossadegh's government must satisfy the bank that it can repay such a credit. With oil royalties from Britain blocked since last April, Iranian revenues are believed too small to guarantee repayment.

American financial and political policy-makers appear to feel that giving Iran all it asks would encourage the government to continue rejecting offers for a compromise of the oil quarrel.

But minimum financial help will be granted, they said, to prevent a possible Communist-led revolt.

A-Scientist Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 15. (Reuters) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, atomic scientist at California's Berkley University, today was named the winner of the 1951 Nobel prize for chemistry.

The Swedish Academy of Science also announced that this year's Nobel Prize for physics will E. T. S. Walton, British atomic exbe shared by J. B. Cockcroft and perts.

The nomination for the physics and chemistry awards is provisional pending a final decision tonight.

The Academy also has decided provisionally to honor Edwin McMillan of Berkley University, either by giving him a share of Seaborg's chemistry prize or a share in the physics prize with Cockcroft and Walton.

Seaborg, 39, is the discoverer of a range of new chemical substances formed by the atomic disintegration of uranium. He was co-discoverer in 1940 of plutonium, which put scientists on the research road that led to the atomic bomb.

Rumor Bank Drops Support

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP) — Reports circulated in Wall Street today that the Bank of Canada has withdrawn its support from internal Canadian government bonds. Official Canadian government confirmation was lacking.

Canada's internal three per cent of 1966, the longest term issue of the Dominion's internal bonds, was quoted in Wall Street at 95½ bid and 96 asked, Canadian funds. They previously were about 97.

In Wall Street there was no reason assigned for the reported withdrawal of government support of that issue or any other issue.

External Canadian government dollar bonds, payable in United States funds, were not affected.

Texas Sending Envoy, Pelicans To London Park

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 15 — (AP).—Texas' ambassador in charge of pelican affairs said on Wednesday he will leave for England Friday with three pelicans for London's St. James' Park.

James T. Carter, news editor of The Galveston News, has received the official sanction of Governor Allan Shivers to cart the birds to the pelican-less park.

A statement from Governor Shivers said:

"This is to certify that I have duly appointed and designated the Honorable James T. Carter, news editor of The Galveston News, as honorary ambassador extraordinary at large in charge of matters pertaining to the conveyance of pelicans (choice Texas variety, the world's finest), to the Prime Minister of Great Britain."

Bar Lone Star State

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP) —Louisiana's Department of Wildlife and Fisheries took steps Wednesday to keep Texas from "horning in" on plans to present a London park with white pelicans.

Mel Washburn of the department said "the idea originated with us in Louisiana. Besides, they want white pelicans in London and we have them. I'm getting in touch with the British Embassy in Washington to stop those Texans from horning in."

"What does London want with those old Texas pelicans when they can get ours," commented Washburn. "We aren't known as the pelican state for nothing."

Ontario Soldiers To Vote November 17

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Nov. 15 —(CP)—Arrangement for front line balloting in the Nov. 22 Ontario general election were completed Wednesday by electoral officers for the province.

Lt.-Col. G. T. Inch of Hamilton and W. B. Common and A. W. Corner of Toronto said Ontario soldiers in front line units will vote progressively later, a day apart, ending with Pusan voting Nov. 21.

Results of the service vote will be tabulated in Kure, Japan, Nov. 22, and cabled to Toronto for inclusion in civilian constituency totals.

Teacher Found In Chicago Faked Own Murder In Toronto During 1950

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. (CP)—A former Toronto school teacher, who Federal authorities say faked his own "murder" so that he could desert his family, today was scheduled to appear before a deportation hearing. Federal officials Wednesday seized Alfred P. Greene, 39, on a deportation warrant. District director Marcus T. Neely said Greene has been living illegally in the United States since August, 1950. His wife and four children live in Toronto.

Greene was arrested after Mrs. Beatrice Reason, the 32-year-old four-time divorcee who is the "other woman" in the case, asked him to call at the immigration offices, Neelly said.

Mrs. Reason, an Australian, was already in the hands of the immigration officials when she made the request. The deportation hearing will be held if the two have their defences ready.

Neelly said Greene admitted faking his own murder to "make it easy for my wife to understand my disappearance." His wrecked car, blood-stained and littered with papers from his wallet, was found in Toronto Aug. 9, 1950.

Got Advertising Job

A week later, according to Neelly, Greene said he took an advertising job in St. Louis.

Mrs. Green said today she wouldn't take her errant husband back under any circumstances.

That contradicts what she was quoted as saying Wednesday night when the disappearance of her husband was cleared up with his arrest in Chicago.

Mrs. Greene said today:

"I don't want him back and I will not go to Chicago to see him."

Neelly said the hearing will determine whether the two will be allowed to leave the country voluntarily, will be deported, or will be allowed to remain here.

Revenue Dept. Gets. More Than Billion

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)—The Revenue Department issued today its annual review of taxation statistics for government fiscal years up to March 31 last.

Total collections in the fiscal year ended March 31 last were $1,513,135,510, made up of $648,662,654 in personal income taes, $711,576,735 in corporation taxes, and $152,896,121 in income taxes from other sources.

Korean Vets In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15 (CP)—Some of Canada's Korean war veterans will return today aboard the US troopship Pvt. Joe P. Martinez, which is scheduled to arrive here at 4 pm EST with 202 Canadian soldiers, the majority of them members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the rest from supporting outfits.

Whistles and horns from industrial plants and boats along the harbor will usher the Martinez into dock. The same vessel carried soldiers of the 2nd Battalion of the PPCLI overseas from Seattle, Wash., nearly a year ago.

After forming at the waterfront the troops will parade through downtown streets. Welcome signs, flags and bunting have been hoisted along the parade route.

Elephant On Rampage Causes Stir In London

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Reuters)—Women screamed and trucks and buses jammed on their brakes today when a young elephant ran down a busy London street with a circus man trying to hang on to its tail.

A line of old-age pensioners disappeared like magic into telephone boths and under the counter as the elephant pushed his way trumpeting through the swinging-doors into the local post office.

Five-year-old "Baby" had escaped during morning rehearsals at a theatre at New Cross in southeast London.

He was cornered in the post office by a host of circus hands and forced reluctantly back across the road towards his stables.

Churchill Fights Losing Battle

LONDON, Nov. 15 — AP). — Winston Spencer Churchill seems to be fighting a losing battle with the Court of Saint James's over the spelling of his name.

Court circulars issued by Buckingham Palace refer to the Prime Minister as "the Rt. Honorable Winston Spencer-Churchill."

A Palace spokesman explained: "The chap's family name is Spencer-Churchill. That's how it is spelt on his birth certificate."

The British Leader's father was the third son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough. Reference books list the family surname as Spencer-Churchill with the hyphen.

The Prime Minister always signs his surname as Churchill, without the Spencer. The explanation stems back to his schooldays at Harrow, friends said.

He was enrolled as Winston Spencer-Churchill. But he used to get impatient because his name was always called out under the "S" in the school lists. By dropping the hyphen, Winston promoted himself to the "C's."

Reds Reverse Cease-Fire Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 15 (AP) —The Communists today abandoned their insistence on an immediate cease-fire in Korea.

The reversal came after Maj.-Gen. Henri I. Hodes, chief of the United Nations' cease-fire subcommittee, accused the Reds of wanting to "substitute a legal clause in place of good faith."

Hodes called on the Communists to work out a joint proposal for settlement of the touchy buffer-zone dispute.

"With this eliminated," he said, "our (cease-fire) proposals would be to all intents and purposes identical. I propose that we formulate a proposal on this basis."

The Red negotiators replied that they never had sought an end to the fighting before a full armistice is signed.

Canadian Delegates Steal Show At UN

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Canadian delegates today stole the show at the United Nations Budgetary Committee meeting.

Besides T. A. Stone, Canadian minister to Sweden, who presided over the meeting, Watson Sellar, Canadian Auditor-General, presented his report as chairman of the board of UN auditors.

Finally, Maurice Bourget, Liberal member from Levis, Que., as a Canadian representative, called for further economies in the UN budget.

Yugoslavia Lays Charges

PARIS, Nov. 15 (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia charged today that Russia's satellites have 25 divisions poised on her borders, threatening world peace.

Speaking before the United Nations General Assembly, Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj claimed this was almost double the number of troops the satellites—Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria—had stationed there two years ago. The figure, he said, did not include the Soviet troops in those countries.

The charge was part of an 11-point indictment Kardelj presented to the 60-country Assembly to back up Yugoslavia's complaint of hostile acts against her by Russia and other Eastern European countries—once her allies but now her bitter enemies.

US Productive Capacity 20 Times That Of Canada

BOSTON, Nov. 15 — (CP)—Although the population of the United States is only 11 times as large as Canada's, US productive capacity for defence is 18 or 20 times larger, Resources Minister Winters of Canada said today.

"The United States for a variety of reasons is a wealthier country than ours with a considerably higher productivity per head of population," he said.

Also a greater percentage of Canada's revenue had to be used to administer and service the country. Governments and administrative bodies, railroads, telephone lines, postal services and a "hundred and one other things" had to be more numerous per head of population.

Winters, in a half-hour talk prepared for the Governors' Session of the New England Council sketched what Canada is doing to build up its defence preparedness program.

He suggested if defence effort comparisons are made, they should be in terms of the 20-to-one figure rather than population or gross national product.

Canada was building potential production levels greatly in excess of what it could handle now so output could be increased "at the drop of a hat."

"Our program includes 14 destroyer escorts to be produced during a period of three years," Winters said. "We are, however, building facilities for the production of the propulsion machinery that would be capable of producing at more than this rate in a single year."

Aircraft plants were being built capable of doubling or trebling present output of engines and airplanes.

"Our program like yours now is emerging from the tooling stage," he said.

RCAF Takes Over Control Of Station In England

NORTH LUFFENHAM, Rutland, England, Nov. 15 —(CP)—Some 1,200 acres of English countryside officially came under Canadian control today at a ceremony marking the transfer of the North Luffenham RAF air station to the RCAF.

As the Canadian ensign fluttered from a mast in the main hangar, Group Capt. R. A. Ramsey Rae of the RAF handed over formal authority to Group Capt. Edward Hale of Hamilton, who will command the first RCAF base formed outside Canada since the war.

Guests at the ceremony included Dana L. Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner to Britain, who inspected the RCAF guard of honor and watched a march past. He said the handing over of North Luffenham station "symbolizes the close co-operation" which has been long existing between the RAF and RCAF.

Wilgress read a message from Lord De L'isle, British secretary of state for air, referring to the new Canadian forces as a "powerful addition" to the air strength of the North Atlantic powers.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Ralph Cochrane, Britain's vice chief of air staff, said in a speech:

"The defence of these islands is vital to all of us, and it is with feelings of deep pleasure that we have watched the arrival of this wing, with its fine modern aircraft built in Canada."

A fly past by Canadian pilots in Sabre jet fighter planes scheduled to mark today's ceremony was cancelled when bad weather prevented the planes being flown from Glasgow, where they were landed Wednesday from the Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent.

North Luffenham will be headquarters of RCAF No. 1 fighter wing, which is expected to reach its full strength of three squadrons early in 1952. Members of the first squadron to reach here, No. 410 (Cougar) Squadron, arrived by train today from Glasgow.

Elderly Grandparents Taking On Job Of Bringing Up 11 Orphaned Children

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 15 — (AP)—Charles Moss, 73, and his wife, Stella, 68, today shouldered the responsibility of taking care of their 11 orphaned grandchildren.

The children — sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs Murray Moore — were orphaned when their parents were killed in an automobile crash Saturday.

The elderly grandparents will close their own home and move to the nine-room home that the Moores bought six weeks before their deaths.

The children were placed in care of their grandparents by Judge Arthur Moore Wednesday. He named two uncles, Richard T. Moss and Arthur Mercure, as guardians.

A trust fund, started for the orphans by neighbors, already exceeds $2,000.

Judge Moore rejected all pleas for adoption of the children, but said the children—aged from six weeks to 15 years—could visit the John Babbs family in Pittsburgh as weekend guests during the next two months.

The Babbs drove here in hope of adopting the whole Moore brood.

War Pension Increase Said 30 PC

Coldwell Pledges Party's Support For Higher Payments

OTTAWA, Nov. 15. (CP)—The slow but steady build-up of parliamentary pressure for an immediate increase in war veterans' allowances moved apace in the Commons Wednesday.

The Social Credit group rallied fresh support for a motion, tossed into the lingering Throne-Speech debate last week, which criticizes the government for "failing" to compensate burned-out veterans for increased living costs.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, pledged his party's support for the motion, tantamount to one of non-confidence in the government, and individual Progressive Conservative speakers joined in the call for higher allowance payments.

The government has promised to raise veterans' pensions generally, but hasn't indicated just when or how much. Unofficial reports say the boost will be 20 to 30 per cent. The allowance, paid to veterans prematurely aged by war service, is $40 a month for single veterans and $70 for married.

Lone Liberal

A lone Liberal, Capt. George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley), joined those criticizing the government for its inaction, but said he could not support the motion because he had faith in the administration's promise to increase the pensions.

Along with the pensions' issue, the chamber discussed the south Saskatchewan irrigation project, with opposition speakers urging the government to launch the development without delay.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, supported his party's motion with the suggestion that the veterans' allowances be raised to $50 a month for single and $100 for married. This would not cost more than $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 a year.

Mr. Coldwell, while supporting that motion, stressed the need for an early start on the south Saskatchewan project. The government had been wrong in appointing still another commission to review the work of past exploratory bodies.

Warns Government

Maj. George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview), accusing the government of "short-changing" the veterans and their dependents, warned that it would face a fighting opposition if it did not bring down pension increases.

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North), a veteran of the First World War, suggested the government is trying to "economize" on the veterans, and suggested the government's defence program is not adequate.

Troops Surprised

Allied troops generally had presumed the Chinese Reds treated their prisoners better than the North Koreans, who massacred an estimated 3,000 Americans early in the war.

This belief was fed by the Chinese Red strategy of releasing American and British prisoners in small groups last winter when the fighting was raging at its highest peak.

An Allied spokesman said the incomplete tally of atrocities shows "a record of killings and barbarism unique even in the Communist world."

In Washington, Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep.-NY) said that if the report is true the Communist should be punished with atomic bombs.

He called for a UN investigation.

Operated Radio Has No Licence

Two local men pleaded not guilty in police court today to charges of operating a radio without a licence. They were each fined $3 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Otto Kallay, 298 Caddy St., claimed his radio was not in working condition for most of the period covered by the charge, from April 1 to September 19.

Fred Ternaway, a department of transport radio inspector from Toronto who laid the charge, testified that Kallay's radio was in operation on Septembetr 19 and that there "was no doubt the charge was laid within the regulations of the Radio Licence Act.

Charged with operating a car radio and a radio in the house he was residing in without a licence Wilfred Zohr, who was living at 752 Brookdale Crescent when the charge was laid, claimed that his car radio was not working and that the radio in the house did not belong to him.

Zohr testified that the outside aerial on the car was not connected with the set installed in the car and that it would not work at the time the charge was laid, September 18.

Rearding the house radio, Zoher said he had rented the house furnished and did not own the radio.

In finding Zohr guilty of the charge, Magistrate Philp said that regardless of the condition of the car radio, the charge was broad enough to cover both, since it dealt with the operation of a radio.

Magistrate Philp said that the essential point was that Zohr operated and "had in his possession" a radio, even though he did not own it, in the period covered by the charge.

Britain's Defence First Task-Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) —Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio says that the European military commitments of the United States should centre on an alliance with Britain and the defence of the British Isles against possible Communist attack.

As a candidate for the 1952 Republican nomination for president, Taft aired his views in a book entitled A Foreign Policy for Americans, published Wednesday.

"I believe that an alliance with England and a defence of the British Isles are far more important than an alliance with any continental nation and offer a much greater hope of success," he said.

It remained to be seen whether this indicates that Taft, as the Republican leader in Congress, will listen sympathetically to an expected plea by Prime Minister Churchill for more military aid to Britain when he visits the United States in January.

He also wrote that the US might have to assist Britain in defending the Suez Canal zone. His observation was made before the present difficulties between Britain and Egypt over the canal broke into the open.

Taft wrote that he has "viewed the proposed European army project with concern, because I believe it is likely to grow beyond the capacity of the United States and therefore to threaten its entire economic structure."

A Tough Battle

BARRIE, Nov. 15. (CP) — Nicholas Staykowski said today he fought a 240-pound deer maddened by rifle wounds for a half-hour before fellow hunters killed it with a jacknife. Staykowski wounded the animal. He followd its trail through deep snow for about a mile and missed with his last two bullets. The deer charged. Staykowski dropped his rifle and held the deer's antlers until he received aid.

forward to smash over the wreckage of the engines. Passenger trains north were being rerouted through South Parry.

CNR Superintendent W. B. Edey said the trains collided after a mix-up in orders.

Rescue workers cut the bodies free from the wreckage with acetylene torches. They probed under the overturned locomotive today for trace of the missing Brown.

Work in Darkness

Doctors, hurried to the scene in ambulances from Orillia, worked in darkness and through the heavy steam to treat the injured. A dozen boxcars were piled three storeys high atop the overturned engines, forming a pyramid that tottered precariously in the red lights of railway flares.

Wrecking crews heaped piles of shattered lumber from the splintered boxcars to light a bonfire to aid in the search for the missing man.

Lambert, 29-year-old fireman on the south-bound freight, said he did not see the other engine until it was 50 feet away. "It was on us before I could open my mouth," he said.

Combines Amendment Goes Too Far—MP

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP). — A Quebec Liberal member of the Commons said today that a proposed amendment to the Combines Act to make retail price-fixing illegal went too far and would mean that even newspaper publishers would become "culprits" and liable to prosecution.

Roland Beaudry (L-Montreal St. James), an advertising director and former publisher of a French-language magazine, La Review Moderne, added that in some cases resale price maintenance practices are not detrimental to the public's interest and should not be eliminated.

His criticism was voiced as parliament's special committee on resale price maintenance undertook a detailed study of a draft amendment prepared by combines commissioner T. A. MacDonald.

WA December Bazaar Planned For Hastings

HASTINGS, Nov. 15—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the WA of St. George's church was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ellery Smullin. There was a large attendance and the president, Mrs. C. Baker, took the chair. The Rev. Patstone opened the meeting with prayer, particularly remembering Canon C. R. Spencer.

The report of the successful fowl supper was received and the conveners, Mrs. John Johnston and Mrs. William Gillespie were thanked for their excellent work.

The plans for the annual bazaar which will be held on the first Saturday in December were discussed. The president offered her home for the bazaar.

Miss Clara Williamson gave a portrayal of the study book and various members will take part in it when she gives it at the January meeting. A Christmas program will be given at the December meeting. The members were all pleased that Mrs. Earl Clarke and Mrs. Fred Clarke were able to be present, and hoped that they would continue to make good recovery.

The rector closed the meeting with the benediction, and a social hour followed when the hostess, Mrs. Smullin, served tea.

LONDON (CP) — Because of the rearmament program and increased industrial activity, British railways will have to carry about 5,000,000 more tons of traffic this winter than last, with about five per cent less staff.

Britain Presents Her Case For Dollar Aid

PARIS, Nov. 15 — (Reuters).—Britain Wednesday staked its claim to dollar aid for its £4,700,000,000 rearmament program before the "three wise men" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer of the new Conservative Government, went before the executive of the arms co-ordinating committee of NATO with a brief headed: "Our Defence Program Is a Real Program in Action."

A high British officer preceded him to give the "wise men," who are to assess each NATO country's needs and capabilities, a picture of British military commitments. One source said that there was no sham fighting when they gave their outline.

Belgium's Baron Snoy joined the "wise men" Wednesday, in accordance with normal practice when the case of one of the Big Three members is heard.

The three are Averell Harriman, head of the US mutual security program, which has more than $5,000,000,000 to distribute in military and economic assistance to Europe, French economist Jean Monnet, and Sir Edwin Plowden, Britain's chief economic planning officer.

For several weeks these three "wise men" have been making an appraisal of what NATO countries can afford to defend the West without economic collapse.

All 12 pact members have answered questionnaires, and now in turn each is submitting to an oral examination. The United States and France have already been considered. By Nov. 24, when the North Atlantic Council meets in Rome, the three will submit through the committee an interim report on the capabilities of each country in relation to its defense program. With this report and recommendations the council is expected to allocate the dollars.

Earliest hopes of aid lie in bilateral negotiations with the United States, which set aside several million dollars to meet urgent needs of member countries.

The British case as presented, however, is expected to have an important bearing on the allocation of both interim and final aid.

Butler had a dinner date with Harriman, giving him an opportunity to plead his case again.

Lake Superior Storms Reported Abating

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 15. (CP) —Storms which swept Lake Superior in the last few days abated today. Ships which had taken shelter in Thunder Bay cleared for Lower Lakes destinations.

From 25 to 30 freighters were in the bay Wednesday in 50-mile-an-hour winds. Storm warnings on the United States side of the lake came down late last night. Winds today were from 20 to 25 miles an hour.

The Lake Shippers Clearance Association reported 15 freighters were loading today at Port Arthur and Fort William terminals. Ten were expected to clear tonight.

School Enrolment Up At Cobourg To 823

COBOURG, Nov. 15—(ENS)—Public school enrolment this year is 53 more than last, with a total 1951 enrolment of 823, it was revealed by the principal, Grant Sine, at the monthly meeting of the school board. According to figures from the assessment office, Cobourg has 637 children who will be coming up for primary education in the next five years.

The board decided to have the interior of the school painted during the Christmas holidays, the cost, $395, to be included in the 1952 budget.

Cobourg schools will be closed on Friday, Nov. 23, to permit teachers to attend the convention at Kingston. For special duty on Hallowe'en night, the caretakers were voted an extra $5 each.

Struggle To Plug Gap In Dike

MILAN, Nov. 15 (Reuters) — Volunteers worked against time Wednesday night plugging a gap in the Po River dikes while a flood peak rushed toward them.

The waters gouged a 200-yard section out of the vital floodwall at Cremona, Northern Italy.

Swirling torrents of river water gushed through the gap to cover 35,000 acres and 13 villages.

News that the dike had been breached at Cremona came after a series of hopeful reports from areas further north, where the river level had started to fall.

While work went on at fever pace to patch the gap, villagers in nearby low-lying areas fled to high ground with what goods they could carry. They added to the many thousands made homeless by the floods of the last week in Northern Italy.

Thousands of acres have been inundated and at least 50 lives have been lost, and not even a rough estimate in terms money has been made of the damage done.

Municipal Act Needs Overhaul, Says Lawyer

COBOURG, Nov. 15—(ENS)—A talk on corporation law was given by A. R. Willmott, KC, town solicitor for Cobourg, at the dinner Wednesday night of Cobourg Chamber of Commerce. In discussing the Municipal Act, the bible of municipal administration, Mr. Willmott said that during the past century it had become a maze of legal technicalities and needed an overhauling by competent persons.

Comprising the Municipal Act are six components, Assessment Act, Parks Act, Utilities Act, and the acts affecting public, separate and high schools. Each part was supervised by the Ontario government through the functions of the Ontario Municipal Board and this board had to approve every major municipal expenditure before it became effective.

Describing advances made in recent years by the town of Cobourg, Mr. Willmott cited as examples the new housing, new assessment plan, new sewage disposal plant and the new recreational centre. To the men responsible for these advances in town progress was due the fact that the town was now in a position to expand industrially. However, in spite of the progress made, the town could use more municipal planning, he said.

Settle Shelter Problem For Bus Passengers

COBOURG, Nov. 15 (ENS. — Temporary settlement has been reached between the town of Cobourg and Colonial Coach Lines on the matter of shelter for people waiting for the bus at Cobourg during cold weather.

A special committee from the town council conferred with an official of the bus company and after ruling out the market building as a bus station, because of the cost of maintaining it, the committee and the bus company agreed on a change in the parking plan.

Instead of parking at the back of the town hall, the buses this winter will park at the west side of the town hall where their coming and going will be readily visible to bus patrons at the hotel where bus tickets are purchased. The parking area will be marked off.

Members of the nursing branch of the department of health made 436 visits to homes in October.

This was reported Wednesday by Miss Gene Clarke, supervisor of public health nurses at the monthly meeting of the Board of Health.

Miss Clarke also reported that there were 132 new homes visited during the month; 663 visits to individuals; 256 individuals visited for the first time and one office visit.

Seventeen clinics were held during October, with a total attendance of 346—172 infants and 174 pre-school children.

Wider Street To Cost Town Nearly $13,000

COBOURG, Nov. 15 (ENS).—An estimate by the town engineer lists widening of King St. east of Division at $12,500. The plan is to widen the thoroughfare five feet on each side and the widening will extend on the south from the post office to Church Street.

On the north side it will start just west of the registry office and extend easterly to College St. Nothing can be done on the project this year but it will be referred to next year's council. Widening of the street would remove the parking problem in that area, it is pointed out.

Estate Shrinks

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 15 — (AP)—Taxes and depreciation in five years have pared almost $14,000,000 from the estate of the late five-and-ten magnate, Charles S. Woolworth, a court audit revealed Wednesday. The audit shows federal inheritance taxes on the $16,417,594 estate of more than $8,000,000, with Pennsylvania state's share adding $1,774,774. Depreciation leaves the net estate worth $2,513,864, according to the audit.

Injured In Jump

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15 — (AP)—Two policemen Wednesday found Clinton Crawford, 36, crouched on a doorstep with both legs fractured. He said he was run down by a car. Canada Getting Few British Immigrants

The influx this year is somewhat greater than last, but not so much so that last year's figures have lost their validity and warning. Last year, according to figures released by the United Kingdom Board of Trade only 13,434 people of all ages migrated from the United Kingdom to Canada. Of these 1,410 were infants under five years of age and 1,411 were children aged from five to fourteen. When one considers that 6,970 people emigrated from this country to Britain last year, the net gain to Canada of United Kingdom migration was only 6,464. Compare this with Australia's influx from Britain: 54,184 Britons emigrated to Australia in 1951. The net gain to Australia of United Kingdom migration was 47,019. Even small New Zealand had a larger net gain from British migration than Canada: 7,472.

* * *

What is the matter with Canada? Do the Canadian people or their Government not want British immigrants? Or do Britons not want to come to Canada? It is certain that many British people are in a mood to emigrate somewhere. Last year 130,238 people left their homes in the United Kingdom to take up life in another county, and 112,934 of these emigrants went to Commonwealth countries. Of the 130,238 Canada got only 13,434. What is the matter with Canada?

* * *

To preserve our national complacency we must assume that emigrating Britons would like to come to Canada, if they could. (This supposition may be doubted; perhaps quite a few Britons do not relish the thought of life in Canada as strongly as Canadians think everybody should. For that matter, why do so many Canadians leave this land of milk and honey and goodly treasure to go to live in poor old Britain?—6,970 quixotically did last year.) But let us assume that Britons want to come here. Therefore, the reason so few of them did come was because either they were not wanted, or they were not encouraged to come.

* * *

It is generally believed that the chief obstacle to a continuing, spectacular development of this country is the lack of people. Canada is primarily an Anglo-Saxon-Celtic country; its tongue is primarily English. English, Irish and Scotch immigrants are among the best in the world; they have a genius for successful migration. Why then is Canada not wooing British people to emigrate by all means at its disposal? Australia is getting them in tens of thousands because it has been going after them, helping them financially, and making Australia seem attractive. Australia is of course in the sterling area, Canada in the dollar. But to use that condition as the reason for the small British immigration is merely a Canadian excuse. Canada could assist intending British emigrants financially as generously as Australia has been doing, if it wanted to.

* * *

We suggest that Canada has been getting only a comparative trickle of Britons because of selfishness, lethargy and outright opposition to them at sectional and provincial levels; and because of indifference, stinginess, parochial fearfulness and poor management of immigration policy at the highest level—the Government at Ottawa. Emigrants from the continent are being brought to this country in large numbers with official (U.N. and Canadian) subsidies. Why cannot direct financial assistance be given prospective British immigrants? As we said at the beginning, the flow from Britain this year seems better than last, due partly to an easing of financial regulations. But the conditions are still not good enough to attract as many Britons as Canada needs. Government policy and the activities of its immigration officials should be revised.

Is The Utilities Commission Delivering The Goods?

There is a strong suspicion around town that the Utilities Commission or its managers are secretively not giving the power people are paying for. Electric stoves unaccountably do not heat up as fast as they should, at certain hours. (One person we heard of was so suspicious that he actually tested the power line in his home with a voltmeter. It registered far below the 110-115 volts which the Commission is supposed to deliver.) Then there is the cold fact of the flat-rate hot water heaters that are not heating the way they should. People who have the flat-rate heaters have contracted with the Utilities to pay a flat rate each month in exchange for a minimum number of hours of heating. The only day the heaters seem to be doing their proper jobs is Sunday.

We know that hydro power has been in short supply this autumn and will continue to be less than people could use during the winter. We might sympathize with the Utilities Commission if it has to allow the voltage to drop, or if it has to cut off the water-heaters more often and for longer times than the legal contracts with householders permits. We could understand this situation and the necessity for it. But if this is happening, if the Commission is not delivering the power, it should explain so to their customers and ask their tolerance.

It is neither right, proper nor fair to cut off the juice by stealth. Peterborough householders are not bawling infants or intolerant ignoramuses not to be entrusted with the facts of their own affairs. If the Commission is not delivering the goods paid for, let it honestly say so and explain the conditions. If it is delivering the power according to contract, let it explain why water-heaters do not seem to be heating and electric stoves not cooking. Let it allay the widespread suspicion that Utilities customers are being duped.

High Cost of Living High

The high cost of living cannot be reduced by looking at it from different angles, but it can lose some of its formidable proportions. Seen one way it is the high cost of high living. Canadian people on the whole have never lived better, in a material way. They are eating more and richer food, own more cars, radios, and household gadgets (and own more houses); they consume more gasoline; they buy more clothes; they work fewer hours and take longer holidays; and they travel far more and spend more on amusements than they did before the war. The high cost of the high standard of living is the vexatious problem for many Canadians. The standard of living has not dropped, on the average; it has risen.

How high is the cost of living compared with pre-war years? The cost-of-living index is rising close to 200—that is, double what it was in the years 1935-39. But in terms of the amount of work done to buy food (the highest general item in the Index) most people are on an easier street than they were before the war. Prime Minister St. Laurent pointed this out to the House of Commons recently, when he said that wage-earners are now able to buy more for their work time than in 1939 or even in 1950. He gave these figures on how much food could be purchased with an hour's work at average wage rates:

	October 1939	October 1950	October 1951
Sirloin Beef	1.6 lbs.	1.2 lbs.	1.1 lbs.
Bacon	1.3 lbs.	1.5 lbs.	1.7 lbs.
Eggs	1.2 doz.	1.5 doz.	1.6 doz.
Potatoes ..	22.8 lbs.	36.5 lbs.	39.1 lbs.
Bread	7.3 lbs.	9.5 lbs.	9.9 lbs.
Milk	4.1 qts.	5.6 qts.	5.9 qts.
Tea	0.7 lb.	1.0 lb.	1.1 lbs.
Coffee	1.1 lbs.	1.1 lbs.	1.1 lbs.
Sugar	6.8 lbs.	8.5 lbs.	9.0 lbs.
Butter	1.4 lbs.	1.5 lbs.	1.7 lbs.

Seen in these terms, the high cost of living is not terribly frightful. The people who feel it most are those who are not wage or salary earners, but are dependent on fixed incomes. At any rate, Canadians are not in the fearful inflation that Finns now are. The cost of living in Finland is ten times greater than it was before the war. Thus Finland's index would be 1,000.0, compared with 189.8 in Canada.

Cultural Benefactor

Gifts for scientific advancement are not uncommon in university life these days; gifts for advancement in the arts and humanities are less frequently received. It is especially good, therefore, to hear that Dr. Sigmund Samuel has given half a million dollars to the University of Toronto to enlarge its library. Dr. Samuel is widely known as a collector of Canadiana, and his magnificent assembly of books and prints is already in the possession of the University. He has also given important collections to the Greek and Chinese sections of the Royal Ontario Museum.

Dr. Samuel is a cultural benefactor of Canada, and what he has given to libraries and museums will increase in value and interest with the passing of years. In acknowledging his gifts, we must be mindful of the fact that Dr. Samuel is a Jew, working in the best scholarly and munificent tradition of his faith. Let those who speak ill of Canadian Jewry reflect upon the name and gifts of Sigmund Samuel.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A woman in Kansas has a crow which talks and smokes cigars. As a companion this crow has it all over a husband, for when she is tired of him she can always lock him in the cellar.

People over fifty suffer a slump in morale if they feel that they are not wanted by their children, we read. Perhaps the children are remembering an earlier day when they were not wanted by their parents.

On The Verge Of Violence

By MICHAEL DAVIDSON

(Aboard H.M.S. Manxman in the Suez)

THROUGH this enthralling though antiquated cut—in the eighties ships were small enough to pass each other; today's giants have made the Canal a one-way street—the world's troubles can be traced as on a graph.

From the stage box provided by a British warship one can watch the nourishment from the West of every sector of the prevailing battle: troopships brown with soldiers for Malaya and Korea; French liners whose fo'c'sles and after decks are thick with Colonial and metropolitan troops; unending convoys of tankers to and from the Persian Gulf; freighters loaded with military stores—even an American supply ship crowded with soldiers which, asked in the normal manner by H.M.S. Chequers "wither bound?" cut in brusquely with the signal "restricted".

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Canal is an odd route for United States reinforcements for the Far East to take.

Nowhere can essential oneness of the world's conflicts be clearer seen than at Suez; nowhere can the significance of oil be as dramatically shown. The number of oil tankers which creep like gross sea slugs between the canal's drab banks is frightening.

They wear every ensign conceivable, even Swiss: huge fellows, generally American, flying the Panamanian flag, spotlessly kept and beautifully built Scandinavians, small shoddy ships from such countries as Spain or Honduras, fleets of the great British, French and Dutch oil companies. High out of the water sailing down the Canal, wallowing paunchilly steaming up, they proclaim that oil is the wrong thing to pour on troubled waters.

FOR the moment, of course, this Kiplingesque waterway, drawn like a ribbon between the endless ochre of the Eltib desert to the east and a strip of rather pitiful greenery to the west, is itself entangled in the general conflict; and one consequence of Egypt's efforts to close the Canal by withdrawing labour is the medley of unaccustomed jobs which the Royal Navy from Port Said to Suez is doing.

Oddly, or perhaps obviously, these menial tasks are proving to be the tremendous morale boosters: watching sailors from the Manxman sweating through their work as stevedores and others from the Chequers, black from head to toe, trimming coals on lighters, one felt that happier toilers could not be found—ratings find an excitement and sense of purpose that outweighs their annoyance of being cooped on board. The captain of one ship on arrival in the Canal Zone told his ship's company they would probably be anchored for several weeks without shore leave "So you see," he concluded, "no leave, no liquor, no lipstick"—and they roared with laughter and have scarcely uttered a grumble since.

YET there is one permanent grumble: what their Lordships of the Admiralty call "inhabitability"—what ordinary people call "living conditions." Even in a large ship like the Manxman overcrowding and ventilation on the mess deck are dismaying. In small ships—especially a flotilla leader like the Chequers—they are disastrous. Doctors say that mess decks are breeding grounds for tuberculosis. The answer seems to be air-conditioning, which the Americans have introduced into their ships, and re-apportioning mess table and stowage space so as to separate sleeping from eating quarters.

Space presents an appalling problem in a small warship—whose function, after all, is fighting; it is getting more baffling as scientific fighting equipment becomes more complex and bulky, and needs more hands to work it. But it is a problem which must somehow be solved.

The Navy forms an estate in the body politic distinct from any other: a ship is a self-contained community living its own life. The sailor ashore is a foreigner—his ship is his home, his domicile. Wherever he is the soldier adapts his surroundings to his needs—he is always at home. This psychological difference is especially manifest in the Canal Zone, and ships, isolated socially, themselves create a substitute for a refreshing "run ashore".

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a Gilbertian atmosphere about this curious conflict with Egypt. It is neither peace nor war. At a road block which the Army runs in the desert some fifteen miles up the Cairo road, soldiers harrying Egyptian road-users are helped by Egyptian police. Both sides ceremonious salute each other's flags at sundown.

A young naval officer sent by his captain to pay a courtesy call on an Egyptian frigate was told: "Don't think we have got anything to do with this—it's all the fault of the politicians in Cairo." That is the kind of war it is.

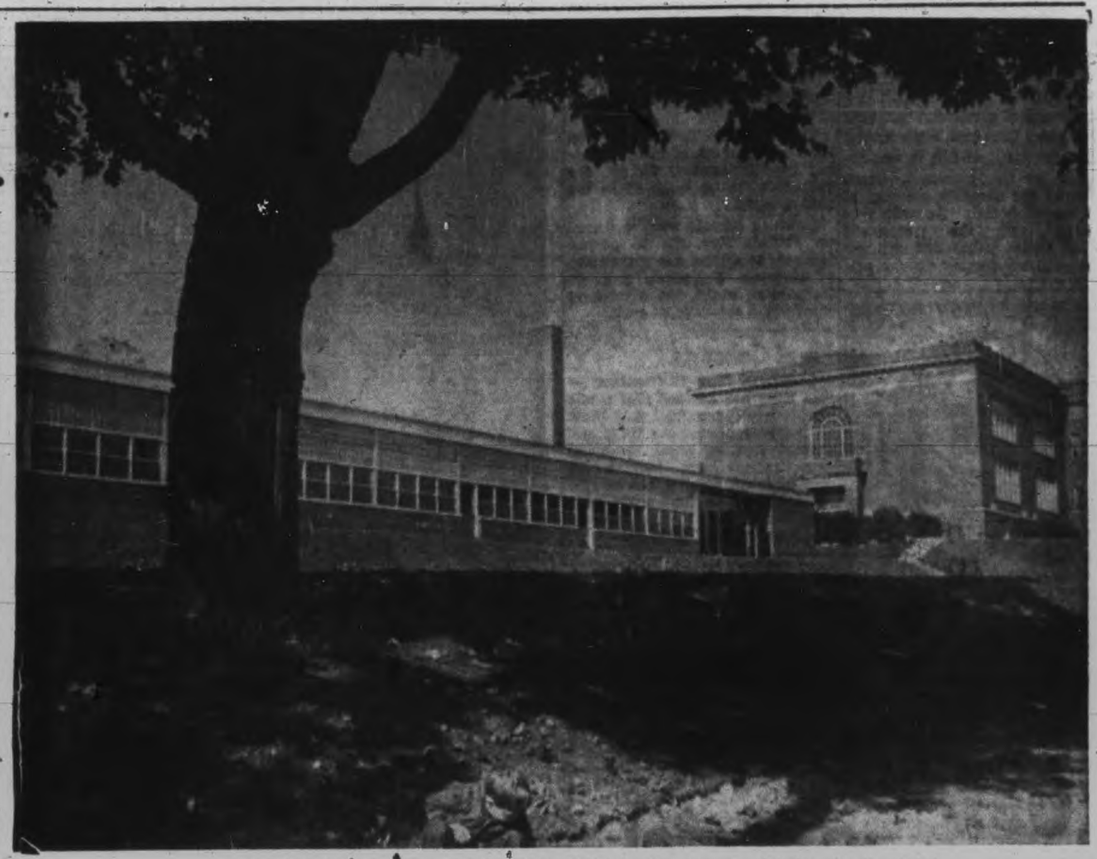
YET behind the absurdity there is potential violence. Egyptians generally realize they have chosen the wrong way to get the British to leave their country. Yet Cairo's bid to close the Canal by boycotting foreign ships as well as British—thus, incidentally, committing economic suicide, since more than 60 per cent. of Egypt's revenue comes from customs dues, of which she will get no more for months— is likely rapidly to induce violence graver than mere sporadic rioting.



The extremist Muslim brotherhood are expected to start a Stern Gang-like campaign of terrorism. The intimidation of Egyptians still working for the Canal Company and assault on them will probably increase next week and may not be limited to Egyptians. Even Canal Company pilots, without whom few merchant captains will venture through the Canal, are alarmed on account of their families. Thirty per cent. of the pilots are British, 30 per cent. French and the rest Italian, Greek, Egyptian and other nationalities.

BRITISH civilians in Suez are urging that the Army, instead of irritating humble Egyptians at road blocks, should show effective strength by patrolling the town with Bren-gun carriers and by stationing pickets at key points.

If forceful protection is given to Europeans and Egyptians who are loyal to their employers, it is believed that intimidation will fizzle out. Otherwise, Egyptian co-operation will vanish completely and Suez may very shortly be a scene of bloodshed.

NEW PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL ANNEX (See comment below on its style)

Old And New Schools

By JAN H. ALBARDA

TWO buildings next to each other: one an addition to the other. A difference of age, a difference of style. You like this one more than the other? And your friend likes the other one best? Is it a matter of taste? And is this all we have to say about these buildings of the Prince of Wales School?

No, we can say a lot more. The difference between these two buildings means far more than the expression of different tastes. These buildings belong to different worlds of thought.

The older school building is a typical sample of the world of yesterday, with its classic forms which have lost their meaning. Every style has its roots in the way of living and thinking of a people in a certain period. The Gothic style expresses in forms the thoughts of man in the middle ages. The renaissance is a revival of the classic thoughts, both in human living and in its architectural expression. The cultural endeavour of the nineteenth century was not explicit enough to cause a new or a renewed style in architecture. And by lack of adequate style the classical forms became the haven of refuge. In that way these forms have been dragged along through centuries as traditional decors from bygone days. People did not worry too much about their being without sense and saw the classic forms as a means to express a certain culture or welfare, which actually did not exist.

So we can see the oldest school building as a product of heritage from former centuries. Tradition gave it the classical elements, fortunately in a rather modest way. The building has a very simple plan, which we call a virtue indeed, but the architect had not the courage or the ability to leave the old, efficacious track of tradition and he drenched the building with the classical sauce. In its kind the building is not bad, but it belongs to a bygone period.

NOW what about the new building, the extension? It is not merely a matter of taste that the architects Parkin designed it in this clean, simple and honest shape. And "modern" architecture is not a matter of fashion either. The pioneers of our contemporary architecture were great because they knew that the only possible way to get sound architecture was to start from the beginning. They knew that the traditional way of building was fighting a hopeless death-struggle and that they had to abandon it and to find a new way. As every new style always began in simple, elementary forms, they omitted all decoration and designed an architecture in clear and true forms, suiting the practical exigencies as well as possible. These were the first steps towards a new style; only the first steps. But, as we said before, a style is not an invention, but a result of a cultural idea of a period. Is our contemporary architecture really based upon a cultural idea? Which idea could it be? It is very difficult to give the right answer and even to give any answer at all to this question, especially when it has to be done in a few words.

Let us begin to tell that architecture nowadays shows a renewal all over the world. This can not be an accidental coincidence: it should have some common cause. Architecture never showed a renewal without a definite cause in the development of human thoughts. So there might be a beginning of a new cultural idea? Well, we are living in a transition stage: in almost every field of human thinking and proceeding we see a renewal, founded upon renewed basic principles. It is the turning of the tide. The sea of expressions and phenomena is still boisterous, but a growing tendency is giving a new trend to its waves: a new world feeling. We stand on the threshold of the future and the noblest spirits implore a new world.

IT is clear that we have not found it yet. The picture of the world of today is confusing and far from restful. But instead of contradicting our idea of a growing new world, it corroborates the idea. A renewal on a huge scale is a big struggle and the impetuous picture is the result.

We may assume that contemporary architecture is based upon the positive side of the process. How could architecture ever be based upon destruction? In many ways the new architecture expresses the growing tendencies of a new world. Its architects know that a renewal of architecture needs simple, clear forms and a logical organic structure. Its clearness is not poor but hopeful: it holds a promise. It is the conviction of the architect that this is his only possible and true way and he creates contemporary architecture as a necessity.

Thus two buildings are next to each other: one belonging to the world of tomorrow. There is quite a difference! Yet we think the disharmony is not intruding. The extension shows an honest pureness and a clean simplicity, which never can hinder its neighbour. Adaptation to the old building would have spoiled the sincerity of the extension. Let us be happy with the existing solution. This new building is a valuable gain for the city of Peterborough and it is apparent that the children enjoy it.

—JAN H. ALBARDA.

Letter To The Editor

VIEWS JUSTICE WITH ALARM

Sir: I think, sir, when we are voting on a Provincial election we should consider the interest of the province independent of party. If it is in the interests of the party to place a premium on drink it is not in the interests of the province to grant special privileges to those who drink. Our Attorney General, Mr. Porter, has said, or is reported to have said, that a criminal who is drunk when committing a crime should not receive as severe a sentence as if he had been sober.

This abominable idea, or perhaps order, from the fountain head, as the Attorney General is head of all the courts in Ontario, has polluted and disgraced most of our courts in this province for on so many occasions the judge in pronouncing a shamefully light sentence on a criminal has said to the accused—"If you had not been drunk you would have received a much more severe sentence."

Leaving it to the judgement of any fair-minded voter is this not a shameful state of affairs when drunkenness is allowed to be an excuse for crime? Is it any wonder crime increases and drunkenness increases? Is is any wonder the Americans point their finger at us and ask what has happened to Canadian justice?

There never was a time in the history of this province when law enforcement was as slack and lackadaisical as it is at this time. Fellow citizens without regard to party affiliations and in the interests of law and order turn this government out, let it be as it was in Rome when she was in the zenith of her power—

"There were none for the party
They were all for the state."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love....

This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart....

But ye have not so learned Christ; if so be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus: that ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness. (Eph. 4: 1, 2, 17-18, 20-24.)

For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.

Do all things without murmurings and disputings: that ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world. (Phil. 2: 13-15.)

Television Radio Is Won In Draw

More than 3,700 people visited the office of Ernest Ridout Real Estate Limited when the firm opened its Peterborough branch office on Charlotte St., Saturday. The television radio drawn for by Hon. Harold Scott was won by Mrs. Florence Staunton, 760 Stewart St.

Formed in 1945, the company has 10 branches, and employs 165 salesmen. The branch here is the third office to be opened outside Toronto. In addition to the company's seven offices in Greater Toronto, there are branches in Hamilton and London.

Commenting on the opening of the local office, Manager J. M. Bowes said, "The company decided on coming down here, because this has been one of the fastest growing Ontario cities and we think it's going to keep on growing just as fast."

Two distinctions rugby football has from other sports — the game is the hardest-hitting team game we have, and it sees more spectator color. These facts will be evident in Morrow Park here on Saturday afternoon at the two COSSA final playoffs. Stiff body contact on every play makes football a gruelling sport, a man's game; while the noise, color and general whoop-de-do lends a delightful garnishing to the spectacle. Cheer-leaders, bands, gay ribbons, a roaring racket — there just isn't anything like it elsewhere. No doubt a big and noisy crowd will be on deck to see Welland vs. St. Peter's at 12.30 in the junior "B" COSSA final, followed by Stamford vs. PCVS in the COSSA senior "A" windup.

Lindsay's Bert Hick of the OMHA rules committee advises us that Peterborough and district minor puck refs, coaches and managers are invited to the Legion Hall at Lindsay a week from Friday (Nov. 23) at eight p.m. for the OMHA rules forum. Chief instructor will be Bill Morrison of the NHL refereeing staff and he will deal thoroughly with all rules and interpretations pertaining to minor hockey play. A number of other officials on hand, too, to clear up all angles ere the season gets going. Bert points out that the PMHA-ers shouldn't pass up this opportunity of the experts' forum.

PMHA-ers Square Away

Minor hockey here commences this evening in Civic Arena. It features six games, starting at six in this order: Lions bantams vs. Trojans, SPS midgets vs. Trojans, Lakefield vs. the juvenile Trojans, St. Peter's bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Snowbirds, and IOOF juves vs. the Marines. Four referees on the job, two for each half of the evening. These clubs compete every Thursday p.m. in half a dozen games — the peewees later going outdoors — till late winter, when playoffs take over, followed by OMHA provincial playdowns. Loop officials will send in scoresheets. A lot of lively hockey is promised by the PMHA-ers.

OHA senior "B" game the fans have been waiting for is at 8.30 tomorrow eve at Civic. Yes, it's the two local entries, Eagles against the Petes. These games always pack 'em in as the followers of both clubs are out in force and rooting their favorites home. Lots of keen rivalry betwixt Ned Vitarelli's Eagles and Jim Ellis' Petes, who haven't met so far this young season. The only yardstick by which one might measure their ability against one another — their showing against Queen's recently — leaves the verdict in doubt, since each trimmed the University outfit handily. Lots of changes in their lineups from last semester, so you pay your money and take your choice.

Eagles Win And Lose

Hard luck hit the Eagles—pestered with injuries all last spring—in their senior "B" fray here last night. The game wasn't two minutes old when Joe Rochetta was crashed into the Kingston goal post as they ganged up around the net and he was carried off to hospital. It was found that his left leg was broken in three places just below the knee. A really rotten break for Joe and for the team. This first-string centre has been one of the top two or three goal scorers for his team since he returned from the war to don hockey livery again. Before that he shone in junior ranks. Joe is in Room 27 at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Kingston's ex-Nylons came up with a surprisingly strong squad and dished up a dandy game, as did Ned Vitarelli's crew. You couldn't want more excitement and hot action than that final frame as the K's made a determined bid to tie it up. Bert Hill and George Brabin led the local scorers, but a bunch were in on the tally sheet, while Ron Murray, Joe Catlin and Cliff Aitken led the losers, George MacGregor being another classy import. Their goaltending was real good—and the first goalie retired with a cut on the head—while Jim Milne, formerly of Oshawa and Western Canada, was tops in the home cage. Our defence turned in some nifty work, too. The win keeps Eagles atop the heap in the young season.

STICKS AND PUCKS AT FORTY PACES —The Petes squeezed in an hour's practice at the Civic Arena Wednesday night in preparation for the first Petes-Eagles duel on Friday night. Jim Horton, Ron Osborne and Lynn Horton (top, left to right) were interrupted by the camera when they were receiving a few tips from Jim and Lynn's dad, veteran Petes' player, Ron Horton. Through the years Ray Harding (centre photo) has become attached between the pipes of the Petes' goal and will be kicking, catching and hitting rubber Friday night to help the Petes better their annual rivals. Joe Rochetta Breaks Leg In Senior Puck Fray As Eagles Beat Kingston

The Eagles beat Kingston SAC 7-5 here last night to keep atop their OHA senior "B" group in the young schedule, but it was a costly victory. Joe Rochetta, starry first-string centre for Ned Vitarelli's pack, broke his left leg in three places within the first two minutes of play when he crashed into the Kingston goal post in a scramble. He was taken out on a stretcher and is in St. Joseph's Hospital here. Goalie Anderson of Kingston suffered a three-stitch cut on the head late in the second period and had to retire, Don Dougall replacing him. Play was generally fast and fairly rugged, with the visitors drawing eight of the 13 penalties. Bud Ohlke and Reg Stewart were gated with majors in the middle heat for swinging fists. The score was 3-0 in the initial inning for Eagles and 4-1 to end the second, Kingston having a 4-3 sniping margin in the last chukker. Only a fair crowd viewed the tilt.

BREAKS LEG—Star centre Joe Rochetta, of the Eagles, had his left leg broken in three places here last night as he crashed into a goal post early in the game which Eagles won 7-5 over Kingston.

Fine Netminding

Some fine goaltending was served up on both sides as the ex-Nylons came up with a surprisingly strong squad — after their big shakeup—to make it a keen contest. The forwards travelled hard all evening on both sides, and the defence checked well. George Brabin notched two markers for Eagles, one each going to Doug Mortimer, Fred Mortimer, Dootch - Vitarelli, Keith Montgomery, and Bert Hill. Leading in assists was Hill with three, as two each were counted by Brabin, Wilson, and Reg. Stewart, singles going to Bill Crowley, Buck Legrow, and Jim Munroe.

Cliff Aitken shoved home two for Kingston, Joe Catlin, Don Muray, and George MacGregor getting the others, with Murray helping on three more. Catlin aided on a pair, single assists being marked for Aitken. Bud Ohlke, Clint Tinkess, and White. The visitors staged a real drive in the third period to whittle down the count, but Eagles were equal to it and scored just one less goal than their opponents in this sizzling stanza.

Started Late

The game was half an hour late starting, awaiting on Kingston. Stewart of that side was gated right away for boarding. Rochetta then was carried off after his injury a half-minute later. Stewart returned and Doug Mortimer opened the scoring on a hot side blast, aided by Brabin. The latter took a return pass from Hill then to make it 2-0, Munroe starting the play. Wilson was waved over for hooking, but was back when Stewart of Kingston went off for holding. It cost a goal as Vitarelli ripped in fast with Legrow and Hill to sink the rubber. Reg Stewart and Birchall got the air next for high-sticking.

Eagles pressed vainly to open the second period. Montgomery was waved away for interference after Doug Mortimer got it for tripping. One was back when Catlin got in with a slap shot to tally, Aitken and Murray building up the play. Goalie Anderson left them for repairs and Dougall came on 10 minutes later. Ohlke and Wilson mixed it to draw majors, and Montgomery got through on a fine tricky rush to tally on a pass-up from Brabin. Milne and Wootton between them made two fine saves as Kingston pressed later till Birchall went off for tripping.

A Hot Stanza

Kingston roared in hard in the third to dominate play for a time, Milne kicking out some hot stabs. Murray scored at point-blank range from Ohlke and Catlin, but Hill got it back shortly, with Wilson and Stewart starting the thrust. Bender went over the wall for tripping, followed by Goodfellow for holding, but both were back when MacGregor got in fast with Tinkess' to catch a net corner. Brabin got that one back on fine fast combination with Crowley (who was outlucked a lot all evening) and Hill. Stewart of the K's drew the official ire for hooking and Fred Mortimer cashed in with a goal from Wilson and Stewart. Then Kingston drove again late to score a pair, Aitken hitting the hemp twice aided first by Murray and White, and later by Murray and Catlin. They pulled their goalie without avail with five seconds left. Teams:

Kingston — Goal Anderson; defence, Stewart and Birchall; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; alternates MacGregor, Catlin, Tinkess, Bender, White and Goodfellow.

Eagles — Goal Milne; defence, Munroe and Montgomery; centre Rochetta; wings, Brabin and Crowley; alternates, Hill Stewart Vitarelli, Legrow, F. Mortimer, Wilson, D. Mortimer, and Wootton.

Referee L. Lecompte; Linesman—R. Ouimet.

Would Outlaw Bowl Games

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP). — The 1950 "coach of the year," Princeton's Charlie Caldwell, called for the outlawing of all bowl games today while the men who direct college athletics plunged headlong into the battle against football over-emphasis.

Caldwell, whose Ivy League Princetonians have won 20 straight games, defended the merits of spring practice and said the sport would have no problems with commercialism if post-season games were eliminated.

"If a team is good, it goes to a bowl and gets money to buy players so it can keep going to bowls," the coach added.

Meanwhile, there were these developments on the bristling college football front:

1. The council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, called a meeting in Chicago for Monday and Tuesday to draw up a definite program for the control of athletics.

2. Twenty-one of 31 schools in the mid-western area okayed recommendations of the NCAA to restrict the two-platoon system, bowl games and spring practice. Every member of the Missouri Valley and Big Seven Conferences except Missouri and Iowa State was included on the de-emphasis list.

Dutchmen Humiliate Tigers Crush Hamilton Team 12-2

By The Canadian Press.

For the first time in more than a decade, Art Childs was on the sidelines Wednesday night when Hamilton Tigers played.

The veteran goaltender announced Tuesday that he had made his last appearance in a Tiger uniform. He is currently aspiring to a political career, contesting the Hamilton district riding of Wentworth for the Progressive Conservatives in the Nov. 22 Ontario elections.

The Tigers, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League leaders, suffered a humiliating 12-2 defeat at the hands of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Wednesday night.

The loss cut Hamilton's lead to one point as second-place Stratford Indians downed Sarnia Sailors 7-4 in Stratford. The Dutchmen took over third place, three points behind Stratford.

Follow Form

OHA Junior A series contests went according to form Wednesday night with second-place Guelph Biltmores edging Barrie Flyers, resting in seventh position in the ten-team league, 7-5; sixth-place St. Catharines Teepees trounced the cellar-dwelling Windsor Spitfires 10-3.

Hamilton, without the services of defencemen Polly Miocinovich and Bud Kemp, could not keep up with the fast-skating Dutchmen.

Ed Stankiewicz blazed the way for the Kitchener-Waterloo win, scoring four times, while playing-coach Bobby Bauer and Art Hurst each scored twice. Maurice Levesque, Doug Verity, Harry Psutka and Ed Kulik added one each. Ron Kemp and Murray Comfort were Hamilton snipers.

Stratford's margin over the sailors would have been greater had it not been for the sensational netminding of Ralph Tattam. Tattam blocked 41 shots during the night.

Mickey Roth and Jack Thaler, with two each, Larry Lemenchick, Billy Flick and Bill Walsh were Stratford scorers while Rolly Beauchamp scored two and Leo Houlihan and Ted Garvin connected once each for Sarnia.

Paces Biltmores

Ron Murphy, Guelph's top goal-getter, paced the Biltmores with three goals. Others were notched by Ken Laufman, Dean Prentice, Harry Howell and Aldo Guidolin. Barrie marksmen were Skip Teal with a pair, Paul Emms, Dave Whalen and Danny MacDonald.

Centre Buddy Boone led St. Catharines to victory, scoring three goals. Pierre Pilote, with two, and one each by Hank C'esla, Jimmy Robertson, Brian Cullen, Gord Myles and Charlie Marshall accounted for other Teepees' goals.

For Windsor, marksmen were Bobby Brown, Jack Miller and Willie Hass.

Rangers, Leafs Play To Draw Boucher Seeks Overtime

By The Canadian Press

Soft-spoken Frank Boucher, whose pet grievance is the ban on the 10-minute sudden-death overtime periods in the National Hockey League, is on solid ground today. His New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs skated off Madison Square Garden ice after 60 minutes Wednesday night, another 2-2 sawoff in the books.

Boucher, whose argument is that the overtime should be revived because the fans—he mentions specifically Ranger fans—want it, is an expert on the subject. Last year the blueshirts set an NHL record with 21 drawn games and this season they've had three in 13 games of the still young 1951-52 season.

A newspaper poll was taken last year and Ranger fans voted for return of the overtime, discarded in the war years because of travel restrictions. And Frank, who tries hard to please the people who pay the shot, couldn't convince the NHL brass to adopt it.

A crowd of 8,263 witnessed Wednesday night's deadlock. The single point, salvaged by a New York goal 42 seconds from time, sent the New Yorkers into fifth place, one ahead of Chicago Black Hawks.

Would Prefer Risk

But Boucher would rather risk a loss in overtime than to send the Madison Square Gardens customers home talking to themselves about the 60 minutes of hockey that proved nothing, except that on the night the Blueshirts were equal to the second-place Leafs.

It was the fifth tie and the fourth on the road for Joe Primeau's Leafs.

It was 1-1 going into the third period on goals by Toronto's Cal Gardner and Rangers' Eddie Slowinski and the Leafs appeared to have the victory in the bag when Sid Smith made it 2-1 with only nine minutes remaining.

Rangers pulled goalkeeper Chuck Rayner out of the nets with 84 seconds to go, sent six men up and the strategy paid off when Paul Ronty evened the count on his first goal of the season.

There's one game on tap tonight at Detroit with the Red Wings entertaining their farmhands, the Hawks. In their first meeting this season, Red Wings showed they didn't miss the six players they sent to Chicago by registering an easy 6-1 triumph.

Hornets Blast St. Louis 8-3

By The Canadian Press.

Frank (King) Clancy's Pittsburgh Hornets rested securely atop the American League standings, blasting St. Louis Flyers 8-3 Wednesday night for their 13th victory in 14 starts. The Hornets have 26 points.

Bobby Hassard fired a 10-foot shot past goalie Red Almas for the first Hornet score with almost nine minutes of the first period over. Six minutes later Pete Backor scored his first goal of the season to put Hornets ahead 2-0. Other Pittsburgh scorers were G. Hannigan, Frank Mathers and Chuck Blair.

St. Louis tallied twice in the second period while Hornets were racking up four more points, one a sensational shot from mid-ice by rookie Frank Sullivan.

It was the fifth straight loss for the Flyers.

The Flyer goals were scored by Al Baccari, Glen Sonmor and Pat Lundy.

At Syracuse, the Warriors downed Cleveland Barons 3-1.

By JACK SULLIVAN

HAMILTON, Nov. 15 (CP). — Ottawa Rough Riders, with no place to go but up after their bottom-spot Big Four Football Union showing in 1950, have taken a deep bite into the eastern Canadian championship and a place in the Grey Cup finals.

They did it after six minutes of football Wednesday, known heretofore as the day of the big steal, with an uninspiring 17-7 victory over Hamilton Tigers in the opening of their home-and-home total-points interprovincial final. The windup is scheduled for Ottawa Saturday, then the eastern final and then the Grey Cup classic Nov. 24.

That 10-point cushion should be sufficient to put Riders into the eastern final "workout" against Sarnia Imperials, Ontario Rugby Football Union champions next week. From there, unless the all-Canadian Imps have hidden power, it is Saskatchewan Roughriders a week Saturday at Toronto Varsity Stadium.

It was a so-so ball game Wednesday with Tiger-Cats leading 7-1 and only six minutes remaining in the game. Then, helped by a disastrous Tiger-Cat fumble, the rested Riders who got a bye into the final by a draw out of the hat, perked up with a three-touchdown drive.

Makes Special Play

That 16-point outburst showed the 10,000 disgruntled Hamilton fans why Riders ended the season in a three-way tie with the Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts. But it was Spider Gibson 180-pound Tiger half, who came up with the play of the afternoon.

With Riders in possession on their own one-yard line in the second quarter, Joe Asquini tore at the Hamilton line. He was stopped by Gibson who perpetrated daylight robbery by snatching the ball from his arms and going over for Hamilton's only major, converted by Tip Logan.

From then until the 54-minute mark, it appeared that the exhausted Tiger-Cats might go to Ottawa with a six-point edge. But quarter Bernie Custis, an import from Syracuse University who was downed for big losses throughout the game, fumbled on his own 30.

The suddenly-alert Riders picked up the loose ball, pounded over for a touchdown and added two more majors before the gun boomed to end the game.

Custis was tabbed the goat of the game while hero roles were taken by Benny MacDonnell, 21-year-old half who bulled over the Hamilton line for two touchdowns and How Turner, who hot-footed over for the other.

Opened Scoring

Bruce Cummings opened the scoring with a single shortly after the opening kick-off. Tip Logan converted Gibson's second-quarter touchdown and Cam Fraser added a single for the Tigers in the third stanza.

Bob Gain, former University of Kentucky kicker, converted one of Ottawa's touchdowns.

An overnight rain made it heavy going at the start on a mud-coated field but a strong cross-wind and an unseasonable warmth of the sun turned it into a fast playing area before half time.

Riders advanced 136 yards through the air on 12 completed passes of 28 tossed by quarter Tom O'Malley. Custis completed five of 10 and Bob McDonald, young Tiger back, connected with the only one fired by him to give Hamilton a yardage gain via the aerial route of 104.

Riders had a 13-10 edge on first downs and gained 170 yards along the ground against 162 for Tigers.

CRU Rejects Sarnia Proposal

HAMILTON, Nov. 15 (CP). — Officials of the Canadian Rugby Union and Big Four League Wednesday turned down a proposal from Sarnia Imperials concerning a guarantee for the Eastern Canada football final.

In turn, a counter-proposal will be presented to Imperials, Ontario Rugby Football Union champions.

It was learned unofficially that Sarnia had agreed to play the eastern final either at Varsity Stadium in Toronto or at the home of the Big Four winner, providing a $7,500 guarantee was met. The game this year was to have been held on the ORFU home field.

Officials decided that the sum asked for by the Imps was out of the question and a new proposal was drawn up.

The meeting was attended by C. C. Lawson, Big Four president; Myer Insky, CRU president; Tom Alison of the CRU, Ralph Cooper, Hamilton Tiger-Cats president; and Jim McCaffrey and Eddie Emerson of Ottawa Roughriders.

GOES TO SYRACUSE

Syracuse Warriors of the American Hockey League announced today they have purchased defencemen Patrick (Red) Bloom from Buffalo Bisons. Bloom, 22, had played three seasons with the Bisons.

Master Plan For Major Ball Leagues

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP). — Baseball is drawing up a master plan to create more major leagues.

Rejecting 10-club or 12-club versions of the current majors as "entirely unsound," a special committee has outlined plans for a new "open" classification by which entire eight-club leagues might qualify as majors.

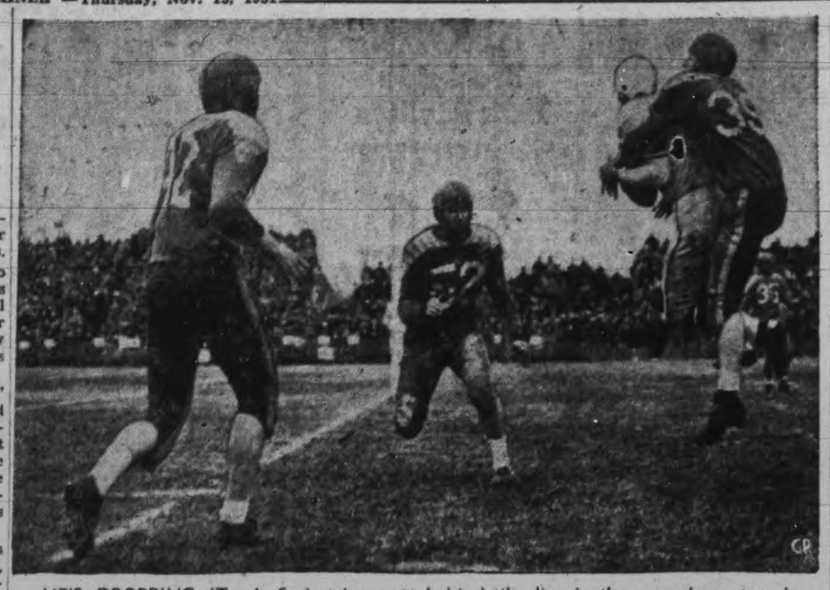
Exact steps leading from "open" to major still must be worked out. But the major-league special committee on Pacific Coast League problems promises the plan will be ready before the minor-league meetings at Columbus, O., in early December. It's still in the proposal stage.

The PCL, waging a vigorous battle against the player draft, would qualify for "open" classification. The new class would provide a measure of draft relief by letting players exempt themselves from selection.

This could mean a major league on the Pacific coast "within a reasonable time." The "open" classification could be reviewed within five years. It is explained as a preliminary step to major-league status.

Need Six Backers

To qualify, a league must have the approval of at least six clubs, remove salary limits, submit full data on stock ownership and financial stability of each club, show an average attendance of 2,250,000 annually over a five-year period, show an aggregate population of 10,000,000 and combined park capacity of at least 120,000.



The present three triple-A leagues are the PCL, International League and American Association.

If the "open" classification is set up, its players would not be subject to draft until they had five years of minor-league experience. If they wanted, they could exempt themselves at contract-signing time.

The draft price from "open" class would be $15,000, instead of the current $10,000 from triple-A. Open leagues would not be permitted to make working agreements with major-league teams. Whether outright ownership would be permitted was still not certain.

HE'S DROPPING IT—A Saskatchewan Roughrider touchdown bid was nipped when pass receiver Jack Nix was tackled hard and dropped the ball during Monday's Western Interprovincial Football Union playoff between the Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos. After Nix snared Glen Dobbs' pass behind tjhe line in the second quarter, defensive halfback Steve Mendryk (39) of Edmonton made a fine, hard tackle and Nix dropped the ball. Coming in to help are Eskimos Ted Tully (42) and George Festeryga (52). Saskatchewan won 19-18 and will represent western Canada in the Grey Cup final..

Here and There In Sport

Don Scott McEwen of Ottawa Wednesday night was named winner of the J. W. Davies Trophy as the outstanding Canadian track and field man for 1951.

The announcement was made by Tom Lord, chairman of the National Track and Field Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

McEwen, Canada's No. 1 Olympic prospect and now a star of the University of Michigan's track team, won the award easily over Bill Parnell, last year's winner, and Jack Hutchins, both star British Columbia middle-distance men, and Ed Bretta of Toronto, Canada's leading pole vaulter.

At New York a $500,000 damage suit on behalf of the widow of George Flores, welterweight boxer fatally injured in the ring, was filed in State Supreme Court yesterday against the International Boxing Club of New York and Madison Square Garden as promoters of the bout.

Attorneys for Elains Flores, 18, the widow, said she held that Flores was mismatched and that facilities and equipment for the bout were unsafe and inadequate.

The 20-year-old Flores died four days after he was knocked out in the eighth round of a bout with Roger Donoghue in Madison Square Garden on Aug. 29.

The action seeks $250,000 for "personal injuries to George Flores" and the same amount for damages "on behalf of his wife."

Jack Gelineau, former Boston Bruins goaltender, Wednesday signed a contract with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. Gelineau confirmed the report at Montreal Wednesday night. Named the National Hockey League's outstanding rookie in 1949-50, Gelineau left the Bruins this season in training camp at Hershey over salary differences.

Sale of Buffalo Bisons International League baseball club franchise to Detroit Tigers was reported at Buffalo last night to be virtually concluded. Lew Horschel, Bison treasurer, announced: "I understand the Buffalo baseball club franchise has been sold to Detroit interests with the real estate properties remaining under local ownership."

The Special is winner-take-all for horse and bettor. The winner takes the whole $15,000 and only first place wagering is allowed. The race will be the first to be televised from coast to coast on the CBS network.

Pittsburgh—the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National Baseball League gave veteran Pete Reiser his unconditional release Wednesday.

The Pirates also released pitcher Vic Lombardi outright to Indianapolis of the American Association.

Carter Defends Crown, Whips Aragon

By BOB MYERS.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15 (AP) — World lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and challenger Art Aragon observed contrasting celebrations today.

Carter enjoyed a round of victory toasts after successfully defending his crown in a bruising 15-round fight Wednesday night. Aragon, the slightly tarnished golden boy of boxing here, in more subdued fashion belatedly observed his 24th birthday. It was two days ago, but he had planned to combine it with a victory celebration.

But Carter belted out a unanimous decision over Aragon, flooring him twice and leaving him well beaten at the end. Both weighed 134¼.

Referee Mushy Callahan and judge Frankie Van gave the fight to Carter by an 11-point spread. Judge Joe Stone put the Gotham Negro ahead by 12 points.

Paid admissions totalled 7,251 and gross receipts, including $35,000 for television rights, were $109,463, at least $20,000 less than had been expected.

Cocky As Ever

Aragon, as cocky as ever, and fresh, took the play in the opening rounds. But he ran into a bristling left hook that floored him for a three-count in the sixth round, and he took a severe beating in the last four rounds. It left him with one eye almost shut and the other cut and bloody.

Aragon, as game as they come, absorbed fearful punishment in the late rounds, particularly in the 12th when Carter had him virtually out on his feet. But he refused to go down again until the 15th, when another left decked him for a one-count.

Carter's manager, Willie Ketchum of New York, said: "We won over Aragon last August, despite the decision against us, and we proved it tonight." The golden boy was given a split decision in the non-title summer meeting.

This was Carter's first defence of the title he won last May from Ike Williams.

Can Have Joe Page For $10,000 Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP).—For $10,000—a good day's hot dog and beer take—any big league club can have Joe Page, the gay reliefer of the 1947-49 champion New York Yankees.

Fireman Joe and 4,683 other players are on the draft list for Monday's grab bag at Cincinnati. Owners are displaying unusual interest in the bargain basement sale.

Here's how the draft works. The last-place club in the American League—the St. Louis Browns, naturally—gets first pick of all eligible minor leaguers. Then the Chicago Cubs, last in the National. And so on through the New York Yankees, No. 15, and the New York Giants, 16th and last.

Last year the majors drafted 28 men for $269,500. Prize pick was Morris Martin, the ex-Brooklyn lefty who wound up with a fine 11-4 record for the Philadelphia A's.

Trent Leaguers To Meet At Batawa

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 15.—President Art Duncan of the Trent Valley Hockey League announced Wednesday that the annual meeting of the loop will be held in near-by Batawa Sunday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers and formulating plans for the coming season.

Last season the loop was split into two divisions, northern and southern with the northern division winners, the Peterborough Brintons, taking the championship, defeating Trenton in the final.

There is a possibility that the division will not be made geographically this season, but according to population. Earlier, there was a report that the larger centres would not be allowed to compete. However, according to the loop president, the report was unfounded.

Too Good To Last, Hypnotism Out

By The Canadian Press.

It was too good to last but it was nice while it did.

No one expected Vancouver Canucks to maintain their defeated streak in the Pacific Coast League for long after going 17 games without a win.

The Canucks' period of success came to an end Wednesday night after four straight games without a defeat after pep talks by a hypnotist. Seattle Ironmen beat 5-3 with the aid of misfired strategy by the Canucks' coach Murph Chamberlain.

Canucks were trailing 4-3 when Chamberlain pulled his goalie to give him the six men to handle the puck. The net was wide open and Nick Tomiuk clinched the decision for Seattle when he lifted the puck into the empty cage. The other Seattle scorers were Cal Stears with two, and Dutch Delmonte and Joe Bell with one each.

PRINCE CHARLES, who will some day be King of England, celebrated his 3rd birthday recently.

In Service For Men Women Who Served

Comrades:

The local press has covered our activities over November 11 and the poppy fund campaign but this column cannot let the chance pass to thank all those who helped to make these undertakings the success they were. These include the hard working poppy committee, the parade committee, the women's auxiliary and above all you veterans who turned out on parade. Another fine group who come out every year are the taggers who helped to make our poppy day the best in three years. Thanks to the school children and Branch 452 for their splendid job. Thanks also to the local press who covered the parade and dinner so well.

The writer of this column this week would like to give you some his impressions gathered on Nov. 11. There are so many things you see which bring home to a person just how much the Legion means to veterans. My first indication of this was at church parade two weeks ago. I was seated beside two members of the Canadian Legion but I never gave it too much thought till after I left the church and it dawned on me that I was seated beside the Hon. Harold Scott and our president of the Canadian Legion Paddy Burke. Here were two men of different faiths, neither one attending his own church and above that they were running against each other in the forthcoming provincial election. Neither one of these gentlemen thought of these things as they were attending church under the banner of the Legion. During the week previous to Remembrance Day I was working on the sale of poppies and it was gratifying to see the many and different people and organizations that purchased them.

Nov. 11 came along and once again the unity that the Legion has was shown. Men from all walks of life, different creeds and religious marching together to pay their respects to those who failed to return.

Again at the Remembrance Day dinner the same thing was noticed to the full. Nobody asked or very much cared what the speakers' personal beliefs were, all that mattered was that they had the welfare and future of the veterans foremost in their minds. Both Houses of Parliament were represented through Mr. Scott and Mr. Fraser and many different faiths by their respective clergy but the main theme was still unity for the benefit of the veterans. These impressions that I have gathered has proved to me what the Canadian Legion means and I only hope that I have made my theme clear. The Legion is UNITY and in unity there is strength and by strength only can the Canadian Legion attain for the veterans the reward they so justly earned. Once again thanks to those who have helped in any way to make this Nov. 11 a credit and a remembrance to those who failed to return. A special thanks goes out to Rev. W. J. Gilling, Rev. Father McCarney, the padres of the Legion, Marwood Patterson, Rabbi Meyer and Capt. Sharpe of the Salavation Army.

All Red Patch veterans are reminded of the Ortona dinner to take place this Dec. 10 in the Canadian Legion hall at 6:30 p.m. and tickets can be purchased from any of the Red Patch executive.

WMS Members Give Cash For Allocation

ROSENEATH, Nov. 15 (ENS).—The value of one dozen eggs, their thank-offering envelopes and the sunshine bags were handed in by the members of the Fenella WMS to their treasurer Mrs. Frank Down, at their November meeting to help swell the funds of the society to assist in paying their allocation to the Presbyterial treasurer.

The meeting was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Adams and Miss Ruby Adams. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. N. C. Leach, the second vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Jewell, was in charge of the worship service, assisted by Mrs. Frank Down, Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry and Mrs. Carl McNaught.

The Rev. R. C. White presented a synopsis of a portion of the study book "From Lakes to Northern Lights."

A letter was read by Mrs. Charles Barker, branch supply secretary, from the Presbyterial supply secretary asking the Fenella WMS to donate woollen mittens toward the fall bale.

Mrs. Laurie Hope was in charge of the program assisted by Mrs. C. McNaught, and Mrs. M. Lonsberry. Mrs. Frank Down conducted a quiz at conclusion of the program.

The hostesses assisted by Mrs. Delbert Adams served lunch.

Political Cauldron Quieter As Churchill Defers Fight

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP)—Winston Churchill's decision to defer a fight on university representation means less work for London postmen.

By putting the issue in the political refrigerator for the lifetime of this parliament, the Conservative Prime Minister also curtailed a red-hot correspondence that had left the mail bags bulging.

The university franchise, briefly, is the system whereby graduates of certain British universities elected their own members. That meant they had two votes, one for a university member and one in their own constituencies. That's where the trouble started.

Democratic Defect

The Labor party claimed that the privilege of plural voting for university graduates was a gross breach of democratic principle. In 1948, the Labor government—advocating "one man, one vote"—abolished the university franchise. Among the 12 members left without a seat were Sir Alan Herbert, famed Independent, and Sir John Anderson, who was expected to have received a post in the present Conservative cabinet.

The Conservatives, from whose ranks the majority of university members are usually drawn, pledged in their 1951 election manifesto that the franchise would be restored. Thus when the Conservatives came back to power in the Oct. 25 general election there was immediate speculation on whether the pledge would be implemented.

A furious correspondence also broke out in the serious newspapers. University men wrote to defend the graduates' vote, saying that democracy does not merely consist of counting heads. One writer said that if the views of the illiterate were deemed of equal worth with those of the highly trained, democracy might be found to contain the seeds of its own decay.

Why Partiality?

In the same issue of The Times, which ran a series of letters for several days, Geoffrey de Freitas, a Labor MP, acidly inquired why university graduates should have an extra vote. Why not old-age pensioners, millionaires and grey-eyed, left-handed deep-sea divers?

The argument was settled, finally, when Churchill announced at the formal opening of parliament Nov. 6 that the university franchise will not be restored until the dissolution of the present parliament. Bringing the seats back now, Churchill implied, would seem like a partisan act and would just inflame party passions.

Merchants Say Christmas Trade To Hit New High

TORONTO — (CP) — Playing Santa Claus is going to cost more this year—at least in Toronto.

Retailers here say that most of the items in his bag—from wrapping ribbons to the Christmas tree itself—will be higher. Pop's pay cheque should find a 10-to-15 per cent bigger hole in it this year than last.

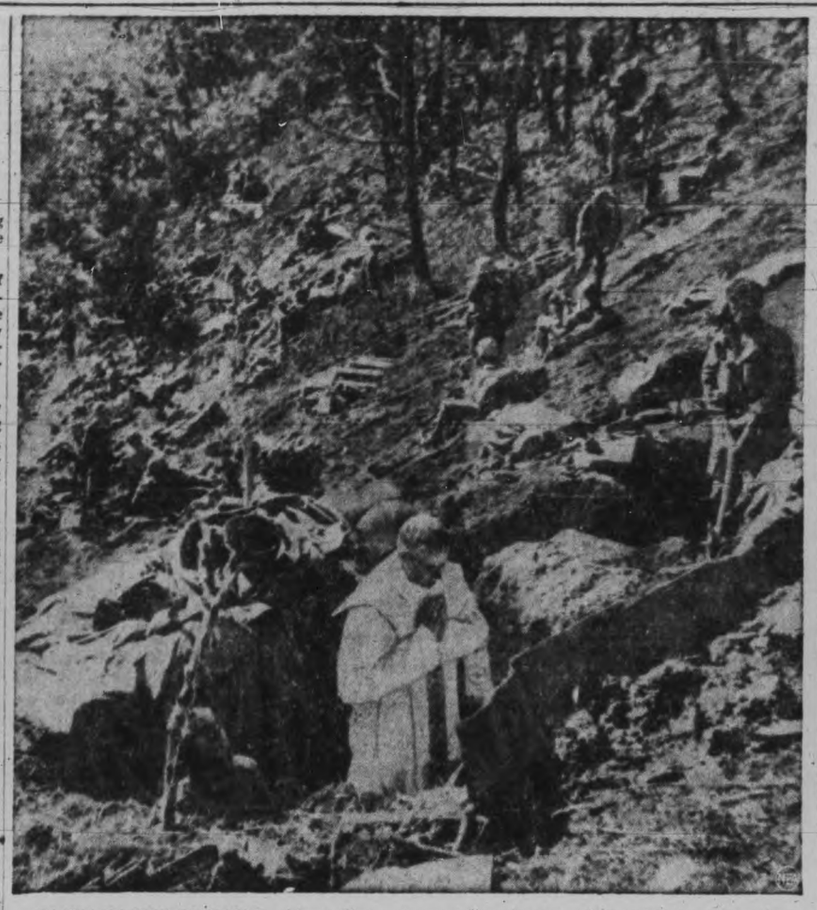
Shelves are sagging right now with goods that have been lying around for the last five months, neglected by "bought out" consumers. But the merchants aren't wrorried.

They believe the festive season, in fact, is going to bring an end to the long sales slump. Sales this year, they say, will be the biggest ever.

They're banking on a flood of new items to help attract the gift-shopper's dollar.

For the kids, mechanical toys are in abundance. Most come from the United States zone of Germany. But, along with other toys, they'll cost about 10 per cent more.

New Dolls



Among new types of dolls is one that opens its mouth and sucks its finger, another whose skin can be bathed and powdered and an electrical doll that says its prayers, recites poems and sings songs.

Simulated leather handbags are being pushed by retailers for the ladies. Rhinestone jewelry also is expected to be in big demand and one Toronto dealer carries a cheaper brand this year.

Imported from Australia, the bracelets, necklaces and earrings sell from $1 to $12. But, says the dealer, their quality is just as good as that of the more expensive ones.

For the man who pays the whole show, gifts are also more expensive.

Sporting equipment, although plentiful, is up in price. Clothes are higher but abundant. Accessories are about the same price and neck ties are about unchanged.

FAITH IN THE FOXHOLE—Navy Chaplain James F. Follard conducts mass for fighting Marines dug in on a hillside somewhere in Korea. Father Follard wrote his own notations on this picture. They said: "Mass in a foxhole at the front lines . . . replacements moving up . . . men taking a breather after enemy shelling . . . men attending mass all around the mountain slope . . . war must go on! . . . Red shells came over before mass and after mass . . . none fell during mass."

Recruits For Woods

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(CP)—More than 500 men in northern Saskatchewan have signed contracts to spend the winter working in the timber in northwestern Ontario.

GRAND MASTER DIES

ME, Italy, Nov. 14 (Reuters).—Prince Ludovico Chigi Albani, 85, Grand Master of the Ancient Order of the Knights of Malta, died today. The Sovereign Military Order of Malta was established in the 11th century and its knights fought in the Crusades. In the 16th century the knights were given the Island of Malta which they ruled until it was conquered by Napoleon in 1798. The Order's headquarters has since been in Rome.

Frost Says Liberals Intended Hide Charities Act Plan

By The Canadian Press

Premier Frost says the Liberals planned to go through the Nov. 22 Ontario general election campaign without revealing their plans to repeal the Charitiable Gifts Act if they gained power. In a Belleville speech Wednesday night, the Premier said he had been surprised to read a newspaper story Monday in which Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, promised to repeal the Act. The revelation had come about as a result of "prodding" by Attorney-General Porter.

The Charitable Gifts Act, passed at the 1949 session of the legislature, provides that charity trusts may not hold more than 10 per cent of any business. It was made retroactive to 1946.

Mr. Thomson, speaking at Perth Wednesday night, said the reconversion program of the Ontario Hydro Commission has bogged down and is costing twice as much as the government will admit.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, pledged at Brantford to establish a Women's Bureau of the Ontario Labor Department if his party wins. Its aim would be to help eliminate discrimination against women in industry.

The premier said the Charitable Gifts Act affects The Toronto Star because the paper's owner, the late Joseph Atkinson, had set up the Atkinson Foundation in his will to administer the proceeds of his estate for charitable purposes.

Money used in establishing the foundation was exempted from taxes. The bill was intended to see that such money really was used for charity. Its provisions also had affected the estate of an old friend of the premier's, the late William Mason, former publisher of The Sudbury Star, whose will also set up a charitable foundation.

One-Sided Coverage

Mr. Atkinson's will had directed that his papers, The Toronto Star and the Star Weekly, be conducted for the benefit of the public in the continued frank and full dissemination of the news. However, the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council had issued a report criticizing the Toronto Star for its "one-sided" coverage of Ontario election campaign news.

"I just ask the people of Ontario: if trustees can forget that direction (of frank and full dissemination of news), do you not think it is probable that they might forget the objects for which the people gave them some $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 by way of exemption?

"The job I have as treasurer of Ontario is to see that trustees do not forget and to see that safeguards are set up, aside from political parties and governments, which make sure that your money now, and 25 years from now and 50 years from now, is used for charity. As long as I am in office, I will see that that is done without fear or favor." Mr. Frost said at Bowmanville his party has no "token" candidates in the election.

Did Better Job

Mr. Thomson, in his speech in Lanark riding, said Liberal administrations during the years 1934 to 1943 were responsible for contruction of more hydro lines than succeeding Progressive Conservative governments have been.

He said the government has been indifferent to health and welfare, having decided to build up a surplus rather than build hospitals. He said mental hospitals in Ontario are inadequate, outmoded and understaffed. Inauguration by the Liberals of a hospital care plan would mean security from worry and poverty resulting from sickness.

Mr. Thomson, in a speech at Renfrew, promised a "new deal" for Ontario Provincial Police if his party wins.

"We will build the best police force in the world here in Ontario. We must pay these men more. We must pay them for the service we demand of them. These are the men we have engaged to protect us and they must be a well-paid force, looked up to throughout the community. They must be able to take their places among the leaders of the community."

He said a Liberal government might go into the housing business as a last resort in the battle to alleviate the shortage of homes.

Mr. Jolliffe criticized the Premier for saying Labor considered him its friend because he was invited to arbitrate a gold mine strike last summer. The invitation had actually been issued because Mr. Frost put himself on record as favoring the voluntary revocable check-off of union dues and Labor was challenging him to "come across and back up his stated word."

The CCF leader described Mr. Thomson as a political opportunist "who has worked his way through a lot of political doors and windows."

George H. Challies, the Ontario cabinet minister in charge of Hydro, said in a statement in Morrisburg that 60-cycle conversion in Central and Western Ontario has cost only $27,000,000 so far, not $40,000,000 as claimed by Mr. Thomson, and $13,000,0000 of that amount has been spent on fixed assets.

Mr. Challies also said the Hydro Commission's 1950 report was handed down last March. Mr. Thomson had said it had not been brought down yet, though usually issued in April.

Cigarette Smuggling

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP)—There are ever-growing attempts to smuggle more and more low-priced United States cigarettes into Canada. Officials said Wednesday no one can be sure just how many of the cigarettes are finding their way into Canadian markets illegally. But on the basis of the attempts made and the increased numbers of smugglers involved, the illegal movement appears to be gaining ground.

Hit By Stray Bullet

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 15—(CP)—A stray bullet from a .22-calibre rifle sent Murray Stephens, 24-year-old Hydro Power Commission worker from Aylmer, to hospital here Wednesday night. Doctors, after several unsuccessful attempts to remove the slug from his cheekbone, decided to leave it there. Leroy Howald, about 17, an Aylmer district youth, was holding the rifle when it discharged.

Borrowed Finery

MONTREAL, Nov. 15. (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott left Montreal for Paris by air Tuesday night in borrowed headgear. He explained that when visiting the Montreal Men's Press Club last week he picked up the wrong hat on departure. Now he is wearing a snappy, midnight blue Homburg, "at least a year newer" than the one he left there.

Learn Britain Sends And Gets New Immigrants

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Migration, so far as Britain is concerned, is by no means a one-way street. While people are leaving the country, others, including Canadians, are arriving.

This is shown in migration figures for 1950 published in the United Kingdom Board of Trade Journal.

While 130,238 people left the UK last year, 66,085 entered from other countries.

Of the total leaving, 112,934 went to Comonwealth countries, of whom 13,434 (6,393 males and 7,041 females) came to Canada. At the same time, 6,970 Canadians (3,032 males and 3,938 females) went to the UK, leaving Canada a net gain of 6,364.

Australia's net gain was 47,019; New Zealand's 7,472; and that of the United States 8,541.

For the purpose of the figures, residence for a year or more is treated as permanent residence.

Thoughts and Views

Here are some extracts from recent speeches:

Arthur A. Schmon, president of Ontario Paper Co., Ltd., to the company's quarter-century club at St. Catharines:

"Industry is never at the point where it cannot hold out to employees the promise of gradual, continued improvement in their way of life. If there is any lesson from the past 50 years, it is that discoveries and inventions and improvements in our methods of producing and distributing goods to people to use are always taking place and will take place as long as the environment is satisfactory."

J. Herbert Smith, vice-president of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario, to a joint meeting at Windsor, of the Electrical Institute of Canada and the APEO:

"It becomes more and more imperative that we make everybody — every child, adult, teacher, writer and worker — understand that 'industry' is a house in which dwells every man and woman who is involved in any way in the development, production and distribution of goods and services. It is labor, management, research, engineering, investment, sales. To some degree it is just about everything you know, and not just a small, selfish, rich and aged group of capitalists.

"Industries are not now the personal property of a few men who may wake up some morning and, not liking the looks of things, say, 'We will close the plant.' Industry is the personal property of thousands of direct stockholders, with many more thousands participating indirectly through insurance companies and other investment houses."

Growers Angry

DELHI, Nov. 15—(CP)—Close to 800 tobacco growers from all sections of this district Wednesday night registered angry dissatisfaction with the prices received for their crops this year and voted to set up an organization to replace the Ontario Tobacco Marketing Board if such a step was possible.

KEYSTONE TO MIDDLE EAST DEFENSE—As map above shows, in any plan for defense against Russian aggression in Europe, Turkey occupies a critical position between Europe and the Middle East. Inevitably tied to Turkey in any defense combination is Greece. Admission of Greece and Turkey to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, expected at the NATO Council meeting in Rome, is also expected to implement the plan for a four-power Middle East defense command, just announced by the U.S., Britain, France and Turkey. Turkey, as the heart of such a command, will guard the right flank of General Eisenhower's NATO army in Europe.

Would Divide Big Fortune Between 2 Vancouver Girls

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15—(CP)—The Vancouver Daily Province said Wednesday R. Dwight Merrill is seeking court permission to divide equally $1,800,000 between his two grandchildren, Eulalie Bloedel, 20, and Virginia Bloedel, 22, both of Vancouver.

Merrill, 82-year-old Seattle lumberman, intends to give away the entire $12,500,000 fortune he recently inherited from Tommy Lee, radio and car heir, the story says.

Merrill, brother-in-law of Lee's father, the late Don Lee of American radio, was named sole beneficiary of the estate of Tommy Lee who plunged to death from the 12th storey of a Los Angeles building, Jan. 13, 1950.

Eulalie and Virginia are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Bloedel, wealthy Vancouver lumber family. Mrs. Bloedel is a daughter of Merrill.

Their father is vice-chairman of the recently formed MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., a lumber company.

Home And Parents Discussed By WMS

ROSENEATH, Nov. 15 (ENS)—"Home, Parents and Children" was the subject of an address given by Mrs. T. S. Coyle, as guest speaker at the November meeting of the WMS, when they entertained the members of the Baby Band with their leader, Mrs. Isabel Brown and their mothers. Mrs. Coyle divided her talk under three headings: the kind of homes we would like to have; the kind of parents we would like to be; the kind of children we would like to have.

In conclusion the speaker said "Let us teach our children from earliest childhood to love the true, the good and the beautiful, and above all, teach them to know God."

The meeting was held in the township hall on Tuesday afternoon, November 13th. There were 19 Baby Band members present and the older children of the group presented the following program: a vocal duet by Marsha and Karen Halstead with Mary Halstead playing piano accompaniment; a reading by Bonnie Duff; a vocal solo by Gaele Thackeray with Mrs. A. J. Campbell accompanist; a chorus by the group concluded the program.

The president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, presided over the worship service, with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe pianist. Mrs. Wm. Halstead led in responsive reading and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe offered prayer.

The community friendship report for the month was 27 cards, eight calls, six parcels and nine letters. Mrs. George Mouncey is secretary.

Mrs. Delbert Brisbin presented a chapter of the study book "From Lakes to Northern Lights."

During the business period plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held on December 1 and committees were appointed.

Plans were made for the Christmas meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Campbell on December 12. The Rev. R. C. White will conduct the installation of officers.

The meeting closed with prayer. Lunch was served by WMS members.

Liberal Choice Visits Marmora

MARMORA, Nov. 15. (ENS)—Inclement weather was responsible for a limited attendance greeting the Liberal candidate for West Hastings, Angus Duffy of Belleville at the political meeting held in the town hall Tuesday evening. F. S. Johnston acted as chairman. Following a number of bagpipe selections by Mr. MacDonald, A. B. Collins, KC, of Belleville was introduced as opening speaker.

Mr. Collins urged his listeners to follow the example of the late Dr. Faulkner who did such a good job of organizing in 1934. What was done in that year could be repeated in 1951 and Angus Duffy, whom he termed a man among men, deserved that support. He brought out the fact that Mr. Duffy had served in several organizations in the city of Belleville and was a gallant soldier in the Second World War.

Harold Seldon, who followed, declared Mr. Duffy's worst enemy to be apathy. He asked a keen interest be taken in the election on November 22, saying the electors had a great privilege in being able to stand up and criticize their government, a privilege not allowed behind the Iron Curtain and in other countries in Europe. He said the candidate was a man capable of sizing up a situation and of getting things done. He was not apathetic in his call to the army when his country needed him or in his gallant work overseas. He was held in high esteem by his men. Mr. Seldon discussed the hospitalization bill and said he could not see anything impossible about the contributory system of hospitalization.

Frank Folwell, MP, next took the platform, eulogizing the candidate for his army record. He criticized the Hydro situation in rural districts where he said the people were not getting a fair share. He hoped the people of West Hastings would all do their best to ensure Angus Duffy's election.

The hospitalization plan was explained by Dr. eGorge Faulkner who disagreed with Premier Frost that such a plan was impossible. It would be a great aid to all and make it possible for all to secure benefit.

The candidate criticized the Frost government on housing, schools, hospitalization and taxation. He asserted that members had been doing only normal duties and had not shown leadership. He believed in fighting for what was right and he saw where the government had failed in the housing question and to bring relief from taxation.

He foresaw the hospitalization plan as a wonderful thing for future generations.

If elected he would hold regular meetings during the year when the people would have a chance to discuss their needs and would be able to criticize him as well as to praise him.

After he had taken his seat Dr. Faulkner further explained the hospitalization plan in answer to some questions put by the chairman. Another number was given on the bagpipes before the gathering dispersed.

Go See It .. For an Inspiration !

You ought to go and look at a Cadillac. You ought to walk around it and look at it from every angle—and you ought to open the door and get in and sit down.

You ought to slide over behind the wheel and look out over that jewel-like dash into the wonderful, exciting beyond.

And you ought to do this, whatever the car you own today—and whatever the car you expect to own.

For it will lift up your spirits and give you an inspiring picture of all that is meant by superb automotive craftsmanship.

Yes—it's an inspiration just to see it. You look at those beautiful, flowing lines—and you can't escape the conviction that Cadillac's artistry in metals is unsurpassed in all the world.

You look at the wonderful fabrics that tailor the seats and cushions—and you realize that Cadillac is unapproached for sumptuous luxury and faultless dignity.

You look at the flawless execution of every structural detail—and you recognize the undoubted fact that Cadillac craftsmanship is in a class by itself.

But your greatest inspiration is yet to come. You ask the attendant on the display room floor to give you the price of the lowest-priced Cadillac model—and you find that it's within the means of a broad range of discriminating Canadian families.

Where else, in all the world—you ask yourself—could there be such a blending of luxury and practicality? And the answer, of course, is—"nowhere." Cadillac, and only Cadillac, has so much to offer.

Since you're coming in to see the car, we won't try to tell you too much about it. But come with your hopes set high.

For here is the new standard for the automotive world. It is new in beauty, in comfort, in luxury and in performance.

We'll be looking for you—some day soon.

Energetic Mayor Becomes Biggest Edmonton Booster

Bp GRAHAM TROTTER.

EDMONTON — (CP). — A dapper young man of Ukrainian descent took over as Edmonton's mayor this week and vowed he'll "sell" Edmonton far and near.

At 37, William Hawrelak is the second-youngest mayor in Edmonton's history. That he is fair shakes as a salesman was convincingly demonstrated in last week's civic election when he ousted former Mayor Sid Parsons by a landslide vote.

"The future holds a real destiny for Edmonton," said Mayor Hawrelak in a post-election interview. "I hope to help make it possible. We've got to tell the people everywhere about our oil, gas and agricultural economy."

Throughout the election campaign he emphasized that he, as a business man, was best suited to negotiate big money loans badly needed by Canada's fastest-growing city.

Big Majority

Mr. Hawrelak rolled up a majority of more than 18,000 votes—second highest in Edmonton's history—out of the 41,000-odd votes cast in the three-way mayoralty fight.

The stocky young bottling works proprietor reached the mayor's chair after a meteoric career in civic affairs. He was first elected to City Council as an alderman in 1949—after an unsuccessful bid the previous year—and acted as mayor for 3½ months last winter while former Mayor Parsons was ill.

While he was acting mayor, he spent much time in the East talking up his city in New York, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa. In New York, he helped negotiate a city loan of $10,468,000 on the United States open market.

Growing Demands

Mayor Hawrelak can't see any immediate end to Edmonton's large-scale borrowing. He says he has written assurance that the city can borrow big amounts against next year in the US despite reports that financiers are becoming wary of the money-hungry oil-boom town.

"We're growing five times as fast as any other city, so we need five times as much money," he said. "The requirements of a growing community should be met immediately instead of waiting until funds are readily available."

He lists Edmonton's biggest needs as provision of more civic utilities and off-street parking.

The dark, wavy-haired mayor freely admits that he has long hankered after his present job. A career of constant administrative work—hail insurance inspector, life insurance salesman, Dominion agricultural inspector, school trustee, alderman — have been stepping stones to the chief magistrate's post.

Father Active

He comes by this ability naturally. His father, who emigrated to Alberta from the Ukraine in 1898, was active in community administration, setting up about 25 school districts and a municipal district.

The original family homestead at Wasel, Alta., about 60 miles northeast of Edmonton, now is leased out by Mayor Hawrelak.

In 1930 he was packing his bags for Kingston, to take a Queen's University course in commerce when a hailstorm wiped out his father's grain crop. Economic conditions forced him to forgo a university education.

Mayor Hawrelak still takes an active interest in his leased farm and, like many other Edmontonians, is interested in several oil ventures. But he says he's still waiting for these to pay off.

Strong Team From Parliament Representing Canada At UN

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Nov. 15 (CP)—A strong team recruited from parliament, the external affairs department and national organizations represents Canada at the United Nations general assembly.

L. B. Pearson, External Affairs Minister, who takes a leading role in assembly sessions despite Canada's middle-power status, heads the delegation and tackles the assembly's toughest problems in the first (political) committee.

Canada's other top delegates are spread out through the other five regular 60-member committees of the assembly—economic, social, trusteeship, budgetary and legal. In these committees the UN questions are threshed out before coming to the main assembly for final disposal. In each committee the Canadian delegate sitting at the conference table is backed up by seasoned advisers from the External Affairs Department.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson, vice-chairman of the Dominion's delegation, takes on the problems in the "ad hoc" committee—a special committee set up to handle the overflow from the first committee.

Delayed In Ottawa

Garson, however, is not expected to take over his UN duties until after Christmas. Government business is keeping him in Ottawa.

Maurice Bourget, Liberal member of parliament for Levis, has the job in the economic committee. It is his first experience in the UN.

The delegation's only woman representative handles Canada's problems in the social committee. Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Toronto, past president of the National Council of Women, is one of 13 women delegates at the assembly. The social committee works on such problems as human rights.

Senator J. R. Hurtibise from Sudbury, is Canada's representative in the trusteeship committee which watches over the UN's supervision of colonial and mandated areas.

In the budgetary committe, T. A. Stone of Chatham, Canada's minister to Sweden, is both chairman of the committee and the Dominion's representative. He was elected chairman by acclamation.

Colin Bennett, MP for the Ontario constituency of Grey North, who has practised law at Meaford, sits behind Canada's sign in the legal committee.

Two MPs on the delegation as parliamentary advisers are Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, Progressive Conservative member for Nanaimo (BC), and F. H. Larson, Liberal member for Kindersley (Sask).

MAIL FROM HOME—Many of the Royal 22nd Regiment received an extra morale boost when Col. M. L. Roy, Archbishop of Quebec and Bishop Ordinary of the Canadian Armed Forces, visited the front-line areas in Korea. Col. Roy left Canada with a large parcel of special delivery letters from loved ones to their husbands and sweethearts in the fighting zone. Here, the Archbishop distributes the mail while Lt.-Col. James Dextraze, Battalion Commanding Officer, second from right, looks on. Other soldiers are not identified.

SCHOLARSHIP FARMER — Glen Erie Flaten, 22-year-old Weyburn, Sask. farmer, has won the T. Eaton Company scholarship which will send him to the University of Saskatchewan for a four-year course in agriculture. Mr. Flaten was chosen from nine candidates, representing each province except Newfoundland, at the Royal Winter Fair. he winner, who farms with his father, was a scholarship student at University of Saskatchewan and last year was awarded the graduates' student achievement award.

Senators Back Pension Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)—The government leader in the Senate said Wednesday that when Canada launches her new $40-a-month pensions at 70 next January she will have a social-security plan second to none in the world.

Senator Wishart Robertson, moving second reading of the government's new old-age security legislation, said it was the culmination of a quarter-century of planning. But such a program came by no magic formula and had to be financed.

He told the Senate the new plan, including a $40 a month pension for those in need between 65 and 69 and new provisions for blind persons, will cost $365,000,000 a year. The 65 to 69 provision will be on a split-cost basis with those provinces agreeing to enter, that plan with the federal government.

Financing will be through what Finance Minister Abbott had described as a two-two-two formula —a two per cent tax on personal incomes, two per cent of the sales tax and two per cent on corporation profits.

Supported Plan

Senator Iva Fallis (PC, Ontario), a member of the joint Senate-Commons committee which recommended the plan to parliament, also spoke in favor of it. She said there was a time when she was against legislation which might curb initiative and thrift. Times had changed her mind.

The rising cost of living had left many persons on fixed incomes facing mounting prices and costs and this engendered fear. People who had retired on modest, but apparently adequate pensions, now faced hardship.

She did not think the $40-a-month pension—which would buy about $16 worth of goods on 1936 standards—was overly generous. And she would have favored a tax at the retail level rather than the two-per-cent sales tax as part of the financing.

FORMER POLISH CHIEF—General Bor-Komorowski who led the Polish army during World War II, is in Montreal for a short visit. He is shown above (second from right) chatting with members of the local Polish colony, Prof. T. F. Domaradzki, director of Slavic studies centre, University of Montreal; A. Jankowski, vice-president, Polish War Veterans Society; and J. Stachiewicz, president, Polish Combatants' Association.

Doubts Connection

WINDSOR, Nov. 15 (CP)—Det.-Sgt. Chris Paget, of the Windsor city police, Wednesday night expressed doubt that Joseph Christie, 31, of Montreal, awaiting sentence here on an armed robbery charge, had anything to do with the $1,700,000 Brinks, Inc., robbery in Boston nearly two years ago. The possible connection was suggested in a Detroit newspaper story.

Would Like To Sell, Rent Old City Hall

Property Committee To Advertise To Dispose of Hall

Sale or long term lease of the old city hall and police headquarters at Water and Simcoe Streets is proposed by the property committee of the council as a preferable method of disposal. Ald. Hugh Waddell is chairman of the committee which met on Tuesday.

Recommendation going to the council is to the effect that it is not advisable to attempt to rent the property for office use. City Clerk Outram was authorized to advertise for sale or long lease "the land on which these buildings stand, in order that suitable new buildings may be erected thereon."

This proposal of the property committee suggests an alternative of adherence to the policy of retaining the entire block as part of the municipal estate. Frontage of that block is on the four streets, George, Water, Charlotte and Simcoe.

The plan is for "sale" or "long lease of the land on which these (city hall) buildings stand." It presents the long view of ownership and use instead of trying to obtain immediate tenants.

Rent Garage

The committee recommends rental of the two police garages to R. Neill Limited "at $15 a month for both."

The city's offer of the former Queen Mary Hospital and adjoining land to the provincial Department of Health for mental hospital purposes will be withdrawn if the government does not indicate some definite intention of acceptance. That is the substance of another recommendation. Toward the close of his aldermanic term, Grant Miller was keenly interested in that prospect.

Hon. Russell Kelley, as Minister of Health, visited the property looking over the river from the north end of Water St., but his serious illness not long afterward apparently suspended departmental report and action.

Property Manager

City Clerk Outram's authority as manager of city property will be extended to supervision of the new municipal headquarters in another recommendation to the council.

The committee's motion will also direct that "the heads of all civic departments will be so advised, and they will be requested to consult the City Clerk regarding all particulars concerning the building, equipment and furnishings."

The report of Ronald Winter regarding additional furnishings for the city's Department of Health is to be referred to the Board of Health for consideration and recommendation, and the local board is to be informed that the committee is prepared to implement the report on the approval of the board."

"Groups connected with the civic administration, and whose objects are for the benefit and service of the citizens generally may use the general committee room as a meeting place if they notify the City Clerk 48 hours in advance of the required time, and secure his authority."

First Few Vote In Advance Polls In Prov. Election

Few ballots were cast by noon today as the three advance polls in Peterborough county opened.

Two polls are in the city—at —Jobbitt's hardware on Park St south and at the Legion Hall on Murray St.—and the third is at the Havelock town hall in the council chamber.

By noon, only three or four had voted at the Legion polling booth, none had voted at Jobbitt's, and none at Havelock.

Those entitled to vote at advance polls are people who would be out of town on election day in the normal course of their business. That includes travellers, and others whose work takes them out of the city.

The polls are open three days this year, today, Friday and Saturday. In the last provincial election, in 1948, they were open only one day, and there was only one advance poll in the city.

Returning officers at the three polls are: Wilfred Shiner, Jobbitt's; Charles Coleman, Legion, and Mrs. Rebeccah Jones, Havelock.

CGE Lines To City Cut By Thieves

When thieves cut the main Toronto-to-Montreal telephone cable at Pickering early Wednesday, the line from the head office of the CGE in Toronto to the Peterborough Works was put out of order.

James E. Girven, works manager, said today that the messages piled up until 1.45 p.m., when the two teletype machines commenced operating.

"We had the board cleaned by 5 p.m." said Mr. Girven.

At 3 a.m. Wednesday the thieves cut 300 feet of wire from the circuit at Pickering. The Bell Telephone company men restored service after eight hours. Every repair man between Toronto and Oshawa was put to work.

ORFU Makes Ruling About Playoff Field

SARNIA, Nov. 15 — (CP). — The Eastern Canada football final will be played Wednesday, Nov- the champions of Big Four football union, Sarnia Imperials were notified today.

The Imperials, champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, will play either Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Ottawa Rough Riders. The Riders downed Hamilton 17-7 Wednesday to take a 10-point lead in the home-and-home total-points final. Second game is at Ottawa Saturday.

The arrangements for the Eastern final were made Wednesday in Hamilton at a meeting of Big Four and Canadian Rugby Union officials. The Imperials, who were not invited to attend, were told they would get a flat guarantee or 50 per cent of the gate receipts—whichever is the greater—for giving up a home date for the game. The Imperials declined to state the amount of the guarantee.

Par Lagerkvist Nobel Winner

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 15—(AP) —The Swedish Academy today awarded the 1951 Nobel prize for literature to one of its own members, Par Lagerkvist, author of the novels "The Dwarf" and "Barabbas."

Lagerkvist 60-year-old playwright, poet, essayist and writer of short stories as well as a novelist, will receive a cheque for 167,612 crowns ($32,357) from King Gustav Adolf at the Nobel prize presentation ceremony here Dec. 10.

The selection was not unexpected. Lagerkvist was mentioned among contenders in 1949 and again in 1950, running second to American novelist William Faulkner last year.

In choosing Lagerkvist, the Academy, clearly followed the wishes of the donor, Alfred Nobel, who stipulated that winners should have "an idealistic tendency."

Lagerkvist was little known outside Scandinavia until the appearance of his novel of the renaissance, "The Dwarf," in 1944.

In 1950, he reached the ranks of international best-sellers with "Barabbas," a novel about the thief saved from crucifixion when the Jews chose to have him released instead of Jesus.

Lagerkvist, an experimenter with style, has succeeded in evolving a stark, simple style that has won him a wide reputation in Europe.

Out-of-Town Cars Hit Considerable Damage

Two out-of-town cars were damaged when they collided at the corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge streets at 10.45 Wednesday morning.

After stopping at the intersection, Clifford Martin of Fenelon Falls said he continued north on Rubidge St., and did not see an approaching westbound car on Sherbrooke St., because of a truck parked at the south east corner of Rubidge St.

The car travelling west, driven by Wallace Lawrence, RR 1, Apsley and the Martin car collided near the centre of the intersection.

Both doors on the left side and the rear fender of Lawrence's car were damaged.

Considerable damage was done to the front end of Martin's car.

Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

3 Aldermen To Run Again For Seats On Council In Civic Election Dec. 3

Doug Miller, Pat Anglesey, John A. Dewart To Seek Old Places On City Council For Next Two Years

Three members of the city council will be candidates for re-election. That is a definite announcement by Ald. T. D. Miller, Ald. P. J. Anglesey and Ald. John Dewart. Fourth member of the council facing terms of two years now approaching calendar end, is Ald. E. C. Braund, who was out of the city today. It is expected that he will offer himself for renomination. Ald. Miller and Ald. Anglesey are senior members with four years of experience in their record. Ald. Miller was for two years chairman of the fire, water and light committee, followed this year by chairmanship of the finance committee.

Headed Parks

Ald. Anglesey has been head of the welfare and reception committees and was this year chairman of parks.

Ald. J. A. Dewart was elected to the council two years ago, and this year was chairman of the Board of Health. Ald. Braund presided over the industrial committee this year.

Employees Paid $6,736 Insurance

A group insurance plan operated by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce for retailers and small businesses in the city has paid out $6,736 in benefits since it was begun in January.

Chamber officials reported today that this amount was paid to 72 applicants with the highest claim $442.10.

Forty-two claims for weekly indemnity brought benefits of $2,213 to Peterborough small business establishment operators. This amount would otherwise have had to come out of the operators' pockets.

"The plan has proved most successful," Don Kingdon, assistant to the manager, said today. "There are 48 members of the chamber taking advantage of the plan and 405 people are protected by it. In this way the chamber is offering protection to small businesses in this plan which otherwise would not be available."

82 Chickenpox Cases Reported In October

Chickenpox has the high spot on the communicable disease list at the Peterborough department of health.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, reported today that there are 82 cases in the city.

In Oct., there were 135 cases of chickenpox, two mumps, one scarlet fever and one whooping cough.

School Children Study Workings Of City Affairs

Two curious schoolboys keenly interested in learning how the local police department operates, had their curiosity changed to surprise temporarily today when they found themselves locked in one of the women's cells in the city jail—for a few seconds.

Twenty-six boys and girls in Grades Six, Seven and Eight from St. Alphonsus School were being shown around the city hall and the police station.

Detective John Stevenson was showing the youngsters how the cells were locked and pulled the lever, which locks all cells in the women's section. When he pulled the lever, a chorus of laughter broke out at the end of the corridor. When the cells were opened a second later, two lads stepped out of the end cell smiling sheepishly.

Study Civic Affairs

The children were in charge of P. J. Moher, who teaches the three grades at St. Alphonsus School. Mr. Moher said the tour was designed to give the youngsters an opportunity to observe municipal affairs and local government in action, thus giving them a better outlook on the responsibility of good citizenship.

Mayor Max Swanston received the students in his office during their tour of the various departments and if the notes that were being scribbled in exercise books is any indication, many of the children will have plenty of information from which to write essays on "My Visit to the City Hall" when they return to their classrooms.

Dairy Employees Vote Two To One To Join Union

Employees of Silverwood Dairies Ltd. have voted more than two to one to accept Local 251, General Workers Union (CCL), as their bargaining agent.

As a result of the vote, held under the supervision of the Ontario Labor Relations Board, it is expected that certification will be granted in a few days.

The previous bargaining agent was the Silverwood Employees' Association. The Association's contract expired at the end of October and a vote was ordered by the Board after an application by Local 251.

Mr. Flanery, OLRB examiner, was the returning officer for the vote that was held Tuesday. The results: 40 ballots cast for Local 251 and 20 for the Association. Three eligible voters were absent.

Office staff and other salaried workers are not included in the bargaining unit.

John Hedges is president of Local 251.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

INJURED IN FIGHT

Robert Spratt, Lindsay, is in Ross Memorial hospital, with a broken leg. Spratt received the injury Monday evening following a fight involving Albert Moncrief, also of Lindsay, and others at a Kent St. hotel.

HUNTER'S TROPHY

A 400-pound bear is the trophy Art Young of Kinmount has taken home from this year's hunt. Mr. Young killed the bear north of Haliburton. It was a day's work to get the bear into camp and took six men to tie the animal to the side of the car.

GETS SHOOTING AWARD

Bill Meldum, Port Hope, has been awarded the Maple Leaf plaque, the highest shooting award obtainable in Canada. He is the 13th person in Canada to receive the award. Twenty perfect targets must be obtained in each of three positions—standing, sitting or kneeling, and prone—all from a distance of 20 yards.

HOLD NOMINATION MEETING

The nomination meeting for the Port Hope elections will be Dec. 3, 7.30 p.m. The elections will be a week later, Dec. 10. To be returned are a mayor, reeve, deputy reeve, six councillors, water commissioner, hydro commissioner, and a school trustee form each ward. A $1 raise brings the returning officer's pay up to $9, the poll clerk's up to $8, and the polling place $7.

A PERFECT JOB

Memo to Ald. N. Graham, chairman of the city's sanitation department: "Three men on a truck, piled high with refuse in cardboard containers, turned in a perfect job at the incinerator this morning. Although they had only five or six blocks to go, they covered the load with their tarpaulin tightly tied at its four corners. To identify these men, one of them was wearing a hard Christie hat. The load hardly needed the cover for the short run. On the other side of that picture was the uncovered load of ashes near Hunter and George Streets Tuesday."

SECOND LABOR CANDIDATE

CCL and AFL workers have united in Campbellford to support a second labor candidate for councillor in the coming municipal elections. Wednesday night they gave their support to the nomination of Fred Bausch, past president of Local 83, Pulp and Paper Workers (AFL). On Sunday they threw their weight behind Lionel Jones, president of Local 743, Textile Workers Union (CIO-CCL). Labor support comes from the union-organized plants—Campbellford Cloth Co. and the Gair Co. of Canada Ltd. (pulp-mill). There are about 320 union members in the two plants. The nomination day is Nov. 26 and the election will be Dec. 3. There are seven vacancies for council.

Truck Hits Girl Playing With Her Dogs

A two-and-a-half-year-old girl, Beth Campbell, of 110 Simcoe St., was hit by a milk delivery truck at 10.30 am today and suffered slight cuts and bruises.

Driver of the truck, Mike Andreoli, 591 Downie St., said he was driving west on Hunter St. just east of Water St. when the girl ran out from between two parked cars on the north side of the road.

Andreoli braked the truck and turned to the left, but couldn't stop in time, and the front bumper hit the girl, knocking her to the ground.

He said she was playing with two dogs and didn't look either east or west when she came out from between the parked cars.

Didn't Have Chance

Austin Elliott, 241 Swanston Ave., a witness, said Andreoli didn't have any chance to stop in time. Elliott picked up the child after the accident and carried her in his arms to the Water St. office of Dr. H. M. Yelland.

Later, the girl was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for examination.

One of the dogs, a black spaniel, followed Elliott and the girl to the doctor's office and waited there until her treatment was finished.

When Constable Dennis Traynor arrived, the child was crying and unable to tell him her name and address. He got the information later at the hospital.

Elliott said he didn't know whether he should have picked the girl off the street or not. "But I couldn't just stand there and hear her cry. Once I saw a man hit by a train at a level crossing, die on the street, and nobody moved a muscle to help him," he said.

Obituary

JAMES BLAKE LANG

After a short illness, James Blake Lang, son of a former MP for the old constituency of Peterborough East, died Wednesday in hospital after a short illness. He was in his 66th year.

Mr. Lang was born and educated in Otonabee township. His parents were the late John Lang and Elizabeth Shearer. For some years he farmed in South Monaghan but after the death of his wife, the former Margaret Berry, 15 years ago, he moved back to Otonabee.

At the time of his death he was living on the old family homestead, lot 27, concession 6, Otonabee, now being farmed by his nephew Stewart Lang.

He leaves two sisters: Mrs. George Gall of Keene, and Mrs. Mary Thompson of Mount Julian. He had no children.

Mr. Lang was the son of the late John Lang who was three times elected to parliament in the old constituency of Peterborough East, now part of Hastings-Peterborough. Mr. Lang Sr. was the successful Liberal candidate in 1887, 1896 and 1900.

The funeral will be from the home of Stewart Lang, Otonabee, at 1:30 pm Saturday. Burial place has not yet been decided on.

School For Organists To Be Held In Whitby

A school for United church organists will be held at Ontario Ladies College, Whitby, during Christmas week.

This was announced Wednesday by the Rev. Stanley Osborne, Mus. Doc., principal of OLC, at a meeting of United church organists and choirmasters. Mr. Osborne was speaking on the place of music in worship.

Wilfred Powell, Mus. Bac., discussed the varieties of material for organ music, and played some examples. The meeting closed after a question period. A number of Peterborough and district organists and choirmasters attended.

Temporary Transformers Get Substation Into Action Until Equipment Arrives

A temporary electric substation on High St., near Lansdowne St., was recently put into service, R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported to the Utilities Commission Wednesday. The peak load was 1,080 kilowatts on an 1,800 kw. rated capacity.

Actually, three transformers were obtained from the Hydro-Electric Commission of the capacity mentioned. They are substituting for permanent transformers that are on order from CGE, but cannot be delivered until next year.

This temporary arrangement is working satisfactorily.

Twenty new street lights were set up in October, including the six ornamental standards at city hall, each with 1,000 watt floodlights, and underground wiring.

Lighting Circuits

Lighting circuits were rebuilt on High St. from Lansdowne to No. 5 substation; on Chamberlain from Monaghan Road to High St.; and on Cameron from Monaghan Rd. to St. Catherine. The power circuit on Ford Ave. was rebuilt from Romaine St. south to Parker's mill.

Peterborough's peak electric power load last month was up 2,761 kilowatts, or 14%, to 23,400 kw. In minor jobs there were 69 water heaters connected; 55 new 3-wire and 10 2-wire services were connected, and 24 services were changed from two to three wire.

In the distribution system, work continued in re-arranging primary circuits emanating from the new No. 6 substation. Work was begun on a primary line on High St. to connect No. 5 and No. 6 substations.

In the water department, the total pumpage was 138,631,000 gals. an increase of 8,251,000 gals. over last year. The maximum rate of pumpage was 8.6 million gals. a day during the month.

"At the main pump house, water wheels No. 1 and No. 2 were inspected, and found in good condition. Repairs were made to the stop logs to provide for their easier jacking. New water mains were laid on Gilmour between Albertus and Gordon Ave.; on Albertus from Charlotte to Homewood; and on Aberdeen from Downie St. westerly 237 ft. Forty new services were laid during the month.

Gas Production

Production of propane gas was down 547,000 cu. ft. "This can be attributed to the correction of the gas volume to normal temperature and pressure, a practice that was initiated at the beginning of 1951, in an effort to correlate gas made to propane used"

Here's another item: "In the gas distribution system eight joints were repaired on Simcoe St. and five on Aylmer St."

Socks For Troops

HALIFAX (CP)—Red Cross women all over Nova Scotia contributed to the pile of warm socks that was quickly shipped from here to headquarters in Toronto after Red Cross headquarters said socks were needed for Christmas parcels for the Canadian troops in Korea.

THIS IS A HOOSEGOW ! — Just being arrested will be an esthetic experience once the City of Cleveland, O., completes its new police headquarters building seen in architect's sketch above. The policeman's dream station, incorporating all the best features of police station design, will be built at a cost of $788,000 and is expected to become a model for other cities. Grill effect on the second floor is produced by exterior sunshades on a floor-to-ceiling glass wall. Included in the set-up are cell blocks, offices, pistol range, assembly room, locker room, 28-car garage and 90-car parking lot.

Jungle Fighters Go To Malaya From Fiji Units

By J. C. GRAHAM.

AUCKLAND, NZ — (CP) — The decision of the government of Fiji to raise a battalion for service in Malaya means a most valuable reinforcement for the anti-guerrilla campaign the British have been fighting there many months.

During the war in the Pacific the Fijians showed themselves to be among the world's best jungle warriors. The Fijian battalion for Malaya will consist entirely of volunteers and is expected to reach Malaya early next year. After further training on the spot, it will join the forces now fighting the Communist-led terrorists.

The Fiji Islands are about 1,100 miles north of New Zealand, and New Zealand has been responsible for the organization and the training of the Fijian forces since 1948.

Magnificent Specimens

As was the case with the Fijian forces, which fought in the Second World War, a number of officers and non-commissioned officers from New Zealand will serve with the battalion. Racially the Fijians are Melanesians, men of magnificent physique who can cover remarkable distances through dense forest and still fight a skilful battle against an enemy who often does not suspect their stealthy approach.

During the war two battalions of Fijians fought in the Solomons and independent commandos proved invaluable in many Pacific island operations. The New Zealand-led Fijians proved far superior to the Japanese as jungle fighters. In some cases they lived for weeks behind the enemy lines, harrying their communications and picking off groups of the enemy.

SYDNEY, Australia. (Reuters) —Two seamen are planning to fulfil a life ambition by exploring tiny Rapa Island 670 miles south of Tahiti. John Fillylove and Captain Jack Arnot, former naval shipmates, bought a 40-foot yacht with $60,000 won in the Irish sweepstakes.

Economist Urges Aussies Boost Primary Industry

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP)— Ever since the depression of the 1930's Australian governments have followed a policy of building up secondary industry.

Now Colin Clark— considered by all, the most provocative and by some, the ablest economist in Australia— has suggested that the country is forsaking its destiny by not developing its primary production.

In an article published by the Commonwealth bank— Australia's central bank— he urges that Australia should call a halt to industrial expansion and reverse the policy of the last 20 years.

"Since 1938-39 we have run our rural labor force down from 520,000 to 450,000 and raised our factory labor force from 542,000 to 889,000, he says.

"Each rural worker now is producing on the average 50 per cent more goods a year than he was in 1938-39. It is very doubtful whether the average product a man-year of those engaged in manufacture has increased at all.

"It is not even as if this enormously enlarged factory labor force were enabling us to dispense with some of our imports.

Huge Increase.

"After allowing for price changes we find we are now importing quantities of goods greater by approximately 90 per cent than in 1938-39.

"In effect, in 1938-39 we were importing the value equivalent of the labor of 290,000 Australian manufacturing workers. Today it is the equivalent of 550,000 workers.

"The idea of an economically self-sufficient Australia proves to have been nothing but a bad dream."

Each Australian worker in primary industry is now producing one and a half times the quantity of goods he was in 1938-39, says Mr. Clark. By exporting these goods we can obtain three times the quantity obtainable in 1938-39.

"Many people are not yet aware of the astonishing but indisputable fact that Australia employs much larger proportion of its labor force in manufacture than does the United States of America," he declares. "We had already exceeded this proportion slightly before the war."

Alberta Begins Study Of Alcoholism

EDMONTON—(CP)—An organization to study the problem of alcoholism—the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta — has been initiated by the medical profession. Several industries and businesses in the province have endorsed the society.

Dr. J. D. Ross, of Edmonton, is president. Two vice-presidents are Mrs. D. R. Wood, MLA for Stony Plain, and Dr. R. J. Dinning, of Calgary.

Other executive members are Dr. Andrew Stewart, president of the University of Alberta, and C. W. Ross, Edmonton lumberman.

A committee of the Alberta division of the Canadian Medical Association has considered the problem for the past year. Similar organizations in Ontario and the United States have been studied.

The first object of the foundation is the education of the public to the problems of alcoholism and its recognition as a medical matter rather than one for the courts.

An estimated 20,000 Albertans are classed as problem drinkers who should be under medical care. This figure is based on US surveys. The foundation will carry out surveys of its own to determine an accurate figure.

Foundation Program

The program of the foundation will cover the education, treatment and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Until financial support increases activities will centre on the educational program.

One of the objects of the Alberta Foundation is to "establish and operate a hospital or hospitals for the experimentation in methods of treating alcoholics and to make arrangements with existing hospitals for this purpose."

Patients will be taken on a voluntary basis. Only those willing to be cured of excessive craving for alcohol are suitable for treatment, an executive said.

It is expected it will take about three years for the Alberta foundation to reach maturity. Funds will be raised for the most part by private donation.

The John Howard Society and Alcoholics Anonymous will co-operate with the new body.

Exports Grow

VICTORIA, Seychelles Islands (CP)—Exports of this British colony in the Indian Ocean were valued at £609,369 during 1950, an increase of more than £200,000 over the previous year. Copra is the most important product and the islands have benefitted since the war from grants made under the colonial development and welfare acts.

Power Supply Menaced

STOCKHOLM (CP)—An October drought threatens Sweden's power supply. Water flowing to big power-producing rivers is less than 50 per cent of normal, reservoirs are filled only to 70 per cent of capacity and power consumption is up from five to 10 per cent over last year. Steam-power plant production has had to be increased.

Alberta Honors Her Top Farm Families

EDMONTON, Nov. 15 (CP)—The Alberta government today raised four farm families to the province's peerage of agriculture.

For a third year, the Social Credit government announced agriculture's honors list—the Master Farm family Awards—entitling each family to $1,000 cash, an engraved plaque and a name plate for the farm entrance.

Agriculture Minister D. A. Ure said the awards are for "good farming, right living and clear thinking." Thirty-six nominations for the honor were scored on 87 factors ranging from conservation practices and business management to family and community life. The winners:

John G. Porozni of Willingdon, is in a district northeast of Edmonton settled at the turn of the century largely by Romanian immigrants. Porozni in 1928 inherited 160 acres, a log cabin and a $2,000 mortgage. Today he operates a prosperous grain-livestock business, his holdings have grown to 800 acres — and the mortgage is just a memory.

Leading Grower

Victor Watson ranches 5,300 acres near Airdrie just north of Calgary. He is one of Alberta's leading growers of registered seed and captured the oats championship at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair in 1938. His family came west from Harwood, Ont.

John W. Hosford, an Irishman, started in South Edmonton 32 years ago with 160 acres and four scrub cows. Today he has a herd of 100 registered Holstein dairy cattle and his 800-acre farm is one of the most modern in the district.

Floyd Gilkyson hails from La Glace in Northern Alberta's Peace River country. With little little capital, he built up in 20 years a fine beef herd in Canada's youngest agricultural region.

Started In 1949

Alberta began choosing master farm families in 1949. The aim of the awards is to discover and honor those whose activities reflect the advantages of the farming vocation and the dignity of rural life.

The title goes to the whole family, because in making the awards every facet of farm life is considered. The little things are considered as well as shining barns and well-managed fields.

The Gilkysons, for instance, pride themselves on a herd of 15 frisky Shetland ponies, kept on the farm mainly because the Gilkysons whose parents came to Alberta from the United States middle west, and their three sons have a great affection for the friendly little animals.

Mr. Poronzi is cited as an example that a farmer with little formal schooling can become a leader in his calling. Mr. Poronzi had only a grade III education. But he has learned everything he can about agriculture and community affairs. Last year the Poronzis toured Ontario and 11 American states visiting farms and experimental stations to pick up ideas.

Liked Holstein

The value of high-grade cattle is a lesson to be learned from Mr. Hosford's success. When he started out, his dairy herd consisted of four scrub cattle. Someone persuaded him to purchase a pure-bred animal.

"I found the one Holstein produced as much milk as all four scrubs," said Mr. Hosford. "So I went in for purebreds."

The itch to experiment is evident in the career of Mr. Watson, the grower of registered seed. On his farm he has a large seed-cleaning plant. Now he's experimenting with feeding livestock from screenings from the plant. He has built a self-feeder with a capacity of 10 carloads of the screenings, and is adding a shelter for 250 cattle adjacent to it.

"I believe I will be able to feed the proposed herd for about $3,000 and put about $15,000 worth of meat on them when marketed," said the master farmer from Airdrie.

May Use Mission Funds To Improve Students

MONTREAL, Nov. 15—(CP)—The University of Western Ontario will come under the scrutiny of the Canadian Council of Churches executive following charges by the secretary of the Student Christian Movement that the college bars religious representatives from its campus.

The charge was made Wednesday by the Rev. H. L. Puxley of Toronto, a delegate to the annual meeting here of the council and secretary of the National Students Organization.

Mr. Puxley's claim was made during discussion of the low ebb of christian knowledge among the general public and among students. Speakers taking part included Dr. A. W. Cooke of Qualicum Beach, BC, Dr. Winnifred Thomas of Toronto and the Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Anglican Bishop of Toronto.

Dr. Puxley said:

"I've waged every kind of possible warfare to change the situation at the University of Western Ontario as this problem is more important to us than the cold war or the iron curtain."

The bar doesn't mean students are prevented from joining the SCM or professing their religion but "it means that any one with a religious message is not given access to the campus."

Bishop Beverley suggested that the matter be referred to the executive of the council for investigation and the council adopted the motion.

Dr. Cooke said there is "a tremendous proportion of the common people of Canada who have little or no interest in their churches. One finds an appalling ignorance of what churches stand for and the aims of christianity."

Mr. Puxley said 70 per cent of non-Roman Catholic students claimed no church connection and of the remaining 30 per cent "only a minority make any active profession of their faith."

Dr. Thomas suggested that churches divert some of their mission funds for work among students and the council adopted a motion recommending that churches raise their allocation to the SCM by 25 per cent next year.

Report Stalin's Bad Heart Much Worse In October

BERLIN, Nov. 15 — (AP)—Rumors circulated in Berlin Wednesday that Stalin's health has deteriorated in the last month.

The rumor was attributed to an informant on the staff of the Soviet Control Commission, but western officials were unable to obtain any information which might support it.

Stalin, who will be 72 next month, is believed making his usual winter visit to a Black Sea resort to escape Moscow's cold weather. He was absent from the tribunal atop Lenin's tomb when the Soviet armed forces paraded through Red Square in Moscow on Nov. 7, the 34th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

According ot the rumor here, Stalin's heart condition, from which he has suffered for years, deteriorated so much that on Oct. 18, four doctors informed the Soviet Council of Ministers that an operation might be required.

Some veteran diplomats said the latest rumor may be a deliberate plant to prepare opinion for Soviet rejection of suggestions of a meeting of Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman outside the Soviet Union.

Chapter News

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

Meeting of Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE, was held Tuesday evening at the YWCA. Donations were voted to Provincial Workroom; Maintenance Fund; Special Repair Fund; Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund, National Shipping Fund; National Film Fund; Peterborough Film Council.

Representatives were named to attend the candidates' meeting, November 27th, at City Hall prior to the civic election and the annual dinner meeting of the YWCA November 30th. A letter from the general director of the Health League suggested members attend the film "No Greater Sin" during the showing in this city.

Mrs. Margaret Maguire outlined to fellow members the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Mrs. R. A. Kelly asked for help for the YWCA Little Theatre and a donation was made toward linings for their stage curtains.

Rose Island school was adopted by the Chapter and money will be forwarded for cod liver oil to give the pupils. Plans were made for sending an IODE library to the school. Magazines were collected for the rural schools.

Social representatives for the month are Mrs. W. C. Boate, Mrs. Donald Clarke, Mrs. R. Chenoweth and Mrs. J. Comstock.

A clothing exchange for members is to be held April 2nd. Mention was made of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind sale of work at Grafton's store, December 10 to 15.

After the meeting there was a demonstration of plastic ware to which friends of members were invited.

Refreshments were served by the social committee.

When Marrying A Divorcee Must Be Emotionally Free

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a man 24, who says he loves me and wants to marry me. I don't know too much about him, as he comes from another state, but he does seem very nice. However, he is divorced and has a 4-year-old daughter who lives with her mother's people. Frank, my friend, is always talking about his wonderful in-laws, how grateful he is to them and how willingly he helps them. He often is at their house because of his child and frequently stays so long that he is late calling for me on a date. I am not jealous, and want him to love the child, but I am afraid if he keeps seeing his former in-laws, his wife might come back into the picture.

MYRA ROSE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You have plenty of reason for apprehension; don't rush into this marriage unless you are sure Frank is emotionally free from his first wife. His continued devotion to her family is a bond with the past that could easily turn into an entanglement.

Marriage Holds Uncertainties

At best, the second wife of a divorced man is entering a life full of uncertainties. She is in constant doubt as to his feelings for wife No. 1, and if the divorce occurred—as most of them do—because of minor incompatibilities, it doesn't take much to stir up the old love. Many women have learned this lesson to their sorrow, but words of pre-marital warning go unheeded.

Naturally, children of the first marriage will increase the possibilities of association between the divorced pair, and when a further complication is added in the form of devoted in-laws, a situation is created charged with emotional dynamite.

Your romance with Frank encounters another obstacle in the fact that you know so little of him. The mere fact that he seems like a nice person is very little recommendation for marriage.

Before taking the trip to the altar, give yourself time to consider the situation carefully. Weigh each problem and see if you don't agree with me that there are too many uncertainties involved to make your future look bright.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: This problem may be none of my business, but if positions were reversed I think I'd want someone to tell me the facts. Our neighbors are decent, upright people. Recently they went away for a week end leaving their 15-year-old daughter in town, presumably with her grandmother. However, she and a girl friend stayed the latter part of both Saturday and Sunday nights over here with their boy friends. They kept us awake until about 5 a.m. Now—should I tell the girl's mother or just forget about it?

MRS. H. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Usually I am a staunch member of the "mind your own business" school, but in a case involving youngsters this age, parents should be told of their daughter's behavior. When you state the facts to your neighbors, however, be sure you tell what you know, not what you think, or assume. If the girl was supposed to be at her grandmother's, I can't see why grandma wasn't aware of the youngster's absence from her house at such undue hours.

Handle this situation as tactfully as possible, for it is lamentably true that parents often resent criticism of their offspring, even where it is justified.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very fond of a boy who is 22, three years older than I. We are not strangers as we have known each other for three years, but I would like to get him more interested in me. He always stops and talks when we meet but never asks for a date. Could I ask him to send me some stickers and a sweat shirt from his college?

BLANCHE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No one would consider you forward if you asked for a few stickers, as long as you offered to pay for them. The sweat shirt is a bigger item and since mailing it would involve some trouble, the request might not be received too well. Let that wait until you do become better acquainted with the boy.

MOVIE COLUMN

Wise Wives Work: - Dinah Shore

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15 (AP)—Songstress Dinah Shore offers the theory that wise wives are working women.

Miss Shore is prejudiced, since she obviously is a working wife. She is the happy spouse of George Montgomery, the intrepid cowpoke and furniture maker, and the mother of Milissa, going on four. She combines these functions with a thrice-weekly air show, a two-a-week TV show, and occasional movies.

"I think it's wonderful to work, she glowed. "It makes me appreciate so much more the time I spend with my family. On the weekends we have a ball. We let the help go and I do the cooking.

Not All Rosy

"Of course, being a working wife has its disadvantages, too. You sometimes resent the time you have to be away from your family."

But she feels the advantages outweigh the drawbacks. "George and I . . . have a vital interest in each other's work, and that makes for happy marriage.

"Some husbands might not like the idea at first, but I think they would learn to appreciate it," she continued. "They would find that they have much more interesting wives."

"After all, a man leads an exciting life. He goes to work, meets people and does interesting things. When he comes home, all his wife can talk about is what happened with children, the neighbors or the plumber. If his wife has a job of he rown, however small, she could provide more stimulating conversation."

"SSHHH!" says Santa. "Don't wake the folks, for I've little time to stay and chat." Time for YOU to get busy. Start Yule shopping at DICKSON'S Today!

National President Visits Silver Cross Chapt.

At the regular meeting of the Silver Cross Chapter Wednesday evening, members were honored in having as their guest Mrs. W. H. Jacobs from Toronto, president of the National Council of Silver Cross Chapters. That there might be more time for this address, business was brief.

Mrs. Jacobs spoke principally of her recent visit to Washington when she had accepted an invitation from the Gold Star Mothers of America, counterpart of the Silver Cross Mothers of Canada, to place a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery on Remembranec Day. As in Canada, the Remembrance service was most impressive.

She said one of her most poignant experiences there was the request from the president of the colored Gold Star Mothers to be photographed with the president from Canada. Mrs. Jacobs showed this picture and many others, especially the tomb of the Unknown Soldier both before and after the wreaths had been placed and others describing the Remembrance ceremony.

Mrs. A. S. Willams, in a few well chosen words, thanked Mrs. Jacobs for the lovely address.

Mrs. J. Morley, accompanied by Mrs. E. Pearce, then favored with two beautiful solos, "Dear Land of Home" and "Smilin' Thru'."

Dainty refreshments were then served and a social hour enjoyed.

Excelsior Class Remembers' Flags Decorate Tea Room

Flags and streamers in red, white and blue curtained the tea and bazaar room of St. James' Sunday School hall used Wednesday afternoon by the Excelsior Bible Class to entertain more than 300 friends.

Members chose this form of decoration in honor of the war dead for whom remembrance services were held last Sunday. The flags were hung neatly from rafter boards of the basement room, and were draped at the centre. The streamers were effective throughout the room and the colors were echoed in small holders for little silk Union Jacks that fluttered on each serving table.

Red roses and white 'mums were lovely on the tea table. They were in a beautiful cut glass bowl and white tapers were in low glass holders. Mrs. R. Bell, past president of the class, poured the tea.

President Mrs. A. Saunders and the teacher, Miss Jesse Martin, received at the door. The tickets were taken by Mrs. Cyril Davis.

Mrs. W. N. Thompson, convener of the tea room, had as her assistants, Mrs. R. Heard, Mrs. A. Fife, Mrs. E. Williamson, Mrs. C. Porter, Mrs. G. English, Mrs. R. Keating and Mrs. A. Phillips.

Replenishing of the plates and tea pots was done by Mrs. S. James, Mrs. C. Palmer, Mrs. L. Robinson, Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. H. Bell and Mrs. A. Lowe.

Bazaar tables half-circled the large room and they were laden with attractive goods for sale. Baked goods sold out completely to the large crowd which began to arrive at two thirty o'clock. The next most popular spot was the "fish pond" where business increased rapidly after school was out. The youngsters also had an eye for the candy booth.

Young mothers were making their purchases mostly at the children's table where there were little girls' dresses, sun suits, sweaters, mitts, socks and babies' things. Towels and fancywork and a selection of pretty aprons, all hand made by the members, also sold well.

Mrs. G. Cuffe, Mrs. N. B. Brown Mrs. Wm. Mantell and Mrs. P. Draper sold the cooking. Mrs. Jack Ainslie, Mrs. H. Winterbottom and Mrs. J. Simmons had charge of the fish pond. Mrs. H. Fife and Mrs. R. Pirie were selling the candy. Children's wear was in charge of Mrs. W. Mortlock and Mrs. R. Armour. Mrs. N. Sullivan sold the aprons and the other bazaar goods were sold by Mrs. Q. Dantzer and Mrs. G. Messervey.

Veteran Editor Creates Noted Christmas Greetings

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP). — For grey-haired, 60-year-old Norah Herdsman, the Christmas season has a special meaning.

In millions of homes throughout Britain and the Commonwealth, products of her year's work bring happy smiles to the faces of adult and child alike.

On every December journey from her three-roomed apartment in a London suburb, to her office near Hyde Park, this short, rosy-cheeked woman sees holly-trimmed windows displaying Christmas cards with rhymes she has created. And in every toy shop or bookstall with a child's book counter, there are fairy tales she has written or edited.

For 23 years now, Oxford-educated Miss Herdsman has been editor for a British firm that produces greeting cards and illustrated booklets.

Every year, throughout Britain, people buy cards she has worded to send to friends and families in Canada and other countries. Products of her work are exported to agencies throughout the Commonwealth.

Still Gets Thrill

It still gives her a thrill of pleasure to open greetings from her own friends and relatives and find the card is one she has had a hand in creating.

But like any other, the job can have its difficult moments. Imagine being asked on a sweltering July day, when close-by Hyde Park looks invitingly green and cool, to rattle off a Christmas carol for new snow scene just going into production.

Card Fashions

"Cards run in fashions like anything else," Miss Herdsman said in an interview. "Sometimes the vogue is long sentimental verses, other years a humorous card may be the best seller." A popular choice now is a card for relatives.

"I've known people who obviously couldn't afford it, pay up to 5s. for a card to mother," she said.

One of the most difficult tasks in editing is to fit such fairy tales as "Little Red Riding Hood" into small illustrated booklets measuring about four inches square. The story must be worked around pictures carried in the corner of every page.

"We sometimes have to count every letter to make it fit," she said. "The logical precision of a child's mind demands that the picture should illustrate the words on the page." This means cutting the story fine in places and padding in others.

Another headache is fitting a story under a picture that takes up two-thirds of the page.

"You've no idea how difficult it is to write 'Jack and the Bean Stalk' in about 100 words," said Miss Herdsman.

ROYAL DATES

The regnal year is the British method of dating acts of parliament, a 1951 act for instance being labelled 15 George VI.

Bethany WI Hold Meeting

BETHANY, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Mrs. William Phillips entertained the members of the Women's Institute for their November meeting on Monday evening, Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding. Three new members paid their fees. The theme of the meeting was historical research.

The correspondence included letters of thanks from several members who had received flowers, fruit, etc., during illness, also from Waltraud Rajski, a patient in Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. It was decided to accept the request of the Athletic Association to cater for their banquet November 30 and committees were appointed to arrange the details.

Mrs. Challice gave an interesting talk on the "History of Knitting" which dates back hundreds of years. "It is thought to be a woman's occupation; actually, knitting was originated among the shepherds watching their flocks, who picked up the matted wool brushed off the sheep in their charge as they scrambled over scraggy moors and glens, and using long wooden needles, they hooked or knit the rough wool together in squares which were later converted into garments."

Mrs. R. Carr gave a report of the Women's Institute convention for Central Ontario held in Toronto the previous week. "The convention theme was 'Paving the Road to Peace with Perseverance.' Today, with strife in the world and rumblings of war in the background we will have to work harder than ever to preserve peace. An important factor in world peace is a better understanding of the problems of the world. The pathway to peace is the path from your house to my house. Through Women's Institute work we learn to live better with ourselves, with our families, with our own community, and with people of other countries. We have received the world as a heritage. None of us has the right to destroy it," were some of the remarks made by Mrs. J. G. Snider of Weston, who was chairman of the convention.

An interesting half hour was spent by the members displaying antiques in their possession and telling the story behind each article. Old jewelry, bonnet type hats belonging to great grandmothers, old dishes, christening robes, hand made, which had been used in one family for four generations, a lantern which used a candle for light, etc., were among the exhibits.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Why shouldn't I dress like a forty-niner to fire up? The coal's so expensive it's like shovelling gold nuggets!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Emem's Rich Fruit Cake For Your 1951 Christmas

The severest critic says: "It's good." (That's Emem.)

My gentlest critics say: "If you made it it's got to be good." (Marianne and my sister Doris.)

My two most forthright critics: "If you put all of that wonderful fruit we saw on the kitchen table in that bowl last night in this cake it can't help but be good—no matter what you dreamed up to add." (Pete and my sister Pearl.)

There you are folks.

The controversy about light, versus dark versus medium, spicy versus fruity or lemony—Christmas cakes that goes on around this house in October is enough to drive a sane person to an institution—but being immune to it I still manage to rush around without a keeper.

This is a medium dark cake full of only the finest fruits. The only spices are cinamon and freshly grated nutmeg. I would like to have had it made a month ago so that my tasting was done after it had a month to ripen, but I was in Halifax and there was no stove in my hotel room!

Emem's Medium Dark Rich Fruit Cake (for Christmas 1951)

On the night before you plan to mix and bake the cake, mix the following fruits: 1-20-oz. can crushed pineapple, 8 ounces red glace cherries whole, 7 ounces citron peel, 7 ounces cut mixed peel, 1 lb. golden sultana raisins, 1 lb. seeded raisins (Lexias or muscats), ¼ lb. cleaned and dried currants, 4 ounces blanched almonds cut in halves, 4 ounces coarsely broken walnuts. Mix well, cover and let stand overnight at room temperature. When ready to mix and bake cake sift cake flour and measure 2 cups into sifter. Place sifter over bowl and add: ½ of a freshly grated whole nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon each salt, cinnamon and soda. Sift into bowl. Add 1 cup each white and brown sugar, ¼ lb. soft butter and 5 eggs. Beat until you have a good smooth batter. If desired this may be beaten under electric beater at "slow" position. Stir this batter into the fruit mixture thoroughly. Have ready 2 averaged-sized loaf pans, buttered and paper-lined and buttered again. Have water pan in bottom of oven, but not so wide it covers bottom of oven. Bake cakes at 275 deg. Fahr. for 3¼ hours. If you bake cakes in pans smaller than loaf pans and in 3 separate sizes they may bake in 3 hours. Keep replenishing water in pan as it boils away.

When removed from oven cool to room temperature and then wrap in several thicknesses of wax paper, and then in heavy towels and keep in cool place to ripen until the Christmas festivities start.

Variations of Fruit Cake (above)

1. Add 1 teaspoon almond flavoring.
2. Omit spices and add 2 or 3 teaspoons grated lemon rind.
3. Use margarine instead of butter.
4. Use ½ lb. almonds and no walnuts, or ½ lb. walnuts and no almonds.

Conservative Party Leads Liberals In Successful Peterborough Fights

Ontario electors will go to the polls on November 22 for the twenty-fourth time since Confederation to elect a legislative assembly. In those 23 former elections the electors of Peterborough city have returned the Conservative candidate on 13 occasions the Liberal candidate on eight, a Unionist candidate once and a Labor candidate once. In that same period 13 men have represented the riding which was formerly known as Peterborough West. Seven of these were Conservative and four were Liberals. There have been two Scotts, both Conservative, elected and there have been two men who reached cabinet rank. James R. Stratton, Liberal is the dean of the representatives having served 19 years and was Provincial Secretary. Hon. Harold Scott who has represented Peterborough in the last three legislatures, is the present Conservative candidate, is minister of Lands and Forests and along with W. H. Scott who was member in the latter part of the last century have both sat in the Legislature for nine years. John Carnegie the first representative in the Legislature sat for seven years.

But prior to 1934, Peterborough city and county was represented by two members. Peterborough West consisted of the Peterborough city and the townships of Galway, Cavendish, Harvey, Ennismore, Smith and North Monaghan. Peterborough East was made up of the townships of Asphodel, Belmont, Methuen, Burleigh, Anstruthern, Chandos, Douro, Dummer and Otonabee and the villages of Lakefield, Norwood, Havelock and Ashburnham prior to it becoming part of the city of Peterborough.

Majorities have ranged from one vote to several thousands and on two occasions elections were upset when charges of bribery were proved before courts.

18 Elections In Peterborough East

Prior to amalgamation of the two ridings in 1934 Peterborough East had had 18 general elections. Eight of these contests were won by the Conservative candidate, eight by the Liberal candidate, one by the United Farmers' candidate and one by the Unionist candidate. Of the nine men who represented the riding, five were Conservative and three were Liberal. Two of the Liberals were father and son, William Anderson and his son W. A. Anderson. Thomas Blezard represented the riding for 23 years back in the days of the Mowat, Hardy and Ross administrations. Jas. Thompson sat for 11 years and William Anderson for six. Both ridings have fairly consistently elected a member who has sat on the government side of the house.

Immediately following Confederation Sir John A. Macdonald; the Canadian Prime Minister, was anixous to preserve the coalition of the parties in the provincial legislatures. These coalitions had brought about the uniting of the provinces into the Dominion of Canada He chose as first premier of Ontario John Sandfield Macdonald, a Reformer, who had opposed Confederation, but was now prepared to work loyally to make the scheme successful

Sir John A. hoped that Sandfield would be able to win many of the Reformers from George Brown who had supported Confederation, but now believed there was no reason for continuing the coalition. Sandfield was only partially successful for the Liberals or Reformers had a strong leader in Edward Blake.

The election in July, 1867, resulted in Sandfield Macdonald's Unionists being elected and forming the government. There was 54 Unionists, 28 Reformers and 5 Independents elected to the first legislature. In Peterborough West, John Carnegie, Unionist, defeated John Walton, Liberal, by 19 votes. Carneigie 671, Walton 652. In Peterborough East George Read of Keene, Conservative, was elected over Evans Ingram, Otonabee, Liberal, by 399 votes.

At the election in 1871 the government was returned with a small majority but later in the year was defeated on a vote in the House and Edward Blake formed a ministry and the Liberal party entered upon a tenure of office which continued without interruption for 33 years. The election in Peterborough West resulted in T. M. Fairburn, Liberal, being elected over Mr. Carnegie by 53 votes and in Peterborough East Mr. Read was re-elected over John O'Donohue, Liberal, of Toronto by 297 votes.

Mr. Fairburn died in 1874 and the by-election saw W. H. Scott, Conservative, defeat David Dumble, Liberal, 684 to 678, a majority of six votes.

Election Declared Void

In the election of 1875 the Liberals increased their representation in the province and George A. Cox, Liberal, was elected, defeating Mr. Scott by 45 votes. Mr. Scott protested the election on the ground of irregularities and before Chief Justice Draper bribery was admitted on the part of Mr. Cox's agent. The vote was voided and in the new election Mr. Scott defeated Mr. Cox by one vote, 1,005 to 1,004. Mr. Cox fyled a petition against the return of Mr. Scott but later withdrew it.

In Peterborough East something similar happened. Dr. John O'Sullivan of Peterborough, Conservative candidate was elected over James Stratton, Sr., by 62 votes. The election was voided on the grounds of bribery and at the new vote Mr. O'Sullivan, in a three-man fight, defeated James Hogan, Liberal, and William Sargent, Independent. The vote was O'Sullivan 722, Hogan 365 and Sargent 340.

In 1872 Mr. Blake retired as premier when a law was passed making it impossible for a person to be a member at the same time of a Legislative Assembly and the House of Commons. He was succeeded by Oliver Mowat, who as a member of Macdonald's coalition government had been one of the Fathers of Confederation.

In 1879 Peterborough West returned Mr. Scott over James Elliott, Smith township, Liberal, and James Hogan, Independent. The vote was: Scott 1,130, Elliott 878, Hogan 137, and in the East riding Thomas Blezard commenced his long reign. Mr. Blezard was a Liberal and at his first election defeated Henry Calcutt of Ashburnham, 476 to 353. Then in 1883 he defeated Mr. Read 1,946 to 1,685 and in 1886 he won a three-man fight, defeating James Stevenson and Duncan McLeod an Independent Reformer, A. R. Kidd, running as an Equal Righter, was beaten by the veteran Blezard in 1890 by 76 votes, and Mr. Lancaster lost out in 1894 by 456 votes. In 1898 it was Dr. S. P. Ford of Norwood who proved no match for the popular Mr. Blezard.

John Carnegie came out of retirement to carry the Conservative banner in the 1883 election and defeated James Camblell, Liberal, 1,257 to 1,171. However, in 1886 J. R. Stratton appeared and he defeated Mr. Carnegie by 32 votes. In 1890 Mr. Carnegie was an Equal Righter and he again lost to Mr. Stratton this time by 564 votes. Harry Winch lost out to Mr. Stratton in 1894 by 760 votes and J. W. Garvin by 1,004 votes in 1898.

In 1899 Hon. George Ross was sworn in as Prime Minister and about the same time Sir James Whitney was named leader of the Conservative party. Mr. Ross appealed to the electors on May 29, 1902, and was returned with 51 supporters. Mr. Whitney went back as leader of the Opposition with 46 supporters. Mr. Stratton was return in Peterborough West defeating Col. J. W. Miller by 1,194 votes and William Anderson, Sr., Liberal, was elected in Peterborough East, defeating H. A. Moore by 217 votes.

Before the next election in 1905 there came the Gamey charges and investigation. Late in January of that year Mr. Ross appealed to the people. His government was defeated and the Conservatives returned with 69 seats.

T. E. Bradburn Elected

In Peterborough West T. E. Bradburn, Conservative, was elected with a majority of 1,263 over R. F. McWilliams, now Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. Mr. McWilliams had secured the nomination when the Hon. J. R. Stratton declined to run. In Peterborough East, William Anderson was again returned defeating Mr. Moore by 217 votes.

Sir James Whitney for his first time went to the electors on June 9, 1908, and the Conservatives increased their standing in the Legislature from 69 to 86 and the Liberals dropped from 29 to 19. In this election the first representatives running under the Labor banner were elected. Peterborough West returned Mr. Bradburn, who defeated G. A. Gillespie 2,561 to 2,133, and James Thompson, Conservative, was elected in Peterborough East, defeating Patrick McNulty by 750 votes. The East riding had gone Liberal in the previous seven elections. Hon. A. G. MacKay was leader of the Liberal party.

Mr. Whitney on December 11, 1911, made his second appeal to the people, and his government was again returned with 84 seats, two less than in the 11th Legislature. The Liberals picked up two seats to 21 and Labor held its one representative. Mr. Bradburn did not seek the convention and E. A. Peck was chosen Conservative candidate in Peterborough West. Mr. Peck was opposed by R. R. Hall, who was defeated by 622 votes. Peterborough East had its second three-man contest with Edward Hawthorne Sr. the Liberal candidate, James Thompson the Conservative and David Andrews, Independent. Mr. Thompson had a majority of 481. In the election Hon. Newton Rowell made his first appearance before the electors as leader of the Liberal party.

The 13th Legislature was dissolved on May 29, 1914, with the election on June 29. Mr. Whitney, ill at the time, went to the electors on the government's record and Mr. Rowell, the Liberal leader, appealed on an abolish the bar platform. The Whitney government was returned with 84 seats, an increase of one, the Liberals won in 25 ridings, an increase of four and one Independent Liberal and one Labor member were elected. In Peterborough West Mr. Peck lost the nomination to R. J. Soden, causing a split in the party, and Mr. Gillespie carried the Liberal nomination. The election resulted in Mr. Gillespie being elected, Gillespie 2,587, Soden 2,418. In Peterborough East Mr. Thompson defeated W. A. Anderson, Liberal, by about 500 votes. Mr. Whitney died on September 25, and Sir William Hearst became Prime Minister.

During The First Great War the Ontario Temperance Act was placed on the statute books by the Conservative government led by Mr. Hearst. In 1919 men were returning from overseas, there was much unemployment and governments which had served during the war were being defeated. Third parties were being organized in many of the provinces and electors were asking for a change.

Mr. Hearst went to the people on October 20 and his government suffered one of the worst defeats ever given one in the history of the province. Only one cabinet minister, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson was elected and 24 other Conservative candidates. Their strength from the previous legislature had been reduced from 84 seats to 25. The Liberals led by Hartley Dewart, who had succeeded Mr. Rowell when he joined the Union government of Sir Robert Borden, did not do much better at the polls, however, a third and fourth parties did gain much ground. The United Farmers of Ontario elected 44 members and Labor 11. There was one Soldier candidate and two Independents also elected. The UFO were without a leader in the political sense. But after several caucuses they elected UFO and Labor candidates, in an endeavor to get a man satisfactory to the both groups, Hon. E. C. Drury of Barrie was chosen and asked to form a government. Mr. Drury had not been a candidate in the election and while he was an outstanding farmer leader of the day had not taken a great interest in politics. Mr. Drury carried on for three years with men inexperienced in politics and government.

In the election in Peterborough West a labor man, Thomas Tooms, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, was returned and in Peterborough East, a UFO man, E. N. McDonald was elected. The contest in Peterborough West was between Mr. Tooms, Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Soden. Mr. Tooms polled 4,100 votes, Mr. Gillespie 3,083 and Mr. Soden 2,173.

Reporters Name Tooms

Reporters who covered the nomination meeting at which Mr. Tooms was chosen always claimed that it was due to their votes that he received the nominations. Six names were placed in nomination and three withdrew, leaving Mr. Tooms, T. H. Lane and Alex Morrison. Scrutineers insisted that the four reporters take ballots. On the first vote they divided their four ballots between the three men. Mr. Morrison was low man so he dropped out and on the second ballot the four tossed a coin to see who would get their support. The coin turned up for Mr. Tooms and he won the convention 40 votes to 37.

In the East riding Mr. McDonald opposed Mr. Thompson with the Liberals not entering a candidate. The farmers were well organized and Mr. McDonald polled 1,772 votes and Mr. Thompson who had represented the riding since 1908 1,055. The election was hailed as the dawn of a new day for labor in Peterborough.

Mr. Drury appealed to the people on June 25, 1923 and the results were a completed reversal of the previous election. The Conservative party led by Mr. Ferguson swept the province electing 77. The Liberals with 14 seats, the UFO which saw four cabinet ministers defeated had 17 seats and Labor 3 in a house of 111 seats. W. H. Bradburn, a former mayor, was elected in Peterborough West defeating J. W. Meyers, Liberal and Mr. Tooms. The vote was Bradburn 4,278, Meyers 3,274 and Tooms 1,990. In Peterborough East Mr. McDonald was defeated by Col. Dalton Johnston 2,550 to 2,321. Again no Liberal candidate contested the election.

The 16th Legislature was dissolved on October 18, 1926 and Mr. Ferguson appealed to the electors on a policy of government control of liquor with local option. His attorney general Hon. W. F. Nickle resigned, when he could not go along with his leader on the liquor policy and W. E. N. Sinclair lead the Liberals.

On November 30 the Conservatives were returned with 74 seats, the Liberals 17, Independent Liberals 4, Progressives 13, UFO 3 and Labor 1. Thus is a period of a little more than seven years the UFO and Labor as political parties had practically disappeared. However the Progressive party which was holding the balance of power in the House of Commons in Ottawa was taking the place of UFO and Labor as the third party in the province.

The election was fought on the temperance issue with Mr. Bradburn being returned in Peterborough West defeating G. A. Gillespie 6,396 to 4,760. It was the first time in the history of Peterborough West that the prohibition issue had ever been defeated. In Peterborough East Col. Johnston went down to defeat by W. A. Anderson 3,490 to 2,757 the liquor issue being largely responsible. Thus M. Anderson succeeded to the seat his father had held years before in two legislatures.

The 17th Legislature was dissolved on September 16, 1929, with the election on October 30. It was Mr. Ferguson's second appeal to the people and his party was returned. There were then 112 seats in the House and the Conservatives captured 90, Liberals 15, Progressives 5, Labor 1 and UFO 1. In Peterborough, J. F. Strickland, Conservative, and Dr. A. Moir, Liberal, were the candidates with Mr. Strickland being elected with 5,931 votes. Dr. Moir polled 5,481. While in Peterborough East, T. P. Lancaster, Conservative, was elected, polling 3,118 votes, and William Anderson, Liberal, 3,095. It was another election where the liquor question was much to the fore in the campaigning.

Mr. Strickland was a successful lawyer in Peterborough coming of UE Loyalist stock. He was born in Quebec and educated at Cornwall and Osgoode Hall. He had served overseas with the 4th Battalion and was making his first bid as a political candidate.

In June, 1934, George S. Henry who had succeeded G. Howard Ferguson as Prime Minister, when the latter was appointed by the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett as High Commissioner to Lodon, went to the people. The election was held on June 19 in the height of the depression. Mitchell Hepburn, who two years before had been named Liberal leader, led his party to victory. The Liberals returned with 66 seats, Conservatives 17, Liberal-Progressives 4, CCF 1, Independent 1 and UFO 1.

At the redistribution previous to the election Peterborough West and Peterobrough East were combined into one riding of Peterborough taking in the city and county. In this election T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock, who had represented Peterborough East in the 18th Legislature, was the Conservative candidate. James Hawthorne, of Dummer township, a former warden of the county, ran under the Liberal banner, and the Rev. J. A. Sutherland, of Keene, was the CCF candidate. Mr. Sutherland was the first candidate of that party to contest a provincial election in the Peterborough riding. Mr. Lancaster, in spite of the Liberal landslide in other parts of the province, was elected, polling 34 more votes than Mr. Hawthorne. The poll was Lancaster 9,394, Hawthorne 9,360 and Sutherland 2,288.

Mr. Lancaster a descendant of one of the earliest settlers of Peterborough county was born at Westwood and received his education at the Hastings public school. He was editor and publisher of the Havelock Standard and was for years active in municipal affairs, sports and masonry. He still resides in Havelock.

Mr. Hepburn asked for dissolution of the 19th Legislature on August 25, 1937 and went to the people on October 6. Earl Rowe had succeeded Mr. Henry as leader of the Conservative party and the election resulted in Mr. Hepburn being returned with 66 seats, two more than he had at dissolution. The Conservative candidates were elected in 23 seats and the UFO candidate in one.

In Peterborough A. L. Elliott was the Liberal nominee, Mr. Lancaster sought re-election and William Johnson was the CCF nominee. Mr. Elliott was elected polling 10,003 votes. Mr. Lancaster polled 9,501 and Mr. Johnson 1,849.

Mr. Elliott was born in Smith township and educated in Peterborough schools and Osgoode Hall and at the age of 35 was one of the youngest members to ever represent Peterborough in the Legislature.

Mr. Hepburn resigned as Prime Minister on October 21, 1942 and Gordon Conant succeeded him. Mr. Conant remained as Prime Minister until May 18, 1943, when he was appointed Master of Supreme Court. Harry Nixon succeeded him and went to the people on August 4, 1943. George Drew had succeeded to the leadership of the Conservative party and the election resulted in Mr. Drew being returned with the largest group in the legislature. The Conservatives had 38 seats, CCF 34, Liberals 15, Labor Progressives 2, and Independent Liberal 1. Mr. Drew's government was sworn in on August 17.

Harold Scott Elected

In Peterborough Mr. Elliott, who was absent overseas, was the Liberal candidate, Harold R. Scott was the Conservative and Bruce Johnston the CCF. Mr. Scott was elected with 6,884 votes. Mr. Elliott polled 6,083 and Mr. Johnston 4,763.

This commenced Mr. Scott's term as representative of Peterborough which ultimately saw him being named Minister of Lands and Forests. Mr. Scott was born in Quebec and received his education in Lindsay and Faculty of Education in Toronto. For years he was a successful lumberman and was owner of the Scott Lumber Company in Peterborough.

With no party having an overall majority in the Legislature the government was continually in fear of being defeated and while the two opposition parties, not wanting another election, never combined to defeat the government Mr. Drew after scarcely two years had the Legislature dissolved and appealed to the people on June 4, 1945. The Progressive Conservatives were returned with 66 seats, the Liberals 11, CCF 8, Liberal Labor 3, and Labor Progressive 2.

Mr. Scott was re-elected in Peterborough polling 12,398 votes. W. W. Dawson the Liberal candidate 7,714 and William Grant CCF 4,225.

The 22nd Legislature was dissolved on April 27, 1948 and the election was held on June 7. Mr. Drew was again returned with 53 seats the CCF 21, Liberals 13, Labor Progressives 2 and Liberal Labor 1.

Mr. Scott running his third election was returned polling 10,257 votes. Charles Elliott, the Liberal nominee, 7,729 and John Morton, CCF, 5,927 votes. Mr. Drew resigned in October 1948 when he was named federal leader of the Progressive Conservative party. T. L. Kennedy succeeded him as Prime Minister and held office until a party convention was called and named Leslie Frost leader. M. Kennedy resigned in May 1949 and Mr. Frost took over on May 4 as Prime Minister.

The standing of the parties at dissolution on October 6 remained the same as that following the general election in 1948.

DEFENCE MINISTER OPENS blood donor campaign—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton was on hand to see the opening of the Ottawa Red Cross blood donor campaign. The Canadian Red Cross is providing the Canadian Armed Forces with blood and blood products as well as stockpiling blood plasma for civil defence needs. One of the first volunteer donors was W. A. Edwards of Vancouver, B.C., a student of journalism at Carleton College, shown here about to donate his pint of blood. Standing are, from left to right, Air Marshal G. O. Charles Enjoys Big Cake and Presents

By DON C. FERGUSON

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Reuters).—Every day for the last two weeks a sturdy little boy has jumped out of bed in the morning in a big London house with the same question: "Is today my birthday?"

Wednesday nurse Helen Lightbody had the right answer: Yes.

Prince Charles of Edinburgh, the squarely built, blue-eyed son of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, celebrated his third birthday Wednesday, and Britain watched every minute of it.

Crowds gathered in the streets to wave to him at the window. More crowds gathered in the park to watch his daily outing. A flying wedge of two dozen photographers followed the procession: A nurse and a big old-fashioned baby carriage with Charles inside, a detective and the Prince's dog. Every newspaper in the country was spattered with pictures and accounts of how every minute was spent.

Charles waved gleefully from his buggy, solemnly returned the salute of a police officer on guard duty.

Liked Presents

After breakfast he had eagerly ripped the wrappers off his presents (including a wind-up tractor from Princess Elizabeth) while his nurse read him a selection of birthday messages from the truckloads of greetings in the morning mail.

And he also heard a happy birthday message from his mother, played over a phonograph. Princess Elizabeth made the recording before she and Prince Philip left last month for their tour of Canada.

The royal parents missed the birthday party—they are still in mid-Atlantic homeward bound from Canada. But they sent a radiogram and when they arrive this weekend Charles will have a party all over again. Elizabeth is bringing trunks full of gifts for him from cities and organizations all across Canada.

Charles has shown a lively interest in the tour: He got a special kick out of newspaper pictures of his father wearing a western stetson at the Calgary Stampede.

This afternoon Charles had his party, Centrepiece was a birthday cake really fit for a king, or at least a future king. It was three round cakes in cloverleaf pattern with a huge candle rising from the centre of each. Charles blew them out—one at a time. Around the sides marched two dozen candy soldiers and across the top gamboled a whole Mickey Mouse community—every one good to eat.

Elizabeth's second child, Anne, 15 months, was allowed a taste.

Small Party

There were a dozen or so guests, children of royal relatives mostly. The party was held at Buckingham Palace with Queen Elizabeth ("Ganny to Charles) running things.

Prince Charles had a surprise guest at his third birthday party Wednesday—the King.

"Grandpa" was making his first social appearance since his lung operation six weeks ago.

The young prince chattered to his grandfather about the toys he had received; and insisted the King try some birthday cake.

It was a big day in the life of a 3-year-old, but probably no bigger than a birthday in any wealthy English household. Charles' upbringing is patterned carefully, to be as normal as possible. The plan is to prevent the youngster from getting the impression he is "different" which would possibly cause self-consciousness.

Senator Heartily Dislikes Annual Crop Evaluators

OTTAWA, Nov. 15. (CP)—A farmer-senator, 76, said Wednesday he doesn't like those people "who ride around in cars making crop estimates and counting cattle."

Senator Ralph Horner (PC, Saskatchewan) said the estimates of these evaluators hadn't materialized in the last two years. They simply built a lot of false hopes.

What, he asked, would a big shirt manufacturer do if he found some fellow around the factory counting the shirts the manufacturer had ready for market?

"Why, he'd throw him off the premises," he replied to his own question.

The Bureau of Statistics makes yearly surveys of crop prospects through enumerators at prairie points.

National Shame

Senator Horner said it was a "national shame" that Canada was forced to import 40,000,000 pounds of butter while farms lay idle and decaying in her western agricultural basin.

If dairying in the West were not encouraged, he said the day might come when the West will "be getting powdered milk from Eastern Canada."

The senator made these other points:

1. The government should call on labor to work longer hours and do more. There were signs that labor had begun to realize this.

2. Canadians should never condone the dropping of the words "Dominion" or Royal from the official designations of Canada and its services and he would say "a curse on those who would break these old traditions."

3. Canada should open her doors to 10,000,000 British people so there would not be so many mouths to feed in Britain should another war come.

4. He would favor a compulsory voting law in Canada to get the people out on polling days. The voting record of Canadians could not stack up against that of Britons.

960 Without Jobs In Kitchener Area

KITCHENER, Nov. 15—(CP)—C. W. Boyer, national employment service manager here, said Wednesday night that 960 persons are without jobs in the Kitchener-Waterloo area and 2,500 others are on short time. He said the figures are three times as high as a year ago.

The Kitchener Unemployment Insurance Commission reported it plans a drive during the winter to obtain odd jobs for unemployed.

Dies From Injuries

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 15 (CP)—Donald McLeod, 16, of Ingersoll died in hospital here today of injuries received Wednesday night when struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle on a nearby highway. Police said Mrs. Violet Lounsbury of Tillsonburg was the driver of the car.

Truman Condemns Chinese Atrocities

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 15 (AP)—President Truman today condemned the murder of American prisoners by Chinese Communists as the most uncivilized thing that has happened in the last century.

Truman voiced this indictment at a press conference in which he said he believes that the United Nations rather than "Big Four" conferences should settle international disputes.

England Scores 254 In Cricket Test Match

LAHORE, Pakistan, Nov. 15 (Reuters).—England today scored 254 and Pakistan hit seven runs without loss in the first day of the first of two unofficial four-day cricket tests.

Jack Robertson dominated the early batting and was 61 when third out after a bright second wicket stand of 71 with Tom Graveney.

England were 113 for three wickets at lunch, but collapsed in the afternoon to have nine wickets down for 204 at tea, but a last wicket stand raised the score to a respectable total.

Hope To Return To Canada Soon Princess Writes Prime Minister

OTTAWA, Nov. 15. (CP) — Princess Elizabeth, in a farewell letter read to the Commons Wednesday said she and Prince Philip want to come back to Canada before too long.

The letter, dated Nov. 11 at St. John's, Nfld., and addressed to Prime Minister St. Laurent, follows:

Mr. Dear Prime Minister:

Before leaving I want to tell you how grateful my husband and I are to you and to your colleagues for having given us so great an experience on this journey across Canada. The welcome we received on all sides has far exceeded anything we could have believed possible, and we have been given a picture of the rich variety of Canadian life which we shall never forget, and which has interested us profoundly.

It has given us infinite pleasure to have had the chance of meeting and talking to so many Canadians in every walk of life, and we have been happy to have had with us at various times on our journey your colleagues in the cabinet. Their advice has been invaluable, and we have much enjoyed getting to know them, particularly as they have given us an insight into Canadian affairs.

I hope that you will convey our thanks and appreciation to all members of the three services who have done so much to make our tour a success. We are very glad that you made it possible for us to travel in two ships of the Royal Canadian Navy, and in an aircraft of the Royal Canadian Air Force; we know also how much the army has done at all times for us. Our visits to navy, army and air force establishments impressed us greatly and we are proud to have been saluted by so many guards of honor of all three services throughout the length of our journey.

I am sure I need not tell you that this, our first visit to Canada, has made us wish to come back before too long to see more of the country and its people. I hope very much also that I will soon have the chance of meeting you again.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) Elizabeth.

Must Sell Companies

BONN, Germany, Nov. 15 — (AP)—The three western allies Wednesday ordered German multi-millionaire Hugo Stinnes to dispose of a large portion of his family empire of coal mines, ironworks, shipping companies and luxury hotels. The Stinnes corporation was ordered to sell or dissolve 67 different properties before Dec. 31, 1952. The Allies agreed that, subject to this being done, the Stinnes interests will be exempted from the trust-breaking reorganization of Ruhr heavy industry.

Knife-Making Hobby Proves To Be Good Business

KETTLE RIVER, Ont.—(CP)—There's a knife worn and well-used on Matt Mattson's kitchen-table in this little village near Fort Frances.

But it's no ordinary knife. With it Mattson carved out a new life for himself.

Matt was down and out in 1938 after a siege of tuberculosis but he refused to remain idle. One evening he took a few simple tools and locked himself in a room. He laboriously chiseled a piece of steel out of an old cross-cut saw and filed it into the shape of a breadknife blade.

Then came hours of polishing, honing, stropping and finishing. Matt fashioned a wooden handle and riveted it to the blade. The job took two days.

Using that first knife as a model, Matt made others which he sold. He saved a few dollars and invested them in better tools and equipment. He was then able to make several knives a day.

During the Second World War, he received orders for fancy trench knives from friends of servicemen. He later started on hunting knives, jack-knives and deerhorn steak-knives.

Today, the result of Matt's cutlery hobby is a combination grocery store, and service station which he and his wife run outside of Ketle River. But he still spends much of his time making knives.

A "SHAW" SIGN—Band leader Artie Shaw and his fiancee, actress Doris Dowling, are a happy duo as they arrive at New York's Idlewild Airport from London. Donald Sargent Places Second

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 15 (ENS)—Don Sargent, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sargent, won a shield for second place at the Durham county final public speaking contest at Orono on Friday evening. A second cousin, Beverley Cowling, of Bowmanville, took first place in the contest. Beverley Cowling's topic was "Korea," and Don Sargent's was "What Is a Boy."

Hazel McIntosh and Ruth Little of Peterborough Normal School spent last week at the Fairmount School.

Mrs. A. E. Larke, assisted by Mr. Frank Stevens, took charge of the services on the Springville charge on Sunday. The Rev. A. E. Larke is recovering from a severe cold.

The Young People's Union held their Friday evening meeting at the home of Myrtle Seymour. Eleanor Bowles gave a report of the convention in Belleville, Doreen Bowles had charge of the worship service and Myrna Seymour looked after recreation. Lunch was served by the hostess and her mother. Margaret Earle, vice-president, presided at the meeting. Seventeen young people were present.

In memory of their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cathcart, the Cathcart family have presented Springville United Church with a Minchell electric organ. The dedication of this lovely new organ will take place next Sunday morning, November 18, at the 11.15 am service. Just before the service, Mr. Penney, of Toronto, will give a 15-minute organ recital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carew, of Toronto, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hinchey, of Belleville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bothwell.

Hospital Service Aided By Teletype

DUNNVILLE (CP). — The unique feature of the Haldimand War Memorial Hospital that opened here Nov. 3 is its teletype.

Linked with the office of a radiologist 38 miles away in Hamilton, the teletype is to expedite X-ray reports, providing the hospital with a specialized X-ray service which it, like other small-town hospitals, could not otherwise afford.

Dr. Charles Vaughan, the Hamilton radiologist, says he believes it is the first time the idea has been tried anywhere.

X-ray films developed at the new $415,000 hospital, if urgent, can be sent to Dr. Vaughan's office by automobile or bus. In this way, the specialist's report can be back at the hospital within two hours of the time the films left.

And if the doctor wishes to consult the radiologist, he may "talk" to him over the teletype circuit.

Another advantage of the innovation, says Dr. Vaughan, is that duplicate copies of the teletype report may be filed as a permanent record of each case, saving secretarial expense.

He estimates the rental and wire charges for the machines will cost about $110 a month.

Dangerous Driver

VEREENIGING, South Africa (Reuters)—Mrs. Dulcie Du Toit was charged with assaulting a man by driving a car at him. The complainant said the car came straight at him and he had to jump a wire fence. While the assault charge was dismissed accused was fined for negligent driving.

Setting Up Agency To Build Canadian Seaway

OTTAWA, Nov. 16. (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier today gave the Commons notice that on Monday he will propose the establishment of a special government agency to build the St. Lawrence seaway. The agency, forecast in the Speech from the Throne at the opening of the session, will be called "The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority." It will have the power to build and operate the waterway between Montreal and Lake Erie, to set tolls for shipping and to borrow up to $300,000,000.

Latest cost estimates on the seaway are that the federal government would have to spend between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 on the navigation phase of the project if the United States government does not participate.

Will Go Ahead

The US government's entry into the plan has been stalled for many years by Congress. The Canadian government has decided to go ahead alone if the US cannot join.

The proposed seaway authority will not participate in building the power development of the seaway, estimated to cost around $400,000,000.

This would be undertaken by the Province of Ontario and the appropriate United States authority which would share the cost and the 2,000,000 horse-power of electricity from the International Rapids section of the river.

Police Capture Two Convicts In Empty Boxcar

FARNHAM, Que., Nov. 16 (CP)—Police early today captured two of three escaped convicts described as "tricky and very dangerous."

Taken by two policemen from an empty box car in which they were hiding were 39-year-old Rene Larche of Ottawa and Delphis Hamel, 36 of Quebec.

A third man, Jean-Georges Ethier, 33, of Montreal, who escaped with the other two from St. Joseph de Beauce jail Wednesday night, is still sought.

Police said Larche and Hamel told them Ethier left them at Ascot Junction, a place between Drummondville and Sherbrooke.

Block Off Area

Immediately police started blocking off the Ascot area.

The recaptured men were taken to provincial police headquarters in Montreal.

Farnham is about 45 miles southeast of Montreal.

The trio had a seven-hour start in their break from the St. Joseph jail before their absence was noted.

They had been sentenced to 9½ years in penitentiary and the lash for armed robbery in 1949.

The three, all dangerous convicts, were brought from penitentiary to testify in the trial of Jean-Roch Morrissette, who is charged in connection with the assault and robbery of Edouard Lacroix, St. Georges de Beauce industrialist.

Rescues Buddy As 'Chute Fails

Pte. James R. Fernandez, 20, of Providence, RI, was falling head first after his parachute collapsed when Pte. Frank Elliott, 21, of Coates, NC, reached out and grabbed the suspension lines of the deflated chute.

Both men floated to a safe landing on Elliott's parachute.

Brakeman's Body Found Under Engine

SEVERN BRIDGE, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP) — The body of brakeman Jack Brown, of Gravenhurst, Ont., was found Thursday night beneath the twisted wreckage of an overturned locomotive.

Railway wrecking crews sought the body for more than 24 hours after two Canadian National Railways trains collided head-on near here Wednesday night. Two other men were killed and six injured in the crash which left splintered boxcars and jagged steel heaped on top of the toppled locomotive.

Egypt Makes Sudan Offer

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP).—Egypt told the United Nations today she will withdraw her officials and armed forces from the cotton-growing Sudan to permit a plebiscite if Britain will do the same.

Foreign Minister Mohammed Salah El Din, speaking in the general debate of the 60-country international organization, said that the "necessary machinery, atmosphere and preparation could be provided with the co-operation of the UN."

He added, however, he was "more than sure" Britain will not accept his proposal.

In London today, government sources said Britain would study any definite Egyptian plan for quitting the Sudan and holding a UN-supervised plebiscite. Officials said they would have to be satisfied that conditions of the plebiscite were acceptable to Sudanese leaders and guaranteed a complete free choice by the people.

El Din described his proposal as a "frank, clear-cut challenge to the United Kingdom."

The Egyptian foreign minister criticized Britain's refusal to quit the Sudan and to recognize Egypt's companion abrogation of the treaty providing for joint Anglo-Egyptian defence of the Suez Canal.

Set Bedbugs In Hotel Rival German Jailed

HANAU, Germany, Nov. 16 — (AP) — Innkeeper Paul Sonnefeld, 54, has started serving a four-month jail term for hiring his nephew to place bedbugs in the rooms of a rival hotel.

Fritz Thimm, 24, said he got 60 marks ($14.28) from his uncle for letting out 30 bedbugs in the rival hotel. Several female patrons were bitten.

The court convicted Sonnefeld of "deliberately damaging" the health of the women. Thimm, who had reported the itchy story to police after a dispute with his uncle, got away with a 340-mark ($30.92) fine.

War Pensions To 45 p.c. Ottawa Plan

Basic $94 Pension For Single Vet Increased To $125

OTTAWA, Nov. 16. (CP)—Increases in war disability pensions ranging up to 45 per cent were announced to the Commons today by Veterans Minister Lapointe.

He informed the House of these increases:

1. The basic pension of $94 a month for a single veteran with total disability will be boosted to $125.
2. The allowance of $31 to the total disability pensioner's wife will be increased to $45, a rise of 45 per cent.
3. The allowance of $19 for the first child of a married pensioner will be increased to $20. The rates for other children, which vary, will be unchanged.
4. Widows who now receive $75, will get $100.

Besieged Spy Suicides In Secret Greek Crypt

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 16 — (Reuters)—A suspected Communist spy Thursday night shot himself in a secret crypt. He died early today without telling police to whom he was sending radio messages.

For two days Nicholas Vavoudes, 45, had been besieged and cut off from food.

Two hours before he shot himself he started bargaining with police. He also held an informal press conference.

Greek authorities said the Russian-born Vavoudes transmitted to Communist countries reports about Greek airfields and army movements.

Before shooting himself Vavoudes burned most of his documents.

Police found him in the crypt while carrying out a roundup of Communist suspects.

Food Balance Worse, Says FAO

ROME, Nov. 16 (AP)—A study by the Food and Agricultural Organization shows that the balance between commodity surpluses and deficits is getting worse.

"There is a prospect that the world may become more and more dependent on production in the dollar countries," it revealed.

The FAO committee on commodity problems reported:

"Some of the important commodities for which there seems to be increasing dependence on supplies from the dollar areas are cereals, sugar, and some fats and oils, particularly linseed and soybean oil.

"Although there have been substantial increases in production, and the present levels of production can be expected to be maintained or even increased, production in general is not increasing as rapidly as population."

Driverless Bulldozer Goes On $10,000 Spree

Trees, Fences, Houses Monster's Victims

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 (AP)—A driverless bulldozer went on a spree Thursday night, terrifying residents and causing an estimated $10,000 damage in a four-block area.

Police said boys apparently playing around it started the engine, then fled. This is what the bulldozer did:

Plowed through a field for a block, then turned sharply to bowl over five trees and smash 20 feet of wire fence at one home.

Smashed 15 yards of fence, downed five clothes poles, several fruit trees, 10 feet of wood fence and ripped up 300 feet of water pipe at another house.

Crashed through a $2,500 chicken house, crushing $1,000 worth of equipment inside, then smashed through one wall of the owner's home and came to a stop inside.

The neighborhood was in an uproar. Some people fled their homes while others afraid to go outside, peered through windows at the grinding monster.

MP's Pressing Ottawa Get Better Facilities For Canadians In Korea

OTTAWA, Nov. 16. (CP)—The Commons expressed concern Thursday for the plight of the soldier in Korea with no place to go when his front-line duty is over. Opposition members, many of them veterans, pressed the government to provide more recreational facilities for Canadian troops in that embattled Far Eastern peninsula and won from Defence Minister Claxton a promise that their suggestions will get careful consideration.

Seem Satisfied

All of the recreation services of the United States and the United Kingdom were available to Canadian troops and none of the high Canadian officers there had asked for additional facilities. Everything that could be done would be done.

The debate developed on preliminary study of legislation making a number of technical amendments to the Defence Act.

The chamber also discussed bills increasing federal annuities to $2,400 a year from $1,200 and dealing with public printing.

Maj. George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview), a veteran of the Second World War, said boredom and discomfort—not fear—is the soldier's worst enemy. In Europe during the last war, there had been places where the soldier could go when on leave, but in Korea he had "simply no place to go."

Want Canadian Canteens

Capt. Claire Gillis (CCF, Cape Breton South) said that Canadian troops shouldn't have to go to the Americans or the British as "charitable patients" when they came out of the line. They should be able to go to a Canadian canteen.

Maj. E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops) suggested Canada might set the pattern for auxiliary services in Korea.

Capt. Howard Green (PC, Vancouver-Quadra) said he had heard complaints about entertainment in Korea. Soldiers lacked Canadian entertainment. Some said they could not get Canadian cigarettes and were short of reading material.

Capt. Rodney Adamson (PC, York West), noting that Canada's 27th Brigade now is en route to Europe, said this country's fund of goodwill in Europe never was higher. Nothing could harm Canada more than if the standard of behavior of the troops was relaxed.

John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge) felt the government might provide a cost-of-living bonus for soldiers' dependents, but Mr. Claxton said the government's policy rather is to make periodic adjustments in service pay.

Russians Offer New Peace Plan

PARIS, Nov. 16—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishnisky laid a new four-point disarmament plan before the United Nations assembly today, including a call for absolute prohibition of the atomic weapon.

The plan calls for:

1. A commission to be set up to draft a convention before Feb. 1, 1952, outlawing the use of atomic energy except for civilian purposes.

2. The UN assembly to recommend the United States, Britain, France, China and Russia to conclude an agreement to reduce their armaments and armed forces by a third within one year of making such an agreement.

3. Recommendation by the assembly that all nations submit official information on the extent of their forces and armaments, including atomic bombs and bases on foreign examination.

Such information should be given not later than one month after the assembly recommends the banning of atomic weapons.

4. An international control organ, under over-all control of the Security Council, to supervise the banning of atomic weapons, the reduction of arms and the arms census.

(The western plan for disarmament submitted last week called for a world arms "census" and verification, to be followed by progressive reduction. Atomic weapons would have been dealt with under UN resolutions for their control.)

Vishinsky said his four new points were in addition to the four he made in his first "peace plan" last week.

These were:

1. An international conference on the reduction of armaments and the outlawing of atomic weapons with the establishment of international control of these measures.

2. Membership of the Atlantic Pact was incompatible with membership of the UN.

3. Concluding of a peace pact between the UN, Britain, France, China and Russia.

The Soviet minister, loudly applauded as he took the rostrum, again attacked the western plan. He called it "monstrous."

He spurned the plea of the small nations to reconsider his rejection of the western plan. "It does not fill the bill," he said.

Local Charges Not Known Manager Says

Ottawa Statement Surprises Peterborough Office

"I don't know how individual accounts here will be affected," E. G. Baker, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., said today when informed that the Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa had authorized the company to boost telephone rates.

Mr. Baker said that as soon as it is known how the new rates will affect individual and business subscribers in Peterborough an announcement will be made. When Mr. Baker was contacted shortly before noon today, he said it was the first he had heard that an announcement had been made regarding the company's brief which was presented to the Board of Transport Commissioners October 24.

"Peterborough will not be affected by the increase to 10 cents on local telephone booth calls at the present time," Mr. Baker said. This increase of from 5 to 10 cents in local telephone booth charges will apply only in "large cities."

Present Rates

The company has been authorized to increase its residential and business telephone rates by 5 per cent.

At present, the monthly rates are: $3.75 for individual city subscribers, $3.00 for a two-party line, $2.75 for rural subscribers, and $1.25 for an extension. Current individual business rates are: $7.00 per month. A two-party business telephone charge is $5.75, and $1.65 for an extension. Rural business owners pay $4.00 monthly.

On January 1, 1951, the company was given authority to increase its rates by 20.6 per cent. However, this did not mean that individual accounts were affected by this amount. It is understood that some types of services were increased by more than the 20.6, while others were only slightly increased. The ruling of the Board of Transport Commissioners is only concerned with an over-all percentage increase in revenue. The details of rate increase are left to the company to work out as it sees fit.

The basic three-minute charge will be increased from 5 to 25 cents on long distance calls. The current station to station rate for daytime calls from Peterborough to Toronto is 60 cents. The basic day charge for person to person calls between here and Toornto is 85 cents. Night charges for the same services are 40 cents and 65 cents respectively.

Demand Information

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (CP). Representatives of countries with troops in Korea planned to meet today to discuss charges that thousands of Allied war prisoners had been murdered by the Communists.

Informed sources said the representatives of the 17 countries —including Canada—would seek detailed information from the US State Department about the reports. It did not appear likely that a full explanation would be available today.

Expensive Tickets

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 16. (AP) This ad appeared in the Paris Daily Enterprise on Thursday: "For Sale—Two Kentucky - Tennessee football tickets. I will trade for a small farm in Bourbon County. For information see or call Walter Hodge . . ." The Kentucky - Tennessee tilt Nov. 24 has been a sell-out for months. On the other hand, land is expensive too. It brings from $200 to $750 an acre.

Chinese Tougher Than Germans Says PPCLI Vet

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP). — "Who's tougher, the Germans or the Chinese?"

"I'd rather fight the Jerries any day."

The answer cracked back without pause from Pte. Albert Miller of Owen Sound. He has fought the Germans in Italy, the Chinese in Korea.

That reply was general among members of the battle-toughened Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry returning here Thursday aboard the US transport Pvt. Joe P. Martinez.

Miller stood quietly, waiting to disembark. A cigaret was stuck between his lips.

"The Chinese are tough. They've got all kinds of guts," he said. "They're well dug in. They're smart and tricky. They know how to use camouflage. The country is tough—tougher than Italy was—and they know how to use it.

"You have to burn 'em and kill 'em before you can move 'em.

Good Fighters

"They're good fighters." He looked around at his buddies. "But so are we."

Some 6,000 persons lined the sunlit parade route as the soldiers, most of them members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, swarmed off the United States transport Pvt. Joe P. Martinez and swung in column of route from the dock to the saluting base six blocks away.

Some 2,000 Americans aboard waved obligingly for photographers, but the Canadians stood easy beside their gear in the forward deck well of the ship. The transport was flying a Union Jack from her forward masthead.

Other ships in the harbor blasted on horns and whistles and their crews lined the rails to wave the first "welcome home" from Canada. A fireboat spurted water high in the air.

Blackmailed Chinese Export Dollars–Fraser

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) yesterday asked the government if it will bar the export of dollars to Communist China and other Iron Curtain countries.

He made the suggestion on the ground of reports that Chinese living in Canada, and with relatives in China, are being "blackmailed" for money by the Chinese government.

James Sinclair, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, indicated he would reply later.

Home Users' Increase 15-25 Cents

Bell Asks Further Increase At Once On Permanent Basis

OTTAWA, Nov. 16. (CP) — The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, granted authority to boost Ontario and Quebec phone rates temporarily by about five per cent, today requested a still further boost on a permanent basis.

The new application was filed with the Board of Transport Commissioners shortly after the board announced higher rates affecting 1,700,000 phone subscribers in the two central provinces.

The temporary boosts, it was estimated, would give the company about half the $15,800,000 additional revenue asked in an application heard before the board Oct. 24. The new application seeks another $2,080,000 to cover higher taxes. This would be incorporated in the company's application for permanent boosts, expected to be heard before the board within the next few months.

The $2,080,000 additional reveinue would be derived from heavier charges on residential and business phones.

15-25 Cent Boost

Under today's increases granted by the board, residential phones will go up between 15 and 25 cents a month and business phones between 15 and 60 cents.

The company originally requested increases of between 25 and 75 cents a month for residential and 75 and $3 a month for business. Under the new application, these proposed increases would climb between 30 and 85 cents a month for residential and between 85 and $3.35 for business.

Planes Active But No Fighting

SEOUL, Nov. 16 (AP).—Allied planes roared over Communist Korea and Communist jets swarmed over Manchuria today, but both sides held their fire.

F-84 Thunderjet pilots over North Korea sighted Russian-type MIGs, the first Red jets seen in five days. The Communist pilots kept their distance.

The Fifth Air Force said its pilots flew 230 individual flights before noon. Attacks were resumed on Red supply lines after rains had limited flights for 36 hours.

A bright sun began drying out the mud-covered Korean battle front, which had one of its quietest days of the war Thursday.

Only two brief fights broke out before noon Friday along the entire front, a United States Eighth Army communique reported. The Reds made two small probing attacks southwest of Kumsong on the central front. Both times Allied infantrymen quickly drove the Reds back to their own lines.

History To Have Hard Time Explaining Communist Rise

MONTREAL, Nov. 16—(CP)—The Rev. Walter Van Kirk of New York Thursday night said historians would have a difficult time explaining the rapid spread of communism from 1939 to 1951 while christianity barely managed to hold its own.

Speaking at the night session of the Canadian Council of Churches at its eighth annual convention here, Mr. Van Kirk said: "It will be difficult to explain the spread of Communism to embrace millions of persons and to 11 countries, while Christianity, with a much richer gospel, barely managed to hold its own."

He added: "Christians practice spiritual isolationism. The total Christian population gave less towards evangelization last year than the Methodist Church in the United States paid for its own expenses.

"Communism embraced seven per cent. of the total land area of the world in 1939, and now embraces 39 per cent. Christians have abandoned their spirit of stewardship and this is why Communism has been successful."

Re-affirms Opposition

Earlier the Council re-affirmed its opposition to gambling and condemned such practices as a means of securing funds for charitable purposes.

The Council asked the Federal Government to repeal a section of the Criminal Code permitting raffles for prizes at any bazaar held for "any charitable or religious object."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Ottawa and headquarters of social clubs and philanthropic societies for support.

The Council's resolution urged that "no church or church organization should raise money by raffles, lotteries, games of chance or other gambling methods, however good may be the objects for which the money is raised."

It appealed to church leaders to warn their congregations against the evils and dangers of the gambling habit and re-affirmed its opposition against any proposal to introduce state lotteries or to legalize off-track horse betting.

UN Nearly Trapped In Truce Parleys

Officer Says Reds Reluctant To Answer Questions About Murder of 6,000 US Prisoners

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (AP). — A highly-placed officer said today the unscheduled announcement that Communist troops murdered more than 5,000 United States prisoners of war has stripped the veil of mystery from what has been holding up Korean armistice talks.

The general officer, who is exceptionally well informed on truce negotiations, said:

"The Communists don't want to have to answer questions about what happened to their prisoners."

Since the talks began July 10, both the Communist and United Nations' delegations have done several abrupt about-faces. Each change has been explained by thousands of words of propaganda.

But the basic problem is in the objectives of the delegations.

Basic Difference

The Reds want a cease-fire; the UN wants an armistice.

The UN delegation, led by Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, almost got trapped into agreeing on a buffer zone before other armistice details were agreed upon.

The tricky open-field running Joy has been doing lately was to get out of the trap the delegation almost got caught in.

That would have given the Reds exactly what they wanted — a cease fire without having to agree to a full armistice.

The difference between a cease-fire and an armistice is this:

A cease-fire is only part of an armistice. In addition to a cease-fire, an armistice would include insurance against the resumption of fighting, exchange of prisoners and recommendations for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

From the start the Reds have indicated they don't want anything but a cease fire.

UN Won First Round

The UN won the first round when it got the Reds to adopt an agenda. This seemed to guarantee an armistice and not a cease-fire.

But the Reds won the second round when the items on the agenda were listed.

The first item was effecting a cease-fire and drawing a buffer zone between the opposing forces.

This is where the Joy team got trapped.

It had agreed to discuss the point where the shooting would stop. But it didn't want to stop shooting until the armistice was signed.

Every argument has been over the fact that the Reds wanted a cease-fire.

Reds Would Stall

Given that, the UN delegates say, the Reds will want to stall.

But you can't draw a buffer zone along the present battle line and then keep shooting across it.

The startling information that nearly 6,000 American soldiers have been shot down after their surrender may cost Lt.-Col. James M. Hanley his job.

But what he said hit the nail right on the head.

The security that shrouded early truce talks long has kept veiled the fate of American prisoners of war—a key question in the final armistice.

There probably will be a lot more manoeuvreing before the truce talks end. Right now it looks as if they might go on forever.

Planes Bomb In Thick Fog To Divert Flood In Italy

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 16 (CP)—Planes were ordered out in pea soup fog today to drop bombs along the raging Po river in an effort to divert flood waters menacing Rovigo and Adria.

Helicopters were pressed into service to rescue isolated flood victims in northern Italy, where at least 80 persons have perished in the last week. Property damage runs into millions of dollars. Hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile Po valley crops are under water.

Muddy waters were already flooding the streets of Rovigo, a provincial capital of 40,000 population. Adria, with a similar population, lies to the southeast.

Authorities hope the bombs will breach the banks of the Canal Bianco—the White Canal—near Arqua and send the water into a less populous region. Arqua is about 10 miles southwest of Rovigo.

Only Bright Spot

Presumably the bombs will be dropped from ordinary aircraft, since the peace treaty forbids Italy from having bombers.

There was one bright spot. As the flood rolled toward the Adriatic, the situation inland grew less acute. Workers who put up 200,000 sandbags in an emergency dike near Parma staved off disaster there. In parts of Reggio and Parma provinces the waters were lowering.

Technical units from the British and American armed forces in Trieste were speeding to stricken Reggio province.

Throughout the province, refugees were fleeing to higher ground. Helicopters and army planes dropped food and rubber rafts to isolated villages.

More than 5,000 refugees were reported swarming into Rovigo last night. They came from all parts of the province, in which some 170,000 acres are under water.

Prize Cattle Retain Fair Spotlight

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP). — The Royal Winter Fair today reached the half-way mark in its eight-day 1951 run.

Cattle retained feature spot on the program as judging continued in Ayrshire, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey and market Hereford classes.

The Fair's first dairy cattle auction was staged Thursday night as purebred Ayrshire breeding stock went on the block.

Breeders saw grand champion bulls declared in three dairy breeds Thursday, Edglea Basil Butter Boy, owned by Harold Butcher and Sons of Brantford, was named Jersey titlist, while Alex Birley and Sons of Paris, Ont., took the Ayrshire award with Oak Lawn Dorothy Chieftain. L. A. Sylvestre of Clairvaux Bagot, Que., won the grand champion Canadian breed title with Julien 15V.

The distinctive Black Canadian cattle were the first introduced to Canada and are popular for their hardiness.

Visitor Impressed

Official claims of a bigger and better fair were backed up by Royal Fair Corn King H. L. Stiegelmier of Normal, Ill. Mr. Stiegelmier, in town to claim his champion corn title, said he was particularly impressed by the spic and span appearance of the fair buildings.

Royal Horse Show goers were pleasantly surprised Thursday night when the Canadian team shot from fourth to first place standing in international jumping competition. The Canadians took the lead from Mexico, which fell to second place with Ireland third. The United States team was disqualified from last night's session when one team member was declared too light for competition.

Investigate Massacre Story

TOKYO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Col. James M. Hanley stuck by his figures today while the army investigated the circumstances surrounding his disclosure that Communists slaughtered nearly 5,500 American prisoners in Korea. The world was shocked by the total. The announcement caught the military by surprise—from the United States Eighth Army in Korea to Washington military circles. South Korean government officials said today there was nothing new in the atrocity figures. "They were not a surprise," government spokesman Clarence Ryee said at Pusan, where Hanley made his disclosure Wednesday. "There is nothing wrong about disclosing facts of the Communists' acts at any time."

President Syngman Rhee said: "We knew about the Communist atrocities. We just kept quiet about them."

The rest of the world didn't accept the announcement so matter-of-factly.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander, sent his press information officer to Korea to investigate the details of the disclosure, and the figures themselves.

Passed Story

Ridgway instructed Col. Patrick Welsh to interview Hanley and Col. Kenneth L. Booth, Eighth Army Public Information officer. Hanley said the Eighth Army passed on the story.

(Reuters News Agency reported that a UN Command spokesman said Hanley had been reprimanded. It added, however, that the reprimand was not official, and that any formal action would await the completion of Ridgway's investigation).

Hanley, chief of the advocate's section of the Eighth Army, said the figures "should have been put out long ago . . . to let the GI's know what the Chinese are doing."

Ridgway said there would be no official comment until his investigation is completed.

In Washington US senators said they were puzzled that top military and government officials expressed surprise over the report.

Senator Milton Young (Rep-ND), wondered whether the administration was trying to minimize the tragedies of the Korean war . . . "I would think anything as important as that would find our top-levels officially informed."

US Senator Urges Britain Export Half Population; Economy Ruined Otherwise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Senator Allen J. Ellender (Dem., La.), said Thursday the British Isles' economy is beyond rescue unless they ship half their population to other lands. Ellender told a reporter he will fight any move to give Britain further financial aid unless her government agrees to the vast populations shift he favors. Ellender said he expects Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill will seek financial help when he visits the United States in January. He predicted Congress will show "a lot more resistance to doling out handouts which can do no good."

No More Chance

"I said in 1946 there was no more chance of reviving the British Isles' economy under existing conditions than there is of reviving a dead horse," the Senator said. "And it is still true. They are trying to support a population of some 54,000,000 persons with resources which can't reasonably be expected to support much more than half that many."

He said he would be willing to let them have some money to send know-how and factory equipment to areas where the resources were.

He mentioned Canada, South Africa and Australia as only a few of the opportunities for such moves.

Firmer Stock Prices Halt Noon Decline

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP). — Firmer early afternoon support today pushed stock market prices from a sharp noon decline. Industrials opened mixed but turned downward within the first hour.

Foods showed a scattered list of gains to form the market's strongest section. Retail stores drew firm support, while utilities, steels, liquors, banks and miscellaneous industrials held gains and losses in balance. Agricultures and textiles weakened while papers, constructions, refining oils and manufacturing companies dipped sharply.

Western oils weakened steadily after a brief opening rally. Canadian Collieries, Canadian Atlantic, Kroy, Model, Central Explorers, North Canadian Oils, Scurry and Vulcan posted declines to about 20 cents.

Base metals made little headway. United Asbestos, which closed $1 lower yesterday following published unofficial reports of low ore values, regained half its 40-cent morning loss. Consolidated Smelters and Noranda slipped fractions.

Senior golds posted five losses ranging from pennies to 50 cents to one gain. Juniors, prospects and holding companies weakened.

20 Respirators For Hospitals

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP). — An additional 20 respirators used in the treatment of persons with respiratory paralysis are being purchased for hospitals in Ontario with the assistance of federal health grants, the Health Department said today.

The Ontario Health Department already has 19 respirators in hospitals throughout the province. Thirteen of the additional 20 will be of the tank or "iron lung" type and the others will be portable.

Total cost of the new equipment will be about $37,000. Most of the respirators will be placed in hospitals but a few will be kept in reserve for emergency shipment to hospitals needing them.

British Destroyers Escorting Princess

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov 16 (Reuters)—Two destroyers from Britain picked up the liner Empress of Scotland, with Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh aboard, off Northern Ireland about noon today.

On sighting the Royal liner, the destroyers Creole and Zambesi dressed ship with the Royal ensign at the masthead and swung round to escort them home from their North American tour.

The Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh will disembark at Liverpool Saturday morning and travel by train to London.

Londoners are expected to give them a great welcome Saturday afternoon as they drive from the railroad station to Buckingham Palace.

Silent Germans Watch Canadian Units Arrive

HANNOVER, Germany, Nov. 16. (CP)—The first full units of Canada's 27th Brigade drove Thursday night through streets lined with brimming, lighted shop windows to launch their careers as part of Europe's growing military wall against Communism. Darkness had descended before the 500 soldiers, warm in battle dress, greatcoats and full kit in the mild November night, marched off a parade square into permanent German barracks situated 40 miles west of the nearest Russians.

The eight-hour trip from Rotterdam through the green fields of rural Holland and Germany and such cities as Utrecht and Osnabruck, brought them to the area where they will spend the winter in the final phases of training for participation in Eisenhower's European army.

Watch In Silence

As the smart-looking soldiers from ordnance, medical and other support units left the British military train and marched through the station—battered by Allied planes but since rebuilt—probably 100 German civilians stood watching in silence.

Canadian officers who have been here for some weeks said the Germans have shown considerable interest in the arrival of the Canadians. Newspapers have been playing up their arrival.

The soldiers arriving today came through the area where the Canadian army operated during the war.

An hour or two after the arrival Maj. Alex Milne, of Guelph, left for Hamburg with 109 ordnance troops as part of the dispersal of the brigade. His base ordnance unit remains under command of Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, who commands the 27th, but will be the most distant of a number of scattered sub-units.

Other Changes

Today's temporary increases, which may give the company about $8,000,000 a year in andditional revenue, will:

1. Boost the local phone-booth charge from five to 10 cents in large cities.

2. Increase residential and business phone rates five per cent.

3. Increase long-distance rates by from five cents to 25 cents on the basic three-minute charge.

The board heard the case Oct. 24 when the company argued its need for an immediate $15,800,000-a-year boost on Ontario and Quebec rates.

The company asked for increases in residential phone charges of between 25 and 75 cents a month, on business phones, between 75 cents and $3 a month.

The company application said it did not want long-distance rates increased. It felt that if these were boosted, business would decline.

However, the Board in its judgment felt that all segments of the service should bear a share of the extra cost.

Mechanical Changes

The Company had stated if the standard phone-booth rate increases were allowed, the new charges would be effective early next year after mechanical changes were made.

Maximum increases on long-distance phone calls: five cents—on calls costing between 15 cents and $1.45; 10 cents—between $1.45 and $2.55; 15 cents—between $2.55 and $3.45; 20 cents—between $3.45 and $4.55; 25 cents—$4.55 and up.

The company proposes to apply the phone-booth changes to these cities: Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, Quebec, Windsor, London, Kitchener-Waterloo and St. Catharines.

Increases in smaller exchanges may take place at some later date "when conditions justify this change."

The Board noted that the company was facing increased costs in taxes, wages, and capital expenditure. Though the board was not prepared to grant all the increases requested, it was 'satisfied that an interim increase is justified."

"We are of the opinion that the company's program for expansion of service facilities to meet the public demand for telephones necessitates allowing an increase and the interim adjustment of rates is calculated to temporarily meet this requirement."

Foresees 'Spotty' Unemployment

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 — (CP) — Canada may have more "spotty unemployment" this winter than last, Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, told the National Advisory Council of Manpower Thursday.

The Council—set up early this year to advise the government on manpower problems—also heard from Mr. MacNamara that the defence preparedness program should not have any troubles from labor shortages during the next six months.

At its third meeting, the Council was advised by the Defence Production Department that in the months ahead—as production for defence steps up—both labor and management may have to accept some changes.

"On the part of labor, this might involve a willingness to learn new trades and to move into new employment even where it necessitates a change of locale."

Management might have to take part in training schemes for employees, farm out sub-contracts to areas where there are surpluses of labor and standardize and simplify operations.

His report will not include nursing, medical or surgical departments of the hospital administration, as they were not included in the survey.

Ask If Armouries Used By Pistol Clubs

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said in Commons yesterday he would make inquiries before replying to a question as to whether pistol and revolver clubs have been denied the use of government armories in Canada.

The question was brought up by G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) who said he understood notices had gone out that such clubs could no longer use the armories for practice purposes.

Mr. Fraser said the clubs should be allowed to use them in the interests of civil defence.

Civilian Goods To Be Cut By New US Order

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP) —United States production officials predicted today that new cuts ordered in civilian use of scarce metals after June 1 represent the worst that will befall industry and consumers.

The National Production Authority announced Thursday night that the auto-truck industry will be allotted only 60 per cent of the steel plate needed to meet scheduled production during January, February and March.

This could mean an ultimate rise in price ceilings on cars and trucks. NPA administrator Manly Fleischmann asked the industry to make up the plate shortage by a more-expensive but less-critical form called "conversion steel."

Manufacturers of "less essential" consumer goods will get an average of only 10 per cent of copper, 20 per cent of aluminum and 50 per cent of steel, as compared with their pre-Korean usage.

Drastically Curbed

Drastically curtailed items include sporting goods, lamps, venetian blinds, springs and mattresses, dolls, toys and games, cigarette lighters, Christmas decorations, umbrellas, jewelry, signs and advertising displays.

A long list of "more-essential" products also will be curtailed, but not as severely. Fifty per cent of steel, 35 per cent of copper and 35 per cent of aluminum will go to the makers of refrigerators, washing machines, radio and television sets, lawn mowers and other products ranging down to zippers, buttons and pins.

The entire field of consumer hard goods, but more and less essential, now is receiving about 58 percent of the steel, 46 per cent of the aluminum and 54 per cent of the copper it consumed in the first half of 1950.

The new curbs apply to metal allocations for the first quarter of next year and probably will continue until July 1.

Campaign Poster Ripped Down- PC's

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16 — (CP)—Several complaints have been made this week at the Progressive Conservative committee room that a number of Welfare Minister Goodfellow's Nov. 22 Ontario general election campaign placards have been ripped from posts, torn up and scattered on the ground.

Last night a man told police he saw a woman tear up one of the posters. He said he followed her home to make sure of her identity, returned to pick up the pieces of cardboard and then went to the police station.

It was not known whether a charge will be laid.

Mr. Goodfellow, seeking re-election in Northumberland, is opposed by Charles Johnston, Liberal.

John F. Atcheson

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 16 — (ENS)—John Franklin Atcheson, a life-long resident of Seymour township who would have celebrated his 74th birthday on Christmas day, died at his home on Wednesday following a brief illness.

Mr. Atcheson was born in the same house in which he died in Seymour, the son of John Atcheson and Sara Watters. He farmed during his entire lifetime. He married the former Mary Ellen Menzie of Seymour, who survives to mourn his loss. The couple had no children.

Three brothers of the deceased also survive, they are: Alfred of Kingston, George of Campbellford and Robert of Seymour.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United church conducted funeral services from Bennett's funeral home Friday afternoon. The home was banked with floral tributes to the deceased, and these were carried by a group of nephews from the Havelock area. Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Pallbearers were Edward Hawley, Leonard Hampton, William Wilson, Charles Petherick, William McKelvie and Arthur Russell.

Mrs. John H. Earle

Pallbearers at the funeral on Thursday afternoon of Mrs. John H. Earle, who died Tuesday at her home, RR 1, Ida, were Harry, Richard and Russell Earle, and Harvey, Fred, and Isaac Hardy. Two grandsons, Alex and Norman Earle, were flowerbearers.

Mrs. Earle, the former Sarah Marie Knight, died after a short illness in her 92nd year.

The funeral was at the Comstock Funeral Home, and the Rev. A. E. Larke, Fairmount United Church, officiated. Burial was in the 9th Line Cemetery, Cavan Township.

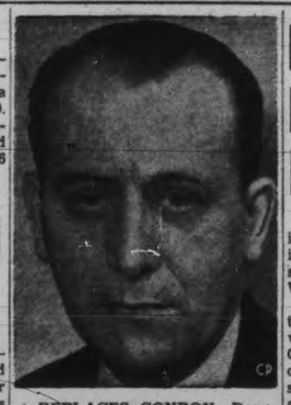
Says Paper Tried To Make Deal

CAYUGA, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)—Attorney-General Porter said Thursday night that in the year after the Charitable Gifts Act was passed The Toronto Star had officials make approaches to the government for "a deal."

"These people . . . came sniffing around, but we don't do business that way," said Mr. Porter in a speech in the Nov. 22 Ontario general election campaign.



"If charity is a good thing, then the money left to charity should go to charity, and not be conserved for some selfish interest. If an estate is to be freed of the necessity of paying succession duties on the ground the money has been willed to charity, then that is where it must go."

Mr. Porter gave no details of the approaches he said were made on behalf of The Star.

(The Charitable Gifts Act of 1949 provides that charity trusts may not hold after 1956 more than 10 per cent of any business. The Toronto Star and Star Weekly are operated by Toronto Start Ltd. dhose profits go to the Atkinson Charitable Foundation set up under terms of the will of J. E. Atkinson, Toronto publisher).

Lindsay Cuts Homework In Grades 1-5

LINDSAY, Nov. 16—Homework in nGrades 1-5 will be eliminated in Lindsay public schools as a result of public school board ruling Wednesday night.

Dr. Parker, chairman, brought the question before the board when he said that children in Grades 2, 3, 4 and 5 were being overburdened with homework. He said that he believed in these grades all work should be able to be covered during school hours.

The chairman also asked that examinations be discontinued in these grades.

The board made a ruling that the homework stop, but the examinations are to continue.

Admission Age

The question of the age for admission to school was also discussed.

A letter was read from a Lindsay mother requesting that her son who would be six in February be allowed to start to school. She explained that the boy had been attending kindergarten, but she was now finding it difficult to pay the fees.

The matter was left for decision with the chairman, teacher and parents.

Dr. Parker asked that next year the board should set an age limit and stick to it. He also said he would like to see the board operate kindergartens for children in Lindsay.

Another Redistribution Of Seats

One of the requirements imposed on the Federal Government by the Constitutional British North America Act of 1867 is that a redistribution of parliamentary representatives be made after each decennial census. The 1951 census has just been taken. When its figures are totalled and analysed, Parliament must set about reorganizing the federal ridings, according to the population revealed by the census and various regional requirements. Is it necessary so soon after the last Representation Act of 1947 to have another redistribution? We think so.

* * *

After the 1941 census all sides of the House felt is unwise to have a redistribution because so many men and women were in the services and the census could not justly reveal the weight of the population in the constituencies. Only nine members voted against postponing redistribution. An Address to His Majesty had to be made and the United Kingdom Parliament passed a special bill to permit postponement of the redistribution. No such unusual conditions exist now. Further, the redistribution of 1947 was based on the 1941 census and some guesswork about population density. This year, careful new figures can be obtained. Increases and shifts in population have been large in the last five years so that the redistribution of seats could be quite drastic. However no haste is needed. The present Parliament's life does not need to expire until June 27th, 1954, and the redistribution will not take effect anyway until Parliament is dissolved.

* * *

Some drastic changes in constituencies resulted from the 1947 redistribution. The greatest was in the size of the House. The total membership was increased from 245 to 255. Before the elections Newfoundland had entered the union, with seven representatives in the House of Commons. This brought the total to its present figure of 262. The number of seats is based proportionately on Quebec's population. Quebec has 73 members. If other provinces fall below or rise above the density of population in Quebec, they will lose or gain seats. Certainly in the new redistribution some constituencies will disappear and others will be created. The business of doing this is far from calm and rational. A redistribution always engenders political heat. When that heat will be created depends on how soon after the present census Parliament sets up its committee to deal with the representation.

Churchill In Small As In Great Matters

Mr. Churchill makes lively reading. It is likely that his pen will outlast his spoken words, great and ringing as they have been. In the weekend Examiner, where instalments of his latest volume of wartime memoirs have been appearing, last Saturday he discussed the preparations for D-Day. His lively mind and strong personality keep the reader agog in his prose.

There was this throw-off, for instance. D-Day had been set for June 5th (1944), with an alternative of June 6th. Weather reports on June 3rd were ominous. Churchill went to bed about 1:30 a.m. of the 4th. General Ismay stayed up, as a final decision was being made to postpone the great invasion. Churchill left word he was not be woken to hear the results of the conference. But he woke at 5:30 and sent for General Ismay. The decision had been made to postpone the invasion. "He told me the news . . . He said I made no comment." We can imagine that Churchill's comment was short, explosive and unprintable.

Then there is the correspondence between Churchill and the King after His Majesty had got wind of Churchill's intention to witness the landings from one of the warships taking part in the bombardment. The King wanted to go, too. He was dissuaded and the King then tried to dissuade Churchill. He wrote Churchill that:

"I am a younger man than you. I am a sailor, and as King I am the head of all the Service. There is nothing I would like better than to go to sea, but I have agreed to stay at home; is it fair that you should then do exactly what I should have liked to do myself? You said yesterday afternoon that it would be a fine thing for the King to lead his troops into battle, as in old days; if the King cannot do this, it does not seem to me right that his Prime Minister should take his place."

Churchill gave way only short of a direct command. Churchill, the old war correspondent and cavalry officer did not like to be limited by his Prime Ministerial office. "A man who has to play an effective part in taking, with the highest responsibility, grave and serious decisions of war may need the refreshment of adventure." His response to the King was stiff, but he missed the big D-Day show at H-hour.

This amazing man in the midst of his awful responsibilities and in the [illegible] days of 1943, could take time to instruct General Ismay, Sir Edward Bridges and the Secretary of State for India, on the proper use of words. A panel of quotations in last Saturday's Weekend beside the Churchill article points this: To General Ismay:

Will you please make the following terminology effective in all British official correspondence:

For "aeroplane" the word "aircraft" should be used; for "aerodrome" either "airfield" or "airport." The expression "airdrome" should not be used by us.

He told the General in a note two months later that the forces must stop using code-word names for operations such as "Triumphant," "Woebegone."

2. After all, the world is wide, and intelligent thought will readily supply an unlimited number of well-sounding names which do not suggest the character of the operation or disparage it in any way and do not enable some widow or mother to say that her son was killed in an operation called "Bunnyhug" or "Ballyhoo."

He ended this letter with the wise and experienced comment that "An efficient and a successful administration manifests itself equally in small as in great matters." He underlines the point in a postscript: "Why must you write "intensive" here? "Intense" is the right word. You should read Fowler's Modern English Usage on the use of the two words." It is good advice for lesser people than General Ismay, too. Incidentally, he illustrates the correct use of the word in the opening paragraphs of the instalment: "Once the size of the expedition had been determined it was possible to go ahead with intensive training."

These are small items to engage the great man in great days, but they are important. The right word in the right place is a matter which Churchill understands and whose importance he realizes.

de la Fosse Fountain

We are gratified to observe that the refurbished fountain of Victoria Park has been set up. It is a strange time of year to be erecting a fountain, but if it is up now it will surely be up and operating by Spring. We forebear to comment on the proportions and aesthetics of it until the work is completed and we can judge what it looks like when playing. At present the fishing boy and the various basins and bases have a sleethy base covering of bilious green and yellow paint.

Nomination Day

A week from this evening nominations will be received for the mayoralty, a Utilities Commissionership, five Council seats and five memberships of the Board of Education. Now is the time for prospective candidates to declare themselves, and for their supporters to rally. It is also time for friends of good municipal government to encourage good men and women to offer themselves as candidates.

Nomination day is only a week away. Already G. A. MacDonald has announced his intention to run again for the Utilities Commission, of which he is a retiring member, and Charles Hurst has offered to seek election to the Commission. Three retiring aldermen have decided to seek re-election, and Alderman Hugh Waddell has announced himself as a candidate for the mayor's office.

This speaks well for their sense of public responsibility. Alderman Waddell, for instance, a a member of the Council for six years and chairman of important committees during them, among them Finance, knows how onerous Council work can be, and how much time and energy it consumes. His candidature for the Chief Magistry is therefore a tribute to the office. Persons in elected public positions are bound, by the nature of public office, to receive more criticism than praise, for it is natural for people to keep quiet when affairs are running to suit them and to shout when they are not. But even when criticism falls upon the occupants, public offices have their own intangible compensations. That is why officials seek re-election.

Retiring members of the Board of Education and other prospective candidates for it have kept remarkably quiet about their intentions.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Owing to a surplus of gorillas in the world's zoos, the price of gorillas is dropping. Wives, unload your gorilla now, for whatever he will fetch!

An advertisement for insertion in our classified columns came to our attention. It advertised "registered Yorkshire bores". Well, we don't know about people in Yorkshire, but we do know that in Ontario there are so confoundedly many bores that it would be impossible to register them. The best thing to do with bores is to slaughter them, so we have heard.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: For some reason or other—the reason quite escapes me now—last week I began to wonder how many hangmen Canada has. He or they, of course, will never get any business in Peterborough. It was just an idle thought.

ANSWER: There is one hangman and his name is Ellis. It always is Ellis—it's a sort of trade name, no matter what the name the individual was born with. . . . The first executioner in Canada to act in a public, official capacity was a pardoned criminal who escaped the gallows by promising to act as hangman. His first official execution took place at Quebec in 1649. The hangee (you'll pardon me if I slip into bureaucratic terms) was a sixteen-year-old girl found guilty of theft. . . . The Canadian argot "to get the hang of it" has probably nothing to do with this judicial murder.

DEAR ALPHA: Is there any hope in the near or distant future that the railroad tracks may be moved away from the main streets of the town? Particularly during the three daily rush hours, morning, noon and night, there is a terrific congestion of freight crossing Charlotte, Simcoe, Hunter, and in fact almost every street in the town which runs east and west. I feel that since the two local stations are such eyesores to Peterborough, it would do no harm to build a proper Union Station somewhere away from the centre of the city, and thus remove at the same time all this traffic congestion.

ANSWER: The Master Plan for Peterborough says: "CNR tracks occupy one half of Bethune Street for about one and a quarter miles of its length. Twelve east-west streets cross the Bethune Street tracks, including two thoroughfares. Shunting locomotives south of Hunter Street block east-west traffic in and out of the central business section for long periods at a time. The Bethune Street tracks act as a barrier between the west part of the city and the business centre; they do not serve important industries, and are a source of deterioration of land values in residential blocks. The Lindsay and Lakefield lines, stemming from Bethune Street, traverse principally residential districts and serve only a few scattered industries, storage yards and warehouses".

The proposal in the Plan is that the Bethune Street tracks be removed altogether (and hence the C.N.R. station) and that the site of the present C.P.R. station be used for a Union Station. The C.N.R. lines from the north would come through the city along the east side of the Otonabee crossing at the existing railway bridge near the London Street dam, and continuing close to the river on the west side to Wolfe Street and the C.P.R. station. It is possible, but unlikely in our day, that these sensible proposals will be taken up by the railway companies.

DEAR ALPHA: There is a very old bridge in Montreal called the Victoria Bridge. It came out of the horse-and-buggy age, for it is very narrow. And there's a kind of elaborate iron scroll work, very fancy, over the entrance to it, with the date on it. I've forgotten what the date is. Can you by any chance tell me?

ANSWER: The Victoria bridge, the first bridge to span the St. Lawrence River was the pride and joy of Montreal for many years. Even now it is much prized for its stately antiquity and the fact that one does not need to pay to toll to cross it. It was built in 1860 at a cost of $6,400,000. Two cars can pass at one time, but not two trucks or buses.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALPHA: If service clubs can sell tickets on cars and churches can hold bingo games, how it is that we can't legally buy and sell sweepstake tickets? Is there one law for the Medes and another for the Persians?

ANSWER: The law is impartial but the enforcement of it is decidedly partial to fund-raisers for good works (except for hospitals by means of sweepstakes). It is illegal for a church to hold bingo games and award prizes, since bingo is gambling. It is illegal for a service club to sell tickets on a car. But I have never heard of the police raiding a church basement and locking-up the "founding" at the bingo tables. Seldom do local police interfere with service clubs raffling a car or motor-boat or other objets d'esteme.

As church groups, service clubs, and the multitude of organizations locally which peddle raffle tickets on food and Christmas hampers of food and drink know: the easiest way to raise money quickly is to appeal to the universal gambling instincts of people, and take a sizeable cut of the proceeds. That was well shown in Canada long ago.

In February, 1784, a lottery was held to provide funds for building a prison in Montreal. 13,000 tickets were sold and 4,327 prizes awarded—the first and the last drawn tickets bringing the holders £2,000. Other prizes ranged from £4 up to £800. Despite the liberality and number of the prizes, the net profit was £4,500. Tickets sold, however, at 46 shillings each. (The pound at that time in Canada was inflated.)

Most service club lotteries are much less generous and take a bigger slice of the profits. For instance, often so many tickets will be sold on a car that a ticket-buyer has only one twenty-five-cent chance in fifteen thousand dollars of getting the one and only prize.

France has a national lottery, run by the state to provide public funds. Tickets are sold every day at numerous street-corner kiosks. Canada has no such lotteries; preferring to see hundreds of thousands of dollars go out of the country each year to support Irish hospitals. Of course, the sale of Irish sweepstake tickets is illegal here, but winners are well publicized and heartily congratulated. Presumably, the winner is party to the crime, and the person who sold him the tickets could be found and sent to prison.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: Last Sunday during the Armistice Day ceremonies at Peterborough's cenotaph, a hundred wreaths were placed on the monument. They were all exactly the same, excepting for the B'Nai B'rith Star of David and the poppy wreath from the Province of Ontario. Somebody in the Canadian Legion is pretty good at putting the finger on merchants and industries. Interesting that opera is becoming popular in Peterborough, thanks to the initiative of Mr. Harry Yudin at his Centre Theatre. He showed Il Trovatore Wednesday evening to a full and appreciative house. A good film it was too. The gory, passionate and purple plot was made easily comprehensible. One could even accept the convention that the passionate lover (the troubadour Manrico) should delay his haste two minutes while he sang a song explaining to his beloved why he had to hurry like mad to his mother's rescue.

When The Socialist Government Was Turned Out

Australia's Disenchantment

By BRIAN MAY

THE other morning one of the regulars took his seat in our carriage, unfolded his newspaper and said: "Now let us see what the Socialists are doing today." He did not have in mind the latest pronouncement of Mr. Attlee or Mr. Bevan, but was making an ironical reference to the stern measures promised by Mr. Butler. "More Socialist than the Socialists," he complained. He then turned to some less troublesome topic.

Mr. Butler's approach to the nation's problems has surprised many people, who now ask: To what extent will the Conservatives sacrifice their notions of unfettered enterprise? I think that a recent chapter of Australian history, which may be called "The Great Disenchantment," provides an instructive guide, although not a complete answer, to this question.

To me, an Australian journalist who has chosen to make Britain his home, the British General Election seemed like an echo of the election held in Australia last April. There the temper of the evenly divided electors and the home issues that confronted them were similar to those in Great Britain last month. The same promises were made; the same fears held out. The Right-wing forces, led by Mr. R. G. Menzies, drove Labour from office.

Clearer thinking that followed the heat of the campaign left few surprised that the promised economic counter-revolution did not take place. But electors of all parties were dumbfounded when Mr. Menzies not only retained the essential fabric of Labour's economy but wove into it some of the controls that Labour had lifted after the war and introduced a Budget that seemed like a gigantic caricature of the restrictive Budgets of the late Mr. J. B. Chifley, architect of Labour's economy.

✧ ✧ ✧

THREE factors caused the volte-face of the Menzies Government, and they must also condition Conservative policy in Great Britain. These are inflation, the dollar gap, and rearmament. Each is familiar enough by name. But what is often overlooked, as Mr. Menzies found, is that from the remote vantage point of the Opposition benches it is not possible to know them as intimately as when you meet them at the Treasury.

The Treasurer, Sir Arthur Fadden, presented the Budget in September. He could find little sugar to coat this bitter pill, which was a frankly deflationary device. His only gesture to private enterprise was a promise to dismiss 10,000 Civil Servants. Against this, all income tax went up 10 per cent. purchase tax 50 to 200 per cent. and company tax two shillings in the pound. Pensions were put up ten shillings week: this, with no election in sight, was a humanitarian measure, not a sop.

The tax increases helped to create the proportionately large surplus of £114,500,000 in a Budget of £1,041,500,000. When in opposition Sir Arthur Fadden had repeatedly demanded that Mr. Chifley use his modest surpluses of about £20,000,000 to reduce taxes. Now, as Treasurer, he adopted and extended Mr. Chifley's policy, explaining that the object of the surplus was to drain off purchasing power and put it where it would "do least harm".

Business and industry, which rightly or wrongly had looked on the Menzies Government as their instrument, were aghast at the Budget. The Press, only a few months after it had urged the people to return Mr. Menzies and restore initiative to free enterprise, shrieked its anger in front-page editorials. The huge surplus was "robbery", one paper declaimed in big headlines. The heavy taxes would cripple industry. And Labour, now in opposition, was loud in its criticism. But the Government being more ready to cast aside its traditional prejudices than Labour had been in national emergencies, went ahead with its policy.

Inflation, which forced the Government's hand, has swollen to a frightening extent in Australia, and experience of it might chasten those in Great Britain who would tinker with the nation's counter-inflationary mechanism rather than overhaul and strengthen it. In Australia you can watch prices rise day by day. I have seen a standard suite of furniture go from £21 to £25 overnight. A fifty-year-old house bought for £2,000 in 1945, when it was considered dear, sold for £6,000 this year. Just before I left Australia in July I sold for £160 a piano that had cost £70 seventeen years previously. The basic wage when I left was £9. It is now £10. In 1939 it was £4.

This apparently endless spiral, with prices putting up wages and wages putting up prices, began after the war when Mr. Chifley, pressed by both Left and Right, reluctantly lifted wage-pegging. By doing this he weakened the structure of price control. The result had bitter lessons both for capitalists and for trade unionists.

THE Australian people did not learn these lessons until long after the inflationary gallop had begun. Tired of the price-control system which the Commonwealth retained after it had abandoned wage-pegging, and urged on by irresponsible propaganda in the Press, they transferred control from the Commonwealth to the States by a referendum. There was great elation after this victory for the Right. Most people thought that the States, some of which had Right-wing Governments, would strike down stifling bureaucracy and enable people to breathe again the air of free enterprise. One State Minister reflected the mood of the day by calling himself Minister for De-Control. And he immediately liberated, in concert with the Governments of other States, several thousands items that a clumsy bureaucracy had needlessly left on its books.

This clean sweep was refreshing. But soon it became clear that the broom had swept too well and that the very fibre of a stable economy was being tossed out with the rubbish. Prices soared. People who had hoped to retire with dignity and independence on endowment policies and superannuation were glad to take the old age pension. Workers, although their adjusted wages kept pace with prices, found their savings too small to be acceptable as deposits on the few houses available.

These are the circumstances that have whirled Mr. Menzies round a circle to the point where Mr. Chifley once stood.

✧ ✧ ✧

INFLATION in England does not seem such a danger as it is in Australia, where money is pouring in from the sale of wool, but fiscal problems are far more serious. It seems likely, then, that Conservatives here will have to veer from their ideal of tempered laisser-faire no less than those in Australia.

The one heartening sign that has emerged from Australia's confusion in the last decade is that in a British democracy national necessity rather than class or party prejudice are likely to determine policy in the long run. Australian Labour no longer believes that nationalisation automatically solves the nation's problems. After having enjoyed the new toy of its own airline and having failed to nationalise the banks, the Labour Government was happy to let nationalisation drop until specific circumstances demanded it. No Labour man I know would, for example, think of nationalizing the extremely efficient Australian steel monopoly. On the other hand, the Right has learned that economic justice is possible without national ruin, and that controls, however frustrating, are sometimes necessary in large doses.

Although the harassed English business man is not likely to get the freedom that he dreamed of on polling day, there may be consolations. Because of their first-hand knowledge of the capitalist economy, the new Government, while having to control it no less than their predecessors, may do so dynamically and in a less doctrinaire way; and controls may be exercised more sympathetically and flexibly by those who regard them as regrettable requirements of economic transition than by those who, all too often, welcome them as the implements of an orderly society, arbitrarily conceived.

Letter To The Editor

NORMAN MONCRIEF-AN APPRECIATION

Sir: On Thursday November eighth a highly respected citizen of this community T. Norman Moncrief, passed to the spirit world. He had been in failing health since last August, and the end of his useful life came quite suddenly.

Mr. Moncrief spent practically all his life on his farm, west of the city, and from boyhood was a farmer by choice. In this field he gave excellent leadership and helped raise the calling of agriculture to its highest level. He was particularly interested in, and made a study of vegetable, fruit growing, and dairying. He believed that honest toil, careful planning, and square dealing, would bring results and his example was an inspiration to others.

In 1920 Mr. Moncrief was married. Sophie Elliott of Peterborough became his happy bride and the union was one of mutual confidence and joy. There was born to them two daughters who adorned the home. Jean of Oshawa and Doris at home. Through the years, this home has been one of happy fellowship, and from its circle has radiated goodness and cheer to a host of friends.

Mr. Moncrief will ever be remembered as an upright, God-fearing man, one who from day to day lived his creed with his wife and family and with his neighbours. He so lived that he won the respect and affection of all who knew him. This was evidenced in the fact that he was asked to head various groups which sought to improve the life and work of the farmer. He also served as councillor for North Monaghan for two years and was a member of the Board of Trinity, United Church for thirty years.

The funeral was held on Saturday, November the tenth. The very large gathering, many from a distance, was a tribute in itself to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

He liveth long who liveth well,
All other life is short and vain.
He liveth longest who can tell
Of living most for heavenly gain.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market, a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches . . . And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years . . .

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath . . .

Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. (John 5: 2, 5, 8, 9, 14.)

"SOME ENCHANTED EVENING"

I hold that precious moments between waltzes, first kisses, or starlit rooms have not nothing in the way of enchantment until you've made your first visit to the girl's relatives —maybe in one of those fine old houses full of beams in the country.

Yes, that's her aunt over there, telling enchanting tales of rheumatism, and what have you. . . .

Uncle Ken will enchant you to death with funny stories and snatch tricks. He is very fond of fresh air and has a restful enchanting smile.

Auntie Alice, sitting on her own in the background, is also a hot line in enchantment, and Cousin Bettie in the corner supplies the music—she's played her new record "Some Enchanted Evening" 30 or 40 times since lunch.

Cousin Ralph (Isn't-he-like-his-father) has more enchantment, of course, than anyone can stand, and even that boy up there is enchanting enough so long as you don't offend him. . . . The little pigs in the basket are being enchanted over some pig complaint with hot water bottles. . . .

And a hot water bottle is probably more than you'll get when your enchanted evening is over and you retire to your enchantingly draughty bedroom.

No Outsider Able To Aid Campus Religious Work

MONTREAL, Nov. 16—(CP)—The Rev. H. L. Puxley, of Toronto, said Thursday night that he told the Canadian Council of Churches that "no ordinary church work can be carried out on the campus of the University of Western Ontario by an outsider."

In making this statement, Mr. Puxley denied a story carried by The Canadian Press Wednesday night quoting him as saying "anyone with a religious message is not given access to the campus of the University of Western Ontario."

Mr. Puxley, secretary of the Student Christian Movement, said he did not mean religious speakers or church representatives were barred from the campus. Instead, he said he meant no one, unless a member of the faculty or a student, can "operate from a religious point of view" on the campus.

Had To Move

The Student Christian Movement had to move its representative away from the campus last year, he said. "That's what I was disguested with," said Mr. Puxley.

He added:

"I consider our secretary was victimized by this ruling which was brought in several years ago in connection with some athletic movement."

Commenting on a Canadian Press report Thursday that Dr. E. G. Pleva, chairman of the advisory committee to the Student Christian Movement, said he would resign following his statement, Mr. Puxley said, "This news is most upsetting. Obviously I was misquoted and misunderstood. I intend to contact Dr. Pleva immediately and clarify the matter."

Weekend Tells Wives How To Handle Hunter Husband

Take it easy fellows.

Don't be too hard on the little woman for not getting excited over that fine antlered buck you brought back from the woods. According to cartoonist Peter Whalley and WEEKEND staff writer Doyle Klyn, it's been the same since the cave man era.

You may be a big shot with the boys in the camp when you bring down a deer in full flight, but don't expect friend wife to show any more enthusiasm than if you were telling her about how you just trapped a mouse in the kitchen.

In this week's WEEKEND, cartoonist Whalley and writer Klyn pooled their talents and came up with "Home is the Hunter" which points out that if hubby returns empty handed wifey quickly reminds him that the Oglethorpe's next door are dining on venison and with the price of beef these days . . . well that's how it goes. If however, he lands in triumphant with the head of a sad eyed doe she chides, "only a BRUTE would kill that poor creature!"

Grey Cup Final

For football followers, WEEKEND sports editor Andy O'Brien's timely comments on our annual fall classic the Grey Cup final should appeal to those who are both for and against a one game sudden-death encounter between the top team from Eastern and Western Canada.

Andy opines that "a sudden-death game played only in the east and frequently under the absolute extreme in weather conditions—without even the balancing factor of a home-and-home series—hardly deserves to be regarded as a true test for the Grey Cup. Backing up his argument, the Montreal mentor cites some fantastic fiascos that have decided senior Canadian grid supremacy in the past.

Summing up, he points out that the Grey Cup occupies the same place in football as the World Series does in baseball and the Stanley Cup in hockey, "but neither of these is a one crack affair or subject to weather's vagaries."

Mothers with small children will be interested in the new weekly feature "YOUR CHILD AND YOU" beginning in the Saturday issue of WEEKEND.

Child Holds Breath

Written by Marcia Winn, herself the mother of two daughters, five and two, this week's article deals with spasms of temper when baby holds his breath.

"Don't panic for fear he'll turn blue and faint," Marcia advises mothers whose offspring have found they can get what they want by holding their breath. Just ignore junior when he goes on a breathing strike and he'll soon start inhaling again—"anyhow, he'll outgrow the habit before he's five."

Rounding out this weeks' menu of family features for WEEKEND readers, there's an article by Women's Editor Helen Gougeon on May Johnson, an actor's agent who has launched such current stars as Gisele, Billy de Wolfe and others on the magic trail to stardom.

New angles on cold weather warfare are being investigated at Canada's cold weather war laboratory at Churchill, Manitoba. In "SCIENCE STUDIES THE ARCTIC" a WEEKEND staff writer-photographer team of Clyde Kennedy and Bert Beaver report on their recent trip to the sub-Arctic and the men and experiments being carried on to save Canadian lives in Korea today.

In addition, there are two fiction features, several short photo features plus the popular cartoon feature Nipper and of course the ever popular comic section.

Hazel White Places Third

TORONTO, Nov. 16 — (CP) — Junior judging teams from Quebec, Ontario, Alberta, and Manitoba each took five awards in competition at the 1951 Royal Winter Fair.

Every province except Newfoundland was represented in the competition which had nine judging and oral divisions: beef cattle, dairy cattle, swine, poultry, seed grain, seed potatoes, garden, clothing and food.

Ontario competitions had one first, one second and three thirds.

Ontario's seed grain judging team of Merle Moore, Springbank, and John McComb, Belleville, placed first with 1,048 points.

In dairy cattle, the team of Franklin Mile, Mountain, and Gordon McVey, Winchester, placed second behind Quebec with 933 points to Quebec's 954.

Seed potato judging saw Hazel White, of Campbellford, and Shirley Quantrill, of Orono, pile up 998 points to take third place behind Quebec and British Columbia with 1,102 and 1,086 respectively.

In clothing, Marion Brydges and Alice Neilson, of Almonte, placed third behind Alberta, 771, and Manitoba, 745.

Food judging saw Margaret Innes and Joyce Murray of Embro placed third with 737 as opposed to Alberta's 766 and Quebec's 752.

Fights 40-Hour Week

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) said Thursday night in the Commons that he is opposed to the 40-hour week. He said: "If we have trouble in this country it is because people are getting lazy and are afraid to work."

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Maj. E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said Thursday in the Commons there should be a lot more fanfare for troops returning from Korea to show them Canada really welcomes them home. Defence Minister Claxton said Canadian troops come home mostly in such small groups that it is difficult to "give them the welcome that we should like to give them."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Trail's End will be reached in Morrow Park ere the sun goes down tomorrow for PCVS senior "A" and SPS junior "B" gridders as the 1951 football season ends in Peterborough. Win or lose, these squads will be hanging up their gear for this year Saturday evening. Both local teams are in sudden-death COSSA finals, the juniors going at 12.30 against Welland, with the seniors tackling Stamford at 2.30 in the aft. Two fine playoff frays should result, with the rival outfits giving it all they have in titular play. While a big crowd whoops it up, cheering for the home teams. Apart, that is, from visiting rooters, and there may be a lot of them. A fitting football finale.

* * * * * *

Johnny Godfrey's OHA junior "B" Oddfellows are off for Kingston Saturday to open their puck schedule 'against the Vics of that city, and they play in Belleville on Monday, opening at home next Friday. Schedule should be out soon. IOOF-ers are shaping up well and should be plenty strong this hockey season. Not much info yet on Lindsay or Kingston in this group, but Red Doran is reported to have a solid squad in Bella Villa. Forwards include Lalonde, Therrien, Jacklyn, Doran, Strahan, Huile and Carey, while Bob Wilson and Pete Green are their best defencemen. Bobby Green looks like the regular goalie. But we'll know more about the whole setup in a week's time.

Eagles Playing Petes

Big hockey attraction at Civic Arena tonight at 8.30 is the OHA senior "B' fixture between the local clubs, Eagles and Petes. At the moment, Eagles are atop with six points but the Petes, who have four, can move into a tie by taking this tussle. Or Eagles can pull further in front with a win. Belleville, also with four points, goes to Kingston this same eve, and might well win there to tangle up the standing even more. Kingston and Queen's to date haven't won a game. These early victories are just as important as the wins in the last part of the schedule, of course.

* * * * * *

Eagles-Petes' clashes are always hockey highlights here, as there is plenty of rivalry and each club has its own raft of rabid followers. A number of new faces in each lineup this semester and no one will want to wager too much on their first meeting. Joe Rochetta—in hospital with a fractured leg—will be missed plenty by Ned Vitarelli's outfit, but the coach is confident his crew will dump the Petes. Jim Ellis is equally confident of a Petes' triumph, so there you are. This should pack in a hefty Friday night crowd as some sizzling senior "B" puck action is always assured when it's the Eagles versus the Petes here.

* * * * * *

Along Minor Puck Front

Lots of promising material for future OHA competition may be seen of a Thursday night in the arena when the PMHA-ers go into action. Bantams, midgets and juveniles are hustling in half a dozen games weekly, and the peewees will hit the outdoor rinks later in the season. No results received at this writing on the opening minor tilts. Loop officials should make arrangements with team managers to have these results sent to us in time, if publicity is desired—they did well in this respect last season. Next games are: Trojan bantams vs. Wolves, Trojan midgets vs. Snowbirds, Trojan juves vs. Marines, Lions bantams vs. SPS, the St. Peter's midgets vs. Martin-Hewitt, and Lakefield juveniles vs. IOOF. Otonabee Wolves want more players from the city or district.

* * * * * *

An item from the London, Ont., paper gives an idea of the cost of operating a team in junior "A" hockey now. Waterloo, which has junior and senior competition from Kitchener, dropped about $29,000 last year. The new Kitchener arena, seating 7,000 people, plays havoc with the drawing power of the Waterloo rink. The junior team has averaged only 600 a game so far and even civic aid and help from Boston Bruins can't take care of an annual deficit like that indefinitely. Kitchener juniors, sponsored by Canadiens, averages about 2,800 fans a game, as Kitchener seniors average around 2,000, and these figures are considered fair. We don't do anything like that here and local clubs seek a better division of gates with the arena.

Hurricanes Edge Generals 9-3 With New Coach

WATERLOO, Nov. 16 (CP). — Coach Norman (Bun) Cooke, new mentor of the Waterloo Hurricanes, made a good start Thursday night in his efforts to bring the team up from near the bottom of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A pile.

The Hurricanes moved up one place—to number seven spot—by trouncing Oshawa Generals 9-3.

Cooke took over the Hurricanes early this week from Bob Kinnear at the request of the Waterloo Arena Commission.

Last year the Waterloo boys wound up in last place.

The new coach made a few changes in the line-up that paid off Thursday night. He shifted Roger Maissoneuve to a line with Jim Connelly and Ken MacNeill.

The result: Maissoneuve netted one goal and had two assists while MacNeill aided on four Waterloo goals. The Hurricanes blew the goal into the Oshawa net four times before the motor city men got rolling.

Early in the second period, Herve Dejordy and Bob Attersley scored two for Oshawa and Bob Holden placed their final tally.

Character Officials To Judge Grid Game

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP).—Two of the officials at the Swarthmore-Haverford traditional Quaker grid game Saturday won't care a hang about the scoring.

They're not there to judge strictly according to the rules of the game. They will judge character—of the teams and of the individual players.

It's a new experiment for college football, tried successfully on the sandlot.

The "character officials" will sit in the press box with "character score cards." They will observe which players show the most respect for authority, which players and team have the will to compete, which side excels in bench conduct, player conduct, fan conduct, mental poise, alertness, perfection, physical fitness and appearance.

After the game, the "character officials" will consult with game officials and the coaches of both teams concerning their reactions to those qualities, as shown on the field.

On the basis of points awarded for each category, the top individual character display and the team showing the better traits will be chosen.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe, speedy Detroit right-winger, picked up a goal and an assist Thursday night to move into a third-place tie with two Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Howe has an even 6-6 count for 12 points, the same as Toronto's Ted Kennedy, while Sid Smith, also of Toronto, has five goals and seven assists.

Two Montreal Canadiens, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Elmer Lach, continue to set the pace with 15 points. Richard's 10 goals are a current mark, while Lach is pacing the assists division with 13.

Remember When—

The four-year reign of Maxie Rosenbloom as world light-heavyweight boxing champion ended 17 years ago tonight when Bob Olin outpointed Slapsie Maxie in 15 slow rounds at New York. Rosenbloom, a comedian, in and out of the ring, since has become a prosperous figure in Hollywood.

THE FEMININE TOUCH will be added to the COSSA championship games Saturday at Morrow park when the teams will be driven on by the cries and pleas from the St. Peter's High and PCVS cheerleaders. Interest may be lost in the football game when the shapely PCVS girls, (Top, left to right), Phyllis Peryer, Maureen Flecher, Barbara Walker, Nancy Zolyomy and Maizie Shearer run through their routines. Whether St. Peter's win or lose, they'll still be heroes, surrounded (bottom) by girls as Frankie McGillen, SPS lineman and kicker. Oh yes, the happy smiles are provided by (left to right) Cecile Byrne, Pauline Minicola, Margaret Caravaggie, Irene Kubica and Marlene O'Neill, also SPS junior cheerleaders —(Examiner Staff Photos).

COSSA Finals An Old Story To Collegiate Grid Squads

The PCVS senior football story has been repeated year after year for the past eight years as the Garnet and Grey pushes aside its opposition to gain the COSSA championship game.

Although PCVS is once more in the final game Saturday at Morrow Park against Stamford from the Niagara peninsula, the story is becoming sadder. The opposition is gradually dying and in some towns has died.

This year's breeze to the final game is a good example.

At one time Whitby, Bowmanville, Lindsay, Oshawa and Peterborough comprised the Lake Ontario district while Albert College of Belleville, Belleville Collegiate, Tweed, Trenton and others formed the Bay of Quinte district. This year only Oshawa Collegiates' Combines, Belleville Collegiate and PCVS played senior "A" in the combined districts.

Weak Squads

For a strong team like PCVS, which is comparable this year to Toronto's best collegiate teams, to play weak teams like Belleville (34-5 and 39-0) and Oshawa (27-11 and 24-0) was a pity. But they had to play games.

In their first contest, they humbled Riverdale of Toronto 11-0 and that win placed them high in the esteem of Ontario collegiate football experts. To convince them further that PCVS was strong, the Garnet and Grey walloped Trinity College school of the Little Big Four, 29-0.

Their one loss this year was the result of playing inferior opposition. Kirkland Lake, in the Red Feather tournament, were were stronger than either Oshawa or Belleville, and caught the Garnet and Grey without a pass defence. If PCVS had played more good teams, they would have had a pass defence.

How PCVS compares with Stamford is unknown. In the Red Feather tournament, Stamford was pushed over by the powerful Hamilton Cathedral Gaels, 20-0. PCVS also lost 11-8.

Below Par?

After the Hamilton-Stamford game, Coach Jim McNulty, St. Catharines Tricolors, 1950 COSSA champions, said that the Niagara team played far below their earlier appearances. But Hamilton rooters claimed the Gaels were below par. Therefore, there's no way to tell just how strong either team actually is.

Both teams, PCVS and Stamford, have lost only one game this season, those times in the Red Feather play.

In the eight games, PCVS, winning seven, have run up 211 points against only 36 for the opposition, an average of 26.5 points a game for and 4.5 against.

COACH G. B. (BEV) GOULDING

From the Red Feather appearances, the Orange and Black of Stamford is heavy and tricky; the Garnet and Grey light and fast.

PCVS will be relying upon the speed of backfielders Bob Craw and Spin Hope, the driving plunges of Warren Brown, Bus Jensen, Murray Grafstein and Don Scriver. The brains behind the team will be supplied by quarterbacks, Bryan Young and Dave Langhorne.

If the PCVS' line continues to hold as in previous games, including the one loss, the Garnet and Grey should give Stamford a tough battle. Such linemen as Paul Frise, Hugh Outram, Larry Forbes, Stan Facendi, Jim Telford, Don Clapper and Norm Hayward have been blocking and tackling to perfection in recent games.

Marg Parker Leads

Marg Parker led lasses in singles with 288 this week in the Mercantile Bowling League with Mary Gimblett's 684 triple high. Fudge Ronco topped males with a 277 single, and Frank Worsencroft's three of 700 was best. Loblaw's showed the way in pinnage with 3,003. Crowe's blanked Bond's, Loblaw's whitewashed Braund's No. 2, Utilities and A. & P. had 3-1 wins, and Neill's split even in their games.

Good counts for girls included: Verda McWilliams 242, Marcelle Lake 245, Marg. Gimblett 240, Audrey Fair 244, Joan Ronco 239 and Betty McKay 239. Men's counts: Frank Worsencroft 257 and 244, Don Riggs 239, Jack Martell 272, Bob Hopkins 246 and Jack Gimblett 236.

Ghosts Worried About Wildcats

COBOURG, Nov. 16.—The Cobourg Galloping Ghosts will try to salvage something from the 1951 football season when they meet Sarnia Wildcats here this Saturday for the ORFU Intermediate B title. Both clubs have been eliminated from the A series.

The Wildcats have a distinct flavoring from the Imperials of the ORFU senior league. Seven regulars have seen service at one time or another with the Imps. Their running stars are Pete and Hank Reeves, sons of former Sarnia great, Stan Reeves.

Both Sarnia and Cobourg have effective passing attacks, which on a dry field should result in a wide-open contest.

Cobourg, Dominion champs last season, have been confining their drills to light scrimmage to avoid injury. Karn Lenahan is being counted on to carry the mail on the receiving end of Bob Cooper's passes.

Tommy Harris, Sarnia quarterback, is rated as the Wildcats' biggest threat, with his highly touted passing, providing the Ghosts' officialdom with considerable worry. Much of the Ghosts' time this week has been spent on pass defence.

St. Peter's High Gridders Meet Welland For COSSA

COACH JOHN LYNCH

It's been a long, long time but St. Peter's High School Junior Saints have made the COSSA finals.

The right to represent the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario districts of the COSSA has not come easy over the past five years. And they don't intend to let Notre Dame High of Welland take the championship to the Niagara district.

Five years ago St. Peters, a high school with only 300 pupils, made its debut in the collegiate football world. With boys, generally small for their age, coach Bill Crowley began the grind, teaching the players complicated but necessary plays. It was a start but discouraging as they were continually trimmed by large scores such as 60-5.

The next two years, first under the Rev. J. F. Coughlan and then under Fred Allore, were also lean times for the Saints.

Started To Go

But two years ago under Fred Allore for the second year, the Saints began to improve. They didn't set the world on fire with their play but they began to win games, not by close scores but by decisive margins.

A senior team took coach Allore's time in 1950 and a new coach, John Lynch, former Ottawa Roughrider and then Orfun player, took over the junior duties.

Strict, well-conducted drills, which included strenuous exercises and hours on the plays, were the daily menu for the Saints throughout the season under coach Lynch. It paid off with the junior "B" Lake Ontario district championship.

The Saints lost only one game in the 1950 season, that the first to Cobourg 6-5. From there in they won six straight, defeating Whitby twice for the championship.

Still too small to contest the "A" championship, PCVS had a much stronger team, having four times the number of boys to draw from, and St. Peter's were satisfied with the "B" championship.

New "B" Class

This year new leagues were formed, called a "B" class, which gave football in the small schools a chance to survive. This was also the Saints' big opportunity.

With most of 1950's team back, the Saints started for the COSSA championship, again under Coach John Lynch.

Their first win, 34-5, against Lindsay's junior "A" team, was convincing enough to lead their supporters to hope for the best.

Since then with the exception of a 6-5 win over Grove of Lakefield, the Saints have laced their opposition. They racked up 87 points against Cobourg and Port Hope in league play while the opposition failed to score a point.

With this record behind them, the Saints were ready for the Bay of Quinte winners, Albert College. But that record made the Belleville school decide to forfeit the chance for COSSA honors, and the Saints slipped into the school's first COSSA championship game.

On display Saturday in the crucial game in Morrow park at 12:30 against Notre Dame will be backfielders, fleet Bob O'Rourke, hard-plunging Murray Byrne and Gord Whatman, punters Gord Snape and Frank McGillen, pass receivers Ron Board and Ed Corkery.

Along the all-important line will be Paul Hickson, Frank Gooley, Don Chambers, Paul Byrne, Grant and Carl Simmons, Jim Hull and others.

Calling the signals for the championship laurels will be John Hickey, running and passing quarterback.

Wings Lash Hawks 3-1 To Show How It's Done

By The Canadian Press

It may take time, but Detroit's high-flying Red Wings are out to teach their farm team, Chicago's hapless Black Hawks, the hard way. The Wings Thursday night drove home lesson No. 12 by walloping the Hawks 3-1 in the National League's only encounter. It was the 12th consecutive victory Detroit has scored over Chicago in the last two years.

Those losses bear bitter medicine for the Hawks, almost all of whom rode the gravy train with top-ranking Detroit clubs of other years before being shunted off to exile in Chicago in a one-sided series of player deals.

The victory fattened Detroit's lead over second-place Toronto Maple Leafs to four points and kept Hawks in the league cellar.

For 40 minutes the desperate Hawks held Red Wings to a 1-1 deadlock. Then Detroit's top goal-getters, Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe, rammed through for the decisive counters in the third period. Marcel Pronovost scored the first marker in the second stanza, while Chicago's lone tally was by Jim Peters, also in that frame.

Kept Hopping

For most of the game Chicago kept Detroit hopping. Pronovost's initial goal was freakish. He fired a high shot which hit a Chicago player's stick. Chicago goalie Harry Lumley judged the shot was over his head—and ducked. But the pestiferous puck banged the crossbar and dropped inside the net.

Three minutes later the Chicago attack claimed its reward when three forwards caught the Detroit defence napping. On a three-on-one break, George Gee blistered a perfect passout to Peters who killed it for the close-range tally.

The third period was scarcely under way before Lindsay took a Howe pass for the tie-breaker. Some 14 minutes later Howe again combined with Sid Abel to sink the clincher.

Red Wings now rest until Sunday night when they take on New York Rangers. Leafs have a chance to creep up with two weekend games, Saturday at home against Boston and Sunday at Chicago. Third-place Montreal Canadiens, three points behind Leafs, also have two weekenders, meeting Rangers at home Saturday and the Bruins at Boston on Sunday.

Bears Wallop St. Louis 6-1

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears strengthened their grip on first place of the eastern division of the American Hockey League, trouncing St. Louis Flyers 6-1 Thursday night.

The Bears are atop the eastern section with 16 points, but still trail Pittsburgh Hornets, the leaders of both divisions by 10 points. The Hornets were idle.

Arnie Killman garnered a pair of goals and Dave Creighton, Norm Concoran, Andy Branigan and Sam Bettio helped submerge the Flyers. Sid Finney was the lone St. Louis marksman.

At Indianapolis, Cincinnati Mohawks scored in every period to beat the Capitals 5-2.

Mays Shares Spot With McDougald As Best Rookies

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP). — Handy Gil McDougald of the world champion New York Yankees and Willie Mays of New York Giants share rookie-of-the-year honors for 1951.

Selection of McDougald and Mays was made by the same 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America (three from each league city) that picked the most valuable players.

McDougald barely edged out Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of Chicago White Sox by a surprising 13-11 vote. Surprising, that is, for Minoso outranked McDougald by a wide margin in the recent most valuable player balloting. Mays was an easy winner.

Voting for the most valuable player in the American League—won by Yankee Yogi Berra with 184 points—the writers named Minoso fourth with 120 points and McDougald ninth with 63 points.

On season averages, the Cunab Negro outhit McDougald, .326 to .306 and led the league with 14 triples and 31 stolen bases. The Yankee freshman hit more homers 14 to 10.

More Convincing

Apparently the fact that McDougald was the only .300 hitter on the pennant-winning Yanks and a steady performer all season was more convincing to the writers than Minoso's average.

The National League vote was a landslide for Mays with 18 of the 24 ballots. Chet Nichols, Boston Braves lefthanded pitcher, had four and Clem Labine, Brooklyn Dodgers righthander, had two.

Mays started the season at Minneapolis in the American Association where he was hitting .477 when recalled by the Giants in May. Ousting Bobby Thomson from his centrefield job, Mays played fine ball, showed a strong arm and great speed and finished with a .274 average.

PMHA Teams Open Season With Half a Dozen Games

Six games were staged at Civic Arena last night to open the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association season. The same loyal followers as last year saw lots of puck action, some of it naturally rusty after the long layoff. Lions bantams beat Trojans 6-1, Trojan midgets edged SPS 2-1, Lakefield juveniles took Trojans 6-2, SPS bantams won 4-2 over Wolves, Martin-Hewitt midgets defeated Snowbirds 10-1, and IOOF juveniles took a 5-1 win against Marines.

Scorers for Lions bantams were Chesney two, and Naish, Trudeau, Olmstead and Murphy one each, while Stewart from Reid accounted for the losers' markers. Each side drew but one penalty.

McFadden and Whitnall got the Trojan midgets' markers, as St. Peter's McCarthy hit the twine once. The winners had three penalties to one for the other side.

Scored Three

Sloane of Lakefield performed the hat trick with three, singles going to Spencer, Pratt and Pue. Trojan juves' goals were by Clark and Seabrook. Each club drew two penalties.

St. Peter's bantams had four goals in their tilt, one each by Daley, Forestell, Mahoney and Pace. Players Nos. 12 and 3 got the Wolves' goals, names not being available. Wolves drew the only two penalties.

Martin-Hewitt midgets rammed in 10, with Heffernan and Kane counted a pair apiece, as singles went to Strickland, Floyd, Chambers, Godfrey, Smith and R. Chambers. The losers' tally was by Ruttan. They had no penalties, three being thumbed off on the winners' side.

The juvenile Oddfellows' counters were two by No. 2 and one each to Nos. 3, 5 and 6—the names not being clear. Kearns hit the mark for Marines, who drew just two penalties while Oddfellows got eight.

Referees were Romhanyi, Menzies, Leggett and Woodcock.

Pakistan Needs 50 Runs To Lead

LAHORE, Pakistan, Nov. 16 — (Reuters).—Pakistan needed 50 runs with seven wickets to fall to lead England on the first innings at the halfway stage in the four-day unofficial cricket test here today.

At the close of the second day's play, Pakistan had scored 205 for three wickets in answer to England's 54.

The Pakistan batsmen, defending stubbornly against accurate bowling, hit 198 runs in the five hours' cricket today.

Civic Treats 692 Patients During October

A total of 692 patients were treated in Peterobrough Civic Hospital during October, five more than the September total and 147 more than the 1950 monthly average for the year.

These figures were released Thursday night at the monthly meeting of the board of directors by John Hornal, superintendent.

This total included 177 patients carried over from September, 447 admissions and 58 births.

The total patients' days' stay was 5,464 as compared to 4,961 in September and the 1950 monthly average of 4,237.

Mr. Hornal also reported that 364 operations had been performed during the month. September's total was 347. These included 96 major operations, 83 minor operations, 41 eye, ear, nose and throat operations, 41 casts and 103 transfusions.

Thirteen patients were treated in the communicable disease division—a drop of 19 from September.

The medical and surgical advisory committee reported 551 patients discharged during the month—299 recovered, 207 improved, five unimproved, 12 transferred, five for diagnosis only, 22 deaths and one stillbirth.

Laboratory examinations for the month totalled 3,679. The 1950 monthly average was 2,315.

UN Command Studies News Complaints

By SYDNEY BROOKES

TOKYO, Nov. 15 (Reuters)—The United Nations command today was considering recommendations for improving information about the Korean cease-fire talks, after complaints from Reuters and other news services here.

An authoritative source said one recommendation was that an experienced public relations officer should attend the Panmunjon meetings of the sub-committee trying to thrash out agreement on a cease-fire line.

This officer could, it is claimed, provide more extensive information about the Communist proposals and reactions than now is available from the United Nations command's briefing after each session.

Complaints about the press coverage of the talks were passed to the command this week.

Generally Critical

The western press here has been generally critical for some time about the seeming failure of United Nations negotiators to support their statements about the cease-fire meetings with reports of what actually has been happening.

The biggest difficulty in reporting the negotiations recently, has been the problem of reconciling UN statements with Peiping radio broadcasts.

For the last week the United Nations has daily accused the Communists of wishing for a final cease-fire now—thus enabling them to "haggle" over the rest of the agenda indefinitely while free of military pressure.

But Peiping radio categorically denied that the Communists want a de facto cease-fire.

Want Facts

While recognizing the possibility that in the conference room the Communists were saying something different, the western press here wanted to know just what they were saying to justify the United Nations accusations and denunciations.

The information was not available, except in one United Nations statement this week giving shortened excerpts from the Communist negotiators' statements.

The available information seemed to show that the two sides were not far apart.

Quebec MP Afraid War May Follow Royal Tour

QUEBEC, Nov. 16 (CP)—Rene Chaloult (Nationalist, Quebec) said Thursday in the Quebec Legislature the recent Royal tour had political motives.

Mr. Chaloult noted that the 1939 tour of Canada by King George and Queen Elizabeth was followed by war.

"A similar adventure may be in store for us," he added.

Mr. Chaloult then discussed the "problem of the hour"—federal-provincial relations.

He said confederation with autonomous provinces rather than letgislative union under a single government was arranged in the first place at the request of the spokesman of Lower Canada in 1867.

The provinces were given definite taxation rights including priority in the field of taxation.

The federal government entered the field of income taxation during the First World War on a temporary basis, but has not yet given it up.

The Powell-Sirois Commission report in 1940 recommended that the provinces accept federal grants in return for their abandonment of income taxation and succession duties.

The Quebec member said this was followed by such federal social security measures as unemployment insurance and family allowances, which he blamed the province for failing to establish.

Police To Store Seized Cars In Works Yard

A recommendation that the police department make arrangements with the city engineer to have seized cars stored in the Board of Works Yard was passed at a meeting of the Police Commission Thursday afternoon. The meeting was held in the Conference Room of the City Hall.

City clerk E. A. Outram reported that several complaints had been received from civic employees that cars which had been seized as the result of drunk driving charges were being left on the parking lot behind the City Hall, until the charge against the owner has been heard. As a result, there is sometimes not enough room for everyone who is entitled to park there, he said.

It was suggested that the cars be stored on garage parking lots rather than city property. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, pointed out that if the charge which had resulted in the car being seized were dismissed, the problem would arise as to whether the owner would be responsible for paying the storage costs.

On motion of Mayor Max Swanston, seconded by Judge S. L. Smoke, it was decided to leave the cars in the Board of Works Yard while they are being held.

4 Ministers Resign

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 16 (AP)—Four government ministers are resigning in a cabinet shake-up, the ruling Labor Party announced Thursday. The announcement followed by two days the resignation of Prime Minister Einar Gerhadsen. He was said to have resigned for personal reasons. These ministers were leaving: Defence, Jens Christian Thause; Finance, Olav Meisdalshagen; Agriculture, Kristian Fjeld, and Fisheries, Reidar Carlsen.

Want To See Action

Singapore Formerly A "Town" Officially Now Becomes City

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Roy Ferroa, Singapore newspaperman, forwards to The Canadian Press a special edition of The Straits Times.

It is a 60-page production which celebrates the fact that Singapore, hitherto a "town" of about 1,000,000 people, has been granted a Royal charter as a "city."

The full significance of the change of status is not yet indicated, but is apparently heralds an increasing measure of self-government for the British bastion at the southern extremity of the Malay Peninsula.

Mr. Ferroa was one of the newspapermen who visited Canada in 1949-50 to study Canadian newspaper operation under scholarships from UNESCO (United Nations Economic and Social Council) and became known in many newsrooms across the country.

Known as "Lion City"

Despite its "town" status Singapore has long been known as the "Lion City." It was apparently a prosperous commercial centre in the 13th and 14th centuries, but was destroyed by the Javanese about 1377.

Its modern growth dates from 1819 when Sir Thomas Stamford Raffles landed there to find it a jungle island with a small settlement of some 50 Malay homes.

Judging by the special edition of The Straits Times, the new city now is a go-ahead place, with its misfortunes of the Second World War fading into the background.

A half-page group caricature of the "First City Father" of the new "city" by T. H. Peng, looks, in action and attitudes, like a job done on the city council of most any Canadian city by a Canadian staff artist.

Problems Similar

The problems seem the same, too. Municipal president T. P. F. McNeice waves the charter as a baton before the council of about 30. Mrs. Robert Eu carries an axe called "consumer's resistance;" commissioner Son Ghee Soon runs with a basketball labelled "public nuisances"; while commissioner Alsagoff holds a scroll entitled "injustice to landlords."

Like Canadian cities, Singapore is spreading into the country, and Mr. Ferroa is one of the cummuters—a gardener and a flood victim. He says in an article in the special edition:

"Although the Bedok soil is sandy, I have managed to raise in my little garden chillie, papaya, lime trees, and egg plants (brinjals). As a matter of fact, I have so many egg plant trees that we have to give away our surplus. . .

"We have killed more than a dozen centipedes and scorpions which found their way into our home, to say nothing about the occasional land crabs which visit our scullery for scraps of food.

"One day during the rainy season our house was completely flooded out and we were marooned for 14 hours. The dog, my wife's chickens and hens, the cat, and our three geese spent the long, wet night with us in the dining room."

CBC Features Variety Of Opinions

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said Thursday the CBC feels there can be no freedom of speech on the air unless time is allowed for the expression of a variety of opinions.

Parliament, he said, may consider that policy to be wrong. Should that be the case, he hopes parliament will say clearly what opinions and ideas the CBC should allow to be expressed through its facilities.

Mr. Dunton made his statement before the Commons Committee On Radio. He said there have been criticisms of some of the programs carried by the CBC.

The CBC does not try to decide which opinions are good or bad for the people to hear. Such practice existed in totalitarian states.

Present All Viewpoints

Efforts were being made by the CBC to see that all viewpoints were given a hearing.

Some members of the committee suggested the criticism was aimed at recent broadcasts by Bertrand Russell, British author and philosopher; Dr. Brock Chisholm, president of the World Health Organization, and others.

Mr. Dunton said that in written comments received by the CBC on the broadcasts, favorable comments outnumbered the criticisms 10 to one.

COME OF AGE — Surprise feature of the 21st annual dinner of the Canadian Council of Boys' and Girls' Club Work during National Club Week was a huge coming-of-age birthday cake. Childbirth Edict Charged 'Vile As Law'

LONDON, Nov. 16 (Reuters)—The Church of England's newspaper, in a renewed attack on the Pope's recent edict on childbirth, said Thursday that "What may be useful as advice and guidance may be utterly vile as law."

Referring to the "flood of explanations, excuses, qualifications and falsifications" by Roman Catholic "apologists," the newspaper's editor said the Pope's edict that a doctor must not destroy an unborn child to save its mother's life still stood.

"The embryo may show every sign of emerging as a monstrosity, but the doctor cannot remove it as a means of saving the mother's life," the editor said.

Though this Roman Catholic rule might in practice rarely apply, "in principle it is a threat to every family," he said.

"Now that the question has come dramatically before them, the general public is right in expressing concern," he added.

In answer to widespread criticism, Roman Catholic doctors said that loss of confidence in them because of the papal "mother-or-baby" pronouncement would be unjustified.

Speaking for the doctors, the Guild of St. Luke, Saints Cosmas and Damian issued a statement in the Roman Catholic Herald. It said the Pope's pronouncement introduced nothing new.

Deserve Trust

The guild claimed that Catholic doctors who respect the life of mother and child equally are more deserving of trust than a doctor who is prepared to kill the child by performing an abortion.

The Pope, it said, was speaking mainly against abuse of the use of medical grounds for abortion in his pronouncement to Italian midwives recently. The guild said this has come to the point where it is only necessary for a psychiatrist to say that having a child would cause "mental trauma" (injury) for an abortion to be justified.

With modern methods, the guild said, the case where a mother would have to be sacrificed to save the child arose rarely.

The British health ministry, meanwhile, announced Thursday night that expectant mothers worried about the papal pronouncement may switch their state-paid doctors.

OFF FOR NATO MEETING — Finance Minister Abbott, right, and Lt.-Gen. Army Minister Orders Inquiry In Jail Charge

CANBERRA, Nov. 16 (Reuters)—Army Minister Josiah Francis Thursday ordered an immediate investigation into a report that an Australian soldier was chained to the wall in a Canadian jail in Seoul, capital of South Korea.

The allegation was made by a soldier at a meeting of the Korea Veterans' Association in Melbourne Wednesday. The soldier later told army officials he heard the story second-hand and did not know the name of the man concerned.

Defence headquarters at Ottawa Thursday cabled Brig. John Rockingham, Commander of the Canadian forces in Korea, for comment on the report. Officials said they did not know of any non-Canadian delinquents being placed in Canadian detention quarters.

Brantford Sportsman Seems Destined Meet Nature Hard Way—Fishing Or Hunting

BARRIE, Nov. 16 — (CP) — Nicholas Zaychowski of Brantford, seems destined to meet nature the hard way. In September he nearly capsized his boat hauling in the biggest black bass on record for Canada.

He fought for 30 minutes with a 240-pound deer maddened by bullet wounds on Thursday.

Zaychowski wounded the animal near Madawaska, the scene of his fishing triumph. He followed a trail of blood for more than a mile and fired his last two shots at the deer, missing it.

"When I came within 10 feet, it turned on me and charged," he said. "I dropped my rifle and grabbed the antlers."

After a struggle in the waist-deep snow, Zaychowski managed to hold the deer against a tree until two Michigan hunters, attracted by his cries, finished off the deer with a jacknife.

Zaychowski's record bass, nine pounds, two ounces, was the second fish he ever caught.

Primate Says Troops Not Cruel To Koreans

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—There is not the "slightest shred of truth" to stories that Canadian troops are being cruel to the Korean people, the Most Rev. Walter F. Barfott, Anglican Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of all Canada, said here Thursday night.

Addressing the 23rd annual meeting of the Montreal branch of the Fellowship of the West, a Church of England association, Archbishop Barfoot warned:

"Do not believe these lies about our Canadian soldiers fighting in the Far East. I saw our boys handing out their chocolate rations to the children and to the adults. I have seen their kindness and their compassion to the Koreans."

The primate has just returned from a tour of the Korean front and a visit to Japan.

Sharp Clash On Price-Fixing

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—A sharp clash broke out in parliament's Special Committee on Retail Price-Fixing Thursday as an opposition member tried in vain to have the government's proposed legislation against resale price maintenance practices brought before the committee for investigation.

E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops) said that Justice Minister Garson, during Commons debate on a resolution to set up the special committee, had stated he would bring before it draft legislation for the committee's study.

Instead, the committee was given Thursday a suggested draft amendment to the Combines laws prepared by Combines Commissioner T. A. MacDonald and based on the recommendations of the MacQuarrie committee which has urged the government to ban retail price-fixing.

Mr. Fulton was voted down, however, when he tried to get the committee to accept a motion that the government should be forced to bring the draft legislation before the committee.

Need Special Measure For Visiting Forces

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 —(CP)—A party of Canadian troops going north to help the Americans oust the Japanese from the Aleutian Islands in 1942 were stopped at the Alaskan boundary by US customs men who demanded duty on their equipment.

Defence Minister Claxton, recounting the incident to an amused Commons Thursday, said the Canadians were refused admittance because there was no provision under the US tariff to pass the Canadians' weapons and personal equipment duty free.

The then US Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, solved the issue. He designated the Canadians — and all subsequent Canadian forces bound for the invasion of Kiska Island—as "distinguished foreign visitors."

Mr. Claxton recounted the incident to point up the necessity of a government measure to provide for recriprocal treatment of visiting forces by the 12 signatory countries of the Atlantic Pact.

Annuity Contract Can Be Amended

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 —(CP)—A worker subscribing to federal annuities through company pension plans can have his annuity contract amended when he changes employment, P. E. Cote, parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Gregg, said Thursday night in the Commons.

He was replying to Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) who said that workers should have the right to transfer their pension credits when they change employment.

The exchange occurred during study of a resolution to a bill boosting the maximum annuity to $2,400 from $1,200 a year. The resolution was adopted and the bill was introduced and given first reading.

Mr. Cote said it will be possible for workers to integrate their annuities with the old-age pensions program.

For instance, a man might purchase an annuity to provide himself with a pension of $75 a month from age 66 to 70 when he would qualify for a federal pension of $40 a month. The arrangement could be that on reaching 70 the yield from the annuity would drop to $35 a month. This would assure a man of a pension of $75 from 65.

COLDSPRINGS, Nov. 16 (ENS)—Mr. Ted Cussworth caught the forefinger of his left hand in the pulper, nearly severing it at the first joint, in an accident early this week. Mr. Cusworth was taken to Cobourg by a neighbor, Mr. C. Baptist and was taken to the General hospital, where 11 stitches were required. He was brought home and is progressing.

Network Broadcast Triumph Concluding Tour Programs

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A triumph for Canadian radio was the farewell network broadcast the night before Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh sailed for England after their Canadian tour.

Choirs from Newfoundland to British Columbia were linked together in the productnon by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, highlighted by Princess Elizabeth's own farewell address.

But apart from its stirring content, the broadcast thrilled millions of listeners by its perfection of production. The broadcast involving more than 10,000 miles of wire in two transcontinental networks, was remarkable for its split timing of entry of the different groups from Atlantic to Pacific.

The complex and carefully rehearsed broadcast was a fitting climax to radio reporting of the Royal tour carried out by the CBC and private stations across Canada. The five weeks of Royal tour broadcasts ended dramatically the day after the big network program, when the actuality broadcast of the departure of the Empress of Scotland was abruptly severed by parting of wires to the motor vessel Kipawa in Portugal Cove.

In co-operation with the main telegraph companies, the CBC arranged for two Dominion-wide networks to handle the farewell broadcast. The radio network itself carried choruses from Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax and St. John's, Nfld. The parallel network carried directions and timing cues from Toronto.

Cue For Princess

The timing was perfect throughout. Princess Elizabeth herself, at Government House in St. John's came in right on the dot with her warm farewell message in English and in French.

Conductor of the separate choirs at each point across Canada heard instructions from producer Frank Willis and orchestra conductor Geoffrey Waddington, through headphones. The choirs themselves did not hear the orchestra in Toronto; the choir conductors heard it on headphones and indicated the beat to the singers.

Immediately following the Princess' speech, the orchestra in Toronto played "God Save the King" and then all six choirs joined in singing "O Canada." The choir in Montreal sang "O Canada" in French, then the Toronto choir sang "Will Ye No Come Back Again," being poined in the last verse by the five other choirs.

"Ode" Highlight

After a French song of farewell from the Montreal choir, the tricky finale was "Auld Lang Syne." The Vancouver choir sang the first verse, Winnipeg the second, Montreal the third, Halifax the fourth and St. John's the fifth, with Toronto and all other choirs in unison singing the final verse.

Bert Powley and Jack McCabe in the CBC offices at Toronto worked on the myriad details involved in setting up the production, and Byng Whittaker handled the straight announcing job. It was altogether a show that demonstarted Canadian radio need take second place to no other nation.

BANCROFT, Nov. 16—(ENS)—About $90 was realized by the sale of Remembrance Day poppies, conducted in town by a committee under the leadership of Henry Phillips of Branch 181 of the Canadian Legion. Previous to this sale of wreaths to local merchants was handled by a committee of legionnaires. Local profits from the sale have been earmarked for the Legion welfare fund.

CGE Lays Off Workers, Sales Down

Department Of 36 Shut Down Others Affected

A decline in sales of some CGE products has forced the Peterborough works to lay off the employees in one small department, some from other departments and also shift employees from a slack department to a busier one.

This is the fourth Peterborough company since July to report lack of sales, resulting in either short work weeks or definite layoffs.

First to feel the change in buying was the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company which has been slack now, except for occasional spurts, for six months. Then the Dominion Woollens followed with a period during which the employees worked a shorter work day.

The Western Clock Company is in its second slow period since the depression. There, employees have been shifted to different departments to keep them working; are working short time weeks and in some cases have been laid off.

James E. Girven, CGE works manager, said today, "During this year, we have been able to maintain a high level of employment at the Peterborough Works despite the unusual difficulties we have had to face in order to keep our many manufacturing processes in operation."

Materials Short

Mr. Girven explained that materials have been difficult to obtain and when they can be obtained, "we are often handicapped by delayed delivery dates."

"Within recent weeks circumstances beyond the company's control have forced us to reduce the number of employees in certain areas, of which the small motor division has been most seriously affected.

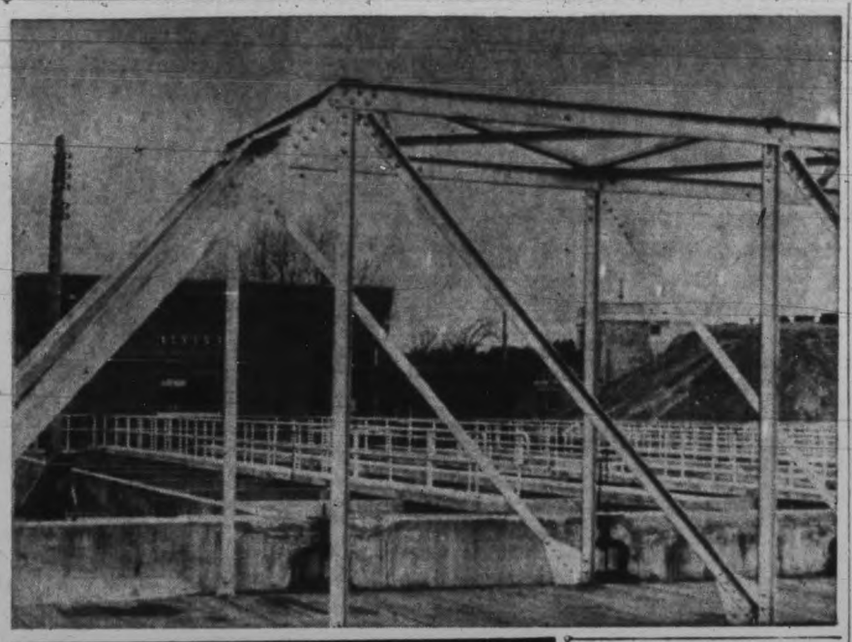
"The manufacture of fractional horsepower motors is almost totally dependent upon the sales level of refrigerators, washing machines, electric ironers and other home appliances operated by motors. For the past few months we have seen a gradual decline in the sales of these appliances."

36 In Department

Mr. Girven added that in the reconversion department, where 36 people were employed, "we had to cease operations entirely, due to the fact that our customer has been unable to keep pace with the original program arranged."

The works manager inserted that "it is, of course, hoped and expected this work will be resumed at a later date."

Also facing a difficult situation is the armature department, the cord sets department, and the induction motor division, he added.



Mr. Girven said that, following the company's policy of transferring employees, "other jobs have been found to keep many of those affected on the payroll. Every effort is being made to place as many as possible but unfortunately it has been impossible to absorb them all at this time."

The decision, he said, was reached only after an extensive survey of job possibilities was made.

"It is hoped that the present adjustment of our work force will take care of the situation and I can assure you that everything possible will be done to maintain the full operation of these works."

Employees At Hospital Get Raises

Increases Given Of $3 To $4 2nd Raise Jan. 1

Settlement has been reached between Branch 19 Civic Utility and Electrical Workers (CCL) and the board of directors of the Peterborough civic hospital.

This announcement was made Thursday night by Chairman J. R. Marshall at the board meeting.

Mr. Marshall stated the agreed terms are as follows: everyone in the bargaining unit receiving a weekly wage of $30 and under to receive a weekly increase of $3; each member receiving a weekly wage of $30.01 up to $35, to receive a weekly increase of $3.50; each member receiving a weekly wage of more than $35 to receive a weekly increase of $4; all increases to be retroactive to Oct. 1, 1951.

On Jan. 1, 1952, all union members will receive an additional increase of $3.50 per week. The agreement also gave the hospital board the right to a revocable check-off. This means that if union members request it, union dues will be deducted from their salaries, however, on ten days' notice the union dues deduction may be discontinued.

The terms of this agreement, which affects 110 employees, were the terms of a counter proposal made by the board after the union had made its demands Sept. 25.

Union Demands

The union demands were for a 25-cent hourly increase and 17-cent cost-of-living bonus consistent throughout the bargaining unit retroactive to Jan. 1, 1951; pension and hospitalization plans and closed shop.

On Oct. 17 the union reduced their cost-of-living bonus demand to 13 cents, retroactive to Jan. 1 and asked that the 25-cent-an-hour increase be retroactive to Sept. 1 of this year.

The hospitalization and pension plans and closed shop were turned down by the board members who again gave their counter proposal of salary increases which were accepted by letter Thursday.

This union was formed a year ago, was certified Sept. 6 and has been negotiating with the hospital board ever since.

Members of the union negotiating committee are: W. G. Painter, G. Lindsell, Miss Lois Johnston, Al Gehrken, E. A. Kettle, Robert Morris. Their outside negotiator was S. A. Little of the national organization of Civic Utility and Electrical Workers (CCL)

Outside negotiator for the hospital board was D. G. Pyle of the Central Ontario Institute of Industrial Relations.

Top Stewart Colt Brings $4,300 At Sale In US

Stewart Worthy's Sister at $4,300 brought the top price of Hugh Stewart's consignment of 21 colts and four horses at the Harrisburg, Pa., sale of Standardbreds last week.

Second in the price list was Stewart's Delight at $1,300, with Stewart's Kate Hall third for $1,100, and the rest of the string from Hilltop Farms ranged down into the three figures.

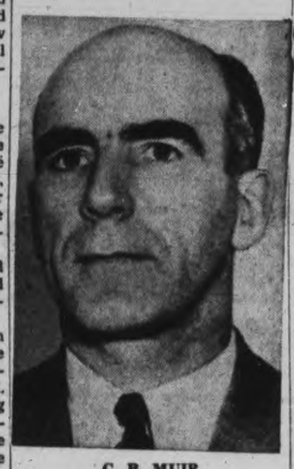
"I have already had acknowledgment by confirming letter of another consignment of 25 colts for the 1952 sale, and incidentally, we have secured stabling room next to the famous Hanover colts," Mr. Stewart said today.

"Scores of men told me, in fact there may have been a hundred altogether, that we had the best conditioned and best groomed consignment in the sale. One of them was the manager of Castleton Stock Farms of Lexington, Kentucky, and Mr. Gaines of Gainesway Farms, also of Lexington, not only congratulated us, but also invited us to lunch, and spent most of the time talking about the condition of our horses and the methods we follow."

Trained Colts

Mr. Stewart said he had learned the importance of offering colts that were broken in and trained. "I know that explained our best price for the full sister of Stewart Worthy, which was handled by my son, Hugh, and we are planning to train at least ten of the 25 for next year's sale."

"Obviously it takes time to prove that we have a good stud and breeding. You have to win the confidence of the American harness horse men. We are now fully recognized as chartered consignors."



Press news of the sale of the Reynolds (tobacco) estate Tarheel for $125,000 was evidence of the money that is being paid for top ranking Standardbreds today.

"Eight or nine years ago, by contrast, you could have heard a pin drop when Captain Kinder sold for $4,600," Mr. Stewart recalled.

The Reynolds horses, not more than 30, were disposed of in about two hours for a total of $524,000. Hanover Shoe Farms bid in the pick of them with Solicitor at $100,000, next to Tarheel in money; Tarheel's dam, Leta Long, brought $37,000; and Solicitor's mother, Jane Reynolds, $40,000.

Hanover Farms comprise a great stable, Mr. Stewart said. They have a wealth of money behind them, sell 200 yearlings or more annually, and in 1949 accepted $72,000 for Imperial Hanover.

CGE Appoints Clark B. Muir Mechanical Head

C. B. MUIR

Clark B. Muir has been appointed mechanical superintendent of the Peterborough works, Works Manager J. E. Girven announced Thursday.

For the last nine years Mr. Muir has ben supervisor of plant engineering. He will now be responsible for buildings, plant services, and the use of plant equipment.

He came to the Peterborough Works in 1931 after graduating from the Nova Scotia Technical College with a B.Sc. degree in mechanical engineering. His first job was in the mechancial department where he worked under the late Enos Maybee.

Transferred

A year later he was transferred to the wire and cable department to work on equipment and plant layout. Here he was associated with the late Frank Patterson and later L. D. Carver. And in 1938 he became mechancial engineer in the department under J. E. Girven, then engineer in charge.

He was appointed general foreman of the department in 1941 and he was also placed in charge of the welding electrodes and cord sets departments.

Though given special duties by the assistant works manager he continued to look after layout and equipment in the wire department. And in 1942 came his promotion to supervisor of plant engineering.

Disposal Plant Completed To Handle 4½ Million Gals. Of Raw Sewage Daily

Peterborough's revamped sewage disposal plant is now fully in operation. Daily it handles about 4½ million gallons of raw sewage, putting all of it through three basic stages, and the remaining sludge through a separate treatment. This is what happens to sewage after it flows into the plant:

First it is pumped to the rackhouse, where a coarse grating removes all foreign matter. It flows then through the grit tanks to a pumphouse which puts it through to the primary settling tanks.

From these, the sewage goes to a series of narrow aeration tanks, each about 50 feet long, and from these into roughly circular final settling tanks nearly 40 feet in diameter.

Out of the final settling tanks, more or less clear water is pumped into the Otonabee river.

New Feature

At the primary settling tanks, sludge is collected by huge scrapers which remove it from the bottoms of the tanks. Pumps push this sludge to the digesting tank, a new feature of the disposal plant.

In the digester, sewage is first pumped through pipes in which the sludge is heated. From the heater, it is pumped farther, into the tanks themselves, where it "cooks".

The sludge can be pumped from the digesting tanks (there are two of them) into tank trucks as liquid fertilizer. An alternate method is to dry it and market it as a dry fertilizer. No contracts have yet been let for removal of the digested sludge, but it is expected that it can be sold as fertilizer.

One US city — Milwaukee — markets the dried sludge from its sewage disposal plant in bags as commercial fertilizer under the tradename of Milorganite.

Gas from the sewage is part of the fuel used to heat the sludge and provide gas for bunsen burners in the main building's laboratory. It can be burned pure for heating purposes, or in combination with fuel oil. Alternately, oil alone may be used.

Air Pumps

In the main building of the plant are the pumps that force raw sewage through its initial voyage in a 24-inch pipe to the rackhouse. Here, too is the air pump that drives 3,000 cubic feet of air per minute into the aeration tanks.

Gravity accomplishes the work of removing solids from the liquid sewage in the primary and final settling tanks.

In the aeration tanks, the air being forced into the liquid sewage keeps it bubbling, allowing oxygen to burn up some of the sewage and bacteria to do their part of it as well.

In all, three natural forces work on sewage to do the disposal job: bacteria, gravity, and heat.

School Training Workers In Civil Defence

The Peterborough Organization for Civil Defence is conducting a school for the training of civil defence workers. The course is under the direction of Dr. Harold Worton of the Department of Health, and Murray Metcalfe, assistant city engineer. The course is being held in the Central school each Tuesday evening, and will cover general civil defence and rescue work.

Both Dr. Worton and Mr. Metcalfe are graduates of the government's civil defence school at the Connaught Ranges, and Peterborough now, with Ald. Hugh Waddell, who also has completed a civil defence course, has three qualified and trained civil defence experts.

While this first civil defence school was intended mainly for the training of members of the warden service and key personnel of other civil defence services, it is now being extended to include civil defence groups from industry.

In addition to the civil defence school regular classes are being held by the St. Johns Ambulance corps, and already several hundred are enrolled for this training. George Melton, director of warden service, is in charge of the general training program, which will be extended as required.

To better acquaint the general public with civil defence problems, a number of civil defence films are being acquired and will be circulated through the co-operation of the Peterborough Film Council. These films will be available to any interested groups, schools and organizations.

Subsoil Test Planned For Memorial Centre

City Engineer Chalmers is being authorized through the property committee of the council to employ a competent firm to make tests of subsoil condition at Morrow Park.

This is a preliminary examination in the area which is now proposed as the prospective site of the Memorial Community Centre. Other tests will be made at the same time in city's new industrial area, "to establish all necessary data regarding the use of these properties for building purposes."

It is generally believed that there is considerable quicksand here and there south of Lansdowne St. Tests are being ordered as a means of obtaining exact information.

CCF Would Pay Municipalities 10% Subsidy

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16. (Staff)—A CCF government would pay Ontario municipalities a ten per cent subsidy on their municipal tax revenue which would amount to $4,900 for the village of Lakefield, W. C. Grant said at a CCF meeting in Lakefield town hall Thursday night.

Mr. Grant, who is reeve of Lakefield and contesting Peterborough riding for the CCF based his estimate on the amount of the subsidy on the basis of the village's 1951 tax revenue of approximately $49,000. He said the subsidy would be paid out of the surpluses which the Progressive Conservative government has accumulated.

Mr. Grant said that the Progressive Conservatives are asking to be returned on their record "which I say is barren of achievement." Warning his listeners that voters should base their judgment on something other than the appeal itself, he said, one must go behind the scenes "and examine the party to find what's in it for you. The CCF was conceived as an instrument of political action to serve the best interests of the majority of the citizens. It gains its support from among the people."

Adopt Report

Questioned regarding his party's position in regard to lands and forests and conservation, Mr. Grant said that the CCF was prepared to adopt the recommendations of the Kennedy Commission.

"A government will not be able to practice the best principles in any field unless the people demand it. Many of us are not prepared to practice conservation," he said.

"Although there still seem to be plenty of resources in Canada, we have wasted them in the past, the danger signals are out and now is the time to start conservation," Mr. Grant continued.

It was all very well for the grocery keeper to get indignant about the way a timber cutter up around Apsley may be slashing trees wholesale to make a quick killing, but he said "the county has the responsibility to regulate the cutting of timber and hasn't accepted that responsibility."

Risk Votes

"If we are going to consider the future, we are going to have to protect the future," but, he charged, the reeves have been "unwillwilling to risk the votes of those who make their living by timber cutting, and make bylaws regulating the cutting of logs."

Turning to hospital and automobile insurance, Mr. Grant said "the field of insurance is well suited to community action. It has its germ in the co-operation of friends who chip in to restore somebody's house when it burns down. I see no reason why anyone should profit from insurance."

The Unsatisfied Judgment Fund, set up to protect anyone injured by an uninsured car driver is a "bonus scheme for lawyers," Mr. Grant said.

He criticized the procedure which requires that a judgment

MAIN ST. TOPICS

AUCTION BY CITY

Remnant furnishings and equipment at the old city hall, no longer required for use in the new building, are to be sold by auction. Arrangements for the sale are being left to City Clerk Outram.

MOONLIGHT BAY

If Reg Faryon saw the moonrise on Little Lake Wednesday evening about the time the last of the uptown workers were on their way home, he might have boosted beyond the million dollar mark his estimate of the community asset value of that expanse of water. The broad band of golden light glinting with the soft breeze from the southeast may be a commonplace around Crescent St., but its beauty is arresting to those who seldom walk that way.

City To Pay Hospital Damage

The bill of damages to the old Nicholls Hospital prior to possession passing to Eastern Pentecostal Bible College amounts to $1,696.50.

Property committee of the council this week recommended that a cheque for that sum be issued by City Treasurer Couper. Agreement of sale and transfer of the property had been arranged by the city, but was not effective until the middle of June. Around the 1st of May, boys had broken into the building while its maintenance was still a responsibility of the city, and did extensive damage to the interior.

It is understood, however, that a substantial item was for damage to the heating system caused by oversight of drainage of water which froze in the cold weather incurring a considerable plumbing bill.

The recommendation of the property committee that the cost of repairs caused by frost, water damage and vandalism "be accepted as responsibility in full of the city council, and that the treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque."

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

F. C. Paterson Arranges Agricultural Meetings in the County . . . Peterborough Forums' Second Annual Rally Tuesday Night . . . Ralph Sadler Wins at Royal With "Duke of Norfolk" Hackneys . . . Hastings County Junior First In National Grain Judging.

Frank G. Paterson has arranged a series of afternoon meetings during the first week in December at Selwyn, Warsaw, Westwood and Peterborough. They are not a substitute for the winter short courses that used to be a feature of seasonal agricultural programs. Those courses began to decline in interest, partly because of the weeks that were allotted to them.

"We want to discuss the promotion of healthier herds, prevention of disease in our livestock, sanitation, vaccination for Bang's disease, sterility in breeding cows," Mr. Paterson said this week. "We would like to make these meetings helpful to our cattle producers, and we are especially inviting all our Maple breeders.'

Two veterinary doctors are expected to be present at the series, two or three of the latest films will be shown, and discussion will be encouraged.

Time of the meetings is 1:30 to 4 pm at: Selwyn, Tuesday, Dec. 4; Warsaw, Dec. 5; Westwood,, Dec. 6; and Peterborough, Friday, Dec. 7. More details of these meetings will be announced later.

SECOND FORUM RALLY

Farm Forums are completing their first series of broadcast discussions with review night Monday Nov. 19 at Normal School. With favorable weather there should be a big attendance. This is the second Peterborough rally, and in its social aspect it might be regarded as first meeing of the second series whose general subject is Community Living.

Review Night will be just what the members themselves make it.

A summary of reports from Forum secretaries on the question, "Are Co-Ops Democratic?", released from headquarters, affirms that the greatest problem in the movement is "the general lack of interest among members and executive alike . . . Others felt they were faced with lack of education, being unable to compete with monopolistic enterprises in this respect, and also the problem of keeping control out of the hands of the few who might be tempted to turn the co-operative business into a financial monopoly for their own benefit."

✦ ✦ ✦

NEW DURHAM PRESIDENT

Ralph Larmer of Nestleton is the new president of Durham Federation, succeeding Melville H. Staples of Orono. Annual Pot Luck supper and Forum rally will be held on December 6 in Newcastle Community Hall. The Federation went on record against the placing of automobile meters on business streets of Bowmanville. Half the town's retail business is directly carried on with farmers. Meters would force them to pay for the privilege of shopping in Bowmanville.

✦ ✦ ✦

CLUB WORK PRIZES

Achievement Day prize cheques will be presented to the club members at the meeting of the Junior Farmers Tuesday night at Normal School. Prizes range from $11 to $3, but some cheques are for more than that top amount for the few members of more than one club.

✦ ✦ ✦

FEDERATION BROADCAST

Mrs. Harry Shearer of Buckhorn will be the speaker in the Federation broadcast Saturday Nov. 24. She will review the recent convention of the Women's Institutes. Mrs. Shearer's report should be of special interest to rural women of the district.

FIRSTS AT ROYAL

Mr. Ralph Sadler showed his two hackney colts at the Royal Winter Fair this week. One of them is a son and the other a grandson of 'Duke of Norfolk'.

"King's Comet" won first honors in the three year old stallion on the line class, and Duchess of Norfolk placed first in the year old fillies and went on to win the junior championship. These two good colts then won first in the progeny class. Their dam is the imported 'Alasa Torchglow'.

Duke of Norfolk is owned by Mrs. Mary T. Kelly, Peterborough RR-3.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie was at the Royal Wednesday, and remarked that competition in the equestrian classes was exceedingly strong. "Any horse that won up there this week had to have a lot of class," he said.

In the sheep classes Thursday, T. C. Glaspell of Oshawa showed the champion Cotswold ram, and R. B. Glaspell of Bowmanville was awarded both champion and reserve ribbons for rams in the Hampshire section.

G. H. Mark and Son, Little Britain, took second prize for senior rams in Dorest Horn division, third-yearling ewe and had third place flock.

In potatoes, M. Weatherilt and Sons, Bethany, placed second in the late oval white varieties.

The top trophy for the best pen of four lambs in the Fair was awarded to B. H. A. McDonald of Vulcan, Alta.

Fred Trewin of Nestleton, another Durham county exhibitor, carried off a grand championship in Oxford Downs sheep.

WHEAT POOL PROFIT

Saskatchewan pool elevators and terminals, grain-handling subsidiaries of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, showed a surplus of $4,350,701 for the year ending July 31, after allowing for depreciation on plant and equipment. Their property includes 1,168 country elevators, 264 permanent and semi-permanent annexes and 782 temporary annexes with a total rated capacity of 63,964,000 bushels.

HASTINGS TEAM WINS

Winners of the national honors in grain judging section of the junior farmers club competition at the Royal Monday were John McComb, Belleville RR-5, and Merle Moore, Springbrook RR-1.

They were the South Hastings grain club team in the Ontario inter-club judging competitions at O.A.C. recently, and represented this province in the national finals.

John McComb ran up the highest score in the grain judging division, and his teammate, Merle Moore was close behind him. The finalists in the series of competitions are enjoying a week of entertainment. Wednesday they went to Niagara Falls. They spent Thursday in Toronto, and left on the night train for Ottawa, and will be received at Rideau Hall by the Governor-General Lord Alexander and Lady Alexander. The team was coached by A. O. Dalrymple, agricultural representative, of Stirling, and his assistant, W. Frank Stone.

✦ ✦ ✦

A HENDERSON HOLSTEIN

First Holstein cow in Perth county to make 1,000 lbs. of butterfat in a year on twice-a-day milking is Posch Finderne Supreme owned by Adam L. Bell. Production on R.O.P. was 25,354 lbs. milk containing 1,040 lbs. b.f. for an average of 4.10 per cent. Her sire was Inka Supreme Ideal, which was bought from James R. Henderson of Kingston. At one time there were 16 of his cows in a row in the Bell stable. Five classified "very good", and the 38 records made by his 18 tested daughters averaged 14,260 lbs. of milk, 520 lbs. fat, 3.64 per cent.

OTONABEE NOMINATIONS

Announcement by Township Clerk J. McCarthy of Otonabee nominations at Keene Friday Nov. 23 beginning at 1 p.m.brings back memories of George Fife. It was worth the trip even when snowstalled until late in the evening on several January occasions to hear the Fife "quiz" of nominees for the new council and members of the old. They were indiscriminately called to account, but that serious concession to the township's business was mainly the peg for a line of humor that will be remembered as long as any of his contemporaries remain after him. Mr. Fife enjoyed the fun as much as any ratepayer, but he also took a taxpayer's genuine interest in the administration's review.

O.A.C. SHORT COURSES

Ontario Agricultural College announces short courses Dec. 31 to Jan. 4 in livestock, soil and crops; farm mechanics; horticultural economics; beekeeping and rural leadership. Room and board for the week is $10 or $2.50 a day. Registrations should be made by Dec. 15. The winter short course in poultry is from Jan. 7 to Feb. 1.

Otonabee Settler's Quest For Rust-Free Wheat Recalled By Dr. Taggart

The introduction of Red Fife wheat into the agriculture of Canada is recalled by Dr. J. C. Taggart, CBE, Deputy Minister of the Federal Department of Agriculture, in the leading article of a symposium of opinions on the future of farming in this country, published in a recent issue of the Financial Post.

Man has chosen to struggle with nature for a better livelihood for more people than could be otherwise supported, Dr. Taggart says in approaching a topic of progress in agricultural research.

"A century or so ago, rust was playing havoc with wheat-growing in Ontario. Failure of the wheat crop in those days was not just a matter of reduced income. It was a matter of going hungry—for there was then no 'west' to ship in supplies.

"A new settler in Peterborough County (Otonabee Township) named David Fife secured through a friend in the grain trade in Glasgow a bonnet-full of wheat being unloaded from a ship that had just come in from Danzig. Out of this was selected a strain that was resistant to the rust then plaguing Ontario — a strain that because of its rust resistance and other good qualities, spread throughout Ontario, then to Wisconsin, Minnesota, and into the newly opened Red River Valley in Manitoba."

Dr. Taggart is not relating the romance of Red Fife wheat, and for that reason he necessarily abbreviates the story of the contribution by David Fife to the rapid expansion of the new Canadian West, and the development of the Prairie "granary of the Empire."

Settler's Initiative

It is a fact that this intelligent Scottish settler on an Otonabee farm about six miles east of Peterborough was looking for a wheat that would stand up against the rust attacking the lean cereal crops of those days. He was thinking of a fall sown wheat, and the sample from Glasgow, as he discovered, was a spring variety. In some respects it is a fabulous story that slowly unfolded from the efforts of David Fife and his wife. One of the details is that chickens got into that first small crop, and picked off all but a slim handful of the green stalks.

Dr. Taggart continues: "Later known as the famous Red Fife, this wheat had much to do with opening up the Canadian West as a farming country, and upon Red Fife was based the now-celebrated grade, Manitoba No. 1, the world's standard of red spring wheats of superior baking quality."

Set Wheat Standard

That Otonabee wheat (that name should have been chosen for Marquis or other offspring) not only provided the standard for the grain markets of Winnipeg, Montreal, Liverpool, but laid the foundation for the CPR and the mushrooming cities west of the Great Lakes. No other wheat of that quality was at hand. Red Fife had first been grown on that Otonabee farm. Its first crop was sold to a few neighbors, and gradually its increasing supply became available for farmers of neighboring counties. That is the course it slowly laid across Western Ontario and into Michigan and Wisconsin.

"Red Fife was a chance discovery," Dr. Taggart continues. "Its equally famous son, Marquis, was one of the early results of breeding to meet special conditions, namely, the need of a wheat with Red Fife's quality that would ripen somewhat earlier, and thereby lessen the risk of frost and rust (in the expanding spring wheat country of the western provinces).

New Rust Enemies

"But Nature, too, was busy with breeding work. Apparently she can develop new strains of diseases as easily as she can those of other forms of life. Though resistant to the strains of rust prevalent in Ontario a century ago, neither Red Fife nor its progeny Marquis was proof against the new rust strains that 20 to 30 years ago threatened to destroy the wheat industry of Manitoba, Eastern Saskatchewan and the States to the south of them.

From plant breeding laboratories and field plots on both sides of the border came crosses of the quality Marquis with wheats from all over the world that incorporated in their inheritance resistance to these new rust strains — Thatcher and other varieties. Research had saved the day; research in agriculture, but its effect on the Canadian economy went far beyond that.

But the end was not yet. Today a new rust type, known as Race 15B, is threatening the so-called rust-resistant varieties in parts of the United States. Since the spores come north on the winds that bring our summer rains from the Gulf of Mexico, there is no way of keeping them from our Prairies.

Aid Of Scientists

Scientific breeding is the sole answer, and it is encouraging to know that, anticipating such a threat, our plant breeders in the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg have already been at work on this problem for five years and have high hopes of solving it.

New blight-resistant varieties of potatoes from the Dominion Experimental Station at Fredericton recall the terrible "potato famines" that, caused by this late blight disease for which resistance has been sought; decimated the population of Ireland something over a century ago.

Research to meet new problems caused by this necessary interference with nature would make a fascinating story if space were unlimited. Bring together large numbers of dairy cows under one roof, for example, feed them heavily for increased milk production and subject them to the many "unnatural" conditions that are commonplace, in up-to-date husbandry, and you open the way to counter-moves by nature that may cause concern and loss until alert researchers again place in the hands of the farmer superior weapons.

Basis Of Confidence

Dr. Taggart concludes his article with the following paragraphs of optimism for the future of Canadian agriculture:

"In my judgment, Canadian farmers have reason to look forward with a degree of confidence. A decade of relatively good prices for their products has given them an opportunity to improve their physical plant—homes, buildings, machinery—that in many cases had suffered during the depressed years.

A growing industrial population in Canada is providing a good domestic market for many of the products that formerly had to compete with those of other countries in export channels.

"A measure of stability, too, has been introduced through the actions of both provincial and federal governments in setting up such machinery as the provincial marketing acts and the Federal Price Support Act.

"But there are limits to what governments can do in the field of stability, and in the final analysis the farmers of Canada can prosper only as participants in general economic progress."

Salvation Army Commissioner To Visit City

Peterborough will be host to Commissioner William Dalziel, territorial commander of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda, this weekend.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Dalziel. →

This will be the commissioner's first visit to Peterborough since he came Canadian commander in June. He and his wife will conduct a series of special meetings at the Salvation Army Temple. The first will be a welcome rally on Saturday evening when civic greetings will be extended by His Worship, Mayor M. J. Swanston.

In addition to the regular Sunday services Commissioner Dalziel will preside over the first Sunday afternoon musicale of the 1951-52 season. The program will feature Captain Ernest Parr, outstanding soprano cornetist and Captain Kenneth Rawlins, accordionist, both from Toronto who will also be here for the weekend.

Guest Speaker

Before his return trip Monday, the commander will be guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon meeting.

Commissioner Dalziel was born in England. He became an officer from King's Cross, London and for some years was attached to the international training college in London.

During the First World War, he was in charge of the Salvation Army's ambulance brigade in France. Later he was appointed chief organizer of the Salvation Army scout movement. He came to Canada in 1930 as chief secretary. Promotion to the rank of commissioner came with the appointment to take charge of the work in Australia East territory.

He was recalled to London as British Commissioner in 1946 and then to Canada this year.

CCF Fails To Get Unemployed Debate

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—CCF members tried unsuccessfully in the Commons Thursday to get regular business set aside for an "urgent" debate on unemployment in Ontario industrial areas, particularly Toronto.

Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled out of order a motion to this effect by Joseph Noseworthy (CCF, York South), who said the Ontario unemployment situation is "critical" and worse than at the outbreak of the Korean war.

In the later question period, Mr. Noseworthy asked Labor Minister Gregg if he is aware unemployment in Toronto is increasing by 2,000 a week.

The minister replied there are "small pockets" of unemployment in parts of Central Ontario but employment conditions in Canada generally are "very good indeed."

American Editors Seek Press Freedom

DETROIT, Nov. 16—(CP)—The American press must see to it that the United States Congress gives "consideration to the right of the people to know what their government is doing," the president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors said Thursday night.

In a speech to the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, Alexander F. Jones, of Syracuse, NY, said, "We have no legal rights and must depend on what bureaucrats hand us."

"I prefer the law on my side," he said in urging that the situation be remedied to assure freedom of the press.

Jones told the professional journalistic fraternity that "obtaining the legal right to the records of our federal government, within security limits, should be the end towards which we should all work in the coming year."

Adult Movies Badly Needed Actress Believes

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16 (AP)—Barbara Stanwyck today agreed with the growing feeling among movie-makers that Hollywood needs more adult movies.

"I think it is time to change our whole thinking about censorship," she said. "The public has got tired of the same old formulas. We have done the old "boy-meets-girl" theme to death.

More Real

"We've got to meet the challenge of the foreign films. They are far ahead of the Hollywood product in depicting life. Yet I can see nothing wrong about them. They are merely slices of life.

"Naturally we can't throw censorship off completely. But I do feel that the real creators in this business should be allowed to give their talents a free rein and be able to deal with any adult subject, as long as they do so with taste."

All Ages

Ah, but what about the kiddies?

"Listen," she continued, "those kids know more than we do. All they have to do is read the first two pages of any newspaper and they can learn all about rape, arson, dope and murder. And the adventure shows they listen to on the radio—they even scare me.

"Besides, there are plenty of good pictures for children to see. I'm merely advocating some for the adults, too."

This may shock your aunt Nelly, but Miss Stanwyck even suggested that the screen could stand an occasional cuss word.

"If it would help the dramatic values and make it seem more like real life—why not?" she asked. "I don't think it would hurt the kids . . . I certainly hear them say far worse."

Playing tag with fish

If you meet a lobster wearing an aluminum tag, don't waste sympathy. It wasn't hauled up for parking opposite a hydrant. The tag was put there by the National Fisheries Board which is sleuthing out marine life stories. A salmon, so decorated, was re-caught after four years and a lobster after ten. The tags were still in excellent condition.

Aluminum's ability to withstand the elements is one of the advantages which make it increasingly popular for walls, roofs and architectural embellishments. An aluminum cornice in Montreal was taken down recently — undamaged after being exposed to the weather since 1895. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Election Victory Certain Thomson Assures Group

By The Canadian Press

Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader, Thursday night stormed traditionally Tory Toronto and told a Massey Hall gathering of 2,000 persons that he's sure the Liberals will win the Nov. 22 Ontario general election. "Ontario is going Liberal again," he declared to the turbulent rally that from time to time erupted in outbursts of heckling. In an apparent reference to the hecklers, he said many persons did not like the prospect of the Liberals returning to Queen's Park, "but all they can do about it is keep coming to meetings like this and shout like the empty barrels that they are."

Premier Frost, touring Eastern Ontario, spoke at Napanee and Cornwall and said his administration can handle better than anyone else the problem of the impact of federal taxation on tax fields in which provincial and municipal governments operate.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, asserted in industrial Hamilton that the government is shifting the burden of taxation from big corporations to the shoulders of already-burdened home owners.

Hospital Plan

Mr. Thomson, speaking in support of 17 Toronto and district Liberal candidates, discussed his platform with special reference to his proposed provincial hospital care plan. He said the hospital program will be financed largely from increased stumpage dues.

"Our last Liberal government made $3,000,000 a year in stumpage dues, but at present there is absolutely no profit coming from this source. We propose to turn stumpage dues into profit and help finance this program which will benefit everyone in the province."

Mr. Jolliffe predicted that if the government is re-elected, the home-owner's burden will be increased. He said the premier is unwilling to increase provincial grants to help municipalities meet rising costs and the municipalities will have to make up their shortages by boosting taxes on real estate.

Taxes were being increased beyond the ability of home-owners to pay. The premier was "destroying home ownership in Ontario."

Need Strong Government

Mr. Frost told his Napanee audience that a strong government is needed to meet taxation problems and other problems. His government had great plans in operation. Its relations with other governments were good and it had the ability, the knowledge and the experience to get things done.

At Cornwall, the premier shared the platform with George Challice, minister without portfolio and vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, who said the planned St. Lawrence hydro development on the Canadian side of the river will be paid for entirely by the province, with the Federal government taking care of the seaway project. The additional power would bring expansion in eastern Ontario "beyond our expectations."

Meat Strike Proves Failure

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—Montreal's "meat strike" designed to force down meat prices by a housewives' boycott ended Wednesday—but local butchers Thursday reported no change in buying.

"We heard the strike was on but you wouldn't have known it from the sales level," one butcher said. "Sales continued normal all through the strike period."

Another retailer said cheap prices in pork loin sales offset any tendency on the part of housewives to cut down on meat purchases.

Police said the strike was sponsored by alleged left-wing organizations.

Higher Pensions Drive Gains Some Headway

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 — (CP) — A drive for higher pensions for Canada's war veterans is gathering momentum on Parliament Hill.

At every point in parliamentary skirmishes, opposition members of parliament needle the government to be generous to the veterans and to give them a hand in meeting today's high living costs. Particularly, they want a better break for the men who are prematurely aged by war service.

The drive has been spearheaded by the Canadian Legion, which has asked for a pension boost of at least one-third. Its insistent demand for immediate action is reflected in opposition suggestions that the government get a move on.

The government already has announced intention to raise the pension scale but the trouble, from the opposition and Legion viewpoints, is that it has left them guessing concerning the hoist. It hasn't said how big the increase will be.

Veterans Minister Lapointe told the Commons a month ago that legislation will be introduced at this session to increase the pensions, which now cost $100,000,000 a year. Notice of the measure has appeared on the order paper, but details haven't been disclosed.

Won't Take Less

The increase is expected to range between 20 and 30 per cent. Canadian Legion spokesmen have said—and the opposition is backing them up—that they won't be satisfied with anything less than at least 33 per cent.

Pensions are paid as compensation for war disabilities and to dependents of the dead and maimed. War veterans allowances are an additional payment made to aged or needy veterans on the basis of need. Some thousands of veterans drawing small pensions also get the allowances.

The allowance maximums are $40 a month for single veterans and $70 for married recipients. Some opposition members have suggested these be boosted to $50 and $100 a month.

The pension maximums for ranks up to captain are $94 for single and $125 for childless married couples. Widows get $75, plus double rates for any dependent children. The normal children's rates are $19 for a first, $15 for a second and $12 for other children.

Hundreds of thousands of Canadians benefit from the roughly 200,000 pension cheques mailed monthly. They go to 160,000 veterans, 20,000 widows, 125,000 children and 12,000 dependent parents.

Ottawa Making Strong Personnel Protests

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—The government has made "strong protests" to the owners of four former Canadian government steamships for engaging improperly certified personnel to man them.

In a return tabled in the Senate, the transport department said Thursday that "in certain instances, sailings have been held up where improperly certificated personnel have been employed."

The department is "taking steps to stop clearance" of any of the vessels which have improperly certificated personnel among their crews.

The return was tabled in reply to questions by Senator William Duff (L—Nova Scotia). The questions involved the steamships Lumberman, Royal William, La Grande Hermine, La Petite Hermine, World Trotter and St. Malo.

The departmental return showed that the six ships were sold to four steamship companies whose common manager in Montreal is Ph. B. Papachristidis. The La Grande Hermine and the St. Malo had been resold and now are under Panamanian registry but the others still fly the Canadian flag.

The return said [illegible] ships have been replaced by Germans but present information indicated that certificated personnel are chiefly British subjects.

Lakefield WMS Thankoffering

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 16 (ENS)—Despite inclement weather a good attendance was present on Tuesday evening when the Women's Missionary Society of the Lakefield United church held their Autumn Thankoffering meeting in the Sunday school rooms.

The president, Mrs. P. H. Darling welcomed those present. Mrs. W. H. Fife read the scripture lesson and the prayer was given by Mrs. W. H. Tonge. Mrs. Donald Hendron contributed a very lovely solo, If God So Clothed the Grass. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. Kennedy, who was also accompanist for the evening. Mrs. E. J. Millage gave a much enjoyed reading, The One Talent Woman.

Guest speaker, Mrs. Arthur Steed of Toronto, was introduced by Mrs. Darling, and gave an interesting address on the subject, A Day in the Life of a Missionary. Mrs. Steed and her husband, the Rev. A. Steed who is now assistant minister at Woodgreen United church, Toronto, were for many years missionaries in Africa.

Mrs. Steed told many interesting incidents in their life while stationed there. Their son, the Rev. Harold Steed and his wife are now carrying on the work started many years ago by his parents in Chissamba. Besides being head of a school for boys, the Rev. Harold Steed is teaching the natives many of the newest ideas in agriculture and in this way is contributing to their well being by making food supplies better and more abundant.

A vote of appreciation to the guest speaker, the soloist and the accompanist was voiced by Mrs. H. J. Brown.

The thankoffering which amounted to $115.00 was received by Mrs. Tonge and Mrs. C. Payne, and the dedicatory prayer sung in unison.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Darling, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mrs. Millage and Mrs. Tonge.

Avoid Loneliness By Making Friends When You Are You

DEAR MISS DIX: What cure can you suggest for loneliness? I am separated from my husband, though he still supports me and our child and I am working besides, making a fairly decent living. I am considered good-looking and congenial at 35, but my trouble is I am very lonely.

My few friends have their own groups of married couples and when I am invited to their homes I am always the odd one. I want to meet nice people, under proper circumstances and through correct introduction. I don't like pick-ups.

Dorothy Dix

I have plenty of work to keep me busy, but all work and no play is getting me down.

HOPEFULLY WISHING

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The world is so full of lonely people like yourself, judging from the many letters on the subject that come to my desk, that I wish I could establish a central agency to get them all acquainted. Why doesn't a church or community club organize a group of lonely folk upward of 30? Such auspices would surely be proper enough to interest the most wary. Naturally the group would be small, compared to the teen-clubs, or parents' associations, but the need for them is great. With so many lonely people in the world, it seems tragically unnecessary for any of them to do without the companionship they crave.

Meet People Through Children

My correspondent has two sources of potential friendship that should yield some fruit. Children usually provide a marvelous entry to new friends. In fact, it is through their youngsters that most mothers make friends, especially in a new community. Make it a point to meet the parents of your daughters friends. True, they will be couples with their own interests, but who knows? They, in turn, may have some single friends.

A job, too, offers lots of opportunities to meet people. Make the most of them.

The older one gets, the more difficult the art of making friends becomes; hence my oft-repeated suggestions to make friends while you are young—and keep them!

Participation in community affairs, charity drives and the like provides a pleasant, helpful means of meeting one's fellow citizens. Try it!

Now for a word of warning! When a woman on the far side of 30 (on the near side, too, for that matter), says she wants to make friends, she is usually suggesting, parenthetically, that what she really wants is a husband. So intent does she become on her purpose that the matrimonial gleam is discernible to any male. Nothing so frightens a man as a woman's determination to marry him, hence his flight before the introductions have been completed. A wise woman, therefore, will at least pretend that friendship and companionship are her priary objectives; if she gets more—good luck!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My parents are very fine people and I know they have my happiness and well

MR. AND MRS. DAVID CHARLES KIRSCHNER, the bride formerly Miss Reta Eileen Murray.—Roy Studio Photo.

Kirschener-Murray Nuptials

St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, at nine o'clock Wednesday morning, was scene of a pretty wedding when Rita Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murray, became the bride of David Charles Kirschner son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kirschner, Kelowna, BC. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Lawrence McAuliffe, and Clair Harrington, cousin of the bride, served mass.

Miss Kathleen Young played the organ and sang several hymns accompanied by her sisters, Lorraine and Maureen Young.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white nylon brocade, with yoke of nylon net, fitted bodice and full skirt and wore long matching mittens. Her floor length veil of white tulle was held in place by an orange blossom tiara. She carried a cascade of American beauty roses.

Miss Theresa Chenier as maid of honor wore a strapless gown of shell pink lace and net, with full skirt and a lace bolero with matching mittens. Miss Maureen Murray, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid was similarly frocked in nile green. Both wore heart-shaped hats of net and carried matching muffs with baby 'mums.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. John Kirschner and usher was Thomas Murray, brother of the bride.

The bridal party had breakfast at the home of the bride and the reception was held at Hooper's Palm Room where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy crepe with black accessories, and wore a corsage of pink butterfly roses.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Kirschner will live at 188 Reid St.

St. Luke's Ladies Model Fall Ensembles, Furs, Hats

One of the best-arranged fashion parades seen in this city was presented Thursday evening in St. Luke's Parish Hall. A raised platform and runway and spot lighting was so arranged that every person in the room, and it was filled to the corners, could see even the fine details of the clothes.

Though the work was new to all of the models they did excellently, and four teen-agers all but stole the show. Mrs. Walter Gilling, chairman of the 75th Anniversary committee which sponsored the evening, trained the models, directed and arranged the showing in co-operation with Mrs. Lyda Telford, and was also commentator.

Mrs. Gilling, who modelled three lovely creations during the evening herself, described each outfit as to materials, style and detail without benefit of a prepared script. It was a three-part showing, the first including business suits and morning dresses, the second afternoon frocks and a series of brocade suits suitable for cocktails, dinner or evening parties, and the third a group of dramatic evening gowns and a beautiful bridal scene.

The fall and winter millinery picture was given in the wide choice of hats chosen to complete the costumes.

Luxurious fur coats in mink and Persian lamb, and choker sets and evening wraps, and also the everyday furs notable for warmth and durability were modelled with dresses and suits that showed them to advantage.

Mrs. Andre Dalton was a lovely model, looking very elegant in a restaurant suit of silver lame and black velvet, and also in a Hudson seal coat, made of Rice lake muskrats, worn over a royal purple afternoon dress with hat of white velvet petals trimmed with flowers.

Mrs. John Rogers wore an exquisitely cut black crepe dress that drew loud approving comments, and topped it with a most becoming blue feather hat. Miss Joan Gardiner who modelled the beautiful bride's gown of heavy corded taffeta and a very dainty evening frock of pink tulle, showed the smartest ensembles for the young business woman. One lovely suit of winter white ottoman trimmed with toast brown velvet worn with a short fabric coat with leopard spots made to look like ocelot. Miss Anita Mason was very trim in a short jacket suit with stone martens and brown derby hat and she also modelled the very handsome wild mink coat.

Miss Betty Merrett was an adorable young model in various outfits, but particularly lovely in a dream "date" dress of black velvet and corded taffeta. Eleanor Watson showed a young girl's favorite dress of grey jersey with red corduroy skirt. Beverly Pollock showed teen-age party dresses of velveteen in harvest gold and red velvet to advantage. Eleanor Biddle was prettiest in a soft yellow tulle evening frock, and Norma Bond wore pretty taffeta dresses.

Mrs. B. Duder and Mrs. F. Kayser were lovely in bridesmaids' frocks of old gold and copper stiffened taffeta and modelled other smart ensembles well.

Other models showing outfits equally as nicely were Mrs. Hugh Morrison, Miss Ola McCauley, Mrs. J. Lee and Mrs. Donald Worboy.

Committee in charge of the show was Mrs. Fraser Watson, Mrs. Dalton, Miss McCauley and Mrs. Ross Greenly. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Greenly and Mrs. D. Menzies and Mrs. H. Starr assisted the models to dress.

Soft recorded music was played during the parade.

Between the first and second parts a lecture on beauty rights was given by Miss Mary Stone of Toronto, and she afterward demonstrated a perfect make-up for Mrs. Harvey Starr.

The Rev. W. J. Gilling introduced the showing.

Blind Organist Receives Award

TORONTO (CP). — Ann Gray, organist and pianist, has earned an associate certificate from the Royal Conservatory of Music. Other young persons received certificates, too, but it was a special event in the life of Anne. She is blind.

To pass the test, which qualifies her as a teacher or solo instrumentalist, she played four difficult compositions.

Anne was born 23 years ago in Westport, near Brockville. She has had only a small percentage of vision since birth.

Ten years ago she began to study music. For seven of those 10 years she was a student of the pipe organ.

Anne transcribes the notes of printed music into a Braille text. The strenuous mental exercise involved impressed the scores firmly upon her memory.

She not only had to play the organ, but know the mechanics of the instrument as well. She learned this by running her fingers over the instrument's mechanism.

Her immediate ambition is to become a church organist. A week's preparation is sufficient for her to offer several new compositions.

Anne's laugh is as gay as a summer day. She was almost as proud of her white gown and corsage as of the parchment that crowned 10 years of hard work.

Stewart Hall WMS Visits St. James'

WMS of St. James' United Church was hostess to members of Stewart Hall Auxiliary at the meeting Tuesday afternoon in Wesley Hall.

Mrs. G. Hewitt opened with a hymn of commemoration and prayer.

She extended a sincere welcome to the sister organization.

Three members of the visiting society presented a beautiful worship service centred on the theme, "The Light of the World". These ladies were Mrs. G. Hanbidge, Mrs. D. Chambers and Miss G. Thompson. As leader Mrs. Hanbidge using the beautiful painting, drew attention to the message, portrayed by the significant symbolism.

Reporting for temperance, Mrs. E. M. Davis stressed the influence of one who stands firm amid temptations.

Mrs. H. MacCormack in a brief message for Christian Stewardship reminded of the duties of good stewards.

A lovely solo was sung by Mrs. A. E. Denure, accompanied by Mrs. H. Doig.

Mrs. W. K. Sloane, supply secretary, read a few requests for Christmas from the church of All Nations.

Mrs. Hewitt read interesting letters from the Misses Marion and Connie Wagar telling of first impressions of Trinidad, and describing the beginning of Miss C. Wagar in her new field of work at St. Augustine High School. Mrs. Hewitt also told of the Home Mission work done in the Bay of Quinte Conference.

An enjoyable social hour followed the meeting.

Finders Keepers After One Year

CALGARY (CP). — Two unnamed Calgary girls will have to wait another six months to make those dreams of spending unexpected wealth come true.

The girls found a considerable amount of money in the city six months ago, then applied to the police commission to receive the money if it was not claimed.

The practice has been that lost property, when not claimed within six months, be given to the finder.

In this case, the amount of money involved is large, and the police commission has extended the waiting period to a year. British law establishes one year, and the police commission will use this period.

The police department will not release the names of the girls, the amount of the money, or where it was found.

Local Council Recommends New Fire Prevention Rules

Proposed recommendations designed to prevent death or injury to firemen, drafted by the Local Council of Women, were approved with amendment by Assistant Fire Chief Virgil S. Carr when presented to him at the meeting Thursday afternoon.

The recommendations will be drafted and presented to the City Council asking that action be taken along the following lines:

(1) That a copy of the plan of new buildings, also of buildings under alteration be sent to the Fire Chief's office and kept on file there. (It was suggested by Fireman Carr that a drawing of the ground floor of each building showing all outside openings and approximate distances to stairways, also location of storage bins, etc., could be put on a card file which could be kept on the pumper. It was further suggested by Council women that these drawings could be made by the inspectors on their regular rounds.)

(2) That new buildings for children and aged be not more than two stories in height. Also that smoke barriers with swinging doors be installed in different sections of main hallways.

(3) That sprinkler systems or perforated dry pipe systems be installed in basements of stores and basements used for storage. Also outside fire department hose connections, thus eliminating the danger and punishment to a greater extent a fireman is subjected to in fighting fires of this type.

(4) That some types of fireworks now sold be eliminated. That sale of all fireworks to the public be permitted only within a certain period prior to May 24th.

(5) That law be enforced whereby it will be a criminal offence to leave children under 16 years unprotected.

Mr. Carr was questioned by the women regarding a building by-law which prohibits a brick wall being placed on top of a wooden wall such as caused the cave-in of the Zachs building. Such a law is now in force he said.

The Fire Department has the right to stop construction of a building if the inspector sees something contrary to regulations, Mr. Carr advised. A rule they try to enforce in the city is that persons living on a third floor have a secondary means of escape. Some landlords refuse to build a fire escape and are then asked by the department to have attic or third storey rooms vacated.

First draft of the recommendations was prepared by the committee of Mrs. J. Wood, Mrs. F. Merrett and Mrs. E. B. McWilliams after consultation with Fire Chief George Smith.

Business of the Council, conducted by president Mrs. Wm. Steinkraus, included appointment of delegates to the Provincial Council annual meeting at Toronto next week. They are, Mrs. Steinkrauss, Mrs. A. W. Nelson, Mrs. F. Merrett, Mrs. E. B. McWilliams, Mrs. C. Olaveson.

A finance and administration report from the National Council meeting at Montreal recently was read by Mrs. A. W. Nelson.

A report on the Civic Dedication Tea by assistant treasurer Mrs. J. M. Fanning showed $76.52 had been banked. In connection with the children's fashion show next March a preliminary committee to make arrangements was appointed, including Mrs. A. B. Collis, Mrs. A. Mason, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. E. B. McWilliams, Mrs. A. Parrington, with the treasurer and president.

Mrs. Morton, Mrs. D. Hill and Mrs. Mason were named to attend the next meeting of the Louis Braille Society and report on what aid might be given by Council.

Antiques, Patchwork Quilts Setting For Trinity WA Tea

The old-fashioned tea room, of the time when "men lived in a grander way", was returned for a few hours Thursday afternoon in the parlour of Trinity United Church while the Woman's Association entertained more than 400 guests.

While a crowd of such size had been anticipated the ladies had so arranged the tea room that they could serve as in an old-fashioned home, and the menu consisted of hot biscuits spread with home-made jam, cookies and cakes with tea. Small tables, seating four guests, each had a rustic pumpkin centrepiece.

Quaint patchwork quilts were loaned for the wall hangings and corner "what-nots" were filled with interesting bric-a-brac. Fancy plates were brought from homes to line the high plate rail and cups hung on a row of hooks in the manner popular long ago.

A "sitting hen" ornament, now frequently sought in antique shops, centred the mantlepiece, flanked by old pottery candle holders with flickering tapers. A table in front of the fireplace was decorated with old glass pieces the centre comport filled with fruit being set on a beautiful old Cluny lace mat. Old fashioned goblets held Jacob's Ladder vine.

Colorful patchwork aprons, all made up by Mrs. Thomas Barrie, were worn over plain dark dresses by the 24 waitresses who were selected from various young women's groups of the church. Groups A and B of the WA were in charge of the tea room and supplied the decorations and refreshments as well as assisting with the work.

Christmas Fair

In the outer room, where guests had to stand in line for the tea, there was conducted a Christmas fair with booths displaying all sorts of things for the festive season.

Bright and merry decorations for the table and house during holiday season were sold by the members of the Federated Group. Dolls and dolls' clothes and toys and a "white elephant" table were in charge of Group C members.

Ladies of Group D had for sale a quantity of good home cooking and those of Group E had the well stocked sewing table.

Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president of the WA, received at the door, assisted by Mrs. D. B. Gordon and the Rev. Dr. Gordon also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Timlin were Wednesday guests with Mr. and Mrs. George Mouncey and Donna, Roseneath.

Miss Jean Wildey, Wicklow, was a guest Thursday of her friend, Miss Lorene Timlin.

Members of Coldsprings YPU attending the fall rally held at the Tabernacle United Church, east of Campbellford, Wednesday night were: Misses Joyce Buttars, Helen Ritchie, Lorene Timlin and Messrs. Bill Little, Warren Buttars and Robert Turner.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Dorothy Dix:

being at heart, but they are very strict. Consequently, I have been working away from home for the past two years. I am 22. I have fallen in love with a boy; 24, who is a fine person but unfortunately likes to drink too much. I have gone out with other boys, but always come back to this one. My parents object to him. I don't want to marry unwisely, but I do feel that we are truly in love.

BESSIE M.

ANSWER: Strict parents are the bane of a teen-ager's life, but it's amazing how the principles of integrity, loyalty and discipline mark the pattern of decent living for these youngsters. Though they may rebel against some of the rules, the ideals stay with them through life. Even though you dearly love your sweetheart, you appreciate the trouble that lies ahead if you marry a drunkard. To say that your marriage to this man would be unwise is an understatement. I will be star tragedy. No woman lives a more miserable, degrading life than the wife of an habitual drniker. If your friend drinks too much now, Bessie, he'll be far worse after he marries.

Your parents may be old-fashioned, but if you want a good marriage be assured it will be founded on old-fashioned principles, rather than on new-fangled theories.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Temperature Important Making Small Amount Soap

QUESTION: From "A constant reader" which in turn questions a formula I gave in this column for homemade soap.

ANSWER: I made very satisfactory soap from the formula appearing in this column about three weeks ago, but since a reader felt I was instructing you contrary to the directions on the lye can I forwarded my formula to the chief chemist of one of the largest soap manufacturers in Canada. Here is his reply: . . . "there is some confusion about the correct method of making a small batch of soap, but either way is all right . . . for safety reasons I advise following directions on the lye can. BUT the important thing is temperature. The fat should be about 120 deg. F. and the lye 90 deg. F.

"Actually the saponification does not take place at once but as long as a smooth emulsion is formed the saponification will follow. It is best however to keep the container covered to retain the heat generated by the reaction. The amount of lye for 5 lbs. fat could be reduced to 11¼ ounces. I hope this will solve your reader's difficulty."

I hope it does too, and that "A constant reader" will write again whenever I can be of help.

QUESTION: I received your chart the other day and am pleased with it. I could not find Melba Toast made out of whole wheat bread. I have read where there are 25 calories in one piece. Does this mean an ordinary slice of bread done to melba toast? When it says dry cereals like corn flakes does it mean an 8-ounce cup flakes or crushed flakes? We eat a lot of dry cereals, and every chart I see differs on the number of calories in cereals, milk and bread. How many calories should a person have for each meal? Could you send me a sample menu for a week with the number of calories for a person to keep their normal weight? I am not doing heavy work but I am doing a lot of walking out-of-doors and am very active. I hope you can help me out as I am supposed to eat nourishing food and lots of proteins.

Miss M. B.

ANSWER: If you will look in the right hand column under cereals and bakery products under "Weight Grams" you will see that 21 grams of corn flakes contain 75 calories. Twenty-eight decimal four grams (28.4) equal 1 ounce avoirdupois. So you see approximately ¾ ounce of corn flakes give you 75 calories. This is a lot—particularly when you are on a careful diet and must be sure you are eating the protective foods too. You will find in any reducing diet I plan an egg for breakfast is a "must". This is one of the proteins you are advised to eat.

In a ½-inch slice of whole wheat bread dried in the oven to make melba toast there are 70 calories.

To get accurate measurement of your calories in cereals weigh the cereals and compute the calories from the gram column.

A moderately active woman weighing 125 lbs. usually requires 2400 calories, which means for breakfast she would eat 700, for lunch 700 and for dinner 1000.

Calorie-Count Meals For One Day

BREAKFAST: Fresh orange juice 6 ounces, 100 cal.; 1 egg, 66 cal.; 1 slice whole wheat toast and 1 pat butter 150 cal.; coffee with 1 tablespoon cream and 2 lumps sugar 70 cal.

NOTE: If you care to make this up to 700 calories add another egg and another slice of toast, or a large bowl of cereal with cream and sugar.

LUNCH: Homemade cream of tomato soup 6 ounces, 160 cal.; 1 two-slice whole wheat bread ham sandwich with lettuce and butter 525 to 550 cal. (depending on thickness of ham slice); 1 glass whole milk (8 oz.) 165 calories; 1 apple, 72 calories.

NOTE: If you want to reduce this lunch do not serve the soup.

DINNER: Four ounces round steak or ground steak or porterhouse steak with the normal fat accompanying it approximately 250 to 300 cal.; 1 medium baked potato with pat of butter 175 cal. (without butter 100 cal.); ½ cup diced cooked carrots 32 calories without sauce; salad of 1 tomato and 2 medium sized lettuce leaves 35 calories (with 1 teaspoon mayonnaise 68 calories; 1 3½-inch section of apple pie 266 calories; coffee clear no calories—with cream and sugar (see breakfast) 70 cal.

Watch these columns for more calorie-count diets and learn to compute your own from the chart—it is quite simple when you know that 28.4 grams equal 1 ounce. Good luck to you. Let me know how you progress.

Fashions

FEMININE FLATTERY

Frankly feminine for your afternoon and dinner dates. This is just what you need for the holidays. Little round front-yoke is so flattering, so are the gathers. And those pockets give the merest bit of accent to hips, yet keep to a long slenderizing line.

Pattern 9092: sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 39-inch.

This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step.

WARM FOOTWEAR for winter weather can be both pretty and protective. Boots shown here are made in high fashion colors. Before and after skiing (left), there's a rubber over-the-sock boot that has a wool fleece lining for warmth. It's made in holly red, pine green, sable brown and fashion black. Boot (upper centre) is light and bright, fits over wedge shoes but can be worn with higher heels, too. Velveteen boots (lower centre) have wool fleece lining and electrified shearling cuffs. Dressy boots in velvet (upper right) are fur cuffed, having slanted slide fastener for easy slip-on. Nylon boots (lower right) contain some rayon, come in beige, are lined in all-wool alpaca. Cuff and instep trim is sable brown wool.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Find Too Many Housewives Conditioned To High Prices

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Housewives are getting too conditioned to high prices. When they do find something that's cheap they won't believe either their eyes or their noses. They'll squeeze it, smell it. Finally, they'll end up by asking the clerk what's the matter with it.

If he says nothing is wrong they won't believe him anyway. They'll go off in high dudgeon and buy something that costs twice as much. Because it's twice as expensive, they'll be certain it must be good.

The Canadian Association of Consumers is worried about this too-good-to-be-true trend among women shoppers and is trying to stamp it out.

"Let us plan our buying carefully, and . . allow more time for our purchasing," it says in the bulletin it distributes monthly.

Try Experiment

The C.A.C. told of an experiment in British Columbia in which the manager of a chain grocery store tried to prove that consumers buy by price. He divided a batch of identical tomatoes, selling part of them for 25 cents a pound and the rest for 29 cents. At the end of the day all the 29-cent tomatoes had been sold. Hardly any of the 25-cent ones were touched.

The Ontario Fruit and Vegetables Growers Association found in a survey that when foods went below a certain price, people wouldn't buy them. Hence, at the height of the lettuce season people wouldn't buy a five-cent head of lettuce.

We saw the same thing happen in Toronto—at the St. Lawrence market. Chickens were selling at one stall for 50 cents a pound. One woman was suspicious.

"What's the matter with them?" she asked the vendor.

He was indignant. "Nothing's the matter with them," he replied.

She moved on, but we bought one. It proved to be the cheapest and best chicken we've eaten in ages.

Just goes to show that nobody can afford to be suspicious all of the time.

Tasty And Thrifty

The C.A.C. recommends this luncheon dish to budget-conscious housewives:

After vegetable soup has been made from a meaty soup-bone, cut all the meat from the bone and put it through a food chopper with an onion. Scoop the marrow from the bone, add to the meat. Add poultry seasoning, parsley, salt, pepper to taste.

Moisten with soup. Cook till the onion is clear. The mixture should be of a consistency to spread easily. Make thin pancakes. Spread with the mixture and roll like a jelly roll. Keep warm in oven until ready to serve with the soup.

Chicken scrapple is another C.A.C. budget dish.

Ingredients (for eight servings): 3½ cups chicken broth; one tablespoon all-purpose flour; one cup corn meal; one-half teaspoon salt or one teaspoon if the broth has not been salted; one-quarter teaspoon poultry seasoning; two cups ground cooked chicken.

Heat half the broth in a double boiler. Blend flour, cornmeal, salt, and poultry seasoning. Mix with the remaining cold broth. Slowly stir the corn meal mixture into the hot broth. Cook, stirring until the mixture thickens. Cook for 30 minutes. Stir in the chicken. Pour into a well-greased loaf pan. Cook quickly. When firm cut in slices. Roll in flour and fry until brown. Serve with chicken gravy.

What's Right?

You are inviting guests for a sit-down meal.

WRONG: Be vague about the time that you will expect them.

RIGHT: Be definite about the hour.

WI Votes Money To Help Greeks

MARMORA, Nov. 16 (ENS). — The November meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. Kerr with Mrs. H. P. Nayler presiding.

Letters of appreciation were received from relatives of a deceased member; a letter of thanks for the recent canvass for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind was read from P. I. Timmins, field secretary. A further letter of thanks for the donation to Marmora Public Library from Mrs. Bruce Robson, librarian, was read.

As the result of an appeal, five dollars was voted towards the purchase of a community tractor for a section of Greece as well as five dollars for the Bread for Greece fund. Mrs. F. Sweet, for the sick committee reported sending cards to three members who were ill.

A motion was passed authorizing the purchase of cocoa matting for a section of the floor of the Public Library which has recently undergone renovation with the Institute bearing the expense.

The president announced that insufficient names had been received from those desirous of taking the proposed trip to the Royal Winter Fair, so the project had to be abandoned. It is hoped to arrange for a trip to Toronto in February.

The branch decided to accept the invitation of Marmora Chapter of the Eastern Star to serve the supper at the latter's inaugural meeting on December 8.

A paper was read by Mrs. R. E. Neal dealing with citizenship and education and with special reference to instructing youth on the meaning of democracy.

The president followed with a report of the area convention recently held in Belleville. The program featured Kipling's "Lest We Forget" by Mrs. E. C. Prentice and a garden contest in which Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. Robert Nayler tied with the latter winning the breaker.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and the December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. R. Wells.

CCF Would Give

be obtained through the courts and then only after "all possible means of obtaining money have been exhausted" can the injured person receive compensation from the fund. This he said is the Conservative government's answer to the demand for an automobile insurance scheme like Saskatchewan's. "It is a most unsatisfactory way of taking care of the peoples' interest".

In addition, he said a CCF government would pay "cost of living bonuses in accordance with need to old age pensioners and recipients of mothers' allowances and also pension to the disabled".

In a reference to the rather leisurely way the campaign is being conducted throughtout the province, Mr. Grant said "There is a great deal of truth in the recent Examiner editorial which described the campaign as 'very dull'. I have found it exceedingly dull. I have found very little interest by the electors in this part of the country and I understand it is the same all over."

Mr. Grant said he hoped that the campaign would, like a good horse race, "become more heated toward the end."

John Beggs, publicity chairman for Mr. Grant's campaign was chairman for the meeting and introduced Mr. Grant with the observation that "the CCF is trying to build up co-operation among all people in the belief that the spirit of co-operation is best suited to the political possibilities of this country."

Burglar Alarms Helping To Cut Crime

Installing of burglar alarms in business establishments was discussed at the November Police Commission meeting in the City Hall conferenee room Thurrsday afternoon.

Several firms, particularly banks, have alarms connected directly with the police station. When the alarm is set off, a light flashes over the company's name on a panel above the sergeant's desk.

There are also other types of alarm in operation, some being connected with the home of the owner or manager who lives nearby, or, in some cases, they are connected with the janitor's or night watchman's office.

Chief Constable John Thompson said that the value of a burglar alarm had been clearly demonstrated in the case of one service station. This place had been broken into three times, he said. Then the owner installed an alarm that was hooked up with his home and there hasn't been a break-in since.

Mayor Max Swanston expressed the opinion that "if any person is going to install a burglar alarm, the chief should be consulted before any installation is made."

No Official Action

"I don't see how we can take any official action," said Judge S. L. Smoke. Magistrate W. R. Philp agreed that he did not believe the Police Commission had any power to regulate such alarm systems.

Mayor Swanston said that if the alarm system were going to be connected with the police department, the Chief should be consulted regarding the proper type of installation.

Chief Constable Thompson was given authority to purchase the necessary pea jackets and long overcoats required for the police department this year.

City Clerk E. A. Outram announced that a net of $57.05 had been realized from a recent auction sale of lost and unclaimed articles and that the amount would be credited to the Police Commission.

Got Too Much Loving Woman Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16 (AP) —A woman who charged her 69-year-old husband with making love to her too often and too ardently won a divorce Thursday, but the judge scaled down her alimony demands.

Mrs. Amina Day, 57, testified that William P. Day made love as often as five times within a 24-hour period and that it upset her emotionally so that she developed a twisted neck. Day denied that he was overly affectionate.

Superior Judge Wilbur C. Curtis directed that the legal findings in the case be drawn "without reference to evidentiary details"—meaning that it make no reference to the lovemaking charges but simply show that the decree was granted on grounds of cruelty.

And he approved a settlement of $25,000 on the wife, a home, furnishings and $200 a month for one year. Mrs. Day had asked $2,328 a month.

Fairmount WMS Holds Meeting In Manse

FAIRMOUNT, Nov. 16 — The Fairmount WMS held their November meeting at the Springville manse on Tuesday.

Mrs. C. W. Seymour had charge of the worship service, and gave a synopsis of the book entitled "The Man Who Talked With Flowers."

Scripture verses were read by Jean Hanbridge. Mrs. Roy Hooton reviewed a chapter of the study book, "What Student Missionaries Are Doing."

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. L. A. Hooton. Hostesses were Mrs. C. W. Seymour, Mrs. Roy Hooton and Mrs. Harold Ball.

Letter From Premier

MILLBROOK, Nov. 16 (ENS) —Eddie Richards, whose friends recently presented him with an electric wheel chair has received the following letter from Premier Leslie M. Frost:

"I was interested to receive a copy of the Millbrook Reporter of the issue of the 4th instant and to see a picture of yourself enjoying your electric chair made possible by your host of friends. I take this opportunity of sending you very best wishes. This electric chair will open up new possibilities of enjoyment and of a fuller life for you."

Union Orders Miners Back

LILLE, France, Nov. 16—A non-Communist union of about 30,000 members today ordered its miners back to work in the Great North French coal mines, but the Communist-led majority that started the strike still held out.

The strike in the government's mines has so far cost France nearly 300,000 tons of coal, one of the raw materials in shortest supply on the Continent. It started over a decree compelling miners to pay 15 per cent of their bills at the druggist—instead of getting all their medicine paid by health insurance.

Under a compromise offer by the government Thursday night, no member of a miner's family will have to pay more than 60 francs (about 17 cents) to get a prescription filled. Workers' Force, a non-Communist union, accepted the compromise. The Communist leaders of the General Confederation of Labor took no immediate action on the offer.

Hold Funeral Service For Frederick Bonter

MARMORA, Nov. 16—(ENS)— The funeral of William Frederick Bonter was held on Friday afternoon proceeding from his late residence on McGill St. to St. Andrew's United Church for service conducted by the Rev. G. D. Young. The funeral was under auspices of Trent Lodge AF and AM No. 38 of which he was a member with Marmora Lodge 222 assisting. Burial followed in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

His death on November 13 occurred after an illness extending over several months. He was born in Marmora township, a son of the late William Bonter and Margaret Plunkett and was in his 81st year.

His early life was spent in this community until he went to Frankford to carry on a grocery and furniture business. Disposing of his Frankford business, he went to Netherhills, Sask., where he conducted a general store for about 20 years. He was also in business in Saskatoon for a short time.

He next engaged in prospecting in Northern Manitoba for a few years. He and his brothers staked a property which is now a very rich mine, but owing to the depression in the west, they were unable to complete the development work and abandoned it. About 25 years ago, Mr. Bonter joined his brother John in operating the calcium carbonate property just north of the village which developed into a large business. A few years later he purchased a lot at Malone now operated by the W. F. Bonter Company, which he carried on as a personal business for several years. He made contracts with paper mills for large quantities of calcium carbonate and also sold it for other purposes.

Mr. Bonter was married four times. His first wife was Mary Barton of Rawdon township, who died less than a year after their marriage. His second wife was Orpah Hogle also of Rawdon township. They had two children, a daughter Margaret, now Mrs. Robert Pinchin of Clarkston, Ont. and one son who died at an early age. Later, he was married to Mrs. Minnie McWilliams (nee Minnie Eastwood) of Marmora. His fourth marriage was to Mrs. Clara Hamilton (nee Caverley) who survives him.

He is also survived by three sisters and four brothers namely: Mrs. Jane Airhart, Marmora; Mrs. Susan Meehan, Niagara Falls, NY; Mrs. Charles Lummiss, Marmora; Richard, Marmora, John and George, Marmora township and Arthur, Fenwood, Sask.

Well Qualified

MOOSE JAW, Sask. — (CP)— One pioneer who came to Moose Jaw in 1882 answered the roll-call at the 56th annual old-timers' rally here. The only one arriving that year to attend the meeting, he was Arthur L. Davies, 91.

UE Workers Picket Paper

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 16— (AP)—About 200 United Electrical Workers, idle in a wage dispute, picketed the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel Thursday over an editorial.

The editorial, appearing in Wednesday's News-Sentinel, was entitled "a Red pattern?" It asked whether the UE local "is acting on outside orders," pointing out that the work stoppage at Capehart-Farnsworth Corp. stopped production of an electronic gear for the navy.

The pickets paraded in front of the newspaper office half an hour but made no attempt to stop deliveries of Thursday editions.

The pickets carried placards saying "We're good, red-blooded Americans," "News - Sentinel stoops to strike-breaking." "We make our own decisions. We take orders from no one."

The editorial recalled that UE was ousted by the CIO on charges of Communist sympathies.

After meeting with a committee from the UE local, editor Clifford Ward said in a statement:

"We never intended to call them Reds. We just asked the question in the editorial whether the union local was being used for Red purposes by higher-ups."

Grand Master Visits IOOF

Local Oddfellows marked the visit of Grand Master Dr. J. H. McKinney, of Brooklin, with a dinner at George Street United Church and a special program at the IOOF Hall this week.

Members of the Peterborough lodge and several visitors from out-of-town lodges heard Dr. McKinney outline what the IOOF should do to promote the welfare of everyone in different groups within a community.

With conditions in the world the way they are today, Dr. McKinney said every member of the IOOF should do his part to make the world a better place in which to live by promoting peace and keeping harmony.

Enlarged Activities

In recent years, the IOOF has enlarged its activities and provides welfare assistance to anyone in need in the community through its Cancer, Polio and Tuberculosis Fund.

Percy Luther, District Deputy Grand Master, was chairman for the evening and presented the district installation team with a group picture of themselves.

The entertainment program consisted of a short skit put on by members of the Orono Lodge, a solo by Mrs. J. Winslow, of Millbrook, and a duet by Mrs. Winslow and Mrs. G. A. Spicer, also of Millbrook. Several numbers by an instrumental trio of piano, violin and mandolin rounded out the entertainment program.

R. R. Ford, secretary of Peterborough IOOF and member of the district IOOF committee, was in charge of arranging the program.

A.R. Bennett May Run For Mayor

Arthur R. (Taffy) Bennett said today he is thinking of being a candidate for mayor. Up till now Hugh Waddell has been the only one in the mayoral field.

Mayor Max Swanston previously announced he was stepping down from office this year.

Mr. Bennett made a bid for city council in Dec. 1950 on a platform of eliminating "wasteful spending." He polled 1,554 votes—last in a field of 12 candidates.

Must Think It Over

"I haven't definitely made up my mind whether to run or not," Mr. Bennett told the Examiner today. "I'm considering it but I must think it over."

Mr. Bennett lives at 793 George St. N., and he is an interior decorator by trade. He has been a resident of Peterborough for 55 years, though born in Harvey township.

During the First World War he served three years and eight months in the Canadian army, enlisting with the Canadian Horse Artillery. He is a member of Branch 52, Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion.

Trucks Crash As One Swerves To Miss Bike

COBOURG, Nov. 16 (ENS). — Two trucks and a bicycle were involved in an accident Thursday night on Highway 45, just north of Cobourg. No one was hurt.

A south-bound truck driven by J. F. Smith, Baltimore, swerved out in an attempt to avoid a bicycle, and met a north-bound truck driven by R. B. Hutsell, also of Baltimore.

Each truck went into the ditch, landing upright. The rider of the bicycle, George Wilson, 32, of Cobourg, was knocked off his bike by Smith's truck, but escaped with a shaking up. Constable E. Butler investigated.

THIS PHOTOGRAPH which appeared in Canadian news papers when the Princess arrived in Ottawa, has been chosen by the Governor General, Viscount Alexander, and Lady Alexander, as their persunal Christmas card. The picture shows Their Excellencies with Their Royal Highnesses the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh as they met on their way to the state dinner at Government House in Ottawa.

Canadian Actress Gives Up Stage For Welfare Work

OTTAWA— (CP) — It was a tough decision to make— continue her career on the stage or start life anew, helping others.

Patricia Godfrey chose the later, saying goodbye to grease paint and the bright lights. She has gone a long way on the welfare road, recently becoming assistant to R .E. G. Davis, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council.

As she sipped a cup of coffee in her new office here the 43-year old former Toronto actress explained the steps that decided her career. Her brown eyes twinkled as she recalled her childhood dreams of going on the stage. She did her best to make them come true.

While studying for a master's degree at the University of Toronto, she worked and saved to go to England. To gain experience she acted in Toronto dramatic groups. Finally, she went to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London. Two years later she started making the rounds of booking offices "until my shoes nearly fell off."

At this stage, shortly before the Second World War, she did some social work. She had landed a part in a play. But she had five weeks to kill before starting to work. She joined an ambulance corps and in less than five weeks had written and passed a first-aid exam.

Big Opportunity.

Then came the break— a part with an all-star cast in Charles Morgan's "Flashing Stream," a hit in London and scheduled to make a tour of Canada and the United States. She forgot everything else, including the ambulance corps.

"I had what I wanted," she reminisced. The play was a success in Montreal, but she received a jolt in New York. It was a flop there, and closed in two weeks.

Against the advice of friends, she returned to London not knowing what to do. Then she remembered the ambulance corps and with the war in progress, joined th Women's Voluntary Service. during six years she helped bombed-out families, helped run canteens and instructed housewives. At one time she worked for a clothing depot that distributed clothes from the Canadian and American Red Cross.

"There were so many clothes that we often lost track of them," she recalled. "All we could do was mark them off as EBM— eaten by mice."

In 1946 she returned to Canada was awarded the MBE in the Do-minon-Day honors list for her war work and became executive assistant to the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

All thoughts of the stage had been forgotten, but social work lingered in her memory. She left her job and headed back to the University of Toronto for a Master's Degree in social work.

"I felt that the sensible thing was to get proper training," she said. "So here I am."

Cigarettes Are Lemons

BOSTON, Nov. 16 — (AP)— James V. Souza—with an eye to business—snapped up 1,000 cartons of cigarettes for $675 Thursday at a marshal's auction. Then he was denied a licence because he was not qualified as a retailer and was told the cigarettes were manufactured in 1947 and are "stale and useless."

Civic Candidates Expected Address Group

Civic candidates might as well know it now, and they can't say they were not forewarned that if they sign nomination papers they will be expected to address the Study Group On Civic Affairs.

And, they'd better bear down on the subject, for the SGCA's have been attending council meetings all year and what they don't know about the administration are simply those things that go on in committee.

Those cut and dried council meetings, invariable from month to month, must be dull fare for the attentive women of the Group. Possibly they may come up with a candidate of their own, and get right into the centre of things. At least there are rumors from that quarter.

Time Allotted.

Mere men with a desire to take on some of the burden of directing the city are informed now with plenty of time in advance of the summons that the committee room at the city hall has been allotted to the Group for Tuesday, November 27 around 7.30 pm, for the purpose of hearing the municipal candidates.

And, if you don't turn up you become suspect of knowing nothing about the job you have been doing or hope to get a bid to do.

UK Asks Report On Atrocities

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Britain has asked the United States if she can back up an American army officer's charge that the Reds have killed 5,790 Allied war prisoners, including about 10 Britons.

A foreign office spokesman told reporters today Britain has no official information about the alleged atrocities. Nor had any word reached the British government through its intelligence sources.

United Nations military headquarters in Tokyo is probing the atrocity charges made by Col. James H. Hanley, head of the Eighth Army judge advocate's section in Korea.

The foreign office spokesman said the British embassy in Washington has asked the state department for information about the reported atrocities. A similar request has been sent to the unified command in Korea.

The foreign office reserved official comment on the reports pending evidence from Washington.

30-Day Deadline On Armistice If Plan Accepted

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 17. (AP)—The United Nations command, in a dramatic move to end the cease-fire deadlock, today offered to accept the Communist buffer-zone proposal —if an armistice is signed within 30 days. The Communists indicated they might agree.

North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho told UN negotiators the UN plan "seems in the main to be in accordance with our principles." The Reds promised to study the proposal overnight and "comment" further when the sub-committees meet again at 11 am Sunday (9 pm EST Saturday) in Panmunjom.

Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief UN sub-committee delegate, told the Communist negotiators Saturday that the Allies will accept the Red proposal to fix a tentative cease-fire line along the present battle front. But he made it clear the line will become permanent only if all other armistice terms are agreed upon within 30 days after the proposal is accepted by the full five-member armistice delegations.

If no armistime is signed before the deadline, then a new cease fire line will have to be fixed, Hodes said.

Fast Reply

Lt.-Col. Howard S. Levie, official UN command spokesman, said the immediate Communist reply came "much faster than we would have expected."

After Lee indicated the Reds might agree to the proposal, Hodes sugested that staff officers of both sides meet at 10 am Sunday to start working out the line of battle contact which would become the tentative cease-fire line.

Lee did not respond to the suggestion, but replied: "I have received your proposal in writing and heard your explanation. Since we have yet to make a full study of your proposal I cannot answer. But I will give you our comment on your proposal Friday.

The plan demands clear-cut assurance from the Reds that agreement on the tentative cease-fire line would not be an end of the shooting bfore a full armistice is signed.

"There is no question of a de facto cease-fire," Levie said. "It will amount to ground, sea and air action to the extent determined by Gen. (Matthew B.) Ridgway and his ground, sea and air commanders."

No one in an official position at this advance UN command base would suggest that agreement on the buffer-zone proposal would mean an immediate halt in the ground fighting.

Any one of the remaining items on the agenda could block a final armistice agreement.

Still to be settled are such thorny problems as the exchange of war prisoners, arrangements to assure that the armistice is not violated and recommendations to the respective governments.

Britons Welcome Princess At Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 17 (CP). — A 21-gun salute and cheers from thousands of Britons today welcomed Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh back home from a six-week visit to Canada and the United States.

Stepping ashore from the liner Empress of Scotland, the Princess and her husband were ushered into a waiting car and drove through the crowded streets of this port city to the town hall.

Crowds had gathered early at Prince's landing stage in bright sunshine to see the Royal couple step ashore for an 80-minute visit to Liverpool before boarding a train for London.

The liner tied up at the landing stage at dawn after riding at anchor during the night off New Brighton, at the mouth of the river Mersey.

Lots of Parcels

Shortly before 9 am, as the ship's passengers were disembarking, work began on the unloading of 174 parcels—gifts to the Royal couple and their children from all parts of Canada.

The gifts ranged from fishing tackle to boxes of fruit and a coffee set.

Dock workers broke off their work for a few minutes when a party of RCMP, which crossed the Atlantic with the Royal party, appeared on the dockside.

As the Mounties descended the gangway the ship's crew and the waiting crowd welcomed them with a popular song from the operetta "Rose Marie."

The police squad smiled and saluted.

The Princess wore a double-breasted coat of rich raspberry red, the pockets and cuffs outlined with black braid and defined with black miltary buttons.

She wore a close-fitting hat of the same color. On the lapel of her coat she had a double brooch of maple leaves in diamonds.

The Princess and the Duke then drove to the station to catch their train for London.

They were a few minutes late, and the Princess smilingly asked Station-master A. J. Holton "have we made it?"

Double Triumph Mossadegh Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, preparing to return to Iran, today claimed a double triumph for his six-week mission to the United States.

Speaking for his ailing 72-year-old chief, Vice-Premier Hossein Fatemi told a reporter that the "first success" was blocking direct United Nations' intervention in the oil dispute with Britain. The second, he said, was "convincing the American people" of the justice of Iran's nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

George McGhee, assistant secretary of state, said on a television program Friday night that there appears to be "little hope" at this time of bridging the gap between Britain and Iran in the oil dispute. — Mossadegh was expected to make a final plea today for a substantial American loan to tide his near-bankrupt country over the crisis.

Trygve Lie Supports Egyptian Proposal

PARIS, Nov. 17—(AP)—The United Nations Secretary-General, Trygve Lie, today threw his support behind Egypt's proposal for a plebiscite to determine the future status of the Sudan.

In a press statement Lie said: "It is a good, realistic proposal. I hope it will be given prompt and serious consideration."

Egypt's Foreign Minister, Mohammed Salah El Din, said in the general assembly Friday that his country is willing to withdraw all Egyptian troops and officials from the Sudan if Britain will do likewise.

Under Salah El Din's proposal, the Sudan would be ruled by the UN until a plebiscite could determine the desires of the population.

The British foreign office in London said the Egyptian proposal would be studied.

150,000 Flee Homes In Po Flood

Italy's Worst Flood In 50 Years Kills 94 Victims

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 17. — (AP)—Some 150,000 persons were reported fleeing their homes today in the Po delta as Italy's worst floods in 50 years continued a rampage that already has cost at least 94 lives.

By train, truck and boat, villagers and city dwellers hurried to the safety of the northern countryside.

They fled from this Provincial capital of 40,000 shortly after midnight as torrents of water began surging over the streets. Thousands of others were pulling out of about 40 villages either engulfed or in immediate danger.

Police in the nearby hamlet of Villa Marzana shot and killed four persons caught looting the deserted homes of flood victims. It was the first report of looting.

Premier Alcide De Gasperi took part in the final decision asking Rovigo residents to evacuate the city.

The Premier spent all Friday watching volunteers provide meals and shelter for thousands of refugees pouring in from the stricken area.

He also conferred with local officials to get some idea of the enormous reconstruction job that will be needed to repair the flood damage.

Since Nov. 8, when high winds and torrential winds struck northern Italy, millions of dollars in damage have been wrought by storms and floods.

The death toll stood at 94 Friday night, but officials feared many more may have been lost in isolated hamlets.

Up to last Friday night officials had hoped to avoid the flooding of Rovigo by bombing the banks of Bianco Canal to divert the advancing waters. Italian air force planes stood by all day with improvised bomb racks, but heavy fog kept them grounded.

Late Friday night officials decided it was too late to try to stem the torrent.

Army and civilian units, including detachments from British and American army occupation troops in Trieste, have been in the fight for two days.

20 Counties Cancel Open Deer Seasons

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP)— Complaints of rural residents have caused cancellation in 20 counties and one township of the planned open seasons on deer. Landowners in these areas objected to the risk that a rush of hunters would trample their fields.

Persons who got deer licences will get refunds.

Counties affected: Brant, Elgin, Essex, Haldimand, Halton, Huron, Kent, Lambton, Lincoln, Middlesex, Norfolk, Ontario, Oxford, Peel, Perth, Waterloo, Wellington, Welland, Wentworth, and York. The season also was closed in Durham County and the township of South Monaghan in Northumberland County.

UN Gen. Ridgway Verifies Communist Atrocity Killings

TOKYO, Nov. 17—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today verified the Communist atrocity killings of United Nations' soldier captives in Korea and declared "the shocking impact of the brutality which has been revealed should have been no surprise to the American people."

But the Supreme Allied commander, in his first comment on the story that shocked the world Wednesday, expressed regret over the way it was disclosed.

Ridgway said all known deaths already had been reported to next-of-kin and that the report had caused needless anguish among relatives of those soldiers still listed as missing.

On Wednesday Lt.-Col. James H. Hanley, head of the War Crimes section of the US Eighth Army, disclosed in Korea that nearly 6,000 Allied soldiers—5,500 of them Americans—had been slaughtered by the Communists since the start of the war.

Ridgway's statement did not mention the figures announced by Hanley.

Hanley was brought to Tokyo today by Col. George Patrick Welch, Ridgway's Public Information Officer, presumably to answer any questions while the Ridgway statement was being prepared.

Shortly before Ridgway spoke out, Peiping radio entered a blanket denial of Hanley's report. It maintained that UN prisoners of war were treated well "despite difficult conditions."

Then the Chinese Communist radio countered with its own charges that "thousands and tens of thousands" of Chinese and North Korean Red soldiers "who fell into the hands of the UN forces have been massacred."

This ran counter to all reports of UN treatment of prisoners. Hanley in his report said all Red prisoners were well cared for.

Ridgway's statement emphasized that there had been no intention of withholding the atrocity figures.

"It had been concluded some months ago, that at an appropriate time when the accumulated evidence warranted and when due co-ordination had been effected with the proper authorities in Washington, this evidence should be made public," Ridgway said.

Eden's Diplomatic Move To Smooth Ruffled Pelican Relations

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden stepped in today to smooth the somewhat ruffled pelican relations betwen the states of Louisiana and Texas. Just as four pelicans arrived here by air as a gift from Texas, Eden made a swift diplomatic move. He cabled the British Consul General, Alan David Francis, at New Orleans, to accept Louisiana's offer of pelicans, too. The Texas and Louisiana birds eventually will be turned loose in St. James's Park, in front of Buckingham Palace, replacing the last of the park's traditional pelicans which died some time ago.

Hearing that St. James's Park was pelicanless, both Texas and Louisiana offered to supply some.

Texas followed up its offer with the quick dispatch of four pelicans by plane. The birds travelled as part of the baggage of James Carter, news editor of The Galveston News.

Makes Presentation

Carter, as "ambassador to the park of St. James's in charge of pelican affairs," proudly handed over the birds at London airport to Major I. K. V. Hobkirk, bailiff of the royal parks.

The birds, about six months old with beaks a foot and half long, were sent to the London Zoo. They will be left there until they get used to the English weather.

Carter named the birds "Gal," "Ves," "Ton," and "Tex."

The birds unexpectedly had a VIP as bodyguard during their flight from New York. Sir Percy Sillitoe, the hush-hush chief of the hush-hush-hush British military secret service, was on the same plane. He got the job.

Texas' quickness on the draw in getting the pelicans airlifted to London had drawn from Louisiana a protest. Louisiana — the pelican state—accused Texas of claim-jumping.

The situation, said a foreign office official with a twinkle in his eye, "posed a delicate diplomatic problem."

The foreign office hopes that when all the birds arrive and are placed in the park, both states will be happy.

Many Workers Being Laid Off

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP). — The Ontario section of the National Employment Service reported Friday that a lag in house construction has led some firms producing building supplies to lay off workers or cut down their work week.

It said they include factories in Belleville, London, Toronto and Ingersoll. Empire Brass at London has placed 350 workers on a four-day week.

In Kitchener, where furniture workers say they still are feeling the effects of credit restrictions, the employment service office reported tool and die makers leaving to find work in the United States.

Dominion Woollens and Worsted Co. Ltd. is discontinuing branch plant operations at Collingwood and Orillia.

Three hundred workers of a large textile mill in Welland are working only three or four days a week, due to lack of orders.

Footwear production is down to four days a week at the Merchants Rubber Factory at Kitchener. The Kaufman plant there also is on the reduced work week, as are several Toronto rubber products firms.

Won't Ban Dollars To Red China

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP) — James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, told the Commons Friday the government has considered a ban on the export of dollars to Communist China and other Iron Curtain countries, but has decided such action would not be feasible.

G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) had suggested Thursday that such action be taken on the ground of reports that Chinese living in Canada, and with relatives in China, are being "blackmailed" for money by the Chinese government.

Mr. Sinclair said the finance department has no knowledge of any such blackmail or extortion and has noticed no increase in permits for the export of dollars to China. Permits are running at three or four a month. No permit is required for exports of less than $100.

He suggested that a ban on exports would work hardship on a great many Chinese, particularly in British Columbia, who for years have sent small remittances to their parents in China.

Flaming Cats Used As Weapon

CAIRO, Nov. 17 — (AP). — The newspaper Al Ahram reported today that Egyptian underground commandos sent flaming cats racing through a British airport in the Suez Canal zone to touch off fires in several shops.

The paper said the "Ismailia commandos" wrapped a number of live cats in oil-soaked rags, ignited them and turned them loose at the airport. While the blazing cats streaked through the shops, the paper said, the commandos then cut off the water supply. Other commandos slipped into a hangar and set fire to a plane during the excitement.

At this point, the paper said, the commandos fired at the British soldiers on the field with tommyguns and then withdrew.

A British military spokesman said he was investigating the report.

UN To Study Western Peace Plan

Russian Proposal To Be Discussed At End of Session

PARIS, Nov. 17. (AP)—The United Nations' political committee today voted to begin immediate discussion of a French-British-American disarmament plan. It shifted debate on a Russian peace plan to the end of the Paris session.

The vote was 45 to 5 (the Soviet bloc against) with five abstentions.

Committee debate on the three-power plan will begin Monday with State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States leading the fight for adoption of the proposals.

The 60-member committee also rejected, by a vote of 38 to 6 with 10 abstentions, a Soviet plea that a Russian peace plan presented to the general assembly Friday be discussed immediately after the western plan.

Acheson had asked in his speech at the opening of the committee meetings today that the western proposals be discussed first, and that the Russian plan be postponed until late in the session because it "duplicates other items" already on the committee's work sheet.

Wants His Next

Russia's Jakob Malik agreed that the western proposal should come first, but insisted that the plans submitted at the general assembly by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia be discussed immediately afterward.

Malik said the disarmament proposals "will brook no delay."

Both the western and Russian proposals were presented during the UN general assembly's session here. The western big three called for a step-by-step world census of all weapons, including atom bombs followed by "foolproof" controls and progressive disarmament.

The Russians countered with their old peace plan calling for immediate banning of atomic weapons and asked for a peace pact between the big five countries—the US, Russia, Britain, France and Communist China.

It is in political committee that the fine poins of problems are debated without a time limit. Decisions are reported to the general assembly for ratification. Every member has one vote and there is no veto.

Blame Reds For Confusion

TOKYO, Nov. 17. (Reuters)— Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, in an hour-long duel with reporters complaining about United Nations cease-fire briefings, today blamed the Communists for any confusion over happenings inside the Panmunjon cease-fire talks tent.

Nuckols, chief UN briefing official maintained that the Communists wanted a de facto cease-fire line, although Peiping radio has said its proposal for an immediate cease-fire should be subject to later talks.

"It is an outright lie if they say they have not made every effort to convey they desire a de facto cease-fire," Nuckols said.

He said he was speaking without knowing what went on at today's talks.

Government Crisis

PARIS, Nov. 17. (AP)— Premier Rene Pleven was seeking support today to keep France from falling once again into the whirlpool of a government crisis. Pleven's coalition government Friday night skirted the edge of disaster in calling for support of an austerity budget made necessary by the French rearmament program and a wavering economy. The premier escaped a showdown after 19 hours of debate by hastily presenting a call for a vote of confidence in the constitutional manner.

Surprise Stab By UN Troops Gains Two Miles

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 17 (AP)— An allied division supported by tanks and planes today smashed ahead nearly two miles in a surprise attack along a nine-mile front in central Korea.

"We caught the enemy by complete surprise," an allied officer said. "They had no idea we were coming."

The UN command division jumped off shortly before dawn in a limited-objective attack southeast of Kumsong, former Red supply base 30 miles north of the parallel 38.

Allied infantrymen had knocked the Reds off 11 hills by early afternoon.

One UN battalion crossed the Pukhan river in assault boats in pre-dawn darkness and hit the unsuspecting Chinese in a soft spot.

The allied spokesman said UN forces advanced so swiftly the Chinese had no chance to counter-attack. At only one point did the Reds stand and fight. In this sector the allies moved in with bayonets and grenades.

Heavy Barrage

Allied artillery hurled dozens of shells into the Communist lines while big Patton tanks rumbled into battle with the advancing infantrymen. Warplanes supporting the advance hit the enemy 18 times.

In the west, UN infantrymen won back an advance position lost to the Reds Friday northwest of Chorwon, 20 miles north of the 38th parallel. Allied troops attacked under cover of an artillery barrage shortly before dawn.

Other UN command troops, counter-attacking to regain lost ground northwest of the punchbowl on the eastern front, were reported engaged in a blazing battle. The Reds threw a full battalion into Friday's attack, which shoved UN units out of advance positions.

In the air, jets tangled Saturday for the first time in a week over northwestern Korea. One Red MIG-15 was damaged, Fifth Air Force headquarters said.

Didn't Tag Horsemeat Ottawa Butcher Fined

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. (CP)—Laterriere Braun, suburban Eastview butcher, was fined $50 and costs in police court Friday for selling horsemeat not properly identified as such. The fine was the minimum under the Pure Food and Drug Act.

Another butcher, Rheal Crete, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and his case was adjourned for a week.

Police Suspect Murder In Elderly Farmer's Death

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 17— (CP)—Police today ordered an autopsy to determine whether Arthur Harris, 84-year-old bachelor farmer, was slain.

Harris, who had lived alone as a semi-recluse for 30 years but was well liked by the few neighbors who knew him, was found dead in a pool of blood at the foot of his cellar stairs late Friday. His blood-smeared body was clad only in underwear.

It was said Friday night he might possibly have suffered fatal injuries in a fall. But a bullet-riddled armchair in a hall opening off the farmhouse kitchen suggested to police he might have been shot. If he was slain, it might have been by persons seeking the money Harris received for seven acres of his land a few months ago.

Harris' bed on the second floor was rumpled, as if he had been sleeping when the noise of someone breaking in aroused him. An overturned chair in the kitchen suggested a struggle. A trail of blood led from the kitchen to the cellar door and down the basement stairway.

Said Police Chief Norman Fach of Grantham township:

"We believe he was murdered. But until we are absolutely sure, we can make no further statement."

Harris had no close relatives. His body was identified by Evan Durham of St. Catharines, husband of a niece.

UK Colonel Says Story Exaggerated

Canadians Declare Charge Red Work As Sabotage Effort

WEST SECTOR, Korea, Nov. 17. (CP)—Reports that Canadian troops maltreated an Australian soldier in a military jail were knocked down today by senior officers of the Commonwealth Division.

There may be a court of inquiry to squelch once and for all the second-hand report of the maltreatment, but meantime the story is discounted as "exaggerated grossly," "a fantastic lie"—and a Communist propaganda effort.

Lt.-Col. William Vickers, British Assistant Adjutant, said his preliminary investigation shows there was gross exaggeration in the allegation that an Australian soldier was chained to a wall in a Canadian jail at Seoul.

Brig. J. M. Rockingham, who heads the Canadian Brigade, denied any prisoner in a Canadian camp ever has been chained to a wall.

He called the accusation "a Communist effort to sabotage Commonwealth relations."

Lt.-Col. Frank Hassett of Sydney, Australia, commander of the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment, said: "Am quite sure the reports are inaccurate."

Fantastic Lie

Col. Vickers' official report on his investigation is understood to call the charge "a fantastic lie."

The report of chaining came from an Australian soldier at a meeting of the Korean Veterans' Association in Melbourne. He was reported as saying the chain-

Daring Fliers Rescue Pal

TOKYO, Nov. 17 (Reuters). — Capt. John I. Paladino, allied jet pilot from Little Rock, Ark., is alive today because two of his pals made their planes "hold hands" with a third.

Far East Air Force officials today told the incredible story of how Lt. Wood S. McArthur of Little Rock and Capt. Jack Miller of Dayton, O., slid their wingtips under those of Palaino's plane when he blacked out from lack of oxygen.

They guided the jet fighter to a lower altitude, where Paladino regained consciousness and landed safely.

The three planes were returning to base in Korea. Miller and McArthur saw Paladino's plane climbing and diving wildly and realized he was out.

"We yelled at him over the radio to pull back on the stick and level out, which he did," said Miller. But then they saw Paladino slump over the controls.

The pilots closed in on either side of him, got their wing tips under his, and guided him down over allied lines.

Elizabeth Makes Hit With Passengers

LIVERPOOL, England, Nov. 17 (Reuters)—W. J. Osman, 61-year-old Calgary farmer, walked off the Empress of Scotland here today with eye-witness comments on two Royal fellow-passengers—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

He said the Royal couple—just returned from their Canadian tour—mingled with passengers and watched a movie at the same time he did.

"The Duke sat quite close to me and seemed to get a great kick out of the show," said Osman. "He laughed to beat the dickens. The show was Bob Hope in 'My Favorite Spy' and a cartoon of the three bears.

"We had a rough passage. Even the crew said they had seen nothing like it. But the Princess didn't go under. She was out on the promenade deck and mingled also with tourist-class passengers.

"The wind at times seemed strong enough to blow her away and at one time when she went outside the door I heard her say, 'Pooh, this is too much,' and then she came back. She was a favorite with everyone."

Stern Action Demanded Against Nazis

Find Many Germans Greatly Worried By Rising Comeback

FRANKFURT, Nov. 17. (AP) — Many Germans are demanding stern action to check a rising comeback threat by Nazism in west Germany. "Let the high (German) officials not mistake, the people are watching tensely to see whether their new democracy is going to be undermined again, as it was once in our history," warned the influential Frankfurter Rundschau in a recent editorial.

The German government already has applied in court to outlaw the biggest mass movement toward Nazism—the Socialist Reich party—which won substantial support in two recent State elections.

Meanwhile, signs of Nazism's revival are multiplying.

There are indications that German Nazi sympathizers, flushed with a growing success at home, may be trying to establish links with sympathetic groups in other European countries.

Leaders of the SRP met recently in Augsburg with Fascist followers from Britain and Italy. The SRP chief admitted that "Nationalistic groups" from Norway, Holland and France also have asked his party for closer co-operation.

Becoming Bold

So bold are former Nazis becoming that even Hitler's notorious SS men are talking of forming their own organization. The SS, Hitler's "elite guard," was declared a criminal organization by the International War Crimes' Tribunal five years ago.

But it is holding mass meetings, demanding the release of war criminals, and planning a big mass convention of former SS men.

Another newspaper, the Brunswick Zeitung, recently carried a bitter editorial against Otto Ernest Remer, leader of the SRP, who was promoted by Hitler for his leading role in suppressing the 1944 revolt against Hitler.

Remer recently described the rebels as traitors and defended their summary execution by Hitler.

The Zeitung expressed horror that Remer should thus "approve them urder of the best in our nation." Remer now faces a four-month jail term for defaming government leaders in a campaign speech.

Niagara Park Business Good

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 17 — (CP)—Labor Minister Daley said today more persons visited the Niagara parks system this year than ever before.

Nearly 5,000,000 persons visited Queen Victoria Park between May 1 and Oct. 31. Mr. Daley, chairman of the Niagara Parks Commission, said in an annual review that the figure, based on records of automatic car-counting devices—an average of 3.3 persons in a car—does not include pedestrian visitors.

The estimate for last year was 4,552,155 visitors.

ed Australian had been sentenced to 28 days' detention for sleeping on duty. The story-teller later told Australian Army officials he had heard the story second-hand.

Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, Commonwealth administrative commander who visited Brig. Rockingham Thursday, said he might order a formal court of inquiry.

Immediately after he received word from Ottawa of the charges, Brig. Rockingham invited Commonwealth division headquarters to investigate the story, saying he preferred to have no Canadians work with the investigators "so that the findings may be altogether uninfluenced by us."

Reviews Story

The story apparently surrounds an Australian soldier named Sweeney who was sentenced to 28 days' field punishment for sleeping at his post — a relatively light penalty for a serious offence. The sentence was passed by an Australian court martial.

The Canadians operate the divisional field punishment camp in Seoul, with representation on the staff from the British, Australian, Indian and New Zealand forces to ensure that the military laws of their countries are followed.

On arrival at the punishment camp, Sweeney allegedly wrote his commanding officer that he was innocent—although at the court martial he had pleaded guilty—that the sentence was unjust and that he would not obey orders connected with it.

Solitary Confinement

For his refusal he was given two days' solitary confinement. Returning from his punishment, he again said he would not obey orders and again drew two days' solitary.

After that, he was reported to have become a model prisoner who obtained remission of part of his sentence for good behavior.

As far as the Canadians were concerned, the case ended there. Sweeney returned to his unit and was subsequently killed in action.

Since the punishment camp was opened it has been inspected twice by Brig. Rockingham, four times by Col. Vickers and on several occasions by Maj.-Gen. Archibald J. Cassels, commanding officer of the division. All were satisfied that it was being properly operated.

By coincidence, this reporter spoke a few days ago to an Ottawa soldier just returned from the camp. The soldier described it as "R. and R. without pay." R. and R. is the Rest and Relaxation Program under which soldiers are granted five days' leave in Japan every six months.

Murray Irwin To Leave Board

Murray D. Irwin informed The Examiner today that he would not seek re-election as a member of the Board of Education.

"The only reason is that I haven't the time it takes to attend to the Board's business," Mr. Irwin explained. "I have more on my hands than when I was elected two years ago, so I cannot think of staying in the field. I would like to thank all those who voted for me in the first place. It has been a great experience. I wouldn't have missed it for anything. When you find yourself a Trustee you realize that you are handling a million dollar business, and in that kind of responsibility you want to do your best. I would like to be returned to the Board, that's how I feel about the work, but I really have to retire. Maybe some time later I might get another chance."

It backed its action of last month, dropping the requirement that all employees and faculty members must declare in writing they are not Communists. The action was taken on the ground that all such employees now are required by state law to swear they are not members of any subversive group.

Firm Spent Too Much Chairman Jailed 6 Months

LEEDS, Nov. 17 (Reuters)—Col. Wilfred Mark Lapper, 58, chairman of the government-owned Yorkshire Electricity Board, was jailed for six months Friday because the power company spent too much money building an extension to its headquarters.

The board, a regional department of the nationalized power industry, was fined £20,000 ($55,000). Lapper's assistant was fined £100 ($280).

A judge and jury listened for a week to evidence that the agency had spent $115,407 over its authorized expediture on the building. Because of Britain's building materials shortage, expenditure on building is limited by licence.

Lapper pleaded he was not fully aware of what went on because of his many other duties at a member of various other organizations.

"He should give his time to the job for which he is paid," said the judge.

Disabled War Veterans To Get Increase Of 33⅓ PC In Pensions

OTTAWA, Nov. 17. (CP)—Canada's 161,000 disabled war veterans will receive an increase of about 33 1/3 per cent in their pensions, starting January next. Veterans Minister Lapointe told the Commons Friday that increases also will be paid to the dependents of veterans and their widows. The cheques mailed at the end of January will carry the new rates. Roughly 200,000 cheques are mailed each month. They cover 161,000 veterans, 20,000 widows, 125,000 children and 12,000 dependent parents.

The new rates, boosting the annual pensions bill by $27,916,885 to $124,014,568:

1. The basic 100-per-cent disability pension for a single war veteran up to the rank of captain is increased to $125 a month from $94.

2. Allowance for a total disability pensioner's wife increased to $45 from $31.

3. Allowance for the first child increased to $20 from $19. Rates for other children—$15 for second child and $12 for each subsequent child—remain unchanged.

4. Personal pension of a war widow increased to $100 from $75 a month.

5. Additional pension for war widow's first child increased to $40 a month from $38. Rates for other children — $30 for second ceases was applauded by members burnt-out veterans of the First World War.

Drop Supplement

Mr. Lapointe said that the unemployability supplement, begun last June, will be dropped when the new rates become effective.

The announcement of the increases was aplauded by members of all parties, but Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) said they came one year too late. Mr. Lapointe said the increases will not apply to the allowances paid to veterans of the First World War.

The government had announced earlier that a committee will be established at the next session to consider what changes should be made in the War Veterans' allowances.

Mr. Lapointe said the increases in the disability pensions meet and in some cases surpass the demands of the Canadian Legion and other veterans organizations.

With the increase it no longer was felt necessary to pay the unemployability supplement. Under present rates a total-disability married pensioner gets $125 a month and $40 additional if unemployed. Under the new rates he will get $170 a month. A single total-disability pensioner with a $20 supplement now receives a total of $114 a month. The new scale will give him $125 without the supplement.

Car Smashes Parked Truck

Pulled from his wrecked car, after crashing into the rear of a parked truck on Monaghan Road Friday evening, Gerald Hogan, 21, 514 Water Street, was taken to hospital and later allowed to return home.

Hogan was cut over the right eye and forehead in the accident and was also complaining of pains in his right leg, when H. Simmons, 398 George Street, who was walking along Monaghan Road, just as the accident occurred, pried him from his badly-caved-in car.

The entire right side of the car was wrecked by the force of the impact which shunted the two-ton truck ahead 20 feet. The emergency brake was on the truck.

Hogan was driving south on Monaghan Road when he struck the left rear corner of the truck owned by T. H. Vinette, 187 Auburn Street, which was parked on the west side of Monaghan Road, just north of Patterson Street.

Simmons told Constable W. A. Scott who investigated the crash that there was heavy northbound traffic at the time, as many people were driving home from work.

No one apparently saw the crash, but from the force with which the car struck the truck, shoving the platform into the truck cab, it appeared that Hogan did not see the truck until he was almost on top of it. He struck the left rear corner, indicating he was attempting to pull around it just as the car and truck collided, police said.

Dr. H. G. Carlson attended Hogan at the scene and took him to hospital in his car.

Ridgway's headquarters said that up to Oct. 20 it had approved 5,437 applications of military personnel to marry Japanese. They included 772 airmen and 108 sailors.

Foreign Trade Over 6 Million During 9 Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP). — Canada's total foreign trade in the first nine months of this year edged the $6,000,000,000 mark, coming within $400,000,000 of shattering the 12-month record established in 1950.

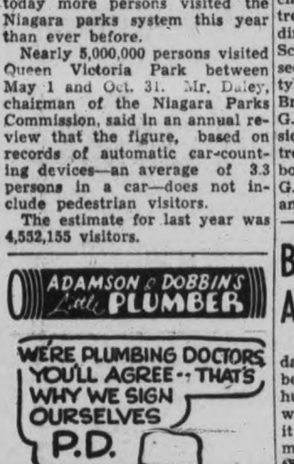
Imports and exports both were at their peaks, adding emphasis to official estimates that Canada this year will pile up a total foreign trade of about $8,500,000,000 highest in history.

The only blur on the horizon was a $323,800,000 deficit in the foreign commodity account, reflecting mainly Canada's heavier buying in the United States, but Trade Department officials estimated this will be narrowed to about $250,000,000 by the time the year is out.

Total Trade

Total trade, as estimated by the Bureau of Statistics Friday, came to $5,960,200,000 for the nine months, more than $1,300,000,000 higher than the $4,507,700,000 in the same period last year. In that year total trade came to a record $6,331,000,000.

A major development during the nine-month period was that total trade with Britain—reaching $783,200,000—was higher than in any other similar period since the Second World War.



It compared with $636,200,000 in the same period last year and with the record $769,900,000, established in 1949. But the trend was toward an increase in Canada's imports from Britain, thereby reducing the favorable balance.

RAFTING ON THE RIO Grand River (left) near Port Antonio, Jamaica, is a delightful pastime. Seated in bathing suits, on bamboo rafts, tourists are poled skilfully through swift rapids and between craggy cliffs. Jamaica's Blue Mountains, (above) and they are "blue," provide scenic backdrop for this view of the Hope Botanic Gardens, near Kingston, the capital city.—(Jamaica Tourist Trade Board Photo).

Shooting Rapids On Rafts Fun For Jamaica Tourists

By JEAN E. STENTON

Shooting the rapids on native bamboo rafts along the Rio Grande River, is one of the unforgetable thrills experienced by visitors to Jamaica.

Tourists can take a two-hour trip down the river on these rafts guided by experts. They hold only three passengers besides the boatman and it is a truly thrilling experience.

In a land that is perpetual summer, but never hot, for the 12 months in the year, this Island of Legends contains some of the most beautiful scenery and beaches in the world.

The Rio Grande can be reached a short distance from Port Antonio, on the north eastern end of Jamaica. For those pressed for time, a one-day trip can be made from the capital city, Kingston, along the east coast to Port Antonio that will be one of the brightest memories of the West Indies. Those fortunate enough to have more leisure, can spend a little longer enjoying the unbounded beauty of this Caribbean island.

No Damage

In spite of the devastating hurricane which struck Jamaica this summer, no hotels or guest houses were affected. By dawn of the day after the tornado, there was a complete restoration of services. Damage was confined to more isolated areas.

The North Shore resort of Ocho Rios has the finest waterfall in Jamaica—the Roaring River Falls. It also has Dunn's River Falls. Though not as spectacular, the latter is good for bathers as it plunges into the sea. Swimmers can alternate between the warm, salt surf and the cool fresh water of the falls.

Leaving the capital by car or bus via the Windward Rd., the visitor follows the coast to Morant Bay passing through White Horses where the pounding sea sends a fine salt mist through an avenue of cocoanut palms. At the same spot, a lovely waterfall pours from a rock beside the road.

From Morant Bay, the road turns inland for a few miles, but shortly returns to the coast. Nine miles before Port Antonio is Boston Beach which offers fine sea bathing in a small bay whose entrance is guarded by huge rocks.

Beautiful Lagoon

A little distance from Port Antonio is one of the loveliest and most colorful spots to be found anywhere—the Blue Lagoon or Blue Hole. It is a sleepy-sided lagoon of amazingly deep coloring that no camera seems to be able to capture completely. Sailing and gondola parties are held here and music by moonlight makes a popular entertainment.

Port Antonio itself is considered one of the most beautifully situated towns in Jamaica. It has two harbors and its magnificent mountain background gives it an enchanting aspect. From here, travellers can easily reach the Rio Grande in a circular drive and then on to Annotto Bay, returning to Kingston. The round trip is 140 miles.

A place that has changed little since the introduction of machinery is Annotto Bay. Thirty-one miles from Kingston, it is a quaint and interesting fishing village. The road passes through tropical coast scenery and gradually drops to sea level. At Buff Bay, you see fishermen's huts close by the water, nets drying and the deep blue sea washing along the golden sand. The country here has changed very little for the peasants and fishermen in hundreds of years.

This holiday spot has had a colorful history. Columbus was the first tourist to the island. It was during his second voyage to the Western hemisphere that he visited Jamaica in 1494, while in search of gold. Jamaica was owned by the Spanish until 1665 when it was taken for England by Admiral Penn and General Venables.

Pirates' Rendezvous

During the 17th century, Jamaica was a rendezvous for buccaneers and pirates with headquarters at Port Royal. There is still believed to be considerable buccaneer treasure hidden within its borders and even recently a haul of buried silver was uncovered. The city of Port Royal was largely destroyed by an earthquake in 1692, but in 1729, Admiral Nelson, hero of the British fleet, was governor of Fort Charles there.

The early Spanish and British inhabitants have left a rich and interesting heritage that has colored the life and customs of the island.

Kingston, is the headquarters for all trips in the northern half of the island. Inexpensive bus trips taking half a day or a whole day can be made.

A busy seaport city of 250,000 people, Kingston is an attractive spot. Settled after 1612, it has old churches, quaint public markets, polo fields and is only 1,500 miles from New York. It can be reached by air in 12 hours and by boat in five days.

Night Attraction

Kingston's Coronation Market should be seen at night, driving along the Spanish Town road. Here you have a full view of the night pedlars displaying their native wares. For those who enjoy a lively night life, there are many attractive night clubs, American style or featuring spectacular native floor shows or Calypso music.

The Institute of Jamaica on East St. Is worth a visit. Everything there represents the past and the present of the island. Another attraction is a trip by launch from the Myrtle Bank Hotel which goes up the harbor to Port Royal, the pirate stronghold. The famous view from Newcastle of Kingston Harbor is a must for visitors as are the Hope Botanical Gardens, 5½ miles from the capital and the Castleton Gardens. The Hope Gardens have more than 200 acres under cultivation. There is a magnificent collection of orchids, coffee fruit, and tropical trees.

There are enjoyable musical events for the visitor too. These include concerts at the Ward Theatre on Sutton St. and on Sunday mornings, the Jamaica Military Band plays on the grounds of the Myrtle Bank Hotel and it is a spectacular sight.

One of the advantages of Jamaica over such spots as Florida is that it is equally enjoyable summer or winter because of its even temperature which generally is between 70 and 78 degrees. The rainy seasons are brief and occur in the months of May and October. Aside from that period, the people there can count on warm sunshine practically every day.

Few Formalities

Because there is little formality about customs and immigration, Jamaica is an easy country for Canadians to visit. For visitors who are planning to stay less than six months no passport is required. On arrival, officials must be shown a return ticket and then the traveller is given a special tourist card which must be returned to immigration authorities on departure.

British sterling is the legal currency here and there is no restriction on the importation of Canadian currency. Canadians bring dollar currency in the form of bank drafts, travellers cheques or currency notes.

Clothes are not a problem. Because the temperature is the same all year, Canadians have only to carry the same clothing they would take to summer resorts here. Overcoats will be needed in the winter months only for travelling to and from Jamaica. Washable light suits are best for men and women.

Food is both abundant and enjoyable. Beside the usual vegetables and fruits, bananas are grown here that are large and colored by pretty pastel pallet, and you can pluck oysters fastened to the roots of mangrove trees under water. The best grades of rum are plentiful at all points also.

Good restaurants in Kingston include: the Myrtle Bank Hotel, Esquire, Fisher's, Snackit and the Dixie Doodle. Stores are open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. except on Wednesday.

There are also many sugar estates with cane fields bordering the roads. Visitors are welcome at sugar factories and rum distilleries.

Bob Thomas Offers Golden Rules To Industry For Better Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17 (AP)—What can the movie industry actually do to improve business?

Here are 10 golden rules:

1. Clean up the theatres. Many are dirty, decaying hulks which scare patrons away;

2. Improve the advertising policy. Bigger and better ads in the papers will draw more attention to the theatres;

3. Use more color. Since television now is stymied on the use of color, the movies should go all-out;

4. Make fewer pictures. Every picture should be made on the premise that it could be a hit, not that it will meet a schedule;

5. Do more pre-production planning. Too many pictures still enter production without finished scripts;

6. Use more slapstick. In these days people have to laugh or they'll blow their tops;

7. Stop penny-pinching.

8. More provocative co-starring. The studios should do more swapping of stars instead of playing the same old teams;

9. Abolish re-issues except for genuine classics;

10. Cultivate the adult market. Kids will always flock to the movies. The big problem is getting the oldsters back.

More Power For Ontario

Hydro's J. Clark Keith Generating Station Starts operating at Windsor

The opening of the J. Clark Keith Generating Station on November 16th is another step in your Hydro's expansion program to add over 2,500,000 horsepower by 1955.

The first unit of this new station will supply 66,000 kilowatts (88,500 horsepower) with an ultimate 4-unit capacity of 264,000 kilowatts (354,000 horsepower.) The J. Clark Keith Generating Station will provide reserve power to meet the heavy demand occurring when industry, the home and the farm simultaneously put electricity to its greatest use, and will help to assure a continuity of supply to the Windsor area.

On this occasion, the Commission extends thanks to the Engineers, to Labour and Suppliers who made possible the completion of the J. Clark Keith Generating Station on schedule.

Twelve Thousand More?

Election time is a time of promises. Politicians will promise anything; they will even promise to save money and reduce taxes while at the same time increasing free benefits to every section of the population. At lovers' promises, they say, Jove laughs; Jove must be seized with hysterical delerium when he listens to politicians. The most remarkable recent promise to come to our attention is one which was made by the C.C.F. leader, Mr. E. B. Jolliffe, in a speech at Galt; he said that if his party were to come to power in Ontario it would establish a fund which would be used to send three thousand young men and women to our universities who are now debarred from higher education by lack of funds.

* * *

We believe that there are some young men and women who are kept from going to our universities by lack of money, but we do not believe that they are numerous. Scores of students work they way through university, and universities have scholarships, bursaries and other means of helping promising and needy students. We do not believe that three thousand a year are kept from the universities by lack of money; if the number is three hundred we would be surprised. We should like to know how Mr. Jolliffe arrived at his astonishing figure.

* * *

If three thousand more students were to attend our universities each year, our student enrollment would soon be about twelve thousand greater than it is now; most university courses occupy four years, but some—medicine in particular—are much longer, and our figure of twelve thousand is intended to make allowance for these. Could our universities contain so many more? It must be remembered that size is not a guarantee of merit in a university, and our Ontario universities are now large enough, excepting Carleton University; the provincial university at Toronto is too big. Does Mr. Jolliffe also contemplate building another university, or would he be content to crowd those which now exist?

* * *

We gravely doubt if three thousand more university entrants could be found every year whose attendance at a university would not require a lowering of university standards. It is our own belief that the present standards should be raised, and not lowered. University education is not a constant thing, which retains its quality while being increased in quantity. We need more highly trained people in Ontario, but we cannot get them merely by sending more young people to the universities; they must be fit candidates for higher education, or they are nuisances who lower university standards.

* * *

A proposal has been made that the Dominion—sorry, we should not have used that forbidden word—the Canadian Government at Ottawa, should provide scholarships for which students lacking funds could compete; such scholarships would keep standards high, while helping brilliant young people. Surely such a plan is better than a proposal to flood the universities with another twelve thousand students, whose qualification, it appears, will be first that they need money, and only in second place that they may benefit from higher education?

Seaway Agency

The Minister of Transport has said that on Monday he will propose to the House of Commons a special Government agency to be called "The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority." It will be a Crown corporation with power to borrow up to $300,000,000, to build and to operate the Seaway from Montreal to Lake Erie.

Thus after thirty years' delay and repeated American refusal to co-operate, Canada is on the way to building the Seaway—alone. The final decision has been taken much more quickly than most people expected. The American Congress seemed to have underrated Canadian determination to get the Seaway built, to do it alone if necessary, although some American businessmen have gambled on quick Canadian action and have been buying industrial sites along it.

Mr. Chevrier's announcement had this new suggestion. Tolls may be levied on ships using the seaway. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority will have power to set tolls for shipping, if Parliamentary approval is given to the proposal as outlined by the Minister yesterday. Never before have tolls been levied along the St. Lawrence. Even though Canada built the new Welland Canal at her own cost—not an American cent went into this $132,000,000 construction—American and other foreign ships have been allowed to use it as freely as Canadian. The principle of tolls will have to be discussed in Parliament, but it seems fair to charge at least American shipping for use of the proposed new seaway if only Canada pays for building it.

Even if Parliamentary approval is given to the construction of the seaway this session and international obstacles are overcome, the Seaway will not come into being overnight. It will take a minimum of four years to build. The Welland Ship Canal was nineteen years a-building, between intervals of a great war, political changes, financial elation and depression, and actual structural difficulties.

23 Starokonyushny Pereulok

The Department of External Affairs has bloomed all over the world in the last twenty-five years. Before 1926 when the first Canadian Minister to a foreign country was appointed (to Washington) Canada did not have a single embassy abroad. Now it has seventeen full-fledged Ambassadors, seven Ministers, and a variety of Consuls, Trade Commissioners, Heads of Missions, Charges d'Affaires and High Commissioners in fifty different nations, including three permanent representatives on international groups.

In more than fifty foreign cities the Canadian flag flies—at 478, Bartolome Mitre, Buenos Aires, at 5, Fridtjof Nansens Plass, Oslo, at 16 Omote-Machi, 3 Chome, Minato-Ku in Tokyo, and at 23 Starokonyushny Pereulok, Moscow. Even the Belgian Congo has a Canadian representative, a Trade Commissioner whose address is 373 Casier Postal, Leopoldville. Next time you are visiting in the Congo be sure to look him up—373 Casier Postal—although that address has something of the air of a dead-letter office.

Canada's external affairs were managed by the British Colonial Office, until the Department of External Affairs was set up in 1909. Until then most of Canada's external relations were with Britain and as long ago as 1880 the first Canadian High Commissioner to Westminster was appointed. Britain did not reciprocate until 1928. Only since 1939 have High Commissioners been exchanged with Australia, New Zealand, Ireland (Eire), South Africa and India. There are still six Canadian High Commissioners abroad, but Ireland's place has been taken in the list by a High Commissioner to Pakistan who lives at the Hotel Metropole, Karachi. Ireland has so far removed herself from the Commonwealth that Canada's representative there is now no less than an Ambassador, whose office is at 92 Merrion Square West, Dublin.

The disposition of embassies (presided over by an ambassador) and legations (presided over by a Minister) is quite odd. An Ambassador is ranked higher than a Minister, and his affairs are therefore presumably more important and the country to which he is accredited more significant. (Thus it is, as Canadian-American relations multiplied, the Legation at Washington was raised in 1943 to an Embassy.) Why is it, then, that Canada maintains a full Ambassador in Turkey (211, Ayranci Baglari, Kavaklidere, Ankara . . . we must remember to pay our respects the next time we are in Turkey) and only a Minister in Sweden? Can it be due to pressure from Canadian rug buyers?

It is odd that Canada has Ministers to all the Scandinavian countries: Norway, Sweden, Finland, Iceland, and Ambassadors almost everywhere else; probably a predilection of the Scandinavian countries themselves. If Peru wants to send us a full-blown Ambassador, Canada can do no less than send an Ambassador in exchange. His address in Lima is Edificio Boza Plaza San Martin. (You must remember to call there, too.) Really, we doubt that the proportion of Ambassadors to Ministers is right. Wouldn't it be good enough, and more economical, to have seven embassies and seventeen legations, rather than vice versa?

A nice degree of tension or diplomatic friendship is indicated by the status of the Canadian representatives. For instance, we have only a Charge d'Affaires in Czechoslovakia but a full Ambassador in Yugoslvia. Nominally we maintain an embassy in Moscow (23 Starokonyushny Pereulok) but the Ambassador has been called off, and a Charge d'Affaires left in charge of affairs. We have a Consul-General accredited to the Chinese Government—that is, to the hapless Chiang Kai-shek regime, and his office is in the British sector of Shanghai. But if we want to do business with the real rulers of China, we have to use the offices of the United Kingdom Charge d'Affaires in Peking. This is a devious way of going about our affairs with China.

We have an Ambassador to Cuba. Does he have a gaudier time than the Charge d'Affaires in Poland? Is his status and pay as big as the Ambassador to Washington enjoys? His house is not, anyway. The new Canadian Embassy in Washington, 1746 Massachusetts Avenue, is a mansion which impresses even Americans.

Would ride through the air
On a very fine gander.

Today we turn our attention to a book which follows, more curiously than any book written before, the wanderings of Mother Goose, through history and all over the map of the Western world. It is The Oxford Dictionary of Nursery Rhymes, edited by Iona and Peter Opie, and published, of course, by the Oxford University Press. This ancient and honourable publishing house seems to have determined, ten or twelve years ago, to provide dictionaries and 'companions' to almost everything that the average literate person could be interested in. Although the merit of the volumes varies greatly, the idea is a fine one, and this latest volume is worthy to stand beside the best that have appeared before it.

✧ ✧ ✧

NURSERY RHYMES are of remarkable interest and importance. The best-known of them, along with fifty or so of the best-known hymns, represent almost all the contact with poetry which more than half the population enjoys in its lifetime. Do not smile at this use of the word 'poetry'. Poetry, at its highest, is a kind of magic, and produces its effects, like music, without relying upon an explicit meaning. Nursery rhymes appeal to children too young to comprehend ordinary speech; rhythm and rhyme work upon the infant ear before it has begun to bother about meaning. A child of two is delighted with:

Hector Protector was dressed all in green;
Hector Protector was sent to the Queen.
The Queen did not like him,
No more did the King;
So Hector Protector was sent back again.

This has a meaning and a little story. But the same child is equally pleased with:

Hyder iddle, diddle dell,
A yard of pudding's not an ell;
Not forgetting tweedle-dye,
A tailor's goose will never fly.

—which cannot be said to have any meaning worth bothering about. It is the jingle and roll and rumble of nursery rhymes which makes them dear to countless generations of children.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOMETIMES THE IMPORTANCE of nursery rhymes has been exaggerated, as Mr. and Mrs. Opie point out in their admirable Introduction to this book. The first serious student of the rhymes, James Orchard Halliwell, made cautious guesses at the origin of some of them, suggesting that they might originally have begun as political lampoons or as jingles with some sly and half-hidden meaning. But later writers on the subject have carried such speculation to ridiculous extremes. In 1930 an American lady, Katherine Elwes Thomas, published "The Real Personages of Mother Goose", which is full of ingenious but historically unsupported explanations of the rhymes; she was probably the most hard-working of many who have laboured in this field of dubious scholarship. So convinced are most people today that the rhymes have hidden meanings that almost any conversation which turns toward Mother Goose will elicit a few of them. But according to the Opies, the historical evidence which supports the notion that Little Jack Horner was a messenger to Henry VIII, or that Mary, Mary, quite contrary was Mary Queen of Scots—to name but two popular beliefs—is not good enough or clear enough to warrant the widespread credit which is given to them. Tempting as such theories are, they will not hold water. Even Old King Cole, that merry old soul, was not the King who ruled part of Britain under the Romans; he appears to have been a much later public benefactor named Colebrook, who lived at Reading. This is a blow, for it was pleasant to think that the old king's merriment was so stupendous that two thousand years had not been enough to quench the memory of it.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO COMPENSATE FOR THIS LOSS, the Opies present a theory which is in itself extremely attractive. For the past century or so, since it became a scholarly occupation to be interested in folk-lore, there has been a notion that folk-songs and folk-rhymes were in some mysterious way the work of great numbers of people—that they rose from the collective poetic soul of the people at large. This is a depressing notion, for it is observable that no songs or rhymes arise from the people at large today, and if the theory were true, it would imply that we have lost a widespread poetic and musical impulse which was once to be found everywhere. But of late years folklore experts have changed their opinion; they now think that the songs and verses were the work of single creators, and that they underwent their many changes because they were circulated by word of mouth. As this is what happens today, we can solace ourselves with the idea that the great mass of people are at least as inventive as they ever were. It is true that the songs and rhymes which circulate by word of mouth today are, without exception, obscene, but this does not change the fact that many of them contain flashes of rude genius. The nursery rhymes, say the Opies, were written by people particularly gifted as versifiers. Sir Charles Sedley wrote "There was a little man and he woo'd a little maid"; Peter Motteux, the translator of Rabelais and "Don Quixote", wrote "Over the hills and far away". It was the habit of an earlier day to treat children more as adults of somewhat dull intellect than as beings of a special sort, and thus children heard great numbers of verses and songs which were not, by modern standards, suited to their ears; they also heard many which were more beautiful than any we see fit to prepare for their special use today. Children have a trick of remembering what is useful to them and forgetting all else, and some of the rhymes which were, in the Opies' phrase "preserved by the nursery" are of great beauty, and others are quaint, odd and magical.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE AGE OF THE RHYMES is another subject upon which there has been wild speculation. Some of them are undoubtedly very old, for children have always played games which were accompanied by jingles. In the Bible (Matthew xi, 17) is quoted a snatch of a child's game—"We have piped unto you and ye have not danced; we have mourned unto you and ye have not lamented" and "King of the Castle" was played in Roman days, as Horace tells us. The Opies judge that a quarter of all the nursery rhymes we have today pre-date the year 1599; only a few have appeared since 1825. Has the spring dried up? Not entirely, but our age, which is so prolific in songs and so quick to forget them, leaves little residue in the nursery. And it may be that modern parents, frightened out of their sense by the gloomy forebodings of child psychologists, just dare to pass on the old rhymes to their young, but are not so temerarious as to create any new ones.

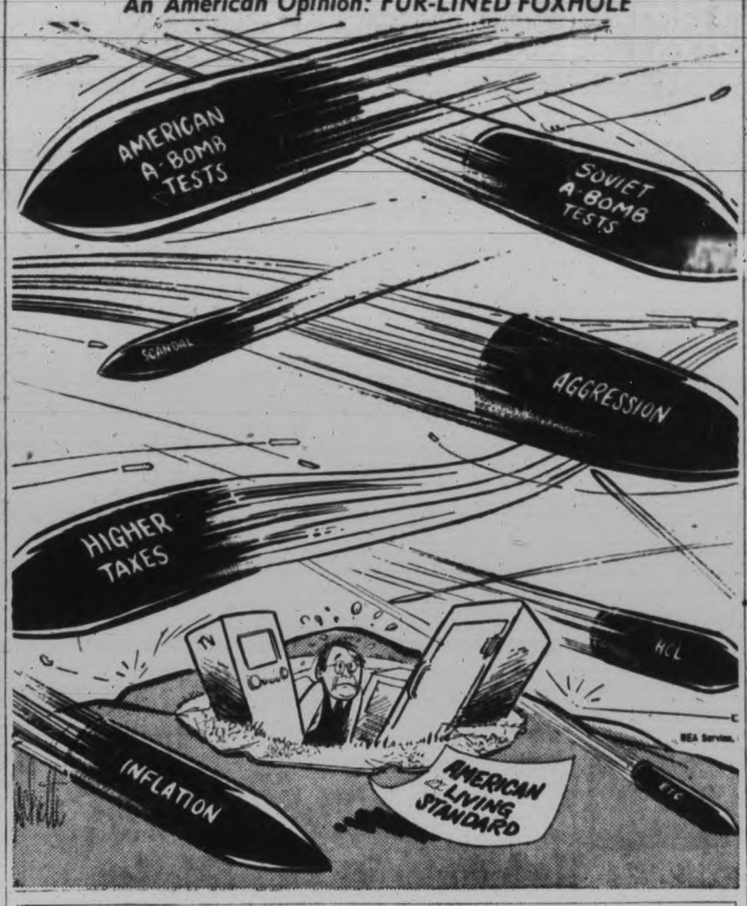
✧ ✧ ✧

THIS IS A BOOK for the browser and the rambler. I have read it straight through, for I am gluttonous of curiosities, but I do not suggest that anyone else should do so. It is not a book for children, but many adults who have no scholarly concern with such matters will like to have it on their shelves, for it is an inexhaustible work. Nobody, I venture to say, will look into it without finding many rhymes which are new to him, but he will also probably be flattered to find that he has heard a majority of those which comprise the book. It is an agreeable sensation to feel that one's childhood has been rich, by dictionary standards, in such good and lasting fare. Canadians will miss one or two—probably quite new—which we hear on our own streets. For instance—

Help, Murder, Police!
The monkey fell in the grease!
I laughed so hard
I fell in the lard;
Help, Murder, Police!

—is not there. Nor is—

Bella, Bella,
Dressed in yella,
Went down town
To meet her fella.



But I do not regret Bella; she has always sounded to me like a forward piece, and a bad example to little girls. Bella may, indeed, be the latter-day incarnation of that unfortunate whose fate is told in—

There was a Lady loved a swine
Honey, said she,
Pig-hog wilt thou be mine?
Hoogh! said he.

But this is quite enough about this fascinating book—enough, certainly to suggest to the reader that he look inside its covers with the certainty that he will find much to delight and engross him.

Letters To The Editor

HOODLUMS SPOIL HOCKEY

Sir: In regard to the Civic Arena that I attend, and 4 or 5 others who ride there with me about twice a week during the winter: I think that it is about time something was done about the conditions that exist there. I am not complaining about the hockey games I see there, for I believe that it is good hockey for a city of this size. But something could be done about the young smart alecs that go there. Last Wednesday I left before the game was over because of a few of them. I also saw the policeman putting a few out because of their throwing things (hats, gloves, sticks etc.) on the ice. They also tramp all over ones clothes, roll around on the benches, swing broken hockey sticks, pound the boards and just simply make it uncomfortable for everyone around them.

Now I go to these games because I enjoy them. I think they just go to make sure we don't.

For the past several years teams in this city have been losing money; well if this keeps up we will not have a team at all. I am going to submit a few things that could be done to improve these conditions.

1.—Put all broken sticks in the players' benches or penalty box and give them to the kids after the game is over.

2.—Have any who throw things on the ice put out.

3.—Put them in a section of their own, or change the cost of admission around; have them pay fifty cents and the adults the quarter.

A HOCKEY FAN

DISGUSTED WITH MARKET

Sir: Who wants a market, who is going to pay for it? We all want a market. We had a market and it was taken from us. Yes we know there was a vote on it. A lot of people voted because they had a vote and they did not know what it meant, I don't think the farmers had a vote.

Who is going to pay for building a market? That market was given the people for a market for all time. Where is the money from all those stores and offices built on the west and north side of the market block? And now the old city buildings are for sale; why not make a down stair market out of them and give the farmers back their market, and make offices out of the old upstair market and use an elevator to take people up? The mud hole now called the City Market isn't fit for man or beast. I had visitors from another city over the week-end and we went up to the market for vegetables and wood and tramped ankle deep in slush and, oh the stones! The farmers and wives were blue and shaking with the cold and had nowhere to go to get a cup of coffee and get warm. Then we had to travel half a mile to the upstair market to get what I wanted there. And for our country friends most of our Canadian-born business men in Peterborough were born and raised on the farm. The farmers spend their money in town and if they can't sell their produce here they won't spend their money here. Our visitors did not buy a thing here and went home disgusted with Peterborough and its market.

A REGULAR ATTENDANT

PUBLIC MARKET PLACE AND POLITICS

Sir: An editorial article of Nov. 8th gave and discussed fully 25 questions of their choosing and stated that, "If Peterborough and district people are serious in a desire to have an improved market, answers will have to be given to the questions we have asked above." A letter written by a regular customer of the former market place was published Nov. 14. An editor's note at the bottom of that letter stated . . . "the point under discussion is, who should pay for a better market?". I as a customer and never a market merchant, yet, one from the country, would like to have this question answered. When were the other 24 question answered that "the point is . . . who should pay for a better market", is the only question of the lot which still remains as the $64 question? I feel as hundreds of others do, there are many questions that could be answered by just the following explanation and here is where politics enters the picture.

The first Lieutenant Governor granted or set aside, the space of the former market square for the use of market merchants and that space to be perpetually for that use. Nearly one million dollars revenue accumulated from the rental of market space, during the years. Why was some of that money obtained from that source of revenue not used to house properly the market merchants whose business through all ageshas been the greatest source for health building foods, at obtainable prices? Why was nearly ¾ of a million dollars of that revenue used to buy property on which to build the city hall where it houses the city officials and none used to build improved market place for the people who by RIGHTS inherited the use of the property and they are left to sell their health building foods unsheltered disgracefully while the officials and the liquor stores are housed in modernly built inclosures? The market merchants and their produce are builders for better generations physically, mentally and spiritually and they have no shelter but liquor destroys physical, mental and spiritual progress of any generation, yet Peterborough made liquor business their business first for improvements.

Was it not through the aid of Harold Scott and Toronto Conservatives that the above mentioned facts were made legal through City Council? YES. You as voters, should make your vote powerful for sake of health, liberty and life.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead? . . . But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead . . .

But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming. Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom of God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule and all authority and power. For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.

The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death . . . For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on imortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory. (I Cor. 15: 12, 20, 21, 23-26, 53, 54.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.

Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation. (Isa. 12: 2, 3.)

BUTLER'S HOLIDAY CAMP

Little Wooster Whiffle, age 6, was playing in his parent's living room on Friday night before supper. The noise of cars stopping on the street before their neat house on Pleasant Drive sent him racing to the window.

By the dim light of the street standard he saw a strange sight. A tow truck supporting a battered muddy car was beside the curb. Two figures tumbled from the car doors and staggered, bent almost double, to the truck driver who was unhooking his tow chain. The front of the car bounced to the ground and cantered over on its left side because a front wheel was broken. The car drivers emptied their wallets of business cards and a few small bills and gave them to the trucker who snatched them angrily and drove off with a grinding of gears.

The men started to unload their car. Two long stiff objects roped to the front fenders were cut down with hunting knives. They hauled out bulging cartons, bed rolls, guns and gear of all kinds from the back seat and trunk and shuffled up the sidewalk to the house.

In the porch light they were hideous looking creatures, red-rimmed hollow eyes, unkempt beards and tattered mackinaw clothing. To Wooster's alarm, they marched straight into the house. He cried in alarm, "Come quick, Mom, a couple of tramps are breaking in."

Mom rushed out of the kitchen and recoiled in fright to see these two characters lolling on her chesterfield. Wooster shrieked hysterically and hid.

One tramp mumbled, "Afinewelcomehomelmustsay...."

The second grumbled, "Andmeyourownbrothertoo...."

Not until then did Mom recognize her soul mate and brother. She dashed to them with cries of delight. A strong odour of the hunting camp brought her up short but she gamely got close enough to help them off with their laced hunting boots and heavy coats. They lay gasping on the cushions while she rushed out to the kitchen to brew a pot of strong coffee and to pacify little Wilber who was whimpering down the cellar stairway.

"It's only Daddy and Uncle Doolittle back from the hunt, dear," she assured him. She gave him two cookies to bolster his courage.

It took two pots of coffee to thaw out the two worthies and tell of life in the great open spaces. They were mostly tales of woe.

A Deadly Race

A final chapter to the curiosity of two observant Lakefield school girls, Patty Jakins and Louise Anderson who found, and reported, a banded dead pigeon on the River Road a few weeks ago, is written in a letter from the lands and forests department. It reads as follows:

The pigeon bearing bird band CU-51-11946 belonged to Mr. Sidney Page of 20 Rosemount Drive, Scarboro Junction, Ont. This bird, a racing pigeon, was entered in a race from Tillbury to Scarboro on September 15. During the race several birds were lost due to an unusually strong south-west wind. Several of them were believed to have flown past their Toronto destination. This unfortunate bird overflew its destination by about 90 miles in a strong tail wind.

(Tillbury is near Jack Miner's Kingsville bird sanctuary, about 150 air-miles distance from Toronto.)

Hardy duck hunters are reporting great numbers of birds in the Kawartha midlands. Shooter Bob Beal has seen flocks of northern ducks clouding up from swamps on Lovesick and Stony. They are also plentiful out on Pigeon and many good bags have been taken. Stan Dodworth and wife Emily drove from Pittsburg to their cottage this week to do a bit of shooting. They report all bays around Gilchrist frozen over and open water in the centre areas.

Squaw winter caught everyone unprepared, including Fall cottage closers; some nailed down the last battens on Sunday.

Tommy Mason of Buckhorn tells of at least eight elk on hunters cars in the village this week.

A few bear have been flushed and shot and each one, according to the hunters' estimate weighed between three and 400 pounds. True, they look large, but, does no one ever take the trouble to weigh one, accurately?

With the thousands of pounds of good venison in town, mostly in quick freeze lockers, an expert cook friend tells me how to prepare roasts and pot roasts. It is his recipe; don't blame me.

Soak the meat for at least two hours in brine, drain and wash with fresh water. If roasting, cover top and sides of meat in pan with brown wrapping paper and toss a handful of onions in the bottom of the pan. Result, moist meat without a gamey flavor and the onions do something special, so the man says.

Library Now Would Amaze 1868 Mechanics' Institute

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

"Pick me out a good book for the weekend."

"Have you anything on photography?"

"I'd like a real interesting biography."

The scene is inside the Peterborough public library, George St.—in front of the main counter. Three people have just come in and made the above requests to one of the members of the circulation staff.

The requests show clearly the present reading trends in Peterborough and also the service given to the public by the library.

As well as the usual demand for fiction the Peterborough library is supplying the ever-increasing demand for "how-to-do-it" books and entertaining biographies.

The community service of the public library is too often taken for granted. It is one of the oldest types of organized community service. In Canada, pioneer settlements gave rise first to churches and schools, but soon man's desire for books, both for recreation and education, crystallized in the establishment in small circulating libraries.

These libraries were often started by groups of people arranging to exchange the books they had brought over with them to the new land.

Peterborough's public library had such a beginning. The first record of a library was unearthed in a bookplate of the memoir, Six Years in the Bush. The date on the plate is 1835, and it belonged to a private library group.

The next finding was a bookplate in a scrapbook dated 1853 and the name of a library association is stamped on it.

School Library.

This library association was called the Grammar and Union School Library Association. It was situated in the old Grammar and Union school, then tempararily in the former British Methodist church. Most of the books were school books.

In 1860 when the new Union school, now the Central school, was opened, the library also moved into the new school quarters.

In 1868 a Mechanics' Institute was established in Peterborough. It was located above a store on Water St. which combined the services of a library and a night school with evening classes in bookkeeping, mathematics, chemistry, architectural and mechanical drawing, penmanship and English grammar and composition.

The Institute established included a reading room, lecture room, class rooms and a recreation room.

Mechanics' Institute.

Thirteen years after its establishment, the Institute had 241 members. It contained more than 3,000 books and subscribed to 19 newspapers and 17 magazines.

The next step in library history was taken in 1910, when Peterborough received $30,000 from the Carnegie fund to build the present library. Its first librarian was the late F. M. de la Fosse, who held the appointment until his retirement in 1946. This city was one of 2,500 communities throughout the world who received money to build libraries from Andrew Carnegie, famous American steel king.

This money was received with the stipulation that the money was to be used for the erection of the building. Maintainence was to be taken over by the community.

This maintainence was to be financed by taxation. In 1882, the Ontario government passed the first public libraries act, enabling municipalities to levy a tax for the support of free public libraries.

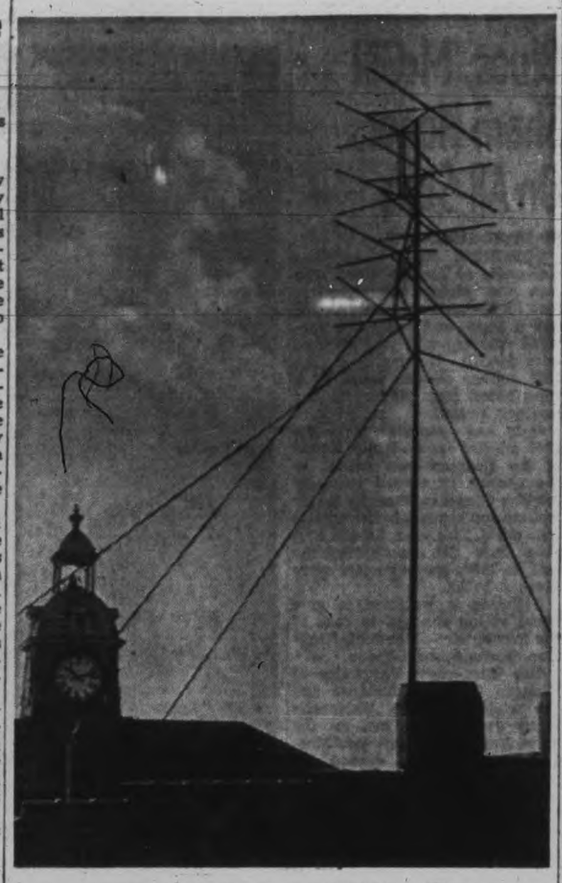
But the maintainence of a public library means a great deal more than the upkeep of a building and the purchase of new books from time to time.

The Library's Tasks

The modern up-to-date library has the efficiency and highly trained personnel of an industrial plant. No longer is a librarian's job just a matter of simply giving out books. First and foremost the librarian's job is to provide the books for the needs of the community. This is done in two steps.

First the librarain must make wise selections in the books purchased with money from municipal grants. Next it is his job to see that members realize that these books are available. In this way a library becomes more than a mere source of recreational reading. It is also an important centre of directed self-education.

Peterborough has a staff of 11 at the public library to take care of the reading needs and desires of the city. Headed by Librarian William Graff, who succeeded Mr. de la Fosse, each member of the staff is ready at any time to give advice and help in choosing books whether for a weekend's light fiction reading or for books of a technical nature.



Recently Peterborough's library has branched out into two other fields. In 1946, the film council made its home in the library building. Since that time the film council has grown, so that now it can boast of $6,000 worth of equipment and films—five projectors and 70 films.

76 Art Shows

1947 saw the first art exhibit in the library. A civic display at that time revealed the potentialities of the library as a city art gallery and since then citizens of Peterborough have been able to view approximately 76 art exhibits of British, American, Canadian and also local artists.

This week Librarian Graff has made an announcement of still another library service. On Jan. 2, 1952, city music lovers will be able to augment their own record supply by borrowing records from the library. At that time it is expected that there will be approximately 350 records available for circulation.

But the greatest service of the library in Peterborough is to provide books. This service can best be estimated by a look at circulation figures for the past year. Last year there was a total adult circulation of 168,160 at the public library.

The Choice

GRANT me, indulgent Heaven! a rural seat,
Rather contemptible than great!
Where, though I taste Life's sweets, still I may be Athirst for Immortality!
I would have business; but exempt from strife!
A private, but an active, life!
A Conscience bold, and punctual to his charge!
My stock of Health; or Patience large!
Some books I'd have, and some acquaintance too;
But very good, and very few!
Then (if one mortal two such grants may crave!)
From silent life, I'd steal into my grave!

Will TV Take District By Storm or Wavy Spots?

By JIM ENGLISH

Television, that newfangled butt of a thousand cartoon gags, is quietly worming its way into the hearts and homes of quite a few citizens of Peterborough.

Traditionally slow to accept novelties that are, on the surface, of doubtful worth, Canadians are giving television a slow but warm welcome. Peterborough is no exception.

Since the first television set was installed in Peterborough in March of 1949, huge, progressive steps have been taken in its development. Not only has the technique of the program producers and engineers improved, but TV is coming within the financial grasp of the average citizen.

And with the cost of living still mounting, though more gradually, cost is the big concern of the man who wants to buy.

TV is still expensive. An average set will cost between $300 and $350. Add to that $75 to $100 for installation—that includes the antenna—and you can scrape by for about $450.

No Bustle Yet

As far as television is concerned, Peterborough is like an adolescent boy sprouting his first few whiskers. Gleaming antennae poke metal fingers in the air at infrequent intervals, but rooves do not bristle with them yet.

In Toronto, it is not an uncommon sight to see a row of newly built homes, with TV aerials sprouting from the rooftops. In some sections it seems that two out of every three homes are possessed of a television set.

Cautiously, many people say they will wait until Canada has started its own video network. By then, they believe, prices will be down in an even more reasonable range, and they will be able to see programs produced in their own country.

Plans for Canadian television are by no means concrete. True, the CBC, which will control television broadcasting in Canada, has announced its first two stations will be in Toronto and Montreal. But it is expected that a year at least will pass before Canada will be beaming TV programs for home consumption.

Tower At Bethany

Some steps have already been taken. The Bell Telephone Co. is erecting television test towers, a string of them across the southern section of Ontario. One of these towers will be near Bethany, and it will propably become permanent after the experimental period.

For Peterborough, that will be a good thing. Owners of television sets will be able to pick up progressively more and more programs, greater and better variety.

At present, Peterborough is not ideally situated as far as TV reception is concerned. Parts of it —notably the north and west sections of the city—are comparatively well located, and reception is far better than could be expected.

Television beams are not supposed to carry more than 50 miles. Beyond that, video technicians speak of reception as being in a "fringe area". But the height of the city—roughly 700 feet above sea level—helps out.

Ken McCannan, owner of the first set in the city, explained it this way:

Beam From Rochester

The slope from the shore of Lake Ontario to Peterborough is up, all the way. The lake being flat, there is little interfence between here and the nearest television transmitting station in Rocheester, about 100 miles away.

That is roughly twice the distance that television beams are expected to travel.

But it's not all gravy for Peterborough as far as TV goes. In the business section, reception is patchy. Parts of the city east of the river get clear images on their television screens, but they're few.

Armour Hill presents a problem. Anybody living behind it, that is with the hill between them and the transmitting station, gets poor reception or a taller aerial.

The cream of the reception comes to people living on the western and northern fringes of the city, where land is high. On the other hand, Mr. McCannan mentioned a television set installed recently at Crawford's Grove that receives a clear image.

Mr. McCannan feels that people are being a bit too cautious about television. He says he realizes that it's not perfect, but says that it is better than most people think.

If a prospective buyer is willing to pay the price, he can get good reception. In some low parts of the city, a tower would have to be installed for the owner to get a clear image. In other, somewhat higher parts of Peterborough, an extra-high antenna is needed, but no tower.

Prices of sets alone range from $300 up to $1,025. Some of the less expensive — you can't say cheaper—sets are table models. Cabinets can be bought to give them a console effect, but they add to the price.

Woods used in them are the standard radio woods — walnut, mahogany, blonde oak. The expensive sets in blonde oak, complete with record player and radio combined with TV, are the ones that cost the real money.

Every new model that comes out is better than the old one, Mr. McCannan said, although he warned of some unscrupulous manufacturers and wholesalers "dumping" unsatisfactory sets on the market.

Ironing With TV

For most owners of television sets, it seems a bit early to say that video has changed their habits. Some housewives bring their ironing boards into the living room and T-view while they work. Some people have their sets arranged so they can see programs while they eat.

A rough estimate puts the number of television sets in Peterborough at 300. Almost all of these are within the city, or just on the fringe. Some, but not many, are sold to people in rural areas.

There are a number of sets in Norwood, where reception is said to be fairly good. But in Norwood, as in Peterborough and other places, the image on the screen seems at times to be covered with snow.

Waverings of the image don't discourage children from watching. Many of them stand fascinated, their eyes glued on the TV screen. And after school, the home with a television set is a popular one, especially from 5 to 7 pm, when most children's programs are on.

When Toronto opens its television station, it seems there is no reason for poor reception. Relay stations near Oshawa and Bethany should bring clear images to Peter video screens.

One couple, owners only a week, are excited by the possibilities of television. It hasn't only entertainment value for them, it offers, to some degree, education for their daughter attending collegiate.

The girl has found that some of the programs tie in with her schoolwork.

There are people that don't like television. They say it gives them headaches, that Canada isn't ready for it, and that they would like to see what Canada can do on her own.

And then there is American nonsense poet Ogden Nash, who declared pessimistically:

"For all the world is video
And I the village vidiot."

Indian River—A Trust For The Future

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

In an earlier article attention was directed to the growing urgency of the need for measures to safeguard the Indian River against the assault and ravage which have left so many ugly scars on so many parts of the Trent system.

What shall we do about the Indian River—the stream that now flows quietly in its ancient mile-wide bed; the stream which for ages was The Trent; and which is by far the shortest water route between Stony and Rice Lakes (being scarcely more than half the length of the Katchewanooka-Otonabee route)?

If it be represented that the menace to the potential values of the Indian River is immediate and pressing and cannot wait while we ponder courses of action we may remind ourselves that protective or safeguarding measures are possible without commitment to future policies. Such policies can be wisely shaped only after careful observation, experiment and research.

National Trust

Safeguarding steps are by no means negative steps. If we want an object-lesson in what can be accomplished positively (in the realistic not the Compteian sense) by safeguarding measures, we may look at the achievements of the British National Trust, a private organization, under whose protection have been placed beauty spots and historic lands and buildings to a value so far beyond computation as to stagger the imagination. Each year sees additions to this heritage, which is placed "in trust for the nation" for all time. Terms of the trust provide that these properties shall be maintained as fully "going concerns" available for the use and enjoyment of the people. Public - spirited citizens have turned over to the Trust in many cases family estates with histories runing back through the centuries.

Though we have in Canada no such Trust there is no good reason why our areas of natural beauty, or public utility, or historic interest should not be placed in protective sequestration against greed and grab, while remaining available for the use of the people under seemly and congruous conditions, sanctioned by a sense of honor rather than by policing austerity.

It is not affirmed here that a National Trust establishment is necessary or desirable in our Kawarthas district. In our new and rugged and sparsely-settled area a multiplicity of interests must be considered. Here there is little or nothing in the way of storied architecture or formalistic landscaping in the grand manner.

A mere absence of stagnation will not do. Opportunity for growth is a prime requisite. But there is no reason why natural beauty should not be maintained and enhanced or why such conditions should not be compatible with a dynamic administration, fostering vigorous and more abundant life. If ten or one hundred trees can be made to grow where one or none grew before it is not likely that natural beauty will vanish from the earth.

What primary interest in the main ought to be studied ethically —and how ought they to be studied? At our disposal fortunately are the techniques of science which can lend invaluable aid in our observation and correlation of various aspects of phenomena. All these if properly employed will work together for ethical ends (intrinsic values) in the formulating of over-all policies. But these are means, not ends. Worthwhile objectives cannot be attained by science alone.

If instead of a pell-mell driving at action with a Quixotic Rosinante as our mount, we first drive a little at thought we may find here in the ancient Indian river bed a spate of unexpected help. If we are not too brash in asking what we can do to the Indian river we may come to look at matters conversely and ask "What can the Indian river do to us?"

How many of us see (much less understand) the significance of our Kawartha flora and fauna, even in their simplest forms? How many know anything about —or are likely to know anything about—the beauties of the real-living Evening Primrose which contributes its radiance to the opulent displays of wild loveliness among the Stony Lake rocks?

The concept of a "Drainage Area" is of high validity and helpfulness. But it is not "all in all." Drainage is a "necessary function" but clearly it is not "a necessary and sufficient function." It is one (highly important) aspect of Kawartha phenomena which must be correlated with ever so many other aspects.

Every barefoot boy if he is given access to the situational values (the key to all values) which are rightfully his heritage, is potential scientist. He may learn to talk the language of Science if the scientists will design to talk to him in his language. If and when a genuine higher learning can make itself articulate in the little red schoolhouse (or its counterpart of today) our educational processes may cease to reek of disproportion.

It is thus that all sorts and conditions of people may come to terms with each other.

Complex Situation

The foregoing is written in the full realization that a good many among us see little or no virtue in any way of life that is not perpetually "driving at action". Some readers, finding their patience taxed, may even now be saying: "cut the cackle and get on with the 'osses."

But "to get on with the 'osses" amid a thorny tangle of conflicting or overlapping political jurisdictions is a precarious business. A glance at the complex of authorities—national, provincial, county and municipal—shows how difficult it is to come to terms of mutual understanding and goodwill regarding any plan of action for a long overdue reshaping and modernizing of overall policies for the Kawartha lakes and rivers, and lands and forests. Present administrators of Kawartha local affairs are not to be blamed for the scrambled jurisdictional situation. They have carried on, in the main, with foresight and energy, often in straitjackets that permitted little scope for the exercising of initiative and enterprise. If there have been irrational lags in canal construction what else could be expected through the decades of land mismanagement over the whole territory through which it runs?

The present fog of anamoly which hovers over the problem of jurisdiction (or spheres of administration) has been inherited from a long past in which adjustments of authority were at times largely opportunist in nature and governed by rule-of-thumb.

But "thumbing it" will not do as a mode of progression if there is to be any genuine forward movement in the land and water affairs of the Trent and Severn valleys.

In a later article the writer purposes to outline prolegomena for a New Deal for the Trent, presenting certain proposals tentatively as a basis for inquiry and discussion. Questions of the safeguarding and improvement of the Indian river call for a different order of study since this ancient stream on which were operated some of the county's earliest mills, lies wholly within three Peterborough townships, Dummer, Douro and Otonabee.

Mulch After A Good Frost; Protect Roses

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The extra mulching we give our plants is a helping hand to protect them from thaws—not cold. But don't apply the mulch too early or you will invite rodents.

Even a light covering over the ground will delay freezing and thus invite mice into soft earth to feed upon the plants. Wait for a good freeze before mulching.

One of the exceptions to the rule of late mulching applies to your late planted bulbs.

Here a mulch keeps the ground warm for root development as long as possible, giving them as good a start as those planted earlier.

Hybrid roses are an exception, too, because sudden drops in temperature actually can kill the rose canes. A protecting mound of earth should be placed around them before freezing weather.

Newly planted perennials should be mulched, but established ones need not be. Don't smother the perennials which keep a crown of leaves above the soil surface during the winter by mulching them.

Give your evergreens a very thorough watering several times before the real winter freeze to give them enough moisture to offset cold and drying winds.

Most gardens can do with some rebuilding this month. If you have taken notes of your garden regularly through the summer, this is the time to get out your notebook and study it for changes to be made.

Lacking sufficient rain, newly planted trees and shrubs should be watered frequently until the ground freezes. Even after the leaves fall the roots are active in the soil and everything should be done to encourage their continued growth.

Give perennials a final cultivation before the ground freezes hard. Thus you will destroy countless hardy weeds that might otherwise survive the winter and give trouble next spring when the ground will likely be too wet to cultivate.

Evergreens need moisture to offset winter's drying winds.

There still is time to purchase nursery trees and shrubs for autumn planting. Support large trees with stakes, or guy wires run through short lengths of rubber hose where they pass around the tree trunk.

Clay and other heavy soils may be lightened and made more workable in the following ways:

ADD vegetable matter, as manure, leaf mould, compost or cover crops.

DIG or plow in late autumn and leave. ADD sifted coal ashes, especially during winter on the snow, to the depth of an inch.

APPLY "agricultural" lime or wood ashes in spring before raking or harrowing (one pound of either to 10 square feet).

MULCH with fine materials such as cocoa bean hulls, commercial humus or peat moss during the growing season.

OBSTRUCTING GREATNESS

Idleness, women, disorder, a foolish partiality for one's own native place, discontent and timidity are six obstructions to greatness.

The Hitopadesa, II, c. 500

Gardening Questions

Q—My rose garden is along the western side of the garage. Would like to know if roses do better away from buildings. If I am to move them away from the side of the garage, when is the best time to transplant them?—A. T. W.

A—Roses, and all other flowering plants, will grow well near a building, provided there is a foot or more space between the plant and the wall—and that there is sun at least six hours during the day. Roses should not be moved until late November—or better yet, wait until next spring before growth starts.

Q—We have three dwarf fruit trees, two peach and one apple. In the spring they blossom and are very healthy looking, but in about eight weeks the leaves start to turn yellow and drop off and the blossoms fall. We spray them every year. What is happening? —H. V.

A—The yellowing of the fruit tree foliage may be due to improper soil and too deep planting. All trees dislike standing water about their roots. My belief is that the addition of a cup of sulphur cultivated well into the soil about each tree will correct the condition. However, make sure that the soil drains well. A mulch of manure about each tree is likewise beneficial.

Petes Edge Eagles By 5-4 In Swell Senior Scrap Before Big Hockey Crowd

Freddy Garvey's goal at 18.47 of the third period in Civic Arena last night gave the Petes a 5-4 win over the Eagles in an exciting OHA senior "B" fixture before a big crowd of fans. The victory put the Petes in a tie with Eagles for top spot, each having six points to date. (The result of the Belleville-Kingston game was not known at this writing.) Petes and Eagles tangle again here Monday night to definitely settle the league leadership.

Petes led 2-1 in the first period, and they had a 2-1 margin in scoring in the second heat. Eagles came up with their oldtime third-period drive to tie the score with two markers, but the Garvey goal settled it in the dying minutes of play. It was quite fast and fairly rugged, but generally clean, the Petes drawing seven of the dozen penalties handed out, one of them a misconduct to Steele.

Curly Got Two

Curly Mason scored two for Jim Ellis' squad, with Ted Collins, Bob Wyatt and Fred Garvey the other marksmen. Chum Fryia aided on three in a good showing, as Don Floyd, Junior West and Arn Dugan were in on one each. For Ned Vitarelli's pack, Jim Munroe, Dootch Vitarelli, Keith Montgomery and Bill Crowley were the snipers, an assist apiece going to George Brabin, Bert Hill and Buck Legrow. Both goalies turned in good efforts, no soft markers being counted. The Petes played a better two-way game and showed a stronger defence, Montgomery being outstanding at the blue line for Eagles.

Eagles opened the scoring when Bill Crowley slashed one in from the side after Harding came out to clear Brabin's pass-up, Bill hitting an empty net. Fred Mortimer went off for holding, followed by Dugan for charging. They were back when George Steele got a minor for elbowing and a misconduct for pushing the referee around. The minor was served when Collins took Floyd's forward pass in close and neatly backhanded it home. Wyatt then put the Petes in front with a side shot going in fast with Fryia's good pass, the shot being partly stopped. Doug Mortimer went over next for tripping but no damage was done in his absence. It was a pretty even frame.

Petes Have Edge

Curly Mason scored early in the second on nifty in-close combination with West and Fryia. The latter drew a tripping penalty but his mates killed it off nicely. Fennell went over then for slashing but returned and play was fast, with both goalies on the hop. The Petes had a good edge in this period and kept Milne busy as he blocked shot after shot. Mason finally tallied another to make it 4-1 in a scramble, Dugan and Fryia being in on the play. Eagles fought back to threaten at times and finally got one just before the gong on a smart solo by Montgomery, though he had to hammer it by Harding with two thrusts at the windup.

The Eagles took the offensive to open the third chukker and Vitarelli counted a smart one on combination with Hill and Legrow, the latter starting the play. Horton was waved away for interference as they kept pressing. Stewart almost clicking. Wade then nearly tallied and it was hot and heavy up and down. Mason was penalized for interference and Earl Leonard followed for high-sticking. Wootton got the nod next for interference and later Garvey for hooking as play was rugged. All were back when Munroe's shot from defence, partly screened by rushing players, hit the hemp to tie it up and give the Eagles' fans plenty to cheer about. But their cheers died out shortly when Garvey got the winner on a hot shot in scramble on Milne's doorstep. The Eagles tore back hard to blast rubber at Harding, but time ran out on them and Montgomery drew a boarding penalty during the final minute of play.

Eagles: Goal, Milne; defence, Montgomery and Munroe; centre, Hill; wings, Vitarelli and Legrow; alternates, F. Mortimer, Crowley, Brabin, D. Mortimer, Wootton, Stewart, Fennell and Wilson.

Cruz Scores TKO

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17 (AP)—Rudy Cruz, formidable Los Angeles lightweight, scored a fourth round technical knockout, over Manuel Rivera of Mexico City Friday night in a scheduled 10-rounder at Hollywood Legion Stadium. Cruz scaled 139, Rivera 136½. Rivera was unable to toss a solid punch during the brief, one sided affair and went down under a barrage of head and body blows before referee Franke Van stopped it with 2 minutes, 2 seconds gone in the fourth.

Blues, McGill Share Honors On All-Stars

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Nov. 17—(CP)—University of Toronto Blues, who won the senior intercollegiate football championship on a prayer and a hope—and without a forward passer—split the honors with McGill University on the 1951 college all-star team. Each contributed four players to the mythical squad.

Only one repeater from the 1950 all-star team—Wally Kowal of the Redmen—was named to the chosen 12 elected annually for The Canadian Press by sports writers and coaches in the union's four cities. This year, for the first time since CP inaugurated the poll in 1932, sports casters were given a ballot.

Balloting is weighted to give equal voting strength to each of the four entries—Montreal, Kingston, Toronto and London.

The third-place University of Western Ontario Mustangs and the winless Queen's University Gaels each placed two on the team. But it was coach Bob Masterson's Blues who earned the plaudits by going through the six-game schedule without defeat on the out-dated two-bucks-and-a-kick system.

Unsung Hero

Masterson, the unsung hero in Varsity's big season, is hitting a .500 clip with two champions in his four years as coach. Last year his third-place Blues didn't place a man on the CP teams and the fact that he came up with a winning combination this time without a deadly passer, a team's main offensive weapon, speaks highly of his football know-how.

The 1951 all-star team:—Flying wing—Bob Dale, Varsity; half—Steve Oneschuk, Varsity; half—Ross McKelvey, Queen's; half—Gene Robillard, McGill; quarter—Geoff Crain, McGill; snap—Reg Ort, Western; inside—Wally Kowal, McGill; inside—Marshall Hames, Varsity; middle—Bill Pullar, McGill; middle—Joe Harris, Varsity; outside—Doug McNichol, Western; outside—Harry Lampman, Queen's.

The backfield is a potent point-scoring machine with a mixture of experience, youth, speed, kicking and hard line smashers.

The veteran is 26-year-old Ross McKelvey, Queen's physical education student from Toronto who carries a load of dynamite in his 155-pound five-foot-10-inch frame. He is flanked by Varsity's Bob Dale and Steve Oneschuk and McGill's Gene Robillard and Geoff Crain.

Dale, 19-year-old Toronto product, won the intercollegiate scoring championship with a 25 point-total made up of five touchdowns, just four points more that the Queen's half. Crain was close behind with 15 points, manufactured by two touchdowns and five singles and Oneschuk, 20-year-old half who jumped to Varsity this season from St. Catharines Collegiate was up there with 11 points.

Robillard produced one touchdown and a single for six points.

Reg Ort, 200-pound captain of the Mustangs, is in his fourth year in intercollegiate ranks. The six-foot-two snap and line- backer, hit the CP all-star team first in 1948.

McKelvey and Oneschuk were the only unanimous choices, each with 48 points. Crain was next with 45.

The selectors came up with a varied list, naming a total of 15 for the backfield positions and 22 for the line. Wally Kowal and Marshall Hames took the inside positions by large margins and it was a shoo-in for middles Bill Pullar and Joe Harris and outsides Doug McNichol and Harry Lampman.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

This new system of counting in the men's schedule seems to have real merit. Two points go to the winners and if the game ends in a tie, each side receives one point. It means there's no extra end, and it saves time; furthermore when a game ends in a tie each rink improves its standing by one point.

There have been two tie games already. Wednesday night, C. Westbrook and J. Welsh 6-all, and last night S. Lowe and N. Hamley 10-all.

The ladies held a real bonspiel all their own yesterday afternoon. Fourteen rinks, a capacity entry. They started around two o'clock and it was all over before the supper hour.

The winners—First: Mrs. I. MacGillivray, Mrs. F. Stenson, Miss H. Fanning, Mrs. J. Fanning, skip. Second: Mrs. G. Renwick, Mrs. R. Greene, Mrs. C. Coones, Mrs. J. Watts, skip.

The mixed bonspiel is set for 7:30 o'clock this evening.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Sumo will be shown local and district wrestling followers here Tuesday night. Sumo is Japanese wrestling, and a short elimination tourney featuring four big shots from Japan will feature the card in a semi-final spot. Zorra, the French Tarzan, tackles rough Lou Newman (former Masked Marvel) in the main bout; while the prelim has Pat Flanagan in against newcomer Stan Masylack. The four Japs are named: Maedayama, Fujitayama, Yakatayama and Onoumi, if you care to gargle 'em with your soup. They range in weight from 265 to 360 pounds and, after a lot of Oriental ceremony, they square off in their own particular style, which makes them godlike heroes in Tokyo. Certainly something new here, and it no doubt will fill the place.

Frank Nighbor, who recently received his Hall of Hockey Fame scroll, tells Baz O'Meara that he's glad he isn't playing today. Says: "I was at a game in Ottawa a few weeks ago and met up with Cy Denneny. Both of us admitted we were glad we weren't out there today, the way players pin you up against the boards, and the way they carry their sticks up. In our day, you were taught to keep your stick down and, if you carried them high, you were liable to get a penalty. Still, this is a fast game, and any kind of hockey is good, no matter what rules you play under." Nighbor will always be remembered as the great poke-check artist with Ottawa Senators.

Same Squads Go Again

Well, local puck followers will see plenty of the modern version again Monday here when Petes play Eagles in the second clash of their OHA senior "B" schedule. An 8.30 o'clock touch in Civic Arena. Lots of stiff checking and plenty of streamlined play these rivals throw at each other whenever they meet. This could develop into quite a race, and there's no love lost between Eagles and Petes in the course of a game. Many of the rival Peterborough players are good friends off the ice—and play together on lacrosse or ball teams—but they don't like each other when the puck is faced off. Which should make for oodles of hot action regularly in their fixtures this winter, and the fans will really go for it.

* * * * * *

There certainly wasn't anything wrong with the game dished up by these teams in Civic last p.m., as a huge crowd will testify. It was a dandy for so early in the season. Fast, rugged and close all the way. Quite even in the first frame, all the Petes in the middle stanza, and pretty well the Eagles in the third—though not quite enough to stave off a 5-4 loss by the leaders. The teams are in a tie now for top spot and that'll be settled one way or the other when they clash Monday. Don't pass it up as it should be a humdinger. They appear very well matched again and deadly anxious to keep ahead of each other. They really turn it on in these tilts.

* * * * * *

Some Who Caught Eye

Curly Mason was the payoff man for Petes with two goals, while Chum Fryia helped on three. Garvey's late goal broke the tie. Keith Montgomery turned in a whale of an effort for Eagles on defence and also scored a goal. Jim Munroe got the tying one. The two netminders weren't giving away any soft ones in this keen contest. Petes came up with the better checking game, besides having plenty of punch throughout, while Eagles showed their old fight in roaring back from behind in the third to make it mighty, mighty close. A lot of hustlers on both sides when these squads meet, and it's still just a tossup in our opinion. You pay your money and you take your choice—but don't attend if the heart is weak!

* * * * * *

The Petes' senior lacrosse Mann Cup champions — no strangers to injuries themselves—have come up with the suggestion of a puck benefit game for Joe Rochetta. To help out on heavy expenses incurred since Joe suffered a badly fractured leg recently in a game with Kingston. He will be on his back for a long time and out of work all winter. Doug Miller suggests that the hockey-playing members of the lacrosse club play the OHA junior Oddfellows in Civic Arena, and it sounds like an excellent idea to this writer. Some of the OLA puckists include: Bill Edgar, Moon Wootton, Mick Magee, Red Creighton, Curly Mason, Russ Slater, Arn Dugan, Joe Whitnell, Em Creighton, Ross Powless, Barney Dundas, Pup Curtin, Gary Robinson, Bob Thorpe and Dootch Vitarelli. More again on it.

Snow Will Give Local Teams Edge In Finals

Today's light snow is just what the PCVS Garnet and Greys and St. Peter's junior Saints ordered for their COSSA final games at Morrow Park.

With two weeks of practice in snow, the Peterborough football teams feel that they will carry an advantage into the games with Stamford and Welland's Notre Dame, both from the Niagara peninsula district.

Both the Niagara teams have played in snow but not under the cold, wet conditions that have prevailed for the past two weeks in the Lake Ontario district.

For the Garnet and Grey today's game will be the third straight Saturday game in snow. And they have found the going quite successful against the inferior opposition provided by Belleville and Oshawa.

Held Off Score

In spite of the snow and cold, they held the ball during most of each game and racked up first 39 points in the Bay of Quinte city and 24 at Morrow Park. The opposition never crossed the touchline.

Stamford's coach, Jack Long, said Friday that the team have played in snow. It nearly caused an upset in the Niagara district final with Welland. They just edged Welland 2-0 on the snowy, greasy gridiron.

Games in snow for both the junior clubs, the Saints and Welland Notre Dame will be something new. The Saints have drilled daily, sometimes only light drills in the five-inch blanket which covered the fields a week ago.

But for snow or no, the four teams are at full strength.

Harold Mesley Tops

Harold Mesley showed the way this week in the men's City Bowling League with a terrific 953 triple and fine 395 single in the season's high to date. McGillis led teams in pinnage with 3,420 as Sunocos took top single of 1,232. Claude Cornwell took a neat 891 three and Frank O'Heron followed with 865. Good singles, too, were: Cornwell's 354, Vince Anthony with 321, Frank O'Heron with 306 and Mesley's other 302 game.

Anthony's blanked Bond's, as Clapper's took the measure of Kawartha 6-0. McGillis in taking two from Madill & Post moved into the league lead with 40 points. DeLaval and Sunocos had 4-2 wins over Bassel's and Moore's respectively. Team captains or representatives meeting next Thursday night at seven in Duffus' with the executive for important business, Secretary Mel Akers announces.

Roy Conacher Retires Up To Nephew To Carry On

By AL COLLETTI

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP).—The last of the three famed Conacher brothers—35-year-old Roy—has retired from active competition and left it squarely up to young Pete Conacher to keep one of hockey's greatest names in the National Hockey League line-up.

Roy announced his retirement from Chicago's slumping Black Hawks Friday. He blamed nervous strain. Considered among best left-hand shots in the game, Roy had spent 10 years in the NHL—his last five with Chicago.

To take his place at left wing, the Black Hawks announced that they are bringing up 19-year-old Pete, son of Charley (Chuck) Conacher, second of the three famous brothers and a star with Toronto 15 years ago.

It will be up to Peter to continue the 25-year prominence of the Conachers.

Top Shot-maker

Like his father and uncle, young Pete is rated a top shot-maker and a fast skater. He has been playing with Galt, a Chicago junior farm, and he probably will make his NHL debut Sunday night against Toronto on Chicago ice.

Not since Lynn and Muzz Patrick started successful careers with the Rangers in the late 1930s under the watchful eye of their famous father, Lester Patrick, has a son of a famous player clicked in the big-time.

Howie Morenz, teen-aged son of the immortal Canadien, kicked around the minors a couple of years but failed to make the NHL.

However, the Black Hawk management seems confident that young Conacher can make the grade. Bill Tobin, president of the last-place Chicago club, said the signing of the rookie "is the start of a youth movement."

Like the Patricks, the Bouchers and later the Bentleys, the Conacher name has existed in the NHL since the famous "big train", Lionel Conacher, broke in with the old Pittsburgh entry in 1925-26.

Pete's father, Chuck, who will celebrate his 41st birthday Dec. 20, boasted one of the hardest shots in hockey.

Almost a decade separated him from brother Lionel, who was voted Canada's outstanding athlete of the last half-century.

Imps Have 50% Representation On Canadian Press All-Star Team

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Sarnia Imperials, who proved this season that a senior football title could be won with an all-Canadian cast, lined up today with a 50-per-cent representation on the annual Canadian Press all-star Ontario Rugby Football Union team. The voting confirmed what the experts throught of the Imps all year.

Selected for CP by football writers, coaches and sports casters in the ORFU cities of Hamilton, Windsor, Sarnia and Toronto, it carries 14 members instead of 12 due to a three-player camera finish for one of the back positions. And, as most observers expected, it hasn't a Windsor player on the roster.

It was the first time in the 19 years that CP has been conducting the ballot—weighted to give equal voting strength to each of the ORFU cities—that sports casters have had a vote.

Named Halfbacks

The selectors voted in Mel Hawrigg of McMaster and Johnny Chorestecki of the Imps for two halfback positions by wide margins. But Ralph Pulley of Beaches and Imperials' Al Farris and Corky Duchene ended in a dead heat for the other half slot.

The team:—flying wing—John Florence, Imperials; Half—Mel Hawkrigg, McMaster; half—Johnny Chorestecki, Imperials; half—Ralph Pulley, Beaches: Al Farris and Corky Duchene; Imperials; quarter—Bruce Mattingly, Imperials; inside—Jim Thomas, Beaches; inside — Matti Ferrentino, Beaches; middle—Walt Bashak, McMaster; middle—Lloyd (Dutch) Davey, Imperials; outside — Andy Gilmour, Beaches; outside—Keith Fisher, Imperials.

Powerful Backfield

The Backfield is a power-laden combination with plenty of speed. Mel Hawkrigg, 20-year-old hot-shot with McMaster, was a cinch on his 70-point scoring leadership of the league which included a 35-point splurge in one game. And it was the same for Johnny Chorestecki, place-kicking star with the Imps who made the 1950 all-star team in his first season of senior company. Chorestecki scored 55 points this year.

Farris and Duchene were third in the scoring race with 35 points each, five more than pulley, former Detroit Lions back who joined Beaches this year.

Quarterback Gerry Tuttle, American import who was a unanimous choice for the signal-calling slot last year, lost out to George Curtis of the Imperials who led his club to its first ORFU championship in 12 years.

Only Repeaters

The only repeaters with Chorestecki were two team-mates—Bruce Mattingly and outside Keith Fisher. Mattingly, voted the outstanding player of the union this year, took the snap position with 10 of the maximum points, the highest polled by any player.

This is the third straight all-star year for Fisher who teams up with the Beaches' Andy Gilmour on the ends.

Beaches filled the inside positions with Matti Ferrentino and Jim Thomas. The middle slots were taken by Lloyd (Dutch) Davey, 28-year-old veteran with the Imperials and Walt Bashak of McMaster.

The four Japanese Sumo wrestlers, shown above, who share top billing along with Zorra and Lou Newman who are in the main bout at the Brock next Tuesday. The Japs are a major attraction and last week over 14,000 people jammed Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens to see them in action. Pat Flanagan and Stanley Mayslack, a newcomer, are in the opening bout.

Leafs Gunning For First Win At Home On Saturday Night

By The Canadian Press

A diligent rightwinger, a once-shunned leftwinger and a goalkeeper who really gets around, come to Toronto today. They plan a little hockey mayhem. As members of Lynn Patrick's Boston Bruins, they have aspirations of handing second-place Toronto Maple Leafs their fifth Saturday night loss in the National Hockey League.

Leafs haven't won a Saturday night game at home this season. The best they could do was a 3-3 tie with Detroit Red Wings last Saturday.

For the delinquent, Bill Ezinicki, it will be his first appearance at the gardens this year. A former Leaf, Ezinicki abandoned the Bruins at the beginning of the season, preferring golf to hockey.

For a player who at one time wasn't wanted by other NHL teams, Adam Brown is doing remarkably well in a Bruin uniform. He's sixth in the scoring derby and tops for the Boston team.

Sugar Jim Henry, despite the Bruins' fourth-place status, has fanned on only 24 shots and supplied the beantowners with a stronger defence against some of those high-scoring forwards.

He has let in two goals fewer than Al Rollins of the Leafs and Detroit Red Wings' Terry Sawchuk. But they've both been in 15 games, to 13 for Henry.

Try To Secure Hold

Montreal Canadiens will attempt to secure their third-place standing when they meet New York Rangers in Montreal, the only other game scheduled for tonight.

Bruins have played two fewer games than the Toronto team, and are only four points in arrears. That makes tonight's affair an important one for the Leafs.

The Boston club will have Johnny Peirson back in the lineup, to reunite a dangerous scoring line which includes Brown and veteran Milt Schmidt.

Canadiens, three points behind Toronto, will have to take their game with Boston Sunday if they wish to retain third place. Neil Colville's Rangers are two points behind the Bruins, and three back of Montreal.

One thing is definite. The leading Wings can hang onto first place at least until Sunday night. They lead Toronto by four points.

All six teams will see action Sunday. Montreal will visit Boston, Toronto will go to Chicago and New York will entertain the Wings.

Jerry James Cleared To Play For Marlies

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP). — Jerry James has been cleared by the registration committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to play for Toronto Marlboros in the Junior A League of the Ontario Hockey Association. The 17-year-old winger was with Winnipeg Monarchs in the Memorial Cup final last year, however Marlboro officials are so enthusiastic over the performance of their unbeaten Dukes that they have told James to start with the Junior B Weston Dukes. He probably will be brought up later.

At the same time, it was announced that Windsor Spitfires, OHA Junior A cellar-dwellers, have been strengthened with the addition of goalie Marv Brewer. Brewer was understudy to Barrie Flyers' Lorne Howes.

Waterloo Hurricanes Fizzle Out Take 12-1 Pasting From Biltmores

By The Canadian Press.

Norm Cook was just getting the feel of running a winning hockey club when . . . it loses.

The new coach of Waterloo Hurricanes of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League took over coaching duties Thursday night. Waterloo won Friday night however, they lost to Guelph Biltmores, by a big 12-1 count.

The loss put Hurricanes back in seventh place in the 10-team junior circuit.

Barrie Flyers flew past Waterloo, jumping into a tie for sixth place with St. Catharines, by defeating fourth-place Kitchener Greenshirts 5-2 in Barrie.

All six OHA Senior A League teams went into action. Hamilton Tigers maintained their hold on first by trouncing Owen Sound Mercurys 7-4, Brantford vacated the basement with a 3-2 triumph over Sarnia Sailors and Stratford blanked Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 8-0.

Not Much Trouble

The second-place Bilts were without the services of the high-scoring duo of Andy Bathgate and Chuck Henderson, but they had little trouble in whipping the Hurricanes.

Ken Laufman, tied with Eric Nesterenko of Toronto Marlboros for the league's scoring lead, added to his total by scoring twice and helping on four other goals.

Aldo Guidolin hit for three, Bill McCreary added a pair and singles went to Ray Ross, Ron Murphy, Chick Chalmers, Dean Prentice and Frank Bettiol. Lou Dietrich averted a blanking.

Johnny Martan, Hilary Menard, Don McKenny, Skip Teal, Danny MacDonald, scored for Flyers while Graham Joyce and Orville Tessier countered for the Greenshirts.

The Shirts dropped a chance to share a third place berth with Galt Black Hawks.

Murray Comfort was the big gun at Hamilton, bagging four goals for the Tigers. Bill Hammona added a pair while Ab Conick scored the other Tiger tally. Andy Grant, Roy Leckie, Tommy Burlington and Buck Forslund were Owen Sound snipers.

Over 2,800 hometown fans saw Bruce Dale rack up his first whitewashing of the season for Indians. Dinny Flanagan led the way offensively, scoring three times, and defenceman Don Heinbuch added a pair. Jack Thaler, Al Ritchie and Bill Walsh accounted for the rest.

Brantford took a 2-0 lead in the first on goals by Wally Hnatiuk and Holota, but Chuck Glabb cut the margin to one with the only counter of the middle canto. Bob Wrightshell added another goal for Redmen in the third to make it 3-1 before Ted Garvin rounded out the scoring.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

It finally happened: the Canadian Rugby Union's $12,000 tarpaulin was spread completely over Varsity Stadium's field in Toronto late Friday.

It will remain on the field until the Nov. 24 Grey Cup final, for which it was purchased. Friday was the first time the huge canvas has been used.

Some Stadium officials said that if the weather after the weekend turns out clear and mild the tarp should be taken up to let the field dry out.

Hamilton Panthers trounced Oshawa's Red Raiders 19-0 Friday night to win the Ontario Rugby Football Union intermediate championship.

The victory gave Panthers a 31-1 edge in the two-game, total-points final. They whipped Raiders last week.

Panthers now will travel to Montreal where they will meet either Montreal Regiment or Montreal Lakeshore for the eastern Canada championship Nov. 24.

The east-west final will be played at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Dec. 1.

Len Walters, young featherweight boxer from Vancouver, Friday night was named winner of the Norton H. Crowe Memorial Trophy, giving him recognition by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada as the outstanding Canadian athlete of the year. The announcement was made at the annual meeting of the AAU in Vancouver. The 20-year-old Walters, a British Empire Games athlete, won the North American featherfeight boxing championship this year in Boston.

Frank Clair and John Kerns have been signed to three-year contracts as head and line coach, respectively, of the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union, it was announced Friday by president Bob Moran. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

At Galt C. Renwick's Belmore rink beat A. O. Hutchinson's Fergus four 10-7 and Galt's S. H. Smithers rink downed J. Heffernan's Guelph quartet 11-7 Friday in semi-finals of the Little Trophy, main event of the Galt Curling Club's Early Bird bonspiel.

At New Orleans, Charles C. Zatarain, president of the New Orleans Sports Association, announced Friday night the University of Tennessee and the Universiay of Maryland have accepted invitations to play in the 18th annual Sugar Bowl football game here Jan. 1. The game will pit the country's second and fifth ranking teams.

At Manchester, England, Al Hoosman, Los Angeles Negro who has been doing most of his fighting in Europe for the last two years, outpointed 37-year-old Tommy Farr of Wales Friday night in a 10-round bout. It was Farr's third loss in eight comeback fights following a 10-year layoff.

Gordon Richards, with 226 winners, will end Britain's flat-racing season today as the leading jockey for the 24th time since he began riding in 1920. His closest rival is Doug Smith with 111. Richards has ridden a world record total of 4,603 winners.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League Friday farmed out rookie defenceman Jim Ross and forward Zellio Topazzini to Cincinnati of the American Hockey League.

Roughhouse Paddy Demarco of Brooklyn bullied young Eddie Chavez of San Jose, Calif., and wore him down with body blows Friday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision at New York's Madison Square Garden. Demarco weighed 138½, Chavez 139¼.

To End Annoying Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Here is the well known old recipe which thousands of housewives have found to be a dependable means of breaking up winter coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs very little, but it does give quick relief.

From any druggist, get a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup water, stirred until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's easy. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) Thus you make 16 ounces of medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This home mixture soothes the irritated throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the phlegm and eases soreness promptly.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Continue Fight To Establish Trotting Races

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, Nov. 17 (CP)—A group of determined horsemen have lost $260,000 in two years of promoting trotting races in Toronto but plans to continue the fight to establish the sport in this hotbed of thoroughbred racing.

The prominent breeders and fanciers of standard-breds in 1950 put $500,000 into building a half-mile racing plant within Thorncliffe Park, a thoroughbred track in suburban Leaside. They saw $200,000 go down the drain that year and $60,000 more flow after it this past season.

Their original plans were made in expectation that the Ontario government would permit night racing with pari-mutuels. So far, it hasn't and their 38- and 39-day meetings at Thorncliffe Raceway have been staged in the afternoon.

Fight Continues

The fight for night racing continues, though the promoters have been given little encouragement that it will be permitted in the near future. Despite this handicap, the losses, and the lack of returns on their original investment, they intend to operate again next year—by night if they can, in the afternoon if they must.

This and a dozen other stories about trotting and pacing are told in "The standard-bred story, the history of a great breed of horse," a booklet published jointly by the Canadian Standard-Bred Horse Society and the Canadian Trotting Association.

The booklet traces the revival of trotting and pacing in recent years to the introduction of night racing in the United States and some Canadian provinces, to improved starting methods and to the winter racing staged at Dufferin Park in Toronto since 1942.

Some of the great horses of the past are recalled, notably the Ontario - bred Grattan Bars. Bought with 13 calves for $200 when six months old, Grattan Bars as a four-year-old won three $25,000 purses on the Grand Circuit in 13 days.

CRU Faces New Headache

Sportsmen Threaten Grey Cup Injunction

SARNIA, Nov. 17 (CP)—The Canadian Rugby Union, always troubled with a headache on the eve of a Grey Cup final over the matter of too few tickets, may have another problem before the game is played next Saturday.

A group of Sarnia sportsmen, headed by Group Capt. Dave Harding, is threatening to obtain an injunction to stop this year's classic because all the competing teams but Sarnia Imperials are out-and-out professional.

The group, basing its action on the CRU constitutoin, claims the donor of the Grey Cup, the late Earl Grey, a former governor-general of Canada, presented it for competition for the amateur football championship of Canada.

The Sarnia sportsmen, who include Bill White and Mike Mercurio, said Friday night the Imperials, as the only amateur senior team in Canada and as champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, are the only team qualified to play in the Grey Cup final. They said the Imperials should be awarded the trophy by default.

Seek Legal Advice

In announcing their intentions, the group said it will seek legal advice whether to follow through with plans for an injunction.

In Montreal, Myer Insky, CRU president, said the Grey Cup game will be played Nov. 24 as scheduled and "winning club will be awarded the trophy, notwithstanding any such protest."

He declined further comment on the Sarnia group's claim.

Norm Perry, manager of the all-Canadian Imperials, declined comment Friday night until the Sarnia club is officially approached. However, the club's coach, Hugh (Red) Douglas, said the group isn't connected with the team or its executive and that as far as he is concerned the Imperials want to play in the final whether it's for amateur or professional competition. The Imperials have no desire to win by default, he added.

Sad State

Harding, former great halfback with the Queen's University team which won the Grey Cup in 1924, said: "Today no Canadian team can honorably take the field in Grey Cup competition. It is a sorry state of affairs."

His group said it decided on the action because members thought it out of keeping with the objects and constitution of the CRU that a senior amateur club should have to sit around and wait for a professional club to trounce it in a competition ostensibly for amateur teams.

They said an all-Canadian amateur team shouldn't have to undergo the humiliation of overwhelming defeat at the hands of professionals.

The Hospital Plan

A Pledge to Ontario

SICKNESS KNOWS NO BARRIERS, accident and disease strike without discrimination.

And, for many, they spell tragedy far above the ravages of illness itself. For many they spell stark financial ruin, the savings of a lifetime wiped out, the provision for old age gone in a few short weeks.

The reason for this is very evident. At every hospital door there is a barrier — an invisible dollar sign — that keeps these desperately needed services out of reach of many who do need them.

The rich are well able to pay for their hospital care, the poor are cared for by the state. But the middle class families, the backbone of our population, are expected to pay their own way. And the sad truth today, when the cost of hospital care bears no relation to the ability to pay, is the fact that many of these simply cannot afford the hospital care they need.

Because this is drastically wrong by all human standards, because there is so crying a need for adequate measures to protect our people in sickness as well as in health, the Liberal government, when elected on November 22nd, solemnly pledges the immediate institution of a province-wide hospital plan to make certain hospital care is available to the people of Ontario at rates they can afford.

This is no idle promise. Nor is it a "fraudulent" scheme. It is a definite actuarial plan, based upon sound business practices and upon the experience of other provinces where such plans have proved successful.

It will be a contributory plan, the costs shared by the province, without increased taxation, and by your annual premium.

The provincial share will be financed by levying increased dues upon private companies who have been making profits from certain of Ontario's Crown resources without adequate payment. The contribution of the individual will be well within the means of all to pay.

Because we believe that the greatest prosperity this province can have lies in the contentment of its people, it is our intention to bring to the people of Ontario a government worthy of their trust, a government interested in them and in their well-being at all times, in sickness and in health.

These are the facts. The decision is yours to make on November 22nd.

Louise Roy Thrills Audience With Fine Voice

Louise Roy, dramatic soprano, brought music to Peterborough Friday night that thrilled her Queen Mary auditorium audience.

The well-known Toronto singer presented a concert that was a treat and music lovers who were disappointed by her failure to appear as scheduled Monday night were more than rewarded for their return trip Friday. She was superb.

A buoyancy and richness of tone pervaded the program. From the vigorous and solemn dignity of her first solo, Creation Hymn by Beethoven, to the brilliant but lighter Love Went-a-riding by Bridge, her singing was beautifully free and colored in production.

Schubert wrote some of the world's most beautiful songs and Miss Roy left nothing lacking in the beauty of her interpretation of Gretchen am Spinnrade (Marguerite at the Spinning Wheel) and Der Neugierige (The Question). First, a dramatic soprano, this singer has pleasing lyric qualities in her voice as well. This was clearly shown in the tender poignancy of her treatment of these two songs.

Concert Highlight

Highlight of the program in this reviewer's opinion was Ritorna Vincitor from Verdi's opera Aida. It was here that Miss Roy displayed her full powers for dramatic effect. Here, too, she showed her ability to adapt to quick change in mood of music and words. Whether it was power that was needed in the stern vigorous passages or lyrical tenderness as the music evolved into pathos, she maintained consistent production and sustained melodic line throughout. Her singing never lost vitality nor vividness.

Tonal control and appropriate intimacy of presentation characterized the three lovely French songs, J'ai pleure en reve by Hue, Ouvre tes yeux bleus by Massenet, and Les Berceaux by Faure. In these three songs as in Schubert's songs and Ritorna Vincitor, Miss Roy heightened the audience's enjoyment of the music by an English translation of the words and brief background outlines before she sang.

Right Ending

The program ended in a lighter but no less enjoyable vein. The flowing melody of Twilight Fancies by Delius, the tenderness of Four Leaf Clover by Brownell and the rollicking rhythm of Love Went-a-Riding by Bridge were all delightful.

But her audience would not let Miss Roy stop here. She was brought back for four encores—Agnus Dei by Bizet, Progi Amor from Mozart's Marriage of Figaro, Mr. Banjo and Going Home.

One of the reasons for Miss Roy's success was her charming stage manner. Always at ease she never failed to give the impression that there was no effort in her singing—it seemed to give her as much pleasure to sing as the audience experienced in listening.

Fine Accompanist

Special mention should be made of the masterly way the accompanist of the evening, Miss Lorette Doherty, suported the guest artist. The excellence of her sympathetic playing can best be explained by saying that she never once brought attention away from the singer to herself during the program.

To present Miss Roy's performance in such glowing terms may seem to infer over-exuberant admiration, but she is a professional singer who gave a professional performance and such, unfortunately is not often available in Peterborough.

The only factor marring the evening's success was the small audience. Only 100 people came out to hear Miss Roy sing. In this respect the concert was not a success for its sponsor, St. Cecilia's Convent.

TWO OF THREE CONVICTS, described by Montreal police as "extremely dangerous," today were back in custody after last Wednesday night's jailbreak at St. Joseph de Beauce, Que. At left, Delphis Hamel, 36, is brought in handcuffed to Const. Homer Ruither. At right, Rene Larche, 37, blinks at a photographer's flash bulb as he stands linked to Det. Ubald Therrien.

Enters No Plea On Cheque Charges

QUEBEC, Nov. 17—(CP)—Ovila Poulin, 21, Thursday entered no plea to charges of helping Emilie (Lily) Caron, 22, cash three forged cheques valued at more than $200. He was ordered to appear for preliminary hearing Nov. 22.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Thursday that Poulin pleaded guilty to the three charges.

The woman pleaded guilty to the three charges and told the court she received the cheques from Philippe Molloy, 42, who stole them. She said she endorsed the cheques with a fictitious name before cashing them.

Molloy is awaiting sence on 18 counts of that and faces more similar charges.

Fined For Cruelty

KAMLOOPS, BC, Nov. 17 (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway was fined $300 Thursday for negligent cruelty toward animals. The charge arose from the death of 21 horses Aug 1 in closed boxcars while they were being shipped 25 miles from Pritchard to Kamloops.

Plan Approved

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (CP)—R. Dwight Merrill's plan for distributing the $12,500,000 estate of Thomas S. Lee was approved Friday after Superior Court rejected a claim of a later will. The planned settlement will divide equally $1,800,000 between two Vancouver sisters, Eulalie, 20, and Virginia, 22, daughters of wealthy lumberman Prentice Bloedel.

Mexico Places First In Low Score Jumping

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Mexico won the international low score jumping competition Friday night at the Royal Winter Fair's horse show.

Canada won the third session Friday night before a crowd of about 8,000 with a clean performance but placed second to Mexico on the aggregate score with 35 faults. Mexico tallied only 29 faults in the three sessions.

In third place was the Irish team, with 37½ faults.

Each team showed three horses singly over a nine-obstacle course.

For Parents Only

First Aid For Stuttering

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Mum-m-m-m-mummy, I-I-I w-want IN!" Junior calls through the back door keyhole.

There is no answer. His mother is upstairs running the vacuum cleaner. She cannot hear his knocks or cries.

Three-year-old Junior bursts into tears. Where is Mummy? Has she left him all alone? By the time she discovers him, he can only stammer, "Mum-m-m-mummy!"

✧ ✧ ✧

How can Junior's mother help her small son overcome his stuttering? It is easier to help a child than an older person who has had this trouble for years.

There are several things his mother may want to do which will be more harmful than helpful. Junior must not be punished or shamed for his stammering. The stuttering child lacks self-confidence. Any repressive punishing measures only make him more unsure of his ability to speak fluently.

Neither must mother form the habit of asking Junior to speak more slowly. He should not be told to repeat the word or sentence over which he has been stumbling.

It is a big temptation, but Mother must not supply a suitable word for which Junior is frantically searching. If Junior's mother feels impatient with her child's struggles to express himself she should not show it. The stuttering child must neither be worried nor hurried.

If Junior is left-handed his mother will not force him to use his right hand. Most modern parents know that the inner tension arising in a child from trying to change a left-handed person into a right-handed person may account for a tendency to stutter. The part of the brain controlling speech is closely associated with the control of the hands. Teachers, today, seldom urge a left-handed child to use his right hand.

Junior's speech difficulties should not be discussed with other adults in his presence. Mother and father should not fuss over Junior nor show anxiety or concern for their child.

Stuttering is common among little children of two or three years who are learning to speak. In the great majority of cases, if handled wisely, it gradually disappears. In time of strain, or in new situations as when Junior starts to school or enters adolescence, stuttering may crop up again.

If Junior complains to Mother that his playmates laugh at him and that he "c-can't t-t-talk right," mother should re-assure him that "Lots of children have difficulty learning to talk!" Mother should not urge him to try harder to talk correctly nor should attempt to cure his speech problem by rewards or bribes.

Learning to speak without stuttering is a little like learning to swim. A child must not be afraid. Trying too hard defeats its own purpose. The relaxed child can swim more expertly and can talk more fluently than the tense youngster.

Parents can help their child who stutters by seeing that he gets more rest and by building up his general health. A mother can keep a record of the situations which precede or provoke her child into having a speech "block" and then try to avoid these if possible.

Children are born imitators and parents can discipline themselves to talk more slowly. In a child's ears, the tempo of adult talk is very fast. It is little wonder they cannot understand grownups!

Parents can also speak more simply and in shorter sentences. The stuttering child needs a quiet, relaxed home atmosphere, in which mother and dad speak to each other calmly, and not in an excited, upset fashion.

Singing is often a joyous activity for a stuttering child, because in singing he is not bothered with his search for words. Specialists in speech difficulties have found by experience that reading in unison or choral reading is often a help for the scholar with this weakness.

If a speech defect persists over a period of time or is causing the child real unhappiness, do not delay in consulting your family doctor. Ask him where you can get expert help. In a number of centres there are speech clinics where a child may receive expert assistance. His parents also find guidance in how best to encourage their child to overcome his difficulty.

No parent wants his boy or girl to go through life with an unnecessary handicap! Mothers and fathers can do a great deal to help Junior graduate out of the stuttering group.

CONSERVATIVE NOV. 22

SIR JOHN DOUGLAS COCKCROFT, Left, director of Britain's atomic energy research establishment at Harwell, shared the Nobel physics award with Dr. Ernest Thomas Fintan Walton, professor at Trinity College, Dublin. These two scientists were the first to split the atom with powerful electric charges. Paer Lagerkvist, Right, of Sweden, was awarded the 1951 Nobel Prize for literature. Lagerkvist is 60 years old and is a playwright, poet, essayist and writer of short stories as well as a novelist.

10 Commandments Set Forth Correctness Of One's Life

Social justice, purity, and honor, a competent Biblical scholar (in Hasting's Bible Dictionary) has set down as the ideal elements of the Jewish law.

He credits Moses with propounding the laws and regards later developments as having come in succeeding times of prophetic fervor and national zeal.

The Ten Commandments are, of course, the most familiar of the laws. One cannot read far in the dictionaries and commentaries on the Bible without realizing the nature and extent of the Commandments and the whole elaborate law and ritual, of which they are a part.

The Commandments, with reference to their wider Mosaic and Jewish environment of law and ritual, have widely commended themselves to the world as a moral code, basically related to the social justice, purity, and honor which it was the noblest achievement of Judaism to seek and uphold as the true life for man and society.

The Ten Commandments, even when not obeyed by the wayward, or even where their religious recognition of the one God has not been acknowledged, have been widely accepted as a moral code and variously established in the legal codes of many lands.

Despite all the moral laxity of much of modern life, the broken homes, the sexual looseness and adulteries, the cheapening of human life, the stealing in practice and in spirit, either illegally or within the exact letter of the law, it is still true that the strength and welfare of a people depends upon the reality with which the essence of the Ten Commandments is ingrained in the life and practice of the community.

Integrity of family life, honor of parents, devotion to children, regard for the liberties and rights of others—these are the elements upon which social strength and welfare depend; and the extent to which they are denied and disregarded indicates the depths of weakness to which many communities have fallen, and the acuteness of the problems confronting society as a whole.

Yet there is something more, and higher, than the Commandments.

John 1:17 states, "The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

This does not mean that Jesus originated grace and truth, but that He, as He Himself said, fulfilled what was inherent in the law. For the New Testament everywhere represents the fulfillment of the law in the commandment of love—"Thou shalt," instead of only "Thou shalt not."

The Ten Commandments would establish correctness of life. The law of love is a dynamic, quickening fulness of life in the growth of grace and knowledge.

Grace United Anniversary

Grace United Church on Howden Ave will on Sunday celebrate its third anniversary. This congregation has enjoyed remarkable growth since its inception and the members are interested and enthusiastic in the work. The original building has become too small and plans are being discussed for building a new church.

The sunday school has an attendance of 170. There is a thriving Mission Band of 72 members. CGIT and Explorer Groups are largely attended and a recnetly organized Trail Rangers has an attendance of 17.

A splendid group of women in the Women's Association are doing a great work in the building up of this congregation and the choir of the church helps create an atmostphere of worship at every service.

At the morning service on Sunday, the Rev. H. D. McCormack of St. James United Church will be the preacher and in the evening, the Rev. Kenneth Stewart. The Rev. E. W. Rowland has been minister of the congregation ever since it was organized.

Lemery Plant Sales Office For All East

Power Chain Saws May Be First Of Many Products

Lemery Distributors Limited are building on Lansdowne St. west their head sales office in eastern Canada for power chain saws manufactured by McCulloch Motors Corp. of Los Angeles.

The company is setting up ten distribution centres across Canada. Vancouver will be the headquarters for western Canada from the coast to the head of the Great Lakes. The Peterborough office takes over from that border down through Ontario and then further east.

"This is not an assembly plant we are building in Peterborough," Mr. D. J. Lemery said today. "It will be the main sales office in the east with accommodation for stocking parts."

McCulloch Motors have developed into the largest manufacturers in the world of power chain saws. They also make gasoline engines for lawn mowers, of which thousands are sold through Sears-Roebuck Co. of Chicago, power post-hole diggers or augurs, and they are also into helicopters and lenses.

The sales connection of Lemery Distributors with McCulloch Motors has inspired hopes in Peterborough of eventual broadening of the local plant beyond the sales and maintenance status.

Three Products

Mr. Lemery makes no claims or promises beyond the immediate business of his company. Their products selling throughout Ontario are power chain saws, water pumps and the posthole digging implement, which is also operated by the McCulloch gasoline engine.

"We have hopes that the power lawn mowers may find their way into Canada," he said.

For the present at any rate there are no pretensions of manufacture about Lemery Distributors, a fact which the head of the PETERBOROUGH'S FISHING BOY fountain, after more than two years of planning, was erected this week in Victoria Park. A parks employee, Top Left photo, puts final licks of paint on it and, earlier in the week, several workmen and a derrick truck set the lower catch basin into place. The Boy, weighing more than 200 pounds, is shown in the Lower photo.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Fishing Boy Statue Mounted Park Fountain Complete

The fishing season finished long ago. But one who has not heard of it, apparently, is dangling a line in Victoria Park. He is our bronze Fishing Boy, a fountain adornment, that has been more than two years in planning and making. The project was started by the late F. M. de la Fosse, former City Librarian, who lived on Water St., opposite the bisecting pathway of the Park. An old unused fountain that squirted its last many years ago cluttered up the centre of the radiating pathways.

It was in Mr. de la Fosse's opinion—and that of many other citizens—an eyesore, a cast iron mid-Victorian monstrosity set on a beehive of boulders. It may have fitted in with the bustle-and-sideburns era and considered beautiful then.

Mr. Delafosse wrote many letters to the Examiner on the subject. The editors campaigned to have the city either make it operate again as a fountain, or, remove it altogether.

Queen Victoria

About the time the campaign was nicely rolling, and the city engineering department proved that the piping was finished and would never squirt again, it was learned that the Republic of Eire has stashed away a very handsome statue of the late Queen Victoria. It was suggested that this statue be secured—there were only several thousand dollars of crating and shipping charges involved—and set up in the fountain's place.

The city meekly inquired about the gift and London, Ont., jumped on the bandwagon and demanded that if any city should have it, she should. Both municipalities backed down.

Former art supervisor of city summer playgrounds Stafford Colley submitted a design of a fishing boy to the city two years ago. It was accepted and potter Joseph Riedel was commissioned to fashion the piece. Using his son John as model, the Fishing Boy was done in clay and finally plaster of paris from which a casting could be made.

Cast In Montreal

This spring, parks superintendent Armar Butcher called for the casting at the Riedel studio and had it shipped to Montreal for casting. Using the old cast iron bases and catch basins, the whole fountain was assembled by the parks department and, officials say, the water will be turned on to make sure that it works properly.

Next year, it is planned to decorate the Fishing Boy still further by remote flood lighting. In the meantime snow and ice will cover the barefoot fisherman.

Deer Hunter Confesses All

The Mountain Lake Hunt club will vouch for the fact that truth always comes to the surface.

Plagued by poor luck throughout the week while on the deer hunt, the poor luck of several hunters prompted another hunter to confess Friday night to a story which all the others suspected.

The club throughout the hunt missed deer after deer. On Tuesday Chris Hughes waited patiently for his deer. Then suddenly it came down the trail, straight for him. He emptied the gun but the deer never stopped. It stopped. After a couple of seconds beside him, it ran off into the woods.

His hands, after a two hour wait, were too cold to reload the gun.

Second Chance

A second chance was offered him Wednesday but he refused to admit that he had shot at it. But his mates strongly suspected that he had.

Other poor luck was reported to the campers by Charlie Elliott and Walter Head, both missing two deer.

Then the confession was made. At dinner Friday, hunter Hughes admitted shooting at his second chance, also admitting that he hid the empty shells and had erased the tracks for some distance.

The truth will out.

Court of Revision

TOWNSHIP OF NORTH MONAGHAN

The Court of Revision for the Township of North Monaghan will sit at the Court House in the City of Peterborough at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, December 1, 1951, to hear appeals to the Assessment made in 1951, for taxation purposes in 1952. All interested parties govern themselves accordingly.

Full Investigation Started Into Algae Problem—Scott

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 17. (Staff)—Investigation into algae growth in the Kawarthas is being carried out fully, the Hon. Harold R. Scott declared at a Progressive Conservative meeting in Lakefield town hall Friday night. The cause, he said, was twofold. Speed of the flow of water in the lakes was not fast enough and the lakes are "over fertilized" by sewage, flow from septic tanks, and the runoff of fertilizer from farms.

If there was no dams, he said, there would be no problem. But as dams are needed for power, water must be saved during the warm months to assure an even flow the year round.

Dams Higher

One possible solution, said Mr. Scott, was to build dams higher up on the watershed. By this method, it was thought a greater rate of flow would result, and algae would not have the same opportunity to grow.

Speaking of the Highway Improvement Act, the Minister of Lands and Forests said it had solved a problem that faced some townships in Peterborough county and many others in the province.

These townships he spoke of had no timberland left, no industry, and the farmland was either useless or taken up. This Act made it possible for roads to be built into lakes where cottagers built summer homes, paid taxes to the township and thus increased revenues.

Spent $595,000

Under the Act, the province paid the capital costs of the road, the townships contracted to maintain them. In the past five years, said Mr. Scott, $595,000 has been spent in this riding alone under the Highway Improvement Act.

Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West, spoke of the $232,000 Liberal leader Walter C. Thomson had received from the government for his Veterans' Land Act work.

"If that money were in $1 bills, and the bills were laid end to end along Highway 7 starting from the outskirts of Peterborough," he said, "they would stretch to Lindsay."

Mr. Thomson, said Mr. Fraser, had said a Liberal government could get along on one-fifteenth of what the provincial government has been spending. The provincial budget for 1951 was $256,000,000, said the federal member, $18,000,000—that is one-fifteenth—"wouldn't begin to do the job."

James Lillico, of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Peterborough, discussed the Frost administration's record on education, and what it would mean to Lakefield. Mrs. John Cridland spoke on the lay organization within the party. William Ovens was chairman.

INJURED FINGER

Simon Seabrook, Havelock, was treated as an outpatient in Civic hospital Friday for an injured finger. He received the injury in a sawmill accident.

Three Leaders To Explain Farm Policy

"To get a clear picture of farm policy" in the next government of Ontario Federation of Agriculture in Pickering township has invited the three political leaders to a public meeting Tuesday, Nov. 20 at the town hall at Brougham at 2 pm.

The Conservative party will be represented by Premier Frost or Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. E. B. Jolliffe has accepted for CCF and Walter C. Thomson has sent a verbal message that he will be present or that he will send a competent representative.

Actually, Mr. Thomson is a member of Pickering township Federation of Agriculture, and it is expected that he won't pass up an invitation from so close at home. This meeting was called by the Pickering Federation directors for the simple purpose of trying to get some definite statement of policy from the three party leaders.

City May Rent Land For Refuse

Five year lease to Warren Bituminous Paving Company, at $250 a year, of part of the property owned by the city and used for disposal of industrial and other refuse, is being recommended to the council by its property committee.

The company recently informed the council of its intention to set up an establishment, more or less permanent, probably depending upon contracts in this district. From the vicinity of the Auburn, the company is planning to move its plant to a location which is apparently approved by proximity to the city's dump fire, that seldom burns out.

Plans include a siding from the C.P.R. which abuts the property to the north. The area of about two acres is immediately to the west of the big bonfire, and extends 410 feet along the railway. The lease is proposed to take effect January 1 next, and its terms provide for reconsideration after the first two years of operation, and also maintenance of a right of way across the property for access by the company and others who may be designated by the city.

Tool Engineers Get Charter For New Branch

The tool engineer Friday night was described "as the architect of his country's future." Bob Douglas, Montreal, said this at the charter meeting of the Peterborough and District chapter of the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Some 150 tool engineers and affiliated tradesmen crowded the Kawartha Club for the charter meeting of Chapter No. 94.

The charter is the eighth in Canada and there are 80 members in the chapter. Throughout the United States and Canada there are 19,500 members and 94 chapters.

Mr. Douglas, Montreal, Canadian past president of the society, presented the charter to the Peterborough and district executive.

"A science of infinitesimal accuracies," was the way Mr. Douglas described it. Tool engineers, he said, were key men in the economic development of the United States and Canada.

"The tool engineer is the architect of his country's future," said Mr. Douglas.

Research Fund

W. B. McClellan, Detroit, national director, said the society consisted of men whose importance to the nation's economy can't be measured by any known rule. He said the society had already set up a research fund of $25,000 and this would likely be increased. There are also student scholarship grants from the society which are available in Canada.

The society was started back in 1932 and has now grown to 19,500 members.

Highlight of the evening was the quiz conducted by Thomas J. Donovan, Philadelphia, in which he gave away United States silver dollars for correct answers to technical questions. The queries were interspersed with crowd-pleasing jokes.

Peterborough officers were sworn in by L. B. Bellamy, international 1st vice-president. Bob Dyer, chairman; Len Hansler, 1st vice-chairman; Gordon R. Pagen, 2nd vice-chairman; George W. Kennedy, 3rd vice-chairman; Earle H. Wellman, secretary, and Ken T. King, treasurer.

Tool engineers were present from scattered centres in the northern United States and Canada, including: Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelhpia, St. Catharines, Montreal, Toronto, Galt, Hamilton, Guelph, Preston, Lindsay, Lakefield, Cobourg, Port Hope and Belleville.

False Alarm

The glow from an open stove in the Edwards & Baird garage on Lansdowne St. resulted in an alarm being turned in Friday night, in the belief that the place was on fire. When firemen arrived, they discovered there was no fire, except the one in the stove.

800 Student Fans Stage Pep Rally

More than 800 cheering football fans jammed the PCVS auditorium Friday night in the first combined St. Peter's High and PCVS pep rally, in preparation for today's COSSA championship games at Morrow Park.

The two-hour show, which saw St. Peter's and PCVS students meet for the first time during the past two football years, was held in conjunction with CHEX's weekly 1430 club. George Ludgate and Paul Reid, Peterborough announcers, were masters of ceremony.

Welcome Visitors

A welcome to the Welland and Stamford football teams was extended by PCVS' Betty Jones and SPS' Jim Clarke, star senior lineman.

Mixed between the regular program records and quiz games, the students rocked the auditorium with school yells and cheers for the players whenever they appeared on the stage.

Throughout the program school talent from both schools was fitted into the program such as barber shop quartets, musical trio, singing duets and skits.

The show was completed before 10 pm to allow the players to be home before 10, as required in the strict training rules.

Youngster Hurt As Cars Collide

Five-year-old Paul Lumsden, 754 Curtis Rd., received an injured nose, when he was thrown against the dash of his father's car in an accident at the east end of the Hunter St., bridge, Thursday evening.

The boy's father, Harold Lumsden, told constable W. A. Scott, that he was driving west on Hunter St., when he saw a car stopped on the north side of the bridge ahead of him.

He said he did not want to stop too suddenly, as his two small children were in the front seat of his car, and he started to slow down, but said he came up on the other car faster than he thought, and collided with the rear of the car being driven by Nick Sullivan, 461 McDonnel St.

Sullivan said he had stopped to pick up a couple of passengers and when he saw that the car approaching from behind was going to hit him, he tried to pull away, but could not get away fast enough.

Considerable damage was done to the front end of Lumsden's car. The trunk of the Sullivan car was caved in.

LOSES THUMB

George Dean, 59, of Garden Hill had his left thumb amputated in Civic hospital Friday afternoon. He received the injury to his thumb when a pig bit him.

Three Injured In Crash On Bridge

Cars Hit Head-On On Slippery Bridge; 4 Escape 2nd Crash

Four people escaped injury and three others were slightly hurt in two highway accidents Friday night and early today. One crash was two miles east of Norwood, the other at Young's Point.

At Young's Point two cars collided head-on near the north end of the bridge on Highway 28 just before 8 am. Details of the crash are lacking as OPP officers are still investigating, but it is understood the cars skidded on hard-packed snow.

The three occupants of the two cars suffered minor injuries.

Hit Pole

East of Norwood, four men narrowly missed serious injury Friday night when the panel truck in which they were riding slid off the road and smashed into a telephone pole.

Frank Hollywood, 31, of Havelock, was driving east on Highway 7, and attempted to light a cigarette. The car swerved to the soft shoulder, ploughed over a bank and crashed into the pole, snapping it off three feet from the top.

The truck then careened across the bank and came to rest on its side, inches away from a second pole.

In the car with Hollywood were James Darratt, 17, David Crawford, 35, both of Havelock, and Lloyd Brisbin, 24, of Toronto. Damage to the truck was $300.

Few Voters Out At Advance Polls

Advance polls in the city haven't yet been rushed by voters entitled to cast their ballots in advance of the election.

On Friday, four voted at Jobbitt's hardware in the south end, and about 12 at the Canadian Legion on Murray St. None voted at the southend poll Thursday, and perhaps half a dozen at the Legion.

This morning none had voted in the city but a rush was expected this afternoon and evening. The poll at Havelock has had few voters so far.

Few Simple Rules Can Make For Improved Landscaping

The grounds around your home are valuable and deserve the same careful planning which you give to your home. Without planning, utility of land is sacrificed, maintenance costs mount, plants grow rampant. Follow these basic rules:

1. The ground around your home deserves the same intelligent planning which your house receives. By landscaping your lot, you can extend your living area to the outdoors.

2. Planned use and development is important—without planning, utility of land is sacrificed, maintenance costs mount, plants grow rampant. The effect is haphazard. Plan for the best use of the site and minimum upkeep as well as pleasant appearance.

3. You don't have to develop all of your lot at once. However, there should be an allover plan. Carrying out a landscape plan is a matter of years.

4. If you are the type who enjoys puttering around the yard, your design may be more elaborate than if you are not yard-minded. Remember, the fewer things there are on the site, the less there is to maintain.

5. Always preserve all the best natural resources on the site. Watch excavating and grading operations and make sure that no topsoil is buried. Scrape off dark topsoil and pile it to side of lot, spreading it back after rough grading has been completed.

6. Figure out the possible shade from trees and houses on your neighbors' lots as well as your own. Remember that an overlapping of trees shuts out sun and air.

7. The ideal lawn is smooth, simple in shape, unobstructed, and all in one piece. Remember that you will have to mow it. Avoid steep banks.

8. The centre of outdoor living is a porch or terrace. Provide for one or both. Terrace should adjoin the living area of the house —or be convenient to it if detached.

9. Children like to run over the whole yard with their toys, but will be happy if they are provided with a corner where they are permitted to dig and build and keep their things. Pools are a definite hazard to children. If you want a pool, make it shallow. Don't build it unless you can drain it.

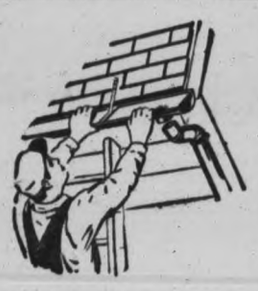
10. Keep hedges, shrubs, and trees away from the house so you can wash windows, put on screens, and paint without interference from plantings and injury to them.

11. Flower gardens should be placed where they can be seen and enjoyed from the indoor and outdoor living areas. Gardens which are unbroken and rectangular with a slight slope are easiest to care for.

12. Make walks approaching the house at least 3½' wide so two people can walk abreast. Remember that open-joint pavements (with grass growing between) require a lot of care.

13. Basic considerations for choosing plants are: form, hardiness, soil and moisture conditions, degree of sun or shade, and decorative traits such as flowers, fruit and color.

14. Think twice before putting a big tree within 25 feet of the house. Roots may often find their way into drain tiles—also into garden beds, thus robbing the cultivated plants. Anticipate this when you plan.



Deciduous trees (those that shed their leaves) shade the house in summer and admit the sun in winter. Place trees off the corners rather than the sides of the house.

15. Choose neat, slow-growing plants which improve with age. Follow the advice of your nurseryman. Skip the rampant shrubs —they soon become pests.

Describes Work In Church In Quebec Area

MILLBROOK, Nov. 17 (ENS) —The Rev. Margaret Butler was the special speaker for the autumn thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's United Church WMS held in the parsonage on Wednesday afternoon. There was an attendance of 67 which included, as well as the regular members, guests from St. Thomas' Anglican, Grace Presbyterian and Cavan United Churches, as well as the Golden Links Circle of St. Andrew's.

In her message Mrs. Butler included the idea of thanksgiving, since it was a thankoffering service, and a picture of the work of the church in French Canada from which place she has come recently. She said that while people gave thanks for a bountiful harvest, for the love of their families, for friends, yet there lurked the dread of another world conflict, and sorrow for those people of the earth who are in want. Christian groups in all countries, even those behind the iron curtain, were increasingly aware of a growing sense of unity around the world.

She said in China when Chinese Christians and the missionaries gathered before all foreigners were driven out, they thought that perhaps the medical work, the hospitals, would be most likely to survive. However all hospitals and schools had been taken over by the Communists. It was the little churches in the isolated areas that had remained firm, and increased their membership. The church had always been most at home in an age of revolution. Persecution brings strength and vigor; change and danger often means spiritual rebirth, the speaker declared.

In speaking of French Canada Mrs. Butler stated that one-third of the population of Canada was French Canadian. One problem was that whereas 50 years ago the population had been 65 per cent rural, now 65 per cent of the population was urban. In the changeover many had lost their church contacts, with a resulting trend towards irreligion. She said the need for French speaking missionaries was great.

Mrs. R. Matchett, WMS president, was in the chair and welcomed the guests. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Irwin Hatherley and Mrs. David Lunn led in prayer. Mrs. Lawrence Winslow gave a vocal solo, "Someone Had Prayed" and Mrs. Fred Smith a reading "The Birth of a Hymn," which told of the circumstances of the writing of "Just As I Am."

Mrs. W. H. Heustin moved a vote of thanks to the speaker and the hostesses.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. A. M. Butler, pastor of St. Andrew's. Members of the WMS served refreshments.

Airman Remanded On Abduction Charge

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP) — LAC J. D. Jenkins, 17, was remanded Thursday for judgment Nov. 22 on a charge of abducting a 15-year-old girl.

The girl testified that she and the youth, who police say is absent without leave from the RCAF, registered as man and wife at a hotel Oct. 29 and then spent the next night in a tourist home.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously Thursday that LAC Jenkins was convicted of abduction and remanded for sentence.

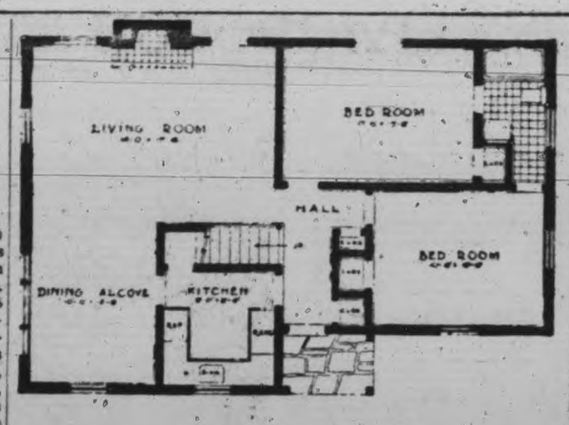
Wins 3 By Acclamation

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 17 (CP) —With official reports still to come from two isolated northern districts, Premier Smallwood's Liberal Party had won three seats by acclamation in Friday's nominations for the Nov. 26 Newfoundland general election. Another acclamation was expected from the northern district of White Bay, where last reports indicated no contestant for Samuel Drover, Liberal.

Order Schools Opened

VANCOUVER, Nov. 17 (CP)— The British Columbia Appeal Court Friday ordered the Salmon Arm District School Board to open its schools to 510 students. The board barred students from the municipality after ratepayers in the municipality had voted against paying a special tax to raise funds to help keep the schools open.

Avoid Panic



MONTREAL, Nov. 1—(CP)— The Gazette today devotes a full page to a story on what could happen should an atom bomb be dropped on this Canadian Metropolis. Under the heading "No Margin for Terror," the newspaper warns against panic and lists instructions for Montrealers.

Get Shaking Up

TORONTO, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Twelve passengers on a Canadian National Railways train from Capreol, Ont., were shaken up Friday when their three-car train struck standing coal-hopper cars in the yards here. All passengers were able to proceed to their destinations after examination by CNR medical staff. Three suffered minor cuts, the rest bruises.

Peculiar Vandal

TIMMINS (CP) — Police are looking for the vandal with peculiar tastes who smashed the radio aerials on three parked motor cars. All the cars were damaged within a period of one hour.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

HOUSE No. 1011. — Situated on a splendid site in Erindale, just a few miles west of Toronto, is this cosy grey shingle cottage designed by W. G. Armstrong, well-known Toronto architect. Its pleasing exterior lines catch the eye of innumerable motorists passing by on the Dundas Highway, although it is set far back on its wooded lot. The interior is fetching, too! There are five rooms altogether — a big living, dining room, kitchen and two bedrooms. Notice that the plan follows the modern "open planning" idea, omitting a partition between the living and dining rooms. Placement of the kitchen at the front is popular and convenient. The "U"-shaped arrangement of equipment is excellent. Both bedrooms have doors into the single bathroom. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Started As A Mission In 1872 Knox Church Marks Anniversary

The Rev. T. W. Hazelwood, B.A., B.D. minister of Humbercrest United Church, Toronto will be the guest preacher on Sunday at the 41st anniversary of Knox United Church.

REV. T. W. HAZELWOOD

In 1872 an interdenominational Ladies' Visting Association was formed in Peterborough. Mrs. James A. Hall and Miss Charlotte Dickson were appointed to the district south of Charlotte St. and in the discharge of their work they found that many children in that section were not attending Sunday school. The parents were anxious that provision should be made to meet the need. The assistance of James A. Hall and T. W. Nisbet was secured. The only building available was a stable on the east side of Aylmer St. between Charlotte and King Sts. This building, they later found out was the first Presbyterian church in Peterborough and had been used as such during the early ministry of the Rev. J. M. Roger. The building was cleaned up, papered and benches provided by the committee. The school was opened in May 1872 with Mr. Nisbet as its first superintendent. Mr. Nisbet soon after the opening was moved from the city and W. W. Johnston succeeded him and continued until 1892. In 1873 new quarters had to be found for the school had outgrown the original building.

A vacant lot was secured on Dalhousie St. between Stewart and Rubidge Sts. and the owner granted the trustees a lease on the property for 20 years at the nominal rental of one dollar a year. A building was erected costing $600. Mr. Nisbet sent a donation of $100 and the balance was raised by local subscription. The school made great strides in its new quarters. In 1892 the owner required the property and the site where Knox church now stands was purchased for $1,250. Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls gave $600 to aid in buying the property. Arrangements were made for erection of a building but the scheme was abandoned and the school disbanded.

Ten years later, 1902, a new start was made under St. Paul's church and a building was erected costing $4,037. In February 1903 it was opened as a St. Paul's Mission. Services were conducted twice every Sunday, the minister of St. Paul's or his assistant being in charge. In 1904 it was set aside as a mission station and a session of five, Sheriff James Hall and William Madill from St. Paul's and J. F. Morrison, J. W. Bennet and William Shea were named.

In 1906 Knox became an independent congregation and in 1907 the Rev. H. J. Keith was called as the first minister and in 1909 the present church building was erected. The building then being used became the Sunday school.

Since then Knox has carried on as an independent congregation first as a part of the Presbyterian church and at the time of union it entered the United church. Ministers serving the congregation have been Mr. Keith, H. J. Mackenzie, M. McKinnon, William McDonald, McCormick, V. E. R. Zufelt, Harry Mahoney. The Rev. H. J. Douglas is the present minister.

During the past year a new Sunday school has been fully equipped in the basement underneath the church. This has provided badly needed accommodation in the work of the ever expanding congregation.

PRACTICE SESSION — A "body" is lowered from a "bombed" building in Brooklyn, during New York's first major civil defense test. The citywide exercise included theoretical atom bombs, water main bursts, fires set by incendiary bombs and rescue and evacuation drills.

Woodview New Spot on Map North of Burleigh Falls As Post Office Authorized

By JIM ENGLISH

WOODVIEW, Nov. 17—A new postmark—Woodview, Ont.—is official recognition that a new community exists in Peterborough county. Woodview is the small settlement on the shore of Little Cedar lake on Highway 28 that was once known as Haultain. Haultain is actually a few miles north.

A passenger on Highway 28 might mistake the lakeshore community for all of Woodview. In all, the name includes 24 families living in the rough triangle shaped by the highway and two township roads leading to Mount Julian on the north shore of Stony lake.

Official Equipment

Last March 1, the postmaster general's department decided Woodview was big enough to have a post office. Now, the store and service station of Richard Tranter has a tiny post office cubbyhole, a cancelling hammer and a set of postel scales as to mark its formal position.

Little Cedar lake is better known to many Peterborough people as one of the two lakes of the Marshall Memorial Park project.

The first settlers came to Woodview about 100 years ago. They were lumbermen and their shanties were strung along the shores of Little and Big Cedar lakes. Their names were: Stone, Langford, Windover, Church and Crary, to mention some of them.

Windover is still one of the well-known names in the north end of Peterborough county. The others have moved on, although the son of Giles Stone, an original settler, lived at Woodview until his death several years ago.

Across Stony lake the lumbermen had come from McCracken's Landing on the south to Mount Julian. They hauled their machinery by boat and their trail to the south was marked by stretches of cut-over land from Brighton on the lakeshore to Stony lake.

Most Pushed On

Later their families joined them, but none of the original settlers' descendants lives in Woodview now. Most pushed on to the north or west in search of better timberland, after the Cedar lakes district became another cut-over section of the path leading north.

A quiet community in spring, winter and fall, Woodview is sparked into activity by the first northbound cars of the summer visitors from the United States, and from other parts of Ontario.

Eleven families of cottagers spend varying lengths of time at the lake, and other tourists stop at Percy Thompson's resort.

From the road, the lake is a blue water lake, with streaks of light blue-green marking the location of the marl bars on the lake bottom.

Fishing is good—mostly smallmouth bass, and some lake trout. The lake trout were stocked several years ago but few have been caught, mainly because the regular visitors don't try too hard for them.

Summer isn't all happy at Woodview. When the US tourists come, they want to telephone to their homes in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan.

And there, say the people of the little settlement, is the rub.

On Apsley Exchange

Their telephones are connected to the Apsley exchange, operated by a private company. Local service at the best is only fair. Long distance service is worse, say the residents.

Percy Thompson, owner of a tourist home, township assessor and acting township clerk, recalled a bad accident on the highway north of Woodview last summer.

When he heard of it, he tried to phone Apsley for police and a doctor. "I cranked that phone until I got a cramp in my arm, and I got no answer at all," he said. He and his wife drove to the accident and rushed a badly injured woman to Apsley Red Cross hospital.

Provincial Constable Bert Howden got the news of that accident from a motorist who saw the crash and drove into Apsley to tell him.

What Woodview people want is a Bell Telephone pay station, but they need the permission of the Apsley company to have the pay phone installed. The Apsley company refuses permission.

"What if there is ever a really bad accident or fire near here, and we can't get service from the telephone?" ask Mr. Thompson and Mrs. Tranter, wife of the postmaster. "How will we get news out?"

And it's just as bad to telephone to Woodview as to phone out, says Mrs. Tranter. She called from Toronto once at 8:30 in the morning, was talking to her husband by 5:30 that afternoon.

Would Pay More

"We'd gladly pay more for better service," said one man, adding that it seems like a dog in the manger attitude, when the Apsley company can't give good service and won't let anyone else try.

Telephone service is about the only dark spot on the social horizon of Woodview. The Tranters, who came there from Toronto, where Mr. Tranter was foreman in a candy plant, wouldn't trade their life in Woodview for work anwhere else.

"I'd never go back to Toronto now," says Mr. Tranter.

Mrs. Tranter said the first winter—this will be their third—was a tough one. "It's better now," she says. "When I do get tired of it, I can go to Toronto, but I like it here."

Percy Thompson, sitting in his pine-panelled living room, says: "We'll never be rich, but it's a wonderful living."

Says Ontario Co-operation Made Seaway Possible

By The Canadian Press

Premier Frost says his administration made it possible for the Federal Government to launch plans for the St. Lawrence seaway. The Federal Government Friday gave notice it will move for creation of a $[illegible],000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and Mr. Frost said Friday night in a Nov. 22 Ontario general election campaign speech in Ottawa:

"It wouldn't be possible unless the Ontario government had said it was prepared to put its money on the line."

Ontario will divide with New York State the $400,000,000 cost of the power end of the river's development.

E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, campaigned Friday and Friday night in Toronto, while Liberal leader Walter Thomson made a swing through eastern Ontario ridings along the St. Lawrence river which in most previous elections have returned Conservatives.

Mr. Frost coupled with his seaway remarks an assertion that his government's policy has been to co-operate with all other governments in Canada, regardless of policy.

Dropped Patronage

Labor legislation introduced by the Conservatives after they came to power in 1943 had been the first to make collective bargaining a workable principle in the province. His government also had removed political patronage from the Ontario civil service.

In a speech in the Ottawa suburb of Eastview, the Premier blamed inaction during the nine years the Liberals held office in Ontario prior to 1943 for the province's current shortage of hospital accommodation and medical staff. From 1934 to 1943 the Liberals had given "not one single, solitary cent" to increase the number of hospital beds or help build and maintain medical schools.

Mr. Thomson, speaking in Napanee in support of J. Donald Baxter, seeking re-election in Prince Edward-Lennox, said his policy on the liquor question probably will be made known on Monday. He was prepared to support an investigation, federal or provincial, into the liquor situation in Ontario and would take advice from anyone on the problem.

Use Forests To Pay

In Kingston, he said the forests of Ontario will help pay for the Liberals' proposed provincial hospital care plan. He said his party, if elected, intends to collect stumpage dues from the woods industry and will, at the same time, see that there is a fair distribution between logs and pulp.

He again pledged his party to obtaining higher pay for school teachers and to ensuring that the young men of Ontario have a chance to enter the medical profession if they so desire.

Mr. Thomson spoke in Kingston in support of George Shurtleff, his party's candidate for Kingston. Earlier he addressed 100 persons at Enterprise in support of Harold R. Wartman, Liberal candidate in Frontenac-Addington.

Dream Up Promises

Mr. Jolliffe said in Toronto that Liberal party promises have been "dreamed up in hotel rooms to catch votes" and the Liberal platform is "a tremendous bluff blown up by unlimited money and extravagant newspaper ballyhoo."

Earlier, in a 15-minute free-time broadcast over a CBC Ontario network, he repeated his party's promise, if elected, to set up a non-partisan board of review to curb racketeering and deal with law enforcement problems. He said the Frost administration is "clearly not capable" of coping with such matters and that none of its legislation has ever gone near the roots of the problem.

Reserve Sentence In Charge Of Fraud Against UK Man

COBOURG, Nov. 17 (ENS) — Robert Underwood, English-born mechanic who was brought over from the Old Country to work at the CGE plant in Peterborough, yesterday was found guilty and remanded for sentence on a charge of obtaining $450 from Arthur Ash of Haldimand township, by false pretences.

At the trial last week, it was revealed that he borrowed the money from Ash on the pretex that he required it to pay off an immigration bond which he had put up when he came over to Canada. It was also given in evidence that altogether he had borrowed about $1,800 in the 16 weeks in which he had ben in Canada.

Underwood admitted last week at his hearing that his story to Ash was false. Ash borrowed the money on his own credit to give to Underwood, the latter saying that he had money coming to him from the Old Country.

"The statement which you made at the conclusion of your trial last week, to the efect that the only hope you had of paying what you owed was through your earnings, dispelled any doubt that I had held as to your guilt, because earlier you had said that you had money coming to you from the bonds held for you in France.

No Guarantee

"When you got the money from Ash you undertook to pay it back in four weeks, but from the evidence it was apparent that you had no guarantee that you could return it in that time, and your last words in court last week were that, the only hope you had of paying it back was to be allowed to remain at large and stay at your job at the CGE. Mr. Ash definitely relied on the fact that you said you had a source from which to pay him back his loan and therefore you obtained it by false pretences," said Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

"I would like to see him hold his job and be ordered to pay me so much a week. I am a working man and it is quite a bit I have to pay back over the money I got for him," Mr. Ash told the court.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said that he had been informed that the CGE would not take him back. Underwood replied that he would have no trouble getting a job for a man of his skill and that he owed nothing to the CGE for money advanced by that company. He asserted that the CGE didn't give him the job which had been represented to him. Mr. Deyman pointed out that the company had a number of reasons, one of them being that Underwood had

"Little Things"

"Little things that are usually overlooked, they bring up now. I didn't know it was against the law and sold two bottles of liquor to someone in the plant and at the same price it cost me," said Underwood.

"You took Ash to the cleaners and I am afraid you might do the same thing to me if I don't watch myself," said the magistrate. "I am not discriminating against you, but you have no ties in this country and you might return to England. Your wife left you."

Underwood replied that his wife was never satisfied and for that reason they had lived in England, France, Belgium, North Africa and other places. It was when he was with the Foreign Service and he applied for transfers because his wife wouldn't be contented where she was. She now had gone to France, her native country.

"You have been in so many countries we wouldn't know where to look for you. I don't think you have much regard for the truth, although I may have misjudged you. I am going to remand you for a week. I would like to see Mr. Ash get his money back and we'll see what your job prospects are," said the magistrate.

Market Prices Drift Aimlessly During Week

By DICK BAIDEN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Stock market prices drifted this week as sporadic rallies and bursts of selling established little trend.

Toronto's list of issues traded narrowed substantially during the week. Leading issues changed hands slowly with generally moderate support and balanced with weak selling pressure. Daily volume averaged about 1,900,000 shares.

Observers saw little desire by the average industrial shareholder to realize his "paper profits," and correspondingly little desire to invest new capital.

New York's Wall Street Journal commented "From a short term standpoint, traders are highly selective and there has been as much short-selling, where the market would permit, as there has been buying by these traders. It is evident that like investors in the stock market, the public has become more cautious to spending all along the line."

Two mining issues relieved generally dull Toronto trading with sustained activity. American Yellowknife staged a determined drive to recover its recent substantial losses. Daily volumes ranged to about 200,000 shares for three consecutive days. By Friday's close the stock was about 30 cents below its record high.

Panic Selling

United Asbestos attracted interest—and some panic-selling—following published unofficial reports of low ore values. The stock closed $1 lower Thursday and lost another 45 cents within the first 15 minutes of Friday's trading but regained 15 cents by the close. Trading was active.

Toronto opened the week optimistically but settled into a mixed irregular pattern as traders and investors hesitated to take a stand without direction from New York, closed for Remembrance Day. Industrials traded steadily in Montreal while papers edged higher.

A mid-session weakness Tuesday halted Toronto's early climb. Prices closed lower with agricultures and textiles showing the heaviest losses. Industrials eased in Montreal while papers held firm.

Toronto's market closed firmly on early gains Wednesday. Advances were fractional. Montreal papers weakened as industrials held steady.

Another moderate gain early Thursday was held in Toronto. Textiles drew most support while foods and refining oils held firmly to early gains. In Montreal, industrials strengthened while papers were steady.

Toronto lost most previous gains Friday as a weak mid-session rally failed to check a steady declining market. Papers and industrials eased in Montreal.

New York opened the week Tuesday with a moderate decline in highly selective buying and selling. Prices advanced moderately Wednesday as coppers and radio-T-V gained strong support. Rails were strong Thursday in an otherwise mixed market. Friday, rails came through with a driving final-hour rally to check a steadily declining market.

The waters that pour over Niagara Falls come from a drainage area of 255,00 square miles.

Ontario's Population Jumps 20% Since '41

OTTAWA, Nov. 17 (CP). — Ontario's population has jumped more than 20 per cent in the last 10 years, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

In the latest of a series of preliminary releases on provincial populations, the bureau said Ontario's present population is 4,862,354, compared with 3,787,655 —a gain of 774,699 since the previous census was taken in 1941.

Numerically, the increase was more than double the gain of 355,972 in the decade from 1931 to 1941 and more than 1½ times the previous largest increase of 498,021 between 1921 and 1931. Proportionately, the increase since 1941 is exceeded in recorded census totals only by the rise of 46.6 per cent from 1851 to 1861 when the population climbed 444,087 from 952,004 to 1,396,091.

The preliminary totals show population gains in all but five of Ontario's 54 counties and districts. Reflecting the marked industrialization and urban growth, the largest numerical increases were in York, with an increase of 215,000, Wentworth, with 58,000; Essex, 42,000; Carleton, 36,000; Middlesex, 34,000; Welland, 29,000; Sudbury, 28,000; Waterloo, 27,000; Lincoln and Peel, 24,000 each, and Ontario, 21,000.

Other Large Gains

In a considerable number of other counties and districts of smaller populations there were large percentage gains.

Date for the annual Christmas formal, the Holly Hop, was set for the 28th of December. During the meeting members of the visiting clubs were sent out on a scavenger hunt. Twelve members of the PNSC were chosen to serve at the banquet Saturday evening for the school rugby teams. After a social half hour together with dancing all the girls left for a pep rally for the football finals.

Tuck Shop Shows Balance

Quarterly report to St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary on the hospital tuck shop was given at the meeting Thursday evening by convener Miss Louise Flynn. She said a balance of $753.17 is now in this account. Mrs. E. O'Brien reported the demand on St. Joseph's cupboard has been greatly increased and the Auxiliary then decided to allot a sum of money for buying articles to supplement those that are made and donated. A cheque for $450 was given to Rev. Sister Priscilla, fulfilling a promise to supply three incubators for the hospital. President Mrs. P. J. Anglesey read a detailed account of the Ontario Hospital Association meeting held in Toronto recently. Mrs. B. Monahan gave the report on Hospital Auxiliaries as given by the Rev. Sister Mary Anthony of St. Michael's Hospital at the convention. The auxiliary planned to make favors for patients' trays at Christmas. A lovely lunch was served the members by the Sisters.

Invictae Marks 4th Birthday

Fourth anniversary of George St. "Invictae" Mission Circle was celebrated this week with a supper party arranged by Mrs. Mary Wells and her group. A lovely birthday cake with candles was made by Mrs. Wells and it was cut by the president Miss Dorothy Leslie. After supper, Miss Leslie opened the regular meeting with the hymn "O spirit of the living God." Scripture was read by Mrs. Betty Harris and the president led in prayer. An account of the missionary work carried on in Ontario, in boarding schools, mission centres, etc., was told by Misses Margaret Duncan, Marion Brown and Shirley Stark. Mrs. June Morrow gave a reading on "Home Missions." The temperance report was presented by Miss Phyllis McClennan. Second hymn sung was "Go labour on."

Speaker Outlines Franz Liszt Gifts to Music

The talk on Franz Liszt, given at the Women's Art Association studio meeting Friday afternoon was designed by Mrs. Alice Roger Collins of Peterborough to prove her opinion that Liszt has given the world more than any other composer. Mrs. Collins who is literary-minded as well as musically, is presently writing a book about him. Her interest has grown since she first studied under one of his pupils in Germany.

It is the influence of pupils and pupils of pupils of Liszt that has perpetuated his ideas and had effect on music of today, she pointed out. Methods of teaching now in use were started by Liszt. He was the first to realize that fingers should be limbered up before starting to play, also that height of the stool and posture made a difference.

Liszt taught how to get independence of the fingers, how to get to know what they were capable of. His pupils were taught by learning sound values, first, rather than being taken to the piano and taught to play.

He came at a time when the piano was coming into perfection and he was able to help in perfecting the actual instrument, Mrs. Collins said. For instance, he suggested that more metal be put in, to do away with the "woodeny" sound.

Born in Hungary in 1811, the year after Chopin, his first work was published in 1823. He lived in a number of places during his lifetime, but his best associations were in Bymar. He was married but showed a preference for the monastic life and was a member of a Roman Catholic Order in which he was a priest but unable to say mass. A number of his pupils, some still alive, were mentioned in her talk.

In conclusion, Mrs. Collins urged the ladies to keep up with the arts, for, she said, the beautiful things of the world will survive the wars and uncertain times.

President Mrs. N. D. Seaton thanked the speaker. She also made a brief report to the membership on the annual meeting of the parent organization in Toronto which she attended on Wednesday.

MEMBERS of the Laurentian Service Organization recently gave a helping hand to the Quebec Committee of the Canadian Save the Children Fund when they packed the final shipment of new and nearly new clothing for children in Europe collected during the drive last spring. In the picture, taken at the Montreal Headquarters, are six of the women who helped pack the clothing.

Hunter-Third Nuptial Vows Pledged By Candlelight

A lovely candlelight wedding ceremony took place in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Friday evening at seven o'clock as Jean Lorraine Third and Donald John Hunter pledged nuptial vows before the Rev. C. G. Boyd. The bride is daughter of Mrs. G. Neil Third and the late Mr. Third of Campbellford and the groom is son of Mrs. John Hunter and the late Mr. Hunter of Havelock.

White 'mums and candles formed the setting and the music was played by organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill. Before the wedding march he played "Ave Maria" and during the signing of the register he played "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride chose a gown of white chiffon velvet which featured a petal collar on the tight-fitting bodice and long lily point sleeves. The full skirt swept into a cathedral train and her veil was finger tip length of embroidered tulle caught to a sweetheart headdress of velvet. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law Mr. Irving Wigg, she was attended by Mrs. Eileen Wigg as matron of honor and another sister, Miss Laura Third was bridesmaid. The attendants wore similar frocks of dark green and rust velvet which were fashioned with low necklines topped with matching shoulder capes. Their headdresses were also of velvet in off-the-face design and they carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Mr. Floyd Hamilton was the groomsman and Harold Hunter, brother of the groom, ushered.

The reception was held in the Marine Room, Club Aragon, where the bride's mother was receiving, dressed in forest green tricotine crepe and matching velvet hat, with corsage of bronze 'mums. The groom's mother chose navy crepe and a navy felt hat and wore pink carnations.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Toronto and points west Mrs. Hunter wore a mauve tissue faille dress and full length coat of black wool broadcloth and her accessories were black.

On return they will live at 70 Morrow St.

Soup Fine In Box Lunches

WHETHER you pack lunches for a working man or for school youngsters, you're really preparing surprise packages for them. And lunch every day should be a happy surprise, the kind they'll enjoy.

Three menu "must's" for a lunch box are these: Something hot. Something nourishing. Something fresh and crisp. Include those items and you're sure of grin-winning lunches.

For the something hot, soup is the perfect satisfying dish. You have a wide assortment to choose from in the condensed soups—tomato, asparagus, cream of mushroom, vegetable, chicken noodle. Just add the required amount of liquid and heat the soup. If you use a lip pan, you can pour direct from the pan to the thermos. The luncher may eat or drink the soup from his thermos cup. Be sure to send a spoon.

The nourishing part of lunch is often a sandwich. Try new combinations of fillings and a variety of breads to keep up appetite appeal. Now and then, send a cup of salad instead of a sandwich. Potato salad with slices of frankfurters or a cottage cheese salad can be mighty tasty. Deviled eggs too are perfect lunch-box fare.

To round out the repast, fix crisp vegetable relishes and send some fresh fruit almost every day. Apples, pears, grapes, oranges—any one is refreshing. Just try to make it something different each time.

You'll find it easier to pack lunches if you plan them a week ahead. Here are some menu ideas to start with.

Special Treat

Cream of Chicken Soup
Doubledeck Bunwich (One Layer Cheese, One Ham on Round Bun)
Orange Segments and Grapes
Oatmeal Cookies
Surprise Package (Hard Candy and Peanuts)

Box Picnic

Bean with Bacon Soup (Prepared with Milk)
Deviled Egg
Fresh Tomato Wedges
Bread and Butter Sandwiches
Banana Chocolate Cookies

• • •

SOUP SCOOPS

CHEESE VEGETABLE SOUP: Next time you serve condensed vegetable soup, give it brand new appeal this way. Stir some shredded Canadian cheese into it just before you pour the soup into bowls. About 2 tablespoons of cheese is the right amount for 1 can of condensed soup.

• • •

CORN-AND-BEEF SKILLET SUPPER: Brown ½ pound of ground beef with some chopped onion and green pepper in a big skillet. Then stir in 1 20-ounce can of drained whole kernel corn and 1 can of condensed tomato soup. Simmer for 5 minutes. That's dinner all ready to go to the table with green salad and buttered French bread.

New Procedure Aiding Abdominal Cases

KINGSTON — (CP) — The urology department of the Kingston General Hospital is the home of Canadian pioneers in the field of trans-urethral surgery.

Thanks to their experiments in recent months, patients at the hospital suffering from disorders of the kidneys or blood vessels, or tumors of the abdomen, now have the benefit of aortography, a new diagnostic procedure.

By injecting a new drug, urokon, into the aorta — great artery or trunk of the arterial system, which comes out of the left ventricle of the heart—it is possible, with an X-ray picture exposed at one-thirtieth of a second, to see the blood vessels of the abdomen.

Dr. N. E. Berry, head of the department, says this provides information for proper diagnosis and treatment that is available in no other way.

Long Word

Dr. E. P. White, another permanent member of the department, and Dr. J. O. Metcalfe of Edmonton, have worked with Dr. Berry in developing the procedure, which was first tried in Portugal in 1929.

It has been used more frequently in a few United States hospitals in the last two years, but the Kingston General was the first Canadian hospital to try the new diagnosis.

The urology department in 1941 pioneered the massive-dose arsenotherapy treatment of syphilis, a revolutionary treatment at the time, which has since been superceded by penicillin treatment.

Aortography, which requires precise co-operation between the urology and radiology departments, has been used here in diagnosing the diseases of about 100 patients.

Dr. Berry says it is a relatively simple procedure and is accompanied by little reaction on the part of the patient.

Home and School Association News

OMEMEE SCHOOL

Mr. Charles Hurst, president of Peterborough United Nations Association, was guest speaker at a supper meeting held by Omemee Home and School Association Wednesday evening in the Anglican Church basement.

Miss Marion Rea, teacher, teacher of Omemee grades 5 and 6, also spoke. Other features were: a sing-song conducted by the Rev. C. Richmond, convener's reports, the reading of the aims of Home and School by Mrs. Richmond and an article on what it means to be an active member, by Mrs. I. Clifford.

The parents' roll-call gave the High School possession of the shield for another month. Membership convener Mrs. R. James made a strong appeal to non-members who were guests, to join the association. She announced the room mothers for this year as follows: Mrs. S. Northey for the High School, Mrs. N. Ruttle for Mr. Curtis' room, Mrs. L. Hart for Miss Rea's room, Mrs. G. Smith for Miss Jones' room, and Mrs. G. Nelson for Miss Lamb's room.

President, Mrs. J. H. Green, announced that Mrs. A. Stephenson was attending a class on discipline, a phase of the Parent Education course, sponsored by the community program's branch of the Dept. of Education, and being held in Peterborough public library. She said the association was looking forward to leadership from Mrs. Stephenson in conducting a study class on that subject in the near future.

Miss Rea spoke in the interest of more good reading for children—a timely subject for Young Canada's Book Week. The purpose of Young Canada's Book Week, she said, was to stress the need of more books in the community, and to make known to parents the availability of these books. "The influence of good reading on children is shown in their growing appreciation of English Literature". This she illustrated by quoting the results of an interview with students, which proved that the average public school student places English last in his choice of school subjects, while the High School graduate puts it head of the list.

Mrs. Stephenson introduced Mr. Hurst, and in speaking of his accomplishments and his interests took special pleasure in stating that he was much interested in Home and School, being convener of citizenship in Queen Mary School, Peterborough.

Mr. Hurst, before proceeding to his subject, "Canada in the United Nations" commented on the disappointing fact that fathers, generally speaking, took too little interest in "Home and School" which he considered very important from the standpoint of citizenship.

Canada, he said, had passed gradually from a colony to a nation, and we had witnessed the culmination of that passing. At present she has a difficult course to steer between the British political pull and the influence of USA economy.

We have learned to think, said Mr. Hurst, in terms of world interests, and to participate in organizations such as world health, international civic aviation, international labor and trade organizations. International strife, he said, feeds on disease and starvation. Backward countries can now come to international court of justice. Canadians, he said, have become important in the work of the United Nations, and the United Nations' official propaganda is the United Nations Association. He invited his audience to go to Peterborough and see the association in action.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Hurst was moved by principal J. B. Hough, who said that peace among nations must begin in the communities, where a united front is maintained by working harmoniously.

The president thanked the social committee and all who had contributed to the evening's enjoyment.

DOROTHY DIX

Soften Up On Discipline Advice To Stepmother

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a suitor who is widower with two spoiled daughters, aged 13 and 15. He is eight years older than I, well established, kind considerate and everything I may expect of a husband at my age (I am 31). The difficulty is that the children are hostile to me.

Dorothy Dix

My lack of men friends up to this point indicates that I don't exactly "make friends and influence people." My parents were strict disciplinarians and when I taught school, it was in a community where the pupils were spanked. I have suggested that the girls should be spanked when they have been discourteous to me; I suppose that wasn't very tactful. However, their mother's pepple also seem to believe that what they need is a few whippings.

Their father and I have had many discussions on this point. He assures me I shall have complete authority as to discipline but I have pointed out that in the two years since their mother died he should have begun to exercise some. I don't relish the idea of being a cruel stepmother, and their father is reluctant to do the punishing, so I don't know whether to step into the situation or not.

K. L. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are certainly adopting the very tactics that will drive these youngsters away from you, rather than drawing them closer. They are not necessarily spoiled, but have certainly been neglected, through the long illness of their mother and in the years since her death. Kindness, not rigid discipline, is your keynote in trying to win them, and though you do not seem particularly equipped to, as you say, "make friends and influence people", is never too late to learn. You need a more tolerant outlook on the world, to which you will find an amazing response. At this point in your life, either you continue the rocky road you have traversed so far, expecting everyone to live up to the rigid standards by which you have lived, or you must make allowances for the faults and foibles of your fellow men. On the decision rests the happiness or misery of your future.

You Can Be Happy

You have in prospect what may be a very happy marriage and home life. Your widower friend is a splendid man who can offer you the material things that make life pleasant and has a fine disposition to go along with it. If you can win his daughters' trust and affection, a happy life is assured.

How can you go about this is a matter for you to decide, but the important thing is to change your outlook. Details will follow easily. You must look upon these girls as motherless children at an age when girls most need the gentle but firm, guiding hand of an understanding woman. Whippings, be very assured, will gain you nothing but fervent dislike. You are an educated woman; use some of your knowledge in teaching the youngsters that the discipline imposed by loving parents it not the same as that applied simply for the sake of punishment itself.

I hope you can accomplish the difficult task of changing your tactics, and winning the love of the girls. They need you, and you certainly could use their youthful exuberance in toning down your own too-serious outlook on life.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 and have been going with a 16-year-old boy for about five months. Last Sunday was my birthday and he gave me a lovely gift. His birthday will be here shortly and I wondered if I should give him a gift. We both go to high school and do not earn much money.

ELSIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It will be very thoughtful, and entirely appropriate, for you to give your boy friend a birthday gift. It need not be expensive, in fact, a costly present would be in bad taste. If you are good at handiwork, why not make him something? A knitted tie, sox or gloves?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For fifteen years I was married to a drunkard. I divorced him, then on his promises to reform, married him again After our remarriage he was worse than ever and I divorced him again. Now he promises faithfully he will stop drinking if I go back to him. I am supporting my children better than he was.

ELLEN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly are a glutton for punishment, Ellen. Also a most credulous person. Two chances are enough for anyone. Unless you enjoy going through this martyrdom every few years, better keep the freedom you have.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: Your column is most interesting and helpful. I have a few questions and first may be, rather difficult to answer:

1. It is a recipe for dinner rolls which I had at one of the hotels and just hope you may know the recipe. These rolls were served hot and when broken there was just a light crust—almost like a puff ball?

2. Would you have a dressing for a green salad or cabbage salad that contains no oil? Also could you suggest a dressing for potato salad less the oil? (My husband does not like any mayonnaise or an oily dressing).

3. I have a lovely pastry recipe (one that never fails) but it shrinks so badly there is not much room for the filling. I have tried overlapping on the pan and pricked it with a fork. I use a pound of lard (not shortening) and 5 cups sifted flour. Does that seem too rich? Use a 400 deg. oven.

4. Could one use a shell for cream puffs for a filling of creamed chicken and mushrooms rather than the usual patty shell?

5. The pie pastry I use is lovely and flaky. Would this be suitable for sausage rolls? Otherwise I would appreciate a recipe. S.M.W.

ANSWER: I have verbal instructions from the baker for a system of bakeries in our province for what they call their butter buns. They are very like what you describe and I will tell you what this baker told me.

Use the recipe below, for butterhorns—but use 2 packages of dry granular yeast. When it comes to the last rolling out of the dough roll it less than ¼-inch thick and spread it with soft butter and roll up. Chill until very cold then cut into pinwheels and let rise very high; put in oven of 475 deg. Fahr. reducing heat to 400 after 5 minutes. Bake only until tinged with gold.

These should be brushed with melted butter about 4 minutes before it is time to remove them from the oven. I know yours were not pinwheels. I would suggest you try the above—allowing the dough to rise very high after rolls have been shaped. Then if they are satisfactory and puffy try the same method but cut the dough into ball shapes. Use extra butter in the dough when first made.

Butterhorns

One cup scalded milk, ¾ cup butter, ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 package dry granular yeast, 2 eggs, 5 cups sifted bread flour. (Sometimes try ordinary flour—even cake flour for tenderer breadstuffs.) Add the butter to the hot milk, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add the dry yeast which has been dissolved in ½ cup lukewarm milk or water with 1 teaspoon sugar (as directed on package). Add slightly beaten eggs and mix well. Add flour gradually to make a stiff dough, mixing until dough is blended and soft. Add enough flour to make a dough that can be kneaded, then knead it until smooth. Let rise in buttered bowl, covered until at least doubled in bulk. For butterhorns roll out one-fourth of dough at a time. Cut in wedge-shaped pieces ¼-inch thick, 4 inches wide at bottom tapering to nothing and about 6 inches long. Let rise very high, covered, and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 or 30 minutes.

Salad Dressing (without oil)

Mix together ¼ cup best quality vinegar, ½ cup water, 6 tablespoons melted butter, ¼ to ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon paprika and 1 teaspoon sugar. Bring to boil stirring. Remove from heat and cool to warm and beat in 4 beaten egg yolks. Place in top of double boiler over boiling water and cook stirring until it thickens enough to coat spoon. Remove from heat and store in covered jars. Excellent for any vegetable salad, especially cauliflower, asparagus and potatoes.

You are not alone in your pastry-shrinking problem. Often lard-pastry will do this. Not more than four or six weeks ago another reader wrote to me with the same trouble.

Lard contains moisture that the manufactured shortenings do not. Great expense has been gone to to eliminate moisture from shortenings, and one of the reasons for this research is to prevent shrinkage in pastry. However you can bake your pastry on the outside of your pie plates, and place the pastry-covered plates, upside down in the oven. They should be pricked all over with a fork, just the same as they are when baked on the right side of the pie plate. One lb. lard to 5 cups sifted flour sounds just right.

If you use cream puff shells filled with chicken salad or chicken and mushroom filling they are called bouchees—especially when they are not more than 2 or 2½ inches in diameter. These bouchees are sometimes served at receptions.

Pie paste for sausage rolls should contain less fat than for other uses for the fat in the sausage meat oozes out into the pastry when it is baked. Reduce the amount of lard in your pastry to the proportions of 1 lb. lard to 6 cups sifted flour for sausage rolls.

I hope I have answered all your questions and that I am of practical help to you. Write to me whenever you feel the need.

6—In Memoriam

BUSBY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas Busby, who died November 18, 1948.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

DELPELLARO—In loving memory of Nicholas Delpellaro, who died November 17, 1945.
Father as we look around this world,
When you adjusted all trouble and care,
Then as we stop to ponder
Over all the good you've done,
My thoughts of you in heaven now,
And the crown you have won.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

FERGUSON—In loving memroy of a dear husband and father, Walter Stewart Ferguson, who passed away three years ago, November 17, 1951.
We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own,
Like ivy on the withered oak, when all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade away.
—Always remembered by his wife and family.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of my brother, Wm. John Loucks, who died Nov. 18, 1949.
Deep in my heart lies a picture,
Of a loved one laid to rest;
In memory's frame I shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
—Ever remembered by sister Jean, brother-in-law Lynne Phillips and family.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who passed away suddenly Nov. 18, 1949.
Thy will be done seems hard to say
When one we loved has passed away,
Some day, perhaps, we'll understand,
When we meet again in that better land.
—Ever remembered by brother Doug and sister-in-law Shirley.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who died suddenly November 18, 1949.
He is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still comes o'er us
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Always remembered by mother and father.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Jack Loucks, who passed away two years ago, Nov. 18, 1949.
Time speeds on, two years have passed,
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast,
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will
His vacant place there's none can fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Always remembered by his wife Kitty and family Rickey, Mickey and Roxy.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of William John Loucks, who passed away suddenly November 18, 1949.
Beside your grave I often stand,
With heart both crushed and sore,
But in the gloom the sweet words come,
Not lost but gone before.
God knows how much I miss him,
He counts the tears I shed,
And whispers "he only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
So we'll be brave dear brother,
And pray to God each day,
And when He calls us home to your,
Your smile will guide the way.
—Sadly missed by sister Margaret.

Lemery Plants

company wished to emphasize.

This reference to the Canadian distributors stems from an article about the McCulloch interests published in Fortune, top drawer magazine for business men, published in Chicago by Time Inc. It is mainly a sketch of the career and personality of Robert P. McCulloch, head of the Los Angeles company, and his associates.

Eight Plants

Incidentally, Mr. Lemery said that McCulloch Corp. has eight plants in the Los Angeles area. The largest of them is one-half the size of the big new Ford Motor Company recently announced for erection at Oakville.

The following are excerpts from the Fortune account entitled "Young Men From Milwaukee."

"At the moment McCulloch Motors is the world's largest maker of power chain saws. These are outboard motors that drive endless, toothed chains around stationary steel blades, slicing trees and logs at five times handsaw speeds. Two and a half years ago, when McCulloch was shipping its first chain saws, the field was dominated by such established toolmakers as Disston and Mall.

"McCulloch now sells almost as many gas-powered chain saws as all its competitors combined. More than 5,000 chain saws were manufactured and shipped from Los Angeles in February, 1951, and these accounted for most of the company's $1,800,000 sales for the month. A remaining backlog of 13,000 units caused Bob McCulloch to ask himself: "Will we ever catch up?"

Two-Cycle Motors

"McCulloch Motors is dedicated to designing, engineering and manufacturing, and it has a special interest in two-cycle gasoline motors. But, beyond that it refuses a label. Three years ago it was a stranger to the chain saw, which is now its chief preoccupation. Three years from now likely as not, its preoccupation will be with some product unknown to it today."

"From the paternal side of the family, Robert P. McCulloch inherited a fortune. His father-in-law, with whom he competes, is the Briggs of Milwaukee's Briggs & Stratton Corp., leading maker of small industrial engines.

"The young McCulloch entered Princeton in 1928, stayed two years and then went to Stanford University on the Pacific Coast. At 20 he was back in Milwaukee and set up a machine shop turning out engines for midget racers. Experimenting with superchargers put him in business.

"In 1943 McCulloch Engineering Corp. was making superchargers for all purposes in a new Milwaukee factory. Only opposition was General Motors. McCulloch's sales for 1942 were three million dollars. He sold out for about a million, and in six months was going again in a new venture McCulloch Aviation Inc. His knowledge of small gasoline engines brought returns.

Engines For Army

"During the war his company designed and manufactured a quantity of light but powerful two-cycle engines for the military. One model drove the generators that powered portable-radio equipment.

"Subsequent shifts finally led to Los Angeles in 1946 with 33 families in the migration. He spent a million dollars on a new plant, and without financial help.

"He was guided by the same go-it-alone philosophy when he set up McCulloch Motors Corp. to replace McCulloch Aviation Inc. Without outside directors or stockholders, the company is flexible and fast moving. 'If I want to switch from chain saws to washing machines,' says McCulloch, 'I can make a start in ten minutes. I just talk it over with the boys.'

"In 1946 McCulloch's 'boys' were just that. He was thirty-five. Vice-President in charge of tooling and methods, Gerald Robechaud, was 41. Another McCulloch old-timer John Ryde was vice-president and chief engineer at 34. Sherwood Egbert, production chief now vice-president was 27; Fred Beer, sales, now a vice-president, was 27 too. The secretary and treasurer, Joseph Hegener was 33. Here was whiz-kid management, and after five years it remains unchanged."

"The products that kept 200 people busy in the factory and paid the bills were the engines for target planes, an engine for lawn mowers and an engine for chain saws.

"Buyer and distributor of the saw motor was Reed-Prentice of Worcester, Mass. In 1949 McCulloch terminated that contract and produced his own new, powerful but light, chain saw in July of that year.

"In the next fiscal year McCulloch Motors doubled its 1947 sales to more than four million dollars, and sales this year will be ten times their total for 1947. He has yet to take a penny out of the business."

SEATTLE, Nov. 17—(AP) — Sir Thomas Beecham of London, who once conducted two full symphony seasons here, will return next March to conduct two concerts of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra it as announced Friday.

Chinese Trying To Get Line Back From Canadians For 3 Months

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Nov. 17 — (CP)—The Chinese built a winter-line.

Part of it was north and west of the Imjin river, and the Canadians took it.

The Chinese have been trying to get it back ever since.

That, in brief, is what has been happening during the last three months in that part of the Korean front manned by the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade group. The brigade is in the west central sector, northwest of Uijonbu and Tokchong.

At minimum cost, and at first with formations of the Eighth United States army in Korea, it won its objectives when the "limited offensive" campaign was launched last Sept. 28. All were taken the first day. By noon of the 29th it had completed its exploitation of them and was firm on its final positions.

The brigade had advanced a total of 12,000 map yards since the beginning of September, or 36,000 yards as the foot-soldier goes—up hill and across country.

Head For Enemy

Outlining the fighting, Brig. John M. Rockingham, of Vancouver, brigade commander, said his troops relieved the 5th US cavalry regiment west of the Imjin early in September and then on Sept. 11 began to work toward the enemy's main positions.

"We had two good fights on the way, against Chinese in strength on two hilltops. They were attacked by the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment with terrific tank support from "C" Squadron of the Lord Strathcona's Horse. It was the best infantry-tank support I've ever seen. The tanks were firing so close ahead of the advancing inafntry that they were almost clipping the hair from their heads.

"Then, on the 27th, the day before 'Operation Commanda,' the big attack went in, the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry attacked Chinese on a bump 600 yards north and captured it.

"At the same time the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadia Regiment had sneaked a hill to the west—we just kept on sneaking all we could from the Chinese.

"The next day Operation Commando went in and we had all our objectives by nightfall. By noon the next day we had exploited through to our present positions.

Most Spectacular Action

"Our most spectacular action since then was a raid using one company from each of the three battalions, together with the tanks.

"We sallied across country to reach a 600-foot ridge and had to go down to the bottom of the valley before we could storm up it. The boys are getting good at these 'banzai' charges now—they are confident of the close tank support and the tanks have complete confidence in their ability to put a round where it's wanted.

"It was a razor-backed ridge, and we got most of it. We pulled out in daylight behind a smoke-screen and artillery concentrations. Having achieved our objectives, which were to take prisoners, see what we could ahead from that high ground and then to get away safely.

First Class Work

"The Patricia company was commanded by Maj. Geoff Williams, and from the 1st Battalion. It was their first action in Korea and absolutely first class.

"You should have seen them the next morning, polishing their bayonets and cleaning their rifles and saying 'those ——— Chinese aren't so hot.' It was the best possible way of blooding them."

Indicative of the fighting during the period, enemy casualties reported by the Patricias alone between Oct. 4 and 9 were 72 killed, seven wounded and 14 prisoners.

Since the beginning of November the enemy has been launching determined attacks along the entire sector, concentrating in strengths of up to a battalion and more to attack UN platoon positions.

Invariably in the Canadian sector he has been beaten off, leaving never fewer than 30 dead in the platoon area—the fighting is at such close quarters—or strung out on the wire, and uncounted others in the aproaches, killed by UN artillery and mortar fire.

Missionaries Needed Coldsprings WMS Told

COLDSPRINGS, Nov. 17 (ENS) —"Missionary Work In Western Canada" was the subject of an address given by Mr. Herbert Lander at the November meeting on Thursday of Coldsprings WMS. Mr. Lander told of his work among the people in the prairie province in 1913. He said the early pioneers were Indians who originally came from Assia. They paddled boats across the strait to Australia, then made the trip from island to island, across the Pacific.

Mr. Lander said there was a desperate need in the west today for young Christian missionaries.

Mrs. Arthur Jamieson, president of the WMS, was the hostess, and presided over the business.

The treasurer reported $96.25 had been received at the fall thankoffering. It was voted to hold the meetings in homes for the next year. The executive are to act as a nominating committee.

Mrs. Artless Taylor, group leader, was in charge of the meeting, which opened with call to worship, and meditation by Mrs. Taylor, with Bible readings by Mrs. Ford, Mrs. M. Linton and Mrs. Lang.

Questions and answers on mission briefs, based on the church of the far-flung frontier, were given by Mrs. Teney, Mrs. Jamieson and Miss S. Watt. Mrs. C. Timlin sang a solo, "Do Something for Others."

A vote of thanks was made to the hostess for her hospitality, to Mr. Lander for his splendid address, and all those taking part, by Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. P. Davidson and group assisted the hostess to serve lunch.

Peterborough YPU's Meet At Springville

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 17 (ENS) — In response to a uniquely worded and illustrated invitation —"YPU Rounduy"—a large and enthusiastic gathering of young people (represetning the churches of the Peterborough Presbytery) met at Springville United Church on Wednesday evening.

Lloyd Starke was chairman for the program. Marion Brown, assisted by Shirley Starke, conducted group singing. Ella Down conducted the worship service and the Rev. A. E. Larke presented the new YPU program for 1952.

Dorothy Leslie was in charge of the recreation period. Lloyd Starke presented the field day plaque to the president of Mark St. YPU. After lunch, served by the Springville group, taps and a friendship circle brought the evening to a close.

Music Appreciation Topic At YPU Meeting

COLDSPRINGS, Nov. 17 (ENS) —"Music appreciation" was the subject of an address given by Miss Edith Hoskin, guest speaker at the regular meeting of Coldsprings YPU on Thursday evening. She spoke on different composers, where they were buried, and how a choir has a great responsibility, leading the congregations in service of song.

Warren Buttars, citizenship convener, was in charge of the program. Scripture was read by Eunice Minifie. Bill Little was pianist and collection was received by Leslie Avery. There were 20 present.

Bomb-Proof Centres

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)— The veterans of foreign wars are planning to build 65 igloo-shaped atom bomb-proof recreation centres in New York city. Each structure could house 12,000 in an emergency. John P. O'Connell, New York council commander, said Friday the first one will be completed by next September at a cost of $750,000.

Party For Composer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—(AP)— Tin pan alley gave a big birthday party Friday night for W. C. Handy, 78-year-old negro composer of the "St. Louis Blues." Handy is totally blind from the effects of an eye disease. The affair launched the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind, Inc., a nation-wide organization for social service and medical aid among needy negro blind.

New Canal Collapse Along Po River Threatens 2 Cities

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 19. (AP)—The home of Romeo and Juliet—Verona—and Mantua today fell under the menace of Italy's rampaging flood with the collapse of a quarter-mile section of the northern bank of the Bianco Canal. The break, which has doubled in size since Sunday, was only one more new calamity in the desolated Po delta, where nearly 200,000 persons have been made homeless. A fierce storm-driven rain in some parts of the vast area added to sufferings of thousands of isolated hungry, threatened persons. It also added to the floods, which in the last 10 days have brought death to more than 100 north Italians.

Rovigo, the provincial capital, was a deserted city.

A fleet of small boats was rushed to Adria, where 20,000 of the 35,000 population were marooned after ignoring earlier warnings. During the weekend the waters covered the city and today they rose in many places to second-storey level.

Major Threat

The canal break was 40 miles from Verona, a city of 170,000, made famous by Shakespeare's play. An official said the collapse of the canal bank was a "major threat which directly menaces even Verona and Mantua."

The flood waters spread muddy ruin over a delta triangle 36 miles deep and 18 miles wide at its Adriatic sea base.

Submerged in the triangle were Adria, Cavarzere, a city of 25,000 residents, Doreo, with 11,00, and Donada 8,700 plus scores of villages, hamlets and farms.

After a full day of isolation, those still in Adria got some supplies by plane.

Damage so far is estimated in the millions of dollars.

How many of the homeless had been rescued and how many waited desperately in upper stories and treetops for help was not known. An indication came from a provincial official here who said most of Adria's population had failed to heed the evacuation order late Saturday.

Worst Since 1908

Coupled with the storms in which 110 died in Southern Italy and Sicily last month, the flood was Italy's worst natural disaster since the Messina earthquake of 1908.

A Rovigo official said all non-essential population has been evacuated from the town. Only about 6,000 persons remain, almost all workers needed to provide help for stricken villages.

Through the flooded area the problem of food and clothing was acute. Appeals were received hourly. Food, thousands of blankets, and woollen garments were en route by every available means of transportation.

The total flooded area could only be estimated. One official said more than 200 square miles were under water.

Path of Destruction

The flood torrents which broke loose Nov. 8 have left a path of destruction and a growing death toll the length of the Po Valley.

Weekend Battle Kills 14, In Egyptian City

CAIRO, Nov. 19 (CP)—British authorities ordered a speed-up of evacuation of servicemen's families from the trouble spot of Ismailia today after a weekend of violence in which four Britons were killed and four wounded in clashes with Egyptian police.

Ten Egyptians were killed, 15 police and eight civilians wounded in the fighting, the Egyptian Minister of the Interior, Fuad Serag El Din Pasha, said here.

Today the city of Ismailia is without police protection. The Egyptians ordered their officers back to barracks until a meeting later today with British authorities.

Early this morning a British patrol touring the deserted streets of the city found the bodies of two more Britons, RAF army officers. Both apparently had been shot in the gun battle between British troops and Egyptian police Sunday.

Earlier one British officer was reported killed and another seriously wounded in the fighting—the second clash in Ismailia in 24 hours.

Conflicting Reports

British and Egyptian spokesmen issued conflicting reports on how the gunplay started. The Egyptians claimed that a British soldier fired on an Egyptian police truck which fired back in self-defence. The British said the Egyptian police fired on a British military police jeep.

Pistol and rifle fire shattered the central residential area for 2½ hours, sending civilians scurrying for cover.

Ali Helmy Bey, governor of Ismailia, said last night: "I cannot maintain law and order as long as my men are attacked by British soldiers. Therefore I am sending them back to barracks pending talks with British authorities."

A British spokesman described Sunday's fighting as a "flareup of the Saturday night battle" in which a British army officer was killed.

He said a military patrol jeep was fired on Sunday afternoon as it passed headquarters of the Egyptian police.

Heavy Snowfall In London Area

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP)—Heavy snow fell on London and district during the weekend, with the city apparently bearing the brunt of the storm.

Crumlin airport here reported an official 7.1 inches. But at least a foot fell downtown and unofficial checks in other parts of the city showed 16 inches.

Plows operated Sunday night north of Stratford. Snow fell heavily in Huron and Bruce counties near Lake Huron.

By night heavy snow was reported east of Woodstock.

In the Walkerton area, snow was reported falling steadily Sunday night with eight inches already on the ground.

At Sarnia Saturday a blizzard halted traffic from about seven miles east of the city, to Warwick, 25 miles away. Six inches of snow was reported, and cars were in the ditch all along No. 7 Highway.

Express Jumps Track Engine Overturns

POLESWORTH, Warwick, England, Nov. 19 (AP)—Seven cars of a Glasgow to London night express train jumped the track here just before dawn today and the engine overtuned. Four persons were injured.

Three were given first aid and released. The fourth was detained at a hospital with possible fractured ribs. Between 150 and 200 passengers were aboard the train.

Though the engine overturned, the derailed cars were held upright against the station platform.

Visit To Canada Revives Faith In Mankind—Princess

LONDON, Nov. 19 (CP). — Princess Elizabeth said today the Canadian tour has placed in her heart "a love which will never grow old."

Speaking at a "welcome home" reception at the ancient Guildhall, in the heart of London, the Princess said:

"I am sure that nowhere under the sun could one find a land more full of hope, of happiness and of fine, loyal, generous-hearted people.

"I do not believe one can return from Canada without a new sense of faith in the progress of mankind. For none of the doubts, disillusions nor difficulties that face us on this troubled continent are going to hold back the Canadians."

The Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh drove to the Guildhall in an open carriage. Despite leaden skies and intermittent rain cheering crowds lined the route from Buckingham Palace down the Strand and Fleet Street to the Guildhall.

An address of welcome from the Court of Common Council, read by the Recorder, Sir Gerla Doson, congralutated the Royal couple on the success of the Royal tour. In her reply, Elizabeth said she and her husband had been received with a warmth and kindliness which had moved them deeply.

The Princess said that on the Royal couple's visit to the United States "we passed what is surely one of the miracles of the world today, that vast 4,000-mile frontier without a single gun pointed in fear on either side."

She declared Canada is a "land where enterprise can flourish and where industry will be rewarded, a land that deserves people of sterling quality."

"I do not believe one can return from Canada without a new sense of faith in the progress of mankind."

Big 3 Asks UN Set Up Commission

Urges 12 Countries Begin Work On Disarmament Plan

PARIS, Nov. 19. (CP)—The western Big Three asked the United Nations today to set up a 12-country disarmament commission to start the ball rolling toward the step-by-step, supervised arms reduction proposed by Britain, the United States and France.

Canada and the 11 members of the UN Security Council would make up the disarmament commission. It would take the place of the present UN Conventional Arms and Atomic Energy Commission, of which Canada is a member.

The Commission would lay the groundwork for a world-wide arms reduction conference. Non-UN members such as Communist China would be invited to the conference.

State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States put the Western proposals before the UN General Assembly's political committee in a resolution embodying the Big Three's plan for strictly controlled, gradual disarmament and a census of all weapons, including atomic.

May Be Turning Point

UN acceptance of this plan, Acheson said, could be a turning point in history and a step towards ending the cold war.

Acheson told the delegates to the 60-member committee they were dealing with the "most important problem any group of statesmen have ever dealt with—the question of national survival."

It was the first time the American Secretary of State had appeared personally before a UN committee to introduce and explain a resolution on any subject.

As in the Security Council, all of the Big Five—Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States—would have to agree on the proposed commission's decisions. Each of the five would have the veto power which has so often blocked the council.

The commission would draw up, for submission to the world conference, treaties for the "regulation, limitation and balanced reduction of all armed forces and all armaments."

Russia Friday proposed that a similar 12-power commission start work at once on the inspection and control of weapons. It called for the commission to report to the Security Council by Feb. 1, 1952—presumably within the life of the current Assembly.

Strike Continues Against School

TOLEDO, Ont., Nov. 19 (CP)—The parents' strike against Toledo's louse-infested two-room public school continued today though this was the deadline for reopening the building.

Parents said they are still dissatisfied with unsanitary conditions at the 60-pupil school, despite a cleaning job last week, and kept their children home.

Earlier they had complained that almost all the 60 children in the school had picked up lice at the school.

The strike started Nov. 9.

Find 171 Bottles In Liquor Cache

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 19.—Joseph Assef, known as the "Bottle Baron" of Windsor and a central figure in the recent investigation of administration of justice in the border city, was arrested here today.

He and a companion, Norman Ashby, also of Windsor, were held on charges of illegal possession of liquor, after police discovered 171 bottles of Quebec liquor hidden in a secret compartment under the front seat of their car.

Insp. Claire Hayes and Sgt. Roy Milligan of the Belleville City Police, made the arrests after the Assef car was noticed cruising around Belleville early today. Police searched the car and found the liquor.

IN THE TRENT RIDING Saturday Walter Thomson, Liberal leader, spoke at Campbellford, Lindsay, Peterborough and Newcastle on his way home to Pickering. Ralph Standish, Left, introduced him at the meeting here in Queen Mary School auditorium; Mrs. J. Duignan, Mr. Thomson, and P. J. Burke, Liberal candidate at Right. This Peterborough area is the home land of Mr. Thomson. His father, the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thomson, was Clerk of Peterborough Presbytery during 50 years of his ministry in the Presbyterian charge of Hastings. As a boy he attended Norwood High School, enlisted in the 93rd Battalion and was transferred to the 21st in The First World War.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Reds Promise Truce Answer By Wednesday

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 19 (AP)—Communist cease-fire delegates today promised to give their over-all reply Wednesday to an Allied proposal for an armistice in 30 days in Korea.

At the close of a 1¼-hour session at Panmunjom, they asked and received a recess through Tuesday. They wanted to study a plan keyed to a truce line which courses up to more than 25 miles north of parallel 38.

The Reds apparently want to refer the matter to Peiping — where Red China's foreign minister, Chou En-lai, today issued a statement backing up a Russian proposal that parallel 38 be the line of demarcation for divided Korea.

Chinese Red Gen. Hsieh Fang of the Communist delegation said the Reds, after studying the plan, would come back Wednesday with the over-all reply. The hour of the next meeting will be 11 am (9 pm Tuesday, EST).

Allied Proposal

The Allies have proposed that the present line of battle contact across Korea now be accepted as a temporary demarcation line and that such a line become the permanent cease-fire line if a full armistice is signed within 30 days.

If all armistice problems are not settled in 30 days, the UN plan calls for a new demarcation line to be fixed, based on "such conditions as will be at the time mutually agreed to by the delegations of both sides." Continued fighting might have changed it by then. Point one of the Allied proposal states that fighting will go on until an armistice is signed.

It was the fourth and last point in the UN plan which took up most of the time at Monday's session in Pammunjom. The meeting was the 26th of the joint subcommittees since the armistice talks resumed Oct. 25.

Forest Department Change Would Finance Hospitalization—Thomson

Financing of a contributory plan of hospitalization for the people of Ontario could be obtained by a change in the administration of the provincial Department of Lands and Forests, Walter Thomson, leader of the Liberal party in the provincial election campaign, told an audience of approximately 200 men and women in Queen Mary school auditorium Saturday night. Economies in that department plus stumpage dues would provide up to $18,000,000 as estimated by Mr. Thomson, speaking in support of P. J. Burke, Liberal candidate in the riding of Peterborough. With contributions from the people, the total would enable a Liberal government to put the whole plan into effect without additional taxes.

And, if the plan was not under way a year hence, Mr. Thomson renewed his pledge that he would resign.

Annual coverage of hospitalization costs under Saskatchewan's plan was $30 a family, and $10 for one adult. "We can profit from their experience, and try to do even better than that. Our social service legislation up to 1943 shows that a Liberal government in Ontario can do it again and as the banner province of the Dominion we can hold our heads high knowing that we have taken another forward step."

Mr. Thomson said that hospitalization contracts that were provided by commercial groups were conditioned by certain details of terms and time of hospital treatment.

"Our plan will offer unconditional contracts not terminated by conditions. They will have permanent effect while life lasts."

There were 660,000 people in hospitals last year and that number would be increased this year. "Our ways must be amended by caring for those who cannot care for themselves. Those of us in my own age know that to youth sickness and accidents are only words, but as the years advance

Print La Prensa But New Voice

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19 (AP)—The newspaper La Prensa appeared on the stands today for the first time in almost 10 months. It looked like the old La Prensa, but its voice was that of its new boss—the giant labor union which is a main prop of President Peron.

Pictures of Peron and his wife, Evita, and messages from them appeared in the first edition.

Martiano Passo, former editor of the pro-Peron newspaper Democracia, is La Prensa's new editor. Alberto Gainza Paz, whose family founded Las Prensa in 1869 and developed it into one of the greatest independent newpapers in the Americas, now lives across the river from Buenos Aires in Colonia, Uruguay.

Gainza Paz, editor when Peron's General Confederation of Labor closed down the paper last Jan. 26, fled to Uruguay for fear he would be arrested.

Bribe Offered In Football Loop

AIRDRIE, Scotland, Nov. 19—(AP)—An attempt to bribe a player to help throw a game in the Scottish Football League has been reported to the League.

Tom Brown, regular full-back for Airdrionians, said he refused an offer of £100 to help lose a game against Glasgow Celtic. Glasgow won 3-1.

Brown said he was stopped in the street by a man who got out of a flashy car. The player said the man told him a former player on the club had been paid £600 for "helping."

Brown reported the offer to his manager before the match.

The club directors will discuss the bribe attempt Tuesday.

CNR Station Burned 2nd Over Weekend

NORTH BAY, Nov. 19 (CP) — The Canadian National Railways station at tiny Peterbell, about 80 miles south of Hornepayne on the Oba subdivision burned early today.

The CNR in North Bay said communications were cut, and details of the blaze not available.

It was the second station fire in this region during the weekend. At Laverlochere, near Ville Marie, Que., the Canadian Pacific Railway station burned Sunday afternoon.

Two Countries Authorize Pollution Plan

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 (CP)—Canada and the United States have authorized the international joint commission to adopt a $125,000,000 program to control and prevent pollution of boundary waters connecting the Great Lakes, it was announced today.

The program would take "many years" to complete, the announcement said.

The commission has studied the pollution problem since April, 1946. Its data was drawn from technical advisers who analyzed waste disposal practices and problems of some 60 municipalities, 100 industries and the vessels navigating boundary waters.

More than 100,000 laboratory tests of the quality of water were made and the commission held hearings in Sault Ste. Marie, Detroit, Buffalo, New York, and Niagara Falls.

Make Recommendations

The recommendations of the board included:

"1. Provide for adoption by the two governments of specific objectives for boundary waters quality control as the criteria to carry out that portion of the boundary waters treaty of 1909 wherein the two countries 'agreed that the waters herein defined as boundary waters and waters flowing across the boundary shall not be polluted on either side to the injury of health or property on the other.'

"2. Provide for continuing supervision of boundary waters quality control by the commission through international 'boards of control' and through the appropriate authorities in each country..."
